Denies Bribery in Congress

Wheeler Replies to Action Assailing Legislative

Reimbursing of Prohibition Speakers Defended by Anti-Saloon Head

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, May 31.—Denying that the Anti-Saloon League had ever paid any Congressman for introducing or championing a bill, Wayne B. Wheeler of the League, said in a statement today that occasionally "when a Congressman makes a speech for prohibition, his expenses and sometimes an honorarium are paid by the organization that arranged for it."

A Congressman "who has ability enough so that the people want to hear him should not be stopped from this service simply because he is a public official," he declared. "Vice-President Marshall said he had to do this when he was Vice-President.

Mr. Wheeler's statement was in reply to one by Representative Tinkham, Republican, Massachusetts, who has made charges relating to the League's activities and expenditures and has also drawn up a resolution calling for an investigation to determine whether Representative Cramton, Republican, Michigan, or any other member "has received money or fees from the Anti-Saloon League or any other organization interested in legislation before Congress."

SEATTLES CHARGES

As to the general charges of Mr. Tinkham, Mr. Wheeler said that when "from on high" they had little substance.

"Tinkham's hallucinations about the league spending $2,500,000 in politics in a year is nonsense," he said. "That was the total spent for 34 forty-eight States and by the National League for all purposes in the height of the campaign for ratification. Most of it was spent for educational work. In the State of Ohio alone the last previous election cost over $200,000 a year for several years. The greatest spent in political campaigns was only a small fraction of that amount.

"Equally false is the charge that the league controls the appointments on the Federal bench. We protest against those applicants who have had records on lax enforcement. Such applicants are

PARIS DEBT BILL SURE OF PASSAGE

House Expected to Ratify Settlement by Vote of Two to One Today

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, May 31.—Passage of the bill ratifying the French debt settlement by a 2-to-1 vote in the House tomorrow is assured.

Some sharp debate is in prospect centering about the French "capacity to pay," but the administration leaders have no fear of the outcome.

The expectation is that the lineup will be much the same as at the time of the passage of the Italian debt settlement bill. The French funding arrangement is on a 50 per cent basis, counting principal and interest at 4 1-4 per cent, as compared with a 26 per cent settlement of the Italian debt, but virtually the same amount of opposition is anticipated.

Representative Green, Republican, Iowa, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, will be in charge of the French debt bill on the floor of the House, and Representative Rainey, Democrat, Illinois, will lead the opposition forces.

Mr. Green has the solid Republican membership of the Ways and Means Committee back of him, together with the votes of three of its ten Democratic members, including Representative Crisp, Georgia, who is a minority member of the American Debt Commission. Two of the Democratic members of the committee were absent when action was taken and the other five voted in the negative.

CHIEFTIAN OF DRUSE CONDEMNED TO DIE

PARIS, May 31.—Havas dispatches from Berut say that Sultan Pasha Airash, chief of the Druse tribesmen, has been court-martialed at Damascus and condemned to death in default of his appearance at the trial. Several other dissident chieftains also were condemned to death by default.

ANTI-PERUVIAN FEUD BREAKS OUT IN CHILE

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

ARICA (Chile) May 31.—While negotiations are going on at Washington in an effort to find a way out of the Tacna-Arica dispute, a serious recrudescence of anti-Peruvian activities has been reported to the American mediators here. The latest developments include an attack upon a Peruvian who is now in a hospital in Tacna.

PILSUDSKI DECLINES

Refuses Post of President

Limits on Authority Set by Constitution Given as Reason for Act

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

WARSAW (Poland) May 31.—Marshal Joseph Pilsudski, who overthrew the Witos government by force a little more than two weeks ago, created another sensation today by refusing the Presidency of Poland. The Senate and Diet convened as a national assembly for the purpose, chose him on the first ballot, giving him 292 votes as against 193 for Count Buinski, Governor of Posen, the nominee of the Right parties, and the only other candidate. There were sixty-one abstentions.

Pilsudski, who was chief of state in 1919, declared he can not accept the post under the restrictions placed about it by the present Constitution. The President, he pointed out, lacks protection against Parliament because, under the Constitution, he can not dissolve it, even in case of urgent necessity.

CREATES SENSATION

Acting President Rataj's announcement of the marshal's refusal caused a sensation in the national assembly and wild excitement among the populace.

Premier Bartels told Pilsudski he can not guarantee what the people will do in their disappointment, but the marshal replied:

"Leave that to me; I'll manage all right."

M. Rataj, after reading the letter of refusal to the assembly, called a new election for 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. In refusing, Pilsudski recommended the election of either Prof. Marjanz Zoziechowski of Vilna University or Prof. Ignatz Moscicki of Lemberg University.

The letter of refusal said:

"I thank the national assembly. It is the second time in my life that I have had the opportunity to legalize my work, which unfortunately was greeted before with opposition. I thank you that my election was not unanimous as in February, 1919. It means, maybe, that there will be less treason and insincerity in Poland.

RECALLS MURDER

"Unfortunately, I cannot accept, I do not find that confidence in myself for this work, which I have done before, nor have I confidence in the people who elected me. I remember too well the tragic person of the murdered President Narutowicz, whom I could not protect against a cruel fate. (President Narutowicz was assassinated in Warsaw by the mad artist Niewadomski on December 16, 1922.)

"I also too vividly remember the brutal attack on my children. I cannot live without direct active work, and the Constitution keeps such work from me. I also would be obliged to wear out my heart and break my character. Another type of man is needed for President.

"I apologize for causing my followers disappointment. My conscience, to which I have appealed a thousand times in recent days, does not permit me to accept. I hope the new election will be a happy one."

CAPITOL GUARDED

Tonight there were some signs of disquietude over the possibility of Pilsudski attempting another coup d'etat by dissolving Parliament in the event that one of the two candidates he suggested is not elected.

Warsaw presented the same picture tonight as before today's election. The police were busy keeping order among the many thousands gathered in the streets. The parliamentary building, which is surrounded by a park, was cordoned for a radius of about a mile, and only those with unquestionable identification were allowed to pass. There was a gigantic demonstration in Radeemer Square, staged in the hope of influencing Pilsudski to reconsider his decision.

Of the two candidates proposed by Pilsudski when he refused to assume the Presidential chair, Prof. Moscicki, although relatively unknown to the general public, appears to have the most promising chance. He is an intimate friend of M. Rataj, named provisional President after the Pilsudski revolt, and M. Bartel, Premier in the interim Cabinet.

The Socialists who nominated Pilsudski, are so embittered by his unforeseen action that they are likely to put up a candidate of their own, Ignaz Daszinski, who, in 1918, was Chancellor of the short-lived Lublin Socialist republic. The radical peasant party expects to vote pro-Pilsudski, despite today's developments.

BADLY SCATTERED

The Piast party, organization of M. Witos, who was Premier when the Pilsudski revolt overthrew the government, attempted today to induce M. Rataj to accept nomination, but he refused. The Christian National party agreed to nominate Michael Bobrzynski, although they probably will withdraw his name later. The national Democrats insist upon a candidate who is assured of a majority. Much, however, depends on tonight's interfactional meetings which are expected to last into the morning hours.

International Congress Votes Down Resolution for Unreserved Equal Rights for Women

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

PARIS, May 31.—The voting down of the resolution calling for unreserved equal rights for women and men in industry by the International Women Suffrage Alliance Congress this afternoon, after the adverse vote this morning upon the question of admitting the National Women's party of America to membership in the alliance, completed the defeat of the so-called "ultra feminists."

The motion to admit the National Women's party was voted down, 122 to 49, and the vote on the resolution this afternoon was 91 against it to 78 in favor of it. The National Women's party, whose membership in the alliance has been strongly opposed by the other American organization, the League of Women Voters, is in favor of equal rights for women and men.

The decision not to adopt the resolution declaring against protective legislation for women leaves the minority in the Congress without an expression as to their purpose, according to the minority leaders.

Elizabeth R. Culbersen, Pennsylvania; Anna Pellitza, South Carolina; Mrs. Clarence S. Smith, New York; Nell Mercer, and Mrs. Dexter Otey, Virginia; Estelle Phallman, Wyoming; Mrs. Florence B. Hilles, Delaware; Mabel Vernon and Abbey Scott Baker, District of Columbia; Mrs. A. H. GOLDSTROM RACES OVER RUSS WASTE

World Girdler Traveling Across Steppes Keeps in Touch With Moscow

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

[Copyright, 1926, by North American Newspaper Alliance]

MOSCOW, May 31.—Continuous communication with a traveling trans-Siberian train, unprecedented in the history of Russian communications, has enabled Moscow to keep in touch with John Goldstrom as he travels across the treeless steppes of Siberia. Saturday night his train crossed the wooded Ural Mountains and the world racer had entered the Asian lap of his journey.

Sunday morning Goldstrom received telegrams at Omsk. He is now free to watch the scenery without cafe for four days while his train travels to Chita, 2000 miles from Omsk. There he may be met by Japanese planes, or be compelled to pay for a special train to carry him into Manchuria. He should arrive there Thursday, with four days to make the steamship President Madison at Yokohama.

Klan Leader Confesses Mailing of Explosive Apparatus Which Caused Three Deaths

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MUSKEGON (Mich.) May 31.—Asa K. Bartlett, Blue Lake township Klan leader, who was arrested last Friday in connection with the slaying of August Krubaech, township Supervisor, his daughter, Janet Krubaech, and William Frank, killed when a bomb received by mail exploded, has confessed that he manufactured and mailed the bomb to Krubaech, R. Glenn Dunn, prosecuting attorney for Muskegon county, announced today. The confession will be read tomorrow when Bartlett is brought into court to be arraigned on a charge of murder.

The explosion occurred in the dining-room of Krubaech's Three Lakes Tavern, Thursday, as Mrs. Krubaech and Mrs. Frank were preparing for the marriage of their daughter and son, which was to have been celebrated Saturday.

COMPLETE CONFESSION

Bartlett's confession, according to Dunn, is complete. It was obtained, he said, while the victims were being buried at Whitehall and it was put in writing and signed.

In the confession, Dunn said, Bartlett asserted that his animosity toward Krubaech, while covering a period of more than four years, became intensified at the township election last April when the tav-

MUSSOLINI JEERED AT IN GOTHAM

Presence of Fascisti in Parade Nearly Causes Serious Disturbance

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, May 31.—Jeers, catcalls and shouts of "down with Mussolini!" caused by the presence of 200 Fascisti marchers created a disturbance in New York's Memorial Day parade. Mounted police charged and dispersed the disturbers whose ardor, undampened by the soft rain, at first threatened serious trouble.

Attired in black overseas caps with black tassels, black puttees, black breeches and shoes and the symbolic black shirts, the Fascisti gathering fell in behind a band of Boy Scouts.

Some of the others in line protested their presence, saying the Mussolini was opposed to the Americanization of Italians in America, but the uninvited guests insisted on their right to participate along with delegations of veterans of half a dozen foreign countries.

On Riverside Drive anti-Fascisti numbering about 200 gathered and began jeering and shouting, pressing in menacingly upon the marchers. The crowds that lined the drive broke in confusion. Mounted police charged into the anti-Fascisti and they fled. The Fascisti continued in the parade.

BRAVE SEAS IN HONORING S-51 DEAD

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEWPORT (R. I.) May 31.—Four women today braved windtossed seas and stinging rain squalls to strew flowers over the ocean grave of the United States Submarine S-51, fourteen miles off Block Island. Leaving the torpedo station here this forenoon, the naval tug Triton fought her way off shore through heavy weather to the spot where the big submersible went down in collision last September with a loss of thirty-three lives.

Aboard the tug was Mrs. Alfred A. Smith, wife of Torpedoman Smith, whose body is believed to be still imprisoned in the hull, 128 feet below the surface. She was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Mary Martin, and a friend, Mrs. Mary Berlenbach. The fourth member of the party was Mrs. James, wife of Chief Motor Machinist's Mate F. P. James, another victim of the disaster.

BURIED GOLD UNEARTHED

Treasure Hidden in Civil War

Search on Kentucky Estate Yields Cache Estimated at Over $200,000

Old Papers Found by Heir Reveal Key to Location of Fortune in Coins

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

DEMOPOLIS (Ala.) May 31.—Aided by old papers his father left him, Gayus Whitfield of Middleboro, Ky., today unearthed buried gold valued at more than $200,000 on the Whitfield farm near here. The discovery of the treasure came as the result of a search which began the 22nd inst.

Directions for locating the gold were contained in papers left to his son by C. Boaz Whitfield, member of one of the oldest and most aristocratic families of Alabama and descendant of the pioneer general, Nathan Bryan Whitfield.

When Gayus Whitfield began his search, thirty-five negroes were employed to uncover an old boundary stake on the Shady Grove farm, eighteen miles from Demopolis, near Jefferson. For a week the large force worked without results, but today a large cache of gold coins was discovered. They consist of twenty-dollar gold pieces, minted in 1850 and before, which were buried by the wealthy Boaz Whitfield during Civil War days.

While the news of the discovery was confirmed tonight, the exact amount involved was nto divulged. There are eight heirs who may put in claim for the gold, all of them daughters and sons of the four Whitfield brothers, born in Civil War days, themselves sons of the pioneer, Gen. Nathan Whitfield. Other gold coins had been found on the old Whitfield place prior to today's discovery, it was learned tonight, but the matter of instituting an active search for buried treasure was never given much attention by the Whitfield family until the ancient key left by C. Boaz Whitfield was found in Kentucky.

While definite information was not available here tonight, citizens here expressed the belief that Boaz Whitfield buried the gold to prevent its seizure by Union forces during the Civil War. Similar instances were recalled today by older inhabitants, but in no case has so large an amount been involved.

Mr. Martin asserted that one of the principal reasons for the falling off in church attendance is the activities of the "narrow-minded and puritanical reformers."

PRESIDENT LAUDS DEAD

Coolidge Honors War Heroes

Declares America is Striving to Prevent New Conflicts; Hails Arms Slashes

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, May 31.—The memory of America's heroic war dead was honored today by President Coolidge, who delivered a Memorial Day address near the graves of veterans whose last resting-place is Arlington National Cemetery.

Turning to the old soldiers of '61 who sat about him in the cemetery's amphitheater, he assured them that "the spirit which they so nobly represented two generations ago has not departed from the land," and declared that America and the world were attempting "by preventing war to succeed in peace."

As the old veterans "go down toward the setting sun," he said, "they will have the satisfaction of knowing that they are leaving behind them the same spirit, still undaunted, still ready to maintain in the future a more abiding peace and a more abounding prosperity, under which America can continue to work for the salvation of the world."

MENTIONS ARMS MEETINGS

"Common sense" was laid down by Mr. Coolidge as the keynote of America's contribution to world peace, and in discussing its application to a number of present-day problems he touched upon the attitude of the Washington government toward the Geneva arms negotiations, the war-debt settlements and many domestic questions.

The President said America expected "practical results" from the preliminary armament negotiation at Geneva, asserted that Europe has the League of Nations, "which ought to be able to provide those countries with certain political guarantees which our country does not require," and added:

MENTIONS WORLD COURT

"Besides this, there is the World Court, which can certainly be used for the determination of all justiciable disputes."

As to war debts, Mr. Coolidge declared that in a spirit of helpfulness, the United States had made "generous settlements" which preserved the principle of the payment of international debts and gave promise of being mutually beneficial to the trade relations of the nations involved.

The Arlington ceremonies were the central feature of the observance of the day in the capital city, with Senator Willis of Ohio, who delivered an address after the Chief Executive, also urging the cause of peace.

PLACES ROSE

Leaving the amphitheater, the President, who was accompanied by Mrs. Coolidge, went to the grave of more than 2000 unknown Union soldiers and deposited there a wreath, while Mrs. Coolidge laid beside it a single red rose.

In the crowded amphitheater were gathered thousands, including veterans of the Spanish and World wars as well as those of the Civil War in the familiar blue. Undaunted by showers that fell at intervals during the morning before the clouds parted at noon for a clear, warm day, the aged veterans assembled for a parade in which their younger comrades participated.

After traversing the streets of downtown Washington they boarded trolley cars for Arlington and there placed wreaths on the grave of the Civil War unknown before attending the service at which the President spoke.

PRINCE PLACES WREATH

The tomb of the Unknown Soldier of the World War was also a converging point for thousands during the day, and in the morning Crown Prince Gustavus Adolphus of Sweden placed a wreath upon it.

As the ceremonies were proceeding at the amphitheater similar exercises were conducted at various cemeteries in and about Washington, while on the Potomac the navy dead were honored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars from the Sylph, the yacht of the Secretary of the Navy. A large anchor of poppies was lowered on the waters at this ceremony by Admiral E. W. Eberle, chief of naval operations.

Government activities were at a

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

PARIS, May 31.—The memory of American soldiers, doughboys who found their last resting-place in the beautifully green, spic-and-span Suresnes Cemetery under Mount Valerian, outside Paris, and other places in France set aside for them, were honored today by rich and poor alike.

Old and young of all classes braved heavy rain squalls to decorate the graves of America's dead. Beside the superb wreaths of roses and other classic flowers from the government, from the city of Paris, the French army and the general council of the Seine department were modest bouquets of familiar poppies and other simple posies of the field and garden, laid on individual graves by the trembling hands of mothers and sisters of French dead. They modestly bore out the keynote of the speech of Gen. Nollet in behalf of the government at Suresnes to the effect, "France does not forget."

TEXT OF SPEECH

President Coolidge spoke as follows:

Fellow Americans:

This nation approaches no ceremony with such universal sanction as that which is held in commemoration over the graves of those who have performed military duty. In our respect for the living and our reverence for the dead, in the unbounded treasures which we have poured out in bounties, in the continual requiem services which we have held, America at least has demonstrated that republics are not ungrateful. It is one of the glories of our country that so long as we remain faithful to the cause of justice and truth and liberty this action will continue. We have waged no wars to determine a succession, establish a dynasty or glorify a reigning house.

Our military operations have been for the service of the cause of humanity. The principles on which they have been fought have more and more come to be accepted as the ultimate standards of the world. They have been of an enduring substance, which is not weakened but only strengthened by the passage of time and the contemplation of reason.

AMERICA MORE FORTUNATE

Our experience in that respect ought not to lead us too hastily to assume that we have been therefore better than other people, but certainly we have been more fortunate. We came on the stage at a later time, so that this country had presented to it, already attained, a civilization that other countries had obtained only as a result of a long and painful struggle.

Of the various races of which we are composed, substantially all have a history for making warfare which it is oftentimes hard to justify, as they have come up through various degrees of development. They bore this burden in ages past in order that this country might be freed from it. Under the circumstances it behooves us to look on their record of advance through great difficulties with much compassion and be thankful that we have been spared from a like experience, and out of our compassion and our thankfulness constantly to remember that because of greater advantages and opportunities we are charged with superior duties and obligations. Perhaps no country on earth has greater responsibilities than America.

NATION NOT WARLIKE

Notwithstanding all the honor which this country has bestowed upon the living and all the reverence that has marked its attitude toward the dead who have served us in a military capacity, we are not a warlike nation. As a people we have not sought military glory. Because of our fortunate circumstances, such wars as we have waged have been for the purpose of obtaining conditions under which peace would be more permanent, liberty would be more secure, and justice would be more certain. It was this principle that peculiarly characterized the forces who acknowledged as their commander-in-chief Abraham Lincoln.

While this day was legally established many years ago as an occasion to be devoted to the memory of our country's dead, it cannot but each year refresh the sentiment of respect and honor in which our country holds their living comrades. Of those great armies that maintained the long struggle from 1861 to 1865, which ranked in size with any the world had ever before seen, but a few shattered ranks now remain.

The old valor yet lives. The old devotion to country, the old loyalty to the flag remain, but the youth and physical vigor which caused them to be characterized as the Boys in Blue are gone from these heroes of a former generation.

SPIRIT STILL REMAINS

But the spirit which they so nobly represented two generations ago has not departed from the land. It was resurgent in the days of 1898 and in 1917, and finds a lineal succession in the three branches which make up the land and sea forces of the present day and the public opinion of the people.

Our country has never had a better-equipped army or a more efficient navy in time of peace than it has at the present time. The air service is being perfected, better quarters are being provided, and our whole military establishment is being made worthy of the power and dignity of this great nation. We realize that national security and national defense cannot be safely neglected. To do so is to put in peril our domestic tranquility and jeopardize our respect and standing among the other nations.

OUR WAYS ARE PEACE WAYS

Yet the American forces are distinctly the forces of peace. They are the guaranties of that order and tranquillity in this part of the world, which are alike beneficial to us and all the other nations. Everyone knows that we covet no territory, we entertain no imperialistic designs, we harbor no enmity toward any other people. We seek no revenue, we nurse no grievances, we have inflicted no injuries, and we fear no enemies. Our ways are the ways of peace.

We are attempting to make our contribution to the peace of the world, not in any sensational or spectacular way, but by the application of practical, workable, seasoned methods and an appeal to the common sense of mankind. We do not rely upon the threat of force in our international relations or in our attempt to maintain our position in the world.

We have seen force tried, but the more people study its results the more they must be convinced that on the whole it has failed. Conditions sometimes arise where it seems that an appeal to arms is inevitable, but such conflicts decide very little, in the end it is necessary to make an appeal to reason, and until adjustments are reached by covenants which harmonize with the prevailing sense of justice a final solution has not been found.

WAR PREVENTION SOUGHT

Ever since the last great conflict the world has been putting a renewed emphasis, not on preparation to succeed in war, but on an attempt by preventing war to succeed in peace. This movement has the full and complete approbation of the American government and the American people.

While we have been unwilling to interfere in the political relationship of other countries and have consistently refrained from intervening except when our help has been sought and we have felt that it could be effectively given, we have signified our willingness to become associated with other nations in a practical plan for promoting international justice through the World Court. Such a tribunal furnishes a method of the adjustment of international differences in accordance with our treaty rights and under the general accepted rules of international law.

When questions arise which all parties agree ought to be adjudicated, but which do not yield to the ordinary methods of diplomacy, here is a forum to which the parties may voluntarily repair in the consciousness that their dignity suffers no diminution and that their cause will be determined impartially, according to the law and the evidence. That is a sensible, direct, efficient and practical method of adjusting differences which cannot fail to appeal to the intelligence of the American people.

GOOD WILL NEEDED

But while we put our trust not on force but on a reign of law and the administration of justice, yet we know that the maintenance of peace cannot but to a large extent be dependent upon our sentiments and desires. In spite of all the treaties we may make and all the tribunals we may establish, unless we maintain a public opinion devoted to peace we cannot escape the ravages of war. A determination to do right will be more effective than all our treaties and courts, all our armies and fleets. A peaceful people will have peace, but a war-like people cannot escape war.

Peace has an economic foundation to which too little attention has been given. No student can doubt that it was to a large extent the economic condition of Europe that drove those overburdened countries headlong into the World War. They were engaged in maintaining competitive armaments. If one country laid the keel of one warship, some other country considered it necessary to lay the keel of two warships. If one country enrolled a regiment, some other country enrolled three regiments.

Whole peoples were armed and drilled and trained to the detriment of their industrial life, and charged and taxed and assessed until the burden could no longer be borne. Nations cracked under the load and sought relief from the intolerable pressure by pillaging each other.

NEW ARMS CUT SOUGHT

It was to avoid a repetition of such a catastrophe that our government proposed and brought to a successful conclusion the Washington conference for the limitation of naval armaments. We have been altogether desirous of an extension of this principle and for that purpose have sent our delegates to a preliminary conference of nations now sitting at Geneva. Out of that conference we expect some practical results.

We believe that other nations ought to join with us in laying aside their suspicions and hatreds sufficiently to agree among themselves upon methods of mutual relief from the necessity of the maintenance of great land and sea forces. This can not be done if we constantly have in mind the resort to war for the redress of wrongs and the enforcement of rights. Europe has the League of Nations. That ought to be able to provide those countries with certain political guarantees which our country does not require. Besides this there is the World Court, which can certainly be used for the determination of all justiciable disputes.

We should not underestimate the difficulties of European nations, nor fail to extend to them the highest degree of patience and the most sympathetic consideration. But we can not fail to assert our conviction that they are in great need of further limitation of armaments and our determination to lend them every assistance in the solution of their problems.

AMERICA READY TO AID

We have entered the conference with the utmost good faith on our part and in the sincere belief that it represents the utmost good faith on their part. We want to see the problems that are there presented stripped of all technicalities and met and solved in a way that will ready to give our support to every effort that is made in that direction, bring practical results. We stand ready to give our support to every effort that is made in that direction.

While we are thus desirous of the economic welfare of other countries in part because of its relation to world peace, we ought to remember that our own government owes a great duty to the American people in this direction. It is for this reason in part that I have insisted upon a policy of constructive economy in the national administration. If we can make the circumstances of the people easy, if we can relieve them of the burden of heavy taxation, we shall have contributed to that contentment and peace of mind which will go far to render them immune from any envious inclination toward other countries.

PROMOTES PEACE

If the people prosper in their business, they will be the less likely to resort to the irritating methods of competition in foreign trade out of which arise mutual misunderstandings and animosities. They will not be driven to the employment of sharp practices in order to support and maintain their own position. Being amply supplied with their own resources, they will not be so inclined to turn covetous eyes toward the resources of other nations.

Such a condition will likewise give opportunity to devote our surplus wealth, not to the payment of high taxes, but to the financing of the needs of other nations. Our country has already through private sources recognized the requirements in this direction and has made large advances to foreign governments and foreign enterprises for the purpose of re-establishing their public credit and their private industry.

By such action we have not only discharged an obligation to humanity, but have likewise profited in our trade relations and established a community of interests which cannot but be an added security for the maintenance of peace. In so far as we can confirm other peoples in the possession of profitable industry, without injuring ourselves, we shall have removed from them that economic pressure productive of those dissensions, discords and hostilities which are a fruitful source of war. It has been in accordance with these principles that we have made generous settlements of our foreign debts.

DISCUSSES DEBTS

The little sentiment of "live and let live" expresses a great truth. It has been thought wise to extend the payment of our debts over a long period of years with a very low rate of interest, in order to relieve foreign peoples of the burden of economic pressure beyond their capacity to bear. An adjustment has now been made of all these major obligations, and they have all but one been mutually ratified. The moral principle of the payment of international debts has been preserved. Every dollar that we have advanced to these countries they have promised to repay with some interest.

Our national treasury is not in the banking business. We did not make these loans as a banking enterprise. We made them to a very large extent as an incident to the prosecution of the war. We have not sought to adjust them on a purely banking basis. We have taken into consideration all the circumstances and the elements that attended the original transaction and all the results that will probably flow from their settlement. They have been liquidated on this broad moral and humanitarian basis.

We believe that the adjustments which have been made will be mutually beneficial to the trade relations of the countries involved and that out of these economic benefits there will be derived additional guaranties to the stability and peace of the world.

MUST KEEP PEACE AT HOME

But if we are to maintain our position of understanding and good will with the nations abroad, we must continue to maintain the same sentiments at home. We are situated differently in this respect from any other country. All the other great powers have a comparatively homogeneous population, close kindred in race and blood and speech, and commonly little divided in religious beliefs. Our great nation is made up of the strong and virile pioneering stock of nearly all the countries of the world. We have a variety of race and language and religious belief.

If any of these different peoples fall into disfavor among us, there comes a quick reaction against the rest of us from the relatives and friends in their place of origin, which affects the public sentiment of that country, even though it may not be actually expressed in the official actions of their government. Such misunderstandings interfere with our friendly relations, are harmful to our trade, and retard the general progress of civilization.

TOLERATION APPROVED

We all subscribe to the principle of religious liberty and toleration and equality of rights. This principle is in accordance with the fundamental law of the land. It is the very spirit of the American Constitution. We all recognize and admit that it ought to be put into practical operation. We know that every argument of right and reason requires such action. Yet in time of stress and public agitation we have too great a tendency to disregard this policy and indulge in race hatred, religious intolerance, and disregard of equal rights.

Such sentiments are bound to react upon those who harbor them. Instead of being a benefit they are a positive injury. We do not have to examine history very far before we see whole countries that have been blighted, whole civilizations that have been shattered by a spirit of intolerance. They are destructive of order and progress at home and a danger to peace and good will abroad.

No better example exists of toleration than that which is exhibited by those who wore the blue toward those who wore the gray. Our condition today is not merely that of one people under one flag, but of a thoroughly united people who have seen bitterness and enmity which once threatened to sever them pass away, and a spirit of kindness and good will reign over them all.

PEACE BLESSINGS REALIZED

The success with which we have met in all of these undertakings is a matter of universal knowledge. We are at peace with all the world. Those of this generation who passed through the World War have had an experience which will always cause them to realize what an infinite blessing peace is.

We are in an era of unbounded prosperity. The financial condition of our national government is beginning to be more easy to be borne. While many other nations and many localities within our own country are struggling with a burden of increased debts and rising taxes, which makes them seek for new sources from which by further taxation they can obtain new revenues, we have made large progress toward paying off our national debt, have greatly reduced our national taxes and been able to relieve the people by abandoning altogether many sources of national revenue.

REAP FRUITS NOW

We are not required to look altogether to the future for our rewards and find in our lot nothing but sacrifices for the present. Now here, today, we are all able to enjoy those benefits which come from universal peace and nation-wide prosperity.

As these old soldiers, the living descendants of the spirit of Washington that made our country, go down toward the setting sun, representing the spirit of Lincoln, who saved our country, they will have the satisfaction of knowing that they are leaving behind them the same spirit, still undaunted, still ready to maintain in the future a more abiding peace and more abounding prosperity, under which America can continue to work for the salvation of the world.

PRINCE HONORS UNKNOWN

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, May 31.—Timing his departure from the Capitol to make possible beforehand the payment of royal tribute to America's soldier dead, the Crown Prince of Sweden, the guest of the nation, left today on a special train for New York.

The first member of royalty placed an offering on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington Cemetery. He did so in the spirit that one soldier feels when he pays homage to another, though the one be a Crown Prince, a Major-General, and the other only an enlisted man.

That Gustavus Adolphus was deeply moved none who saw him stand at salute before the tomb and then step forward to reverently place his offerings on the plain marble slab could doubt. It was on a trip later to the Capitol, however, that he let his feelings be known to others, and that was the way he described them.

At the Capitol, the Crown Prince was received by Chief Justice Taft and the other Justices of the Supreme Court. The affair was informal, the Justices having discarded the robe of their office to meet their guest.

A luncheon, given by Robert Woods Bliss, the American Minister to Sweden, and Mrs. Bliss, preceded the departure of the Crown Prince and Crown Princess, terminated their four days' visit here and sent them off on a two months' tour of the country.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WILMINGTON (Del.) May 31.—Crown Prince Gustavus Adolphus and Crown Princess Louise of Sweden today visited this city, the landing place of the first Swedish colonists to reach America. The Prince delivered a brief address at the old Swedes' Church which yesterday celebrated its 227th anniversary.

Rt. Rev. Phillip Coop, Protestant Episcopal bishop of Wilmington, presented the Prince with a silver placque bearing the likeness of the old church. The royal couple were given an enthusiastic welcome in Wilmington streets. The stop was made during a journey from Washington to New York.

URGES NEED OF LEARNING FROM WARS

McQuigg Says Many Dead Could Have Been Saved by Adequate Preparedness

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

DAYTON (O.) May 31.—Many of the dead mourned on Memorial Day would have been saved had the country profited by the lessons of its six wars, Brig.-Gen. John R. McQuigg, national commander of the American Legion, declared in a Memorial Day address here today.

"Many of the men whom we mourn as fallen on the battlefield or dead after long suffering from the wounds they got in their service in time of conflict might have been saved," the national head of the Legion declared, "had we enacted a proper scheme of national defense instead of listening after each of our wars to the teachings of those who preached doctrines of pacifism and nonresistance."

"The American Legion can render no greater service to the country," he said, "than to fight the insidious undermining of her national defense by the ultra-pacifist movement."

Reviewing the history of the country, Commander McQuigg said the present pacifist agitation is no new thing. "Following every major conflict," he continued, "there has been a wave of pacifism in the country, which has reduced the nation to a state of impotence for which it has had to pay the price in succeeding conflicts."

The commander described the extreme antipreparedness agitation following the Revolutionary War, which left the nation without adequate means of defense when the War of 1812 broke upon it. He referred to similar agitations which followed the War of 1812, the Mexican War, the Civil War, the Spanish-American and then the World War.

He praised the National Defense Act of 1920, which was enacted largely through the efforts of the American Legion.

PATRIOTIC RALLY PROPOSED

Coolidge Urges American People Join in Nation-wide Observance of Sesquicentennial

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, May 31.—President Coolidge in a formal appeal made public today, appealed to the American people to join in a nation-wide patriotic program in celebrating this year the one hundred and fiftieth birthday anniversary of the United States and the centennial of the death of Thomas Jefferson.

The appeal was issued on behalf of the Sesquicentennial of American Independence and the Thomas Jefferson Cintennial Commission created by Congress, of which the President is honorary chairman. After citing the achievements of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, the President said:

"As long as Americans remain worthy of such sires the people of the United States must pledge anew in every generation their faith in the ideals expressed in the Declaration of Independence, and observe the nation's natal day in such a manner as to carry inspiration to all freedom-loving people.

"By a coincidence the Sesquicentennial of the Declaration of Independence falls upon the centennial of the death of Thomas Jefferson, who wrote it.

"Among the founders of the nation, he was with the foremost, achieving with the pen as Washington with the sword and Adams with the spoken word. . . . It is a happy coincidence that the American people can renew their fidelity to the elemental principles of the Declaration of Independence while, according to its author, the recognition due him by virtue of the services enumerated, on the Sesquicentennial of the one and the centennial of the other."

The program outlined by the commission will begin June 28 and end July 5.

WHEELER DENIES BRIBERY CHARGE

usually strongly backed by the wets.

"It comes with poor grace for the wets to complain about league activities when sworn testimony before the Senate Judiciary Committee shows that the wets boycotted, corrupted and black-listed individuals and public officials who would not do their bidding, and in Pennsylvania alone raised more than $1,000,000 a year to control and corrupt the politics of the State in the saloon days. When the local wet committees file their statements under the new law they will need to watch their step. Others will."

Mr. Wheeler began his statement by declaring the records show the league is the only organization for years that has filed reports of its political activities and expenditures, and that the wet organizations back of Mr. Tinkham filed only in recent years when we drove them to it, and even these reports have not been in full accord with the law."

VARE OPPONENT URGED

Coincident with the Wheeler statement the United Committee for Prohibition Enforcement, through its chairman, Clinton D. Howard of Rochester, N. Y., urged that the moral forces of Pennsylvania place an independent ticket in the field, headed by William W. Wilson, Democrat, in order to defeat Representative Vare, Republican, for United States Senator.

"Gov. Smith, Democratic wet, signs the rum referendum in New York on the same day that William S. Vare, Republican wet, wins the United States Senate nomination," the committee's statement said. "The United Committee for Prohibition Enforcement should labor to defeat both these ends."

As to the referendum in New York, the committee said of the drys took part the moral effect of a wet victory will be disastrous. A unanimous wet victory would mean nothing, it said, adding that "A passive resistance or nonco-operative boycott of the referendum would be advisable." It insisted the purpose was to undo by a majority vote in the State what it required two-thirds of the people functioning through constitutional channels to accomplish.

AMERICANS IN LONDON PAY RESPECTS TO WAR DEAD

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

LONDON, May 31.—Americans in London did honor to those of the United States Army and Navy buried in the British Isles at a Memorial Day service this afternoon in St. Margaret's Church, Westminster.

Alanson B. Houghton, the American Ambassador, and Herbert Hoover, Washington, American Secretary of Commerce in London, with the entire staff of the Embassy and Consulate, representatives of all the American societies and of the United States Shipping Board were among those who attended the service.

One of the most touching features was the presence of four veterans, ranging from 79 to 81 years of age, who fought in the Federal army during the Civil War. They were their Grand Army medals and one of them carried the Stars and Stripes.

The Rev. William H. Carnegie, canon of Westminster, and the Rev. W. C. Poole conducted the services. Ambassador Houghton read the lesson.

Before the service a brief ceremony was held in Whitehall, where Capt. Henry St. Townsend of the Second Company, Governor's Foot Guards, New Haven, Ct., accompanied by other officers of the same command, and Herbert Brown, adjutant of the London post of the American Legion, placed wreaths on the cenotaph.

When the St. Margaret's service was over Ambassador Houghton placed a floral token on the grave of the Unknown Soldier in Westminster Abbey. The Civil War veterans deposited a wreath at the base of the Lincoln statue in Parliament Square.

OOLIDGE HOPES TO CUT EXPENSES STILL MORE

eless Chores, Surplus Pay Rolls and Perpetual Investigations to Go in Aid of Lower Tax

This is the second of a series of six articles by William P. Helm, dealing with the prospects of further reduction of income taxes, by the Federal government. Mr. Helm, regarded as an authority upon this subject, obtains his data from official sources. The third article will be published tomorrow.

BY WILLIAM P. HELM, JR.
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
[Copyright, 1926, by Current News Features]

WASHINGTON, May 31.—During the first ten months of the current fiscal year President Coolidge, in furtherance of his purpose to bring about another tax cut during his present term, enforced his economy plans on his subordinates to the amount of about $22,000,000, that sum representing the lessened spendings of the governmental departments this year as compared with the spendings during the corresponding period of last year.

By the end of the fiscal year, June 30, next, the President hopes to effect the $22,000,000 saving to [illegible]. During the coming fiscal year the policy will be carried forward with even greater zeal. The President has not announced the limit to which the spendings of his subordinates are to be cut during the coming year. He will do so within the next three weeks and one can be assured that the figure will be lower than the total for this year.

This reduction in government expense has come to the point where it means that lower spendings will have to be effected, to some extent, by a smaller pay roll. And that means that the President wants fewer employees in the government service from now on. It does not mean that there are to be wholesale discharges of faithful workers, but it does mean that vacancies due to resignation, retirement or death are not to be filled where it is humanly possible to do the work without filling them.

USELESS CHORES TO GO

It also means that the government is on the verge of lopping off some of its less essential chores. Things it has been doing for years, investigations that started back in the good old times and seem doomed to run on forever, temporary undertakings that are threatening with the passage of the years to become permanent—these are to feel the pinch of the Coolidge economy program in the coming fiscal year of 1927.

The policy already has been announced by the President; henceforth it is to be emphasized. The business of shortening the Federal pay roll is going to be taken up in earnest after July 1 next. The pay roll has grown somewhat during the Coolidge administrations, but analysis shows that its growth has been largely along two lines, neither of which lay under White House control. The first of these concerns the ever-increasing postal service, almost self-supporting, whose numbers increase because their work increases. The second concerns several thousand additional employees, many of them temporary, whose employment was necessitated by the passage and administration of the soldier bonus law.

ORGANIZATION SHRINKING

The regular establishment of government which conducts its peace-time routine is not growing. On the contrary, it is shrinking. The President wants to hasten the shrinking process and probably will make known his wishes in unmistakable terms when he speaks again of the nation's financial affairs.

A study of the Federal ledgers discloses that some of the Federal departments are spending considerably more this year than they spent last. The Veterans' Bureau, for instance, spent $339,000,000 during the first ten months of the current fiscal year, as compared with $322,000,000. Secretary Hoover, intent on furthering American industry and commerce, increased his spendings by upward of $3,500,000, or about 17½ per cent. His budget for the first ten months, ending April 30, last, was $24,300,000, as compared with $20,800,000 during the same period a year ago.

The Treasury Department, collecting the revenues under a new tax law and with a mounting volume of customs receipts, increased its expenses during the ten months by more than $9,000,000. Congress itself is spending about $1,000,000 a year more, thanks to its recent increase in salaries of members and other incidentals. The State Department likewise is running ahead of last year at the rate of about 10 per cent.

WORK CUTS HEAVILY

A reduction of more than $32,000,000 in spendings, however, is recorded in the Navy Department ledger during the ten months ending with April. The Interior Department, headed by Work (who seems trying to out-Coolidge Coolidge in cutting expenses,) spent $8,000,000 less, and the War Department cut its expenditures by about $5,000,000. From these three departments came savings totaling $45,000,000, about half of which were offset by increased spendings by other departments and commissions.

All told, the President's economy program resulted in spending, for ordinary items, $1,532,000,000 during the ten months ending April 30, last, as compared with spendings running to $1,554,000,000 during the same period last year.

These spendings were handled by an army of 263,000 Federal employees, exclusive of those on the self-supporting postal service pay rolls numbering upward of 301,000. At least, the number stood at 263,000 when the last public count was made by the Civil Service Commission on June 30, 1925. A year before that the number of civilian employees stood at about 258,000. The increase during the last fiscal year was about 5000, mos tof them having been employed incidental to soldier bonus law administration.

At the close of this fiscal year, one may be assured, the number of Federal workers, outside the Postoffice Department, will be less than it was a year ago. And at the end of the coming fiscal year, if the President's policy prevails, it will be still less than at the close of this year. The President has a definite plan, it is reported, looking to further reduction which he will announce shortly.

Personal services this year, according to budget bureau estimates, will cost the government about $5,000,000 less than last year—a sum which helps swell the sum available for tax reduction in the future. If the public pay roll be cut $10,000,000—as it probably will be, if the President has his way—during the coming fiscal year, so much the more for tax reduction which the President would like to recommend to the Seventieth Congress when it assembles in Washington in December, 1927.

SEVERAL ECONOMY FACTORS

A cut of $10,000,000 in the pay roll, a further saving of $20,000,000 in other government expenses, an increase in ordinary receipts which may mount to several hundred millions of dollars, to judge by the recent underestimate of 1926 income, a continuation of high revenues from the tariff—these are the elements which will enter into the next tax cut.

It all seems reasonable. For five years now the expert estimators of the Treasury Department have been forecasting, with care and caution, the government's revenues. They have erred, like, all good estimators should err, if at all, on the side of caution. During those five years, including the present one, the government has taken in a total of more than $1,850,000,000 over and above the sum which the experts predicted it would take in.

Will the experts follow the same conservative ways of estimating in the case of next year? They will. And the President, recommending that the government spend less than the original underestimates of receipts, will find himself, as the year draws to its end, with a handsome surplus instead of the negligible one which now appears on paper. Out of it, in large measure, will be the wherewithal for the next tax cut.

BEAR GOES VOYAGING ON BERG

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, May 31.—A polar bear on a mammoth iceberg floating in the Atlantic 1180 miles from New York was reported by passengers of the Hamburg-American liner Hamburg, which docked today. The iceberg, 2000 feet long and rearing its apex 100 feet out of the water, was seen when the liner was off the Grand Banks of Newfoundland Friday, Commander Kiel said. The vessel was within eight miles of the berg. Passengers with field glasses said they saw the bear clambering around the side of the berg.

STEAMER DAMAGED IN COLLISION FOUNDERS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

ST. CATHARINES (Ont.) May 31.—The steamer Nesbit Grammar, loaded with grain from Port Colborne to Montreal, sank off Thirty-Mile Point, near Charlotte, N. Y., today after being in collision with the Canadian National Railway steamer Dalwarnic in a dense fog. The crew was saved and taken to Port Dalhousie by the Dalwarnic. The Nesbit Grammar, owned by the Eastern Steamship Company, was rammed nearly amidships and sank in fifteen minutes.

SHERIFF LOSES PRISONERS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SEYMOUR (Tex.) May 31.—Authorities in this vicinity are on the lookout for two prisoners who escaped from Sheriff Franklin of Lawton, Okla., at Nabelle, near here. The manacled prisoners obtained the Sheriff's revolver, forced him to unlock their handcuffs and drove away in the officer's car after shooting him through the hand.

WOMAN IN FIGHT WITH KIN LOSES

Arvin Resident Severely Injured Defending Self from Brother-in-Law

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, May 31.—After fighting desperately with a long-bladed butcher-knife only to be struck to the floor by a blow from an automobile crank, asserted to have been wielded by T. W. Dollarhide, her brother-in-law, at her home near Arvin last night, Mrs. Virgie Dollarhide is in a serious condition.

Dollarhide is held in the County Jail, facing statutory charges and a charge of attack with a deadly weapon with intent to kill, which probably will be sworn to tomorrow, according to the Sheriff's office.

According to Deputy Sheriff Prewitt and Traffic Officer Clark, who were called to the scene, a terrified 14-year-old girl witnessed the battle.

Mrs. Dollarhide is believed to be living apart from her husband.

Cheyenne-Pueblo Air Mail Service Gets Successful Start

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHEYENNE (Wyo.) May 31.—The Cheyenne-Pueblo feeder route to the transcontinental air mail service successfully completed its first day of operation at 7:20 o'clock tonight, when Pilot Curtis of the Colorado Airways, Inc., brought his plane to the United States air mail field here with 350 pounds of mail to be transferred to the night eastbound plane leaving here for Omaha at 8:56.

More than 3000 persons lined the field as the plane, escorted by another company ship, manned by Pilot Brauker, came to earth.

The return mail tonight bore letters of greeting to Gov. Nellie Tayloe Ross from Gov. Morley of Colorado and to Mayor Riner of Cheyenne from Mayor Stapleton of Denver.

LONDON ADOPTS IDEA OF AMERICAN LUNCH

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

LONDON, May 31. — London business men are adopting the American quick-lunch idea and are not eating as much as formerly. Dr. W. J. Howarth, medical officer for the health of the city of London, commenting in his annual report on the reduction of the number of the more expensive and luxurious city restaurants, said: "The heavy meal of former days is being replaced by a lighter meal, occupying not a quarter of the time as was the custom in years gone by, when lunch was a sort of a midday feast."

Feud Sufferers

Janet Krubaech and William Frank, who were to have been married Saturday, and who, with Janet's father, August Krubaech, were killed by a bomb received through the mail last Thursday.

CONFESSION IN BOMBING CASE

will be signed in Justice Court tomorrow.

The confession was obtained after Bartlett had been in solitary confinement at the County Jail almost forty-eight hours. At the time of making it he said he would have confessed sooner if it were not for the shame it would cause his aged parents.

ATTORNEY NOT WANTED

An attorney, retained yesterday by Ira Bartlett, father of Asa, called on the prisoner, but was told he was not wanted.

Bartlett's confession confirms the suspicions of Krubaech's friends who have regarded Bartlett as the guilty person since the bomb explosion.

Dunn said that Bartlett displayed no marked emotion during the confession. He did not even express regret that the bomb which he admitted was intended only for Krubaech, killed Janet and Frank.

Bartlett's hatred for Krubaech has existed ever since the tavern keeper was elected four years ago to the township Board of Supervisors.

Up to that time Bartlett and his friends had had things virtually their own way in the sparsely settled community. Krubaech held office for two years and then was defeated by Mrs. Norlin. The defeat came after a bitterly contested campaign.

Bartlett's confession did not surprise the officials as they had gathered what they considered conclusive evidence of his guilt.

PHILADELPHIA EXPOSITION FORMALLY OPENS DOORS

Booming of Guns, Blare of Bands, Addresses Launch Nation's 150th Celebration of Independence

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PHILADELPHIA, May 31.—America today, through hiladelphia's colorful exposition, began the celebration of a century and a half of independence that will continue to the end of November. The 20,000 spectators who participated in the formal opening of the Sesqui-Centennial Exposition today had their anxious moments as rain drenched the grounds in the forenoon, but the sun appeared later.

While the show has not yet been completed, tremendous strides have been made in recent days. By the time President Coolidge comes here on July 3 officially to lend his voice to the celebration of the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence the exposition will have been completed, the management expects.

KELLOGG AND HOOVER

Secretary of State Kellogg and Secretary of Commerce Hoover made addresses at the exercises in the name of the national government, while Mayor W. Freeland Kendrick spoke for the municipality. Flags of all nations, with the Stars and Stripes predominating, fluttered everywhere from the farthest end of the city to the center. Bands played patriotic airs at City Hall Plaza and in various parts of the exposition grounds, while great guns boomed.

A salute of 150 guns at thirty-second intervals commemorated the 150 years of independence; another of nineteens guns welcomed the members of the President's Cabinet to the exposition grounds, while the Presidential salute of twenty-one guns gave a finale to the belching of the war pieces.

The keynotes of the addresses were thankfulness for the lasting independence and hope for a continued peaceful future.

Asserting that it would represent, upon its completion, the achievement of a virile and versatile people, Secretary Kellogg said the exposition should be considered as a rededication of the nation to American ideals, "a fresh acceptance of America's burdens and a renewed gratitude for the bounty of America's blessings."

"I like to think of this ceremony," he said, "as the inauguration of the edifice which this exposition typifies. It is an edifice which has its foundations in the pride and history of 150 years and which will represent in its completion the achievement of a virile and versatile people, dedicated to the peaceful pursuits of art, commerce and industry.

VALUE STRESSED

"The greatest value to the people of the United States of celebrations such as this, commemorating great moments in our history, lies in the fact that they keep alive the spirit which animated our ancestors in their struggle for independence and that they constantly bring to the mind of the present generation the benefits of that representative democracy under which for nearly a century and a half we have enjoyed that blessing of liberty and the stability and security of law."

Declaring that America had held fast to the declarations of liberty and human rights and those principles of government enunciated in the Declaration of Independence and promulgated in the Constitution of the United States, Mr. Kellogg said that at heart the nation had not changed and that the things the founders longed for, "we still long in so far as they have not been attained," and that "we are willing when necessary to fight to maintain those things which they fought for."

"That no nation, however," he added, "is more reluctant than our own to enter war has been shown forcibly by our stimulation and participation in all forms of international gatherings for the maintenance of peace and for the finding of methods for putting an end to war. However, in the last analysis, this meeting in Philadelphia is the sort of international gathering that we really prefer. When nations come together to show their products and wares in friendly rivalry, endeavor to stimulate their mutual trade and try to make themselves understood by their neighbors through their exhibits and friendly intercourse, that indeed is the happiest form of international gathering."

HOOVER SOUNDS WARNING

A warning that the American nation stands in need of a moral and spiritual reawakening if it is to maintain its present position in the world and withstand the dangers that beset it was sounded by Secretary Hoover, who declared that the dangers of America today are not economic or foreign, but "lie in the possible submergence of the moral and spiritual by our great material success."

Mr. Hoover reviewed at some length the many changes that have manifested themselves in the life of the nation since the centennial exposition was held here in 1876. "This nation," he said, "has been greatly blessed by an almighty providence, and any recounting of these blessings must be addressed in gratitude to that guidance given our people."

Recalling some of the inventions and discoveries made in science and industry during the past half-century, Mr. Hoover mentioned the steam turbine, radium, X-rays, moving pictures, talking machines, refrigeration, the linotype, typewriter, the harvester, the gasoline engine, the automobile, the airplane and the radio.

"Politically, we have gained greatly in national unity," he continued. "This great experiment in democracy is demonstrating the hopes, the prayers and the wisdom of its founders. Our national institutions have grown stronger and the resolute spirit for a democracy dedicated to an equality of opportunity among men has not diminished, but has gained in strength. We have risen in power and influence among nations until no foreign danger threatens our shores.

"Morally we have made gains toward a higher plane in the conduct of our commercial relations. In many particulars we show improvement in the conduct of our national and local government, though we suffer a national misfortune in the growing disrespect for law.

"Our dangers today are not economic or foreign; they lie on the possible submergence of the moral and spiritual by our great material success. And if this exposition and the many conferences and congresses to be held here serve to stimulate the moral and spiritual sense of our people it will have served a great and lasting purpose."

CHRISTIAN LIFE URGED ON NIPPON

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

OSAKA (Japan) May 31.—If Japan expects to absorb the benefits of western civilization, "it will be necessary for her to welcome Christianity with open arms and harmonize the religion of the West with the national characteristics of the eastern empire," in the opinion of the Osaka Mainichi.

This newspaper's editorial on the subject, which attracted considerable attention, said it "is indeed a great mistake to think that western culture grew up quite independent of its religion, just as it is absurd to think that eastern culture is independent of its religious thought or feeling.

"Strange to say, the majority of Japanese seem to think that we can very well absorb western culture without paying any heed to its religion—Christianity. It is our humble opinion that in order to fulfill the heaven-sent mission, if such it be, of welding the oriental and Occidental civilizations into one, it is almost incumbent upon us Japanese to welcome Christianity with open arms, so as to be able to make that religion our own, just as we did Buddhism and Confucianism in the past.

"To welcome Christianity means not necessarily to make this country a so-called Christendom, but it means that the nation as a whole should become conversant in Christian doctrines and sentiment in a similar degree as western peoples who confess that religion.

MORE THAN HALF A CENTURY OF PROGRESSIVE BANKING SERVICE

SIGNIFICANT!

THE recent death of Mr. Jacob Kuhrts, at the advanced age of 93, and Mr. William S. Rowland, aged 80, closed accounts in this bank which these two distinguished citizens had maintained ever since the first day the institution opened its doors—over fifty-four years ago.

There are a score or more still surviving who opened accounts here during the first few years of the Bank's career. And several hundred who have been banking here thirty to forty years.

These facts make for but one conclusion: That the founders of this bank must have imbued it with high ideals of service . . . ideals that have been faithfully maintained throughout the passing of more than half a century.

Crandall Weakens in Ninth and Home Runs Do Rest

Hamilton Hurls Cherubs to 8-1 Win in Afternoon

BY ROBERT RAY

After being beaten out in the ninth inning of the morning game when Johnny Frederick and Fritz Coumbe hit successive home runs over the right-field screen to give the Stars a 3-to-2 victory, Marty Krug's league-leading Angels came back in the afternoon and took the deciding game of the series by rapping out an 8-to-1 win behind the great hurling of "Oil" Hamilton.

Only 2000 fans saw the breakfast affair, some 11,000 were on hand in the afternoon to watch the Angels celebrate Memorial Day with a bit of cannonading off Curtis Fullerton.

In the morning struggle the Angels had the contest won, 2 to 1, up to the ninth when Doc Crandall, who had held the Stars to three hits up until then, lost control of the situation. Frederick was the first Hollywoodite up in the ninth and he punched one over the right-field screen to knot the count. Coumbe followed Johnny by smacking another homer over the screen, his clearing the barrier by a wider margin. That clout gave Dick McCabe a one-run edge and he held it by retiring Mitchell, Hannah and Pinch-hitter Hood in the home half of the ninth.

CLINCH GAME EARLY

The Seraphs clinched the afternoon contest early, giving Hamilton a four-run lead in the first three innings. That was more than enough for "Oil," who allowed only four hits and would have had a shutout but for an error by Hemingway.

However, the Cherubs kept picking away at Fullerton, gathering twelve hits in all, and added four more markers to their string. Ray Jacobs led the Angel assault on Fullerton by driving out two singles, a double and a home run for SPEEDWAY (Indianapolis, Ind.) May 31.—Frank Lockhart, 23-years old Los Angeles wizard of the dirt tracks, led in a field of fourteen tiny race cars to the freak finish of a freak 400-mile automobile classic on the Indianapolis Speedway today with an average for the distance of 94.63 miles an hour.

He was out in front early in the melee and caught the checkered flag of victory a full two laps ahead of Harry Hartz, also of Los Angeles, who was officially awarded second position.

The high-speed contest, which was run in exactly 4h. 13m. 37.78s. and was halted for an hour in the afternoon when rain flooded the track and stands, was the first 500-mile race since the resumption of the great sporting event in 1911 that has been hampered by bad weather.

Cliff Woodbury of Chicago shared the dampened glory with Lockhart, driving a Boyle valve special into third place from 6 rear-rank pocket early in the race and finishing less than 6 minutes behind Hartz.

FOURTEEN FINISH

Only fourteen of the twenty-eight baby race cars that faced the starter this morning were checked in at the finish, and the speed average for the 400 miles was a little more than six miles an hour less than that established last year by cars of 122-cubic-inch displacement. The motor experts explain that these new-type race cars, which have been reduced to 91½-cubic-inch displacement and to an overall weight of 1400 pounds, are no more than a few days old and that their high speed and endurance development are not yet complete.

At that, the face that once

BANNER YACHT YEAR AHEAD

BY EDWARD LAWRENCE

If the past week-end, which officially opened the 1926 yachting and motor-boat season, can be taken as a criterion, the next four months will be the most active in Southern California's nautical history. Every club is planning a program exceeding any in past years, and yachting enthusiasts are entering vigorously into the sport in ever-increasing numbers. Commodore Joseph A. Beek of the Newport Harbor Yacht Club expressed the prevailing sentiment when he declared that a banner sea-going summer is on tap.

Saturday and Sunday were the most successful sailing days ever enjoyed at Newport Harbor so early in the year, while the Catalina Island Yacht Club also put over a three-day series of R, star boat and cruiser races, on a gala water carnival program.

A day of cruiser and sloop races outside Balboa Bay had to be postponed yesterday afternoon because of a stiff south wind that battered the breakwater with waves and endangered the light craft in passing through the channel. However, a series of bay races over the upper and lower courses for star boats and snowbirds furnished exceptionally hot competition, which promises numerous keen races before the championships are awarded later in the season.

In the snowbird class, Phillip Merickle's Sea Gull is out in front after winning a hotly contested three-mile race from a fleet of six starters. The time of one hour and twenty minutes was very good considering the light winds. Lacey Hall's Bobolink finished in second place with Eddie Warmington in the Blue Jay third. Strung out behind were Andrew Merryman's Queen Marinette; James Busdorf's Teal, and Bill Murphy's Ptarmigan in the order named. Staff

TROJANS ARRIVE IN CHICAGO TODAY TO PREP FOR MEET

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, May 31.—The University of Southern California team, which won the eastern intercollegiate track-and-field championships in the Harvard Stadium last Saturday, will arrive in Chicago tomorrow to resume training for the national collegiate A.A. individual championships to be held on Soldiers' Field, June 11 and 12.

The squad will be in charge of Dean Cromwell and the men will be sent through the usual routine of training on Northwestern field, which Athletic Director Wilson offered for their use.

PENNSYLVANIA CREW WINS

Scores Second Successive Victory by Defeating Rivals in Henley Regatta

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PHILADELPHIA, May 31.—For the second time in three days the University of Pennsylvania crew triumphed, when it lifted the Stewards' Challenge Cup in the twenty-second annual American Henley regatta on the Schuylkill River today.

Coach Fred Spahn's red and blue oarsmen defeated Joe Wright's Penn Athletic Club eight and the Syracuse varsity. Not more than a third of a length separated the two Philadelphia eights, with Syracuse three lengths behind. The time of 7m. 5 1-4s. was good, considering that a strong head wind was blowing. Last Saturday the Pennsylvania varsity won the Child's cup for the third straight year.

Pennsylvania's six-year reign in 150-pound eights was broken when Princeton beat the Red and Blue lightweights and a field of four other starters. Princeton won by a length, the Naval Academy nosing out Yale for third place, Columbia taking fifth and Harvard last.

Walter M. Hoover, national sculling champion, not only won in first singles, but also stroked his Undine Barge Club first four sculls to a victory. Undine, entered in five events, won as many races.

MISS GLADMAN TRIUMPHS

Gladys Patz Plays Brilliant Tennis While Losing to Santa Monica High Champion

Playing the longest match ever witnessed on the Santa Monica courts, Midge Gladman, prep tennis queen, grabbed the Santa Monica Beach championship for women yesterday afternoon when she copped an undeserved contest from Miss Gladys Patz, senior racketer and Southern Branch champion, by scores of 1-6, 7-5, 6-3. The Grizzly court wizard played marvelous tennis throughout the contest.

The former junior queen had previously trounced Miss Louise McFarland, 1926 junior ace, and was considerably worn out, and was forced to drop the final count to Miss Gladman, although she outplayed her rival in every stage of the game. The contest drew a gallery of more than 300 eager net enthusiasts who applauded the shots of the girls at every point.

Johnny Doeg, State high school champion, downed Joe Busch, pride of the beach city, 6-3, 6-4, in which the prep star was again forced to display his superiority over his rival, who threatened in various stages of the contest. Later in the day Doeg again starred with his racket when he paired with Paul Greene to eliminate Busch and Tobin from the men's doubles play by a count of 6-3, 6-2.

Doeg has made his way to the semifinals of the open singles, which he won last year, and would probably cop again this season, but he is making a trip to Berkeley, to compete in the Pacific Coast junior tournament starting the 12th inst., and will be forced to default his matches.

Results of yesterday's play follow:

MEN'S SINGLES

Doeg defeated Busch, 6-4, 6-3; Stewart defeated Phillips, 7-5, 1-6, 6-4; Blats defeated Bundy, 6-2, 7-5; Stewart defeated Boyer, 7-5, 6-1; Woodall defeated Robinson, 6-3, 4-6, 6-1; Hall defeated Greene, 6-2, 7-5, 6-3; Mac defeated Kealy, 6-0, 6-2, 6-1.

MEN'S DOUBLES

Doeg and Greene defeated Busch and Tobin, 6-3, 7-5; Robinson and Schreiber defeated Hall and Clans, 6-2, 6-4.

WOMEN'S SINGLES

Semifinals—Miss Patz defeated Miss McFarland, 1-6, 7-5, 6-3.

JUNIOR GIRLS' SINGLES

Miss Crouchshank defeated Miss Doris Doeg, 6-1, 6-1; Miss Gladman defeated Miss Crouchshank, 6-3, 6-3; Miss Patz defeated Miss O'Hara Parent, 6-0, 6-3.

MIXED DOUBLES

Miss James and Gershabel defeated Ordway and partner, default; Miss James and Gershabel defeated Miss Robinson and Boesher, 3-6, 6-3, 6-4.

WILLS AT LAST GETS BOUT WITH SHARKEY

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BOSTON, May 31.—Jack Sharkey, New England heavyweight champion, and Harry Wills, negro contender for Dempsey's world title, have been signed to meet in a Providence ring this summer, it was announced tonight.

John Toomey, Providence promoter, offered a purse of $200,000 for the bout, to be held at the Providence Cyclodrome, the two heavyweights to arrange for the splitting of the sum. Paddy Mullins, Wills's manager, telegraphed his consent from New York, and Johnny Buckley acceded in Sharkey's behalf. No date has been set for the encounter.

JONES, SELMAN TIE IN PARKRIDGE PLAY

Dave Jones and H. C. Selman tied for low net honors in the special sweepstakes play at the Parkridge Country Club yesterday. Both had net 69s, although Selman had a gross 77, while Jones took a 90. Jones won the play-off, taking first prize.

YANKEE RIFLE TEAM IN LEAD

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

BISLEY (Eng.) May 31.—The United States was leading the English riflemen by 52 points at the conclusion of this afternoon's shooting for the Vincent shield. The Americans had scored 1131 points and the Englishmen 1079.

SPILLS MAR LEGION RACES

Two Drivers Badly Injured in Feature Holiday Races at Banning; Spencer is Star

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BANNING, May 31.—Two serious accidents marred one of the most thrilling auto racing programs ever presented by the American Legion post of Banning. Emmit Larsen, the flying Swede, went end over end twice and then hit the ground in a nose dive. He was badly cut up about the face.

C. C. Mackey of Brawley rolled over twice after going through the fence and was also badly injured. Five thousand attended.

Results: Two-lap trophy dash won by Emmit Larsen, time 59s.; ten-lap heat, won by Harry Howard, time, 8m. 62s.; ten-lap dash, won by Paul Barrett, time, 8m. flat; ten-lap American Legion special, won by Bert Spencer, time, 8m. 8s.; twenty-lap consolation, won by Ted Simpson, time, 10m. 17s. Bert Spencer also won the last event of thirty laps, time, 16m. 1s.

KERR TO LEAD BALL TEAM AT REDLANDS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

REDLANDS, May 31.—Andy Kerr, third baseman for the University of Redlands baseball team this year, will captain the team next year. Kerr was elected by the baseball men today. The prediction of Coach Hathorne that the team would not be playing the ball of which it was capable until the last of the season was fulfilled, when Redlands broke even with Pomona in the two final games.

HATLER WINNER IN RANCHO PLAY

J. C. Hatler took top honors in the first flight of the handicap flag tournament at the Rancho Country Club yesterday. W. W. Beckwith was runner-up, in the scratch to 16 event.

The second flight, with golfers with handicaps from 11 to 16 performing, was won by Lee LaSarde, with H. F. Mile as runner-up. The third flight fell to James I. Tavett with C. H. Caldwallader furnishing the major opposition.

LEAGUE LEADERS WIN IN MORNING

Pirates Win Second by 9-5 Chasing Lucas

Cards Cop First from Cubs Dropping Afterpiece

Giants Rained Out in Opener But Win Later

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PITTSBURGH, May 31.—Cincinnati and Pittsburgh divided the Memorial Day double-header here today, the Reds taking the morning game, 7 to 2, and the Pirates the afternoon contest, 9 to 5. The visitors bunched hits in the fifth and ninth innings of the morning contest, while Mays kept the local hits well scattered. Seven two-base hits featured.

Timely hitting enabled the champions to win this afternoon. Lucas, who started for the Reds, was driven from the mound and Rixey relieved him. Morrison pitched effective ball and was never in danger. Roush was out of the game, having injured himself sliding into second in the morning. The scores:

OAKS TAKE TWO FROM PORTLAND TO GRAB SERIES

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PORTLAND, May 31.—Oakland beat Portland today in two games, 14 to 10, and 11 to 7, and took the series, five games to two. The first game was the slowest ever played in the Portland park. It went ten innings and lasted three hours and twenty minutes, and the second game went another hour and fifty-eight minutes. It was 6:58 when the last Portlandar made an out. Portland used five pitchers and Oakland four in the first game, and four more Beaver hurlers tried vainly to stem the tide of base hits in the second encounter. Scores:

OBSERVATIONS

BY THE INNOCENT BYSTANDER

BILL HENRY

THE victory of Frank Lockhart at Indianapolis yesterday brings back to memory some of the sensational driving he did at Ascot Speedway in days gone by. Lockhart is a genuine home product who grew up from the job of piloting a flivver "bug" into a blood-sweating behemoth of the dirt tracks who was unbeatable at Ascot. He finally joined the A.A.A. ranks, but couldn't accustom himself to the smooth board speedways and finally withdrew from the Culver City race, acknowledging himself beaten by the boards. To have him spring once again into fame by the capture of the Indianapolis classic makes us wonder if he will be able to do anything during the remainder of the year on the boards.

U.S.C.'s victory at the I.C.A.A.A.A. has been talked of so much since last Saturday that there is very little else left to say about it except that it was certainly a clean-cut win for the West. The work of Barnes was disappointing, but otherwise the team more than came up to expectations. Houser, of course, was a team by himself, and his absence next year will make a lot of difference in the Trojan prospects of a third victory. Meantime, the rest of the boys followed his good example and certainly outdid themselves in their efforts. U.S.C., Stanford and California certainly gave the folks in the East something to think about this time.

It looks a good deal as though poor old Jack Johnson had lost an opportunity to add something to his bankroll by getting knocked out at Juarez on Sunday. Jack was in line for a couple of battles down at Tia Juana, which would have brought him some fame and likewise some money, but it is very unlikely that he will be starred now that he has been stopped in seven rounds by another negro battler regardless of gentleman's class. Undoubtedly Johnson's old-time skill is better than his endurance as he apparently had the fight won as long as he was able to prevent his opponent from hitting him in the stomach, but when he weakened under the pace a few good body jolts settled him permanently.

The most successful year in recent athletic history at Occidental College was topped off in good style by the winning of the baseball championship. Willicie Clark is one of the few really good coaches of college baseball in the country. He is a college man himself and knows how to handle college men. The Tiger club was one of the finest in the country and won the Southern California intercollegiate title in good shape.

SEATTLE GRABS SERIES AFTER DROPPING ONE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SEATTLE, May 31.—Seattle split a double-header today and won a nine-game series with Sacramento here, losing the first game, 4 to 0, and taking the second, 6 to 5. The Indians were able to find Hughes, Senator hurler, for only five hits in the first contest. In the second game Sacramento got thirteen hits to nine for the Indians, but failed to get as many men to the home plate. Scores:

BARFOOT BIG HELP TO MONKS

Rejoins Former Teammates in Time to Win Half of Pair from Seals

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 31.—Clyde Barfoot, former Vernon pitcher, made an impressive return to Pacific Coast League baseball today when he hurled the Missions into a 4-to-1 victory over the Seals in the second game of a double-header here. Barfoot, released by the Detroit Americans last week, allowed only two hits until the eighth inning. The Missions also won this morning's game, 10 to 3, after indulging in a slugfest to gather nineteen hits.

The game this morning was marred by the injury of Evar Swanson, Mission center fielder, who was hit on the head by a pitched ball. He was taken to a hospital, where an examination revealed he suffered a slight concussion of the brain. He will be out of the game for several days. Scores:

Colima Battles Phelps in Vernon Main Event Tonight

WHITTIER STAR IN FINE SHAPE

Youthful Arizona Scrapper is Hard to Beat

Mexican Middleweight Will Celebrate Return

Arizona Rivers in Hot Bout With Paul De Hate

BY KAY OWE

Bert Colima, pride of Whittier, and Owen Phelps, Arizona's greatest athlete, clash tonight in the Vernon main event in what promises to be a spectacular fight.

Both took light workouts yesterday in final preparation for the battle. Phelps will scale about 158 pounds and Colima may not top 150 pounds much. The Mexican fought himself into condition with six hard fights in Mexico in which he scored four knockouts. He is finely trained.

Phelps, who boxes under the name of Roughhouse Nelson, is a wiry chap of 21 years of age, with a splendid future before him if he travels at the same pace this year he did last. He is of Mormon birth.

The Arizona cowboy has been boxing but a year and a half. The Colima fight will be his forty-second start. He has piled up close to twenty knockouts.

The scrap which made him a country-wide attraction was the flash fight several months ago. Both won five rounds and Phelps lost, with one even, according to the tabulation of the referee. Phelps was credited with taking the tenth round in the last spurt, but fell short of the victory by a margin.

DE HATE MEETS RIVERS

Paul De Hate and Arizona Joe Rivers meet in the semifinal which looks like as hard a fight as the main attraction.

De Hate is undoubtedly in the best condition he has ever shown, winning six out of his last eight fights by knockouts. His last win was a short knockout of a Mexican opponent in Mexico City. His opponent's leg was broken from De Hate's final sleep wallop.

Rivers is a product of Phoenix. He has had fifty-one battles. In a recent fight he had Billy Alger on the floor. He was outweighed eight pounds by Alger.

By coincidence Willie Hunefeld, manager of Phelps, fought his last fight against Rivers, winning a close decision in defense of the lightweight championship of Arizona. This was about a year ago. Hunefeld retired to become a promoter after the battle.

The special event features George K. O. Brown and Frankie Murphy. Brown is the colored boy who made a big hit at Vernon several months ago. Murphy cut quite a figure in the old four-round days. He once held Colima to a draw. In the last year Murphy was getting the best of Tiger Flowers, but lost the fight when he fractured his wrist.

FLORES TACKLES BLAKE

Herman Ritterhouse and Tony Cruz open the show.

CROSS BOW IS STAKE WINNER

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

AURORA (Ill.) May 31.—Cross Bow, a 3-year-old, beaten only by Carlaris at Tia Juana last winter, won the $3500 Memorial Day handicap before a crowd of 25,000 at the races here this afternoon. He beat Max Brick by two lengths with Pegasus a close-up third. Cross Bow shattered the track record for a mile and a sixteenth, his time being 1m. 45 2-5s., a fifth of a second lower than the old mark.

MALIBU STAGES SPORTS PROGRAM

The Malibu Lake Club held a celebration commemorating the filling and opening of the lake yesterday. A hill climb featured the program and was won by Marcus Keare who negotiated the round trip to the top of Sugar Hill in 22m. 53s. to take permanent possession of the cup, this being the second time he has won the event.

Winners in other events were Bertram Lackey in the trapshoot, with a mark of 44 out of 50, Dick Gillelen in the across-lake swim, Dick Gillelen in the mile swim, and Gordon Lindley in the skiff race. There was also a boat parade with all boats decorated as floats.

PRO TOURNEY IS POSTPONED

Annual S.C.P.G.A. Titular Clash Washed Out

Dissension Held Cause of Present Weak Body

May Replace Old Fraternity With New Organization

BY BILL WISE

Lack of co-operation that has just about ruined the Southern California Professional Golfers' Association has also apparently washed out the annual organization championship golf tourney, scheduled for the Long Beach municipal course this week.

Rumors of a new professional golfers' association gained considerable strength yesterday when Long Beach officials and "findable" pro association authorities professed to know nothing of the event advertised and scheduled to start over the seaside course Wednesday.

The following extract from a letter by Jack Malloy, association president, definitely states both the name of the course and the time of the play:

"I am working with Henry Maurer of Long Beach on plans to stage the Professional Golfers' Association of Southern California championship over the Long Beach municipal course. This event will be held June 1, 2, 3 and 4, with $500 to the winner, down to runner-up and $100 to each of the semi-finalists, with an additional $100 to be divided four ways for the qualifying rounds. This event will be open to all members who have paid their 1926 dues to this association.

"Yours truly,
"JACK MALLEY,
"President."
[Signed]

Indefinite reports from Long Beach last night stated that local authorities informed the pro officials several weeks ago that it would be impossible to raise the amount of money needed for cash prizes, but this information has never been given to members of the association.

Chick Fraser, elected secretary of the pro association at the last annual meeting, who expressed himself as disgusted with the slip-shod way in which the organization was being handled, resigned several weeks ago. Harry Pressler, of Hacienda, tourney chairman and acting secretary, appears to be the only member of the pro fraternity working for the best interest of Big Gun Golf in this vicinity—and Harry doesn't know a thing about the S.C.P.G.A. championship scheduled for this week.

Bob Peebles, La Cumbre, Fred Morrison, Ojai and other out-of-town members of the floundering association have made arrangement to come down for the tourney this week. Entries from this vicinity for the National Open were so few that but two places in the qualifying play were allotted this vicinity, despite the fact that there are more flourishing golf clubs in this vicinity than any place else in the world.

Membership in the pro association has dwindled until fewer than ten members attend meetings and play in the regular semimonthly sweepstakes events. Southern California was severely criticised by visiting professionals here for the $10,000 open regarding the caddy situation in this vicinity. The pro association is the one body that can produce new champions and this phase of the situation alone is enough to cause decided revision of the pro policy.

Harold Sampson has rounded out an organization up north that compares very favorably with any in the country, and with such men as Willie Hunter, Brentwood, Chick Fraser, and Jimmie Duncan, Midwick; Arthur Clarkson, Rancho; Louis Berrien and Jack Jacobs, Wilshire; Tom Stevens, California; Joe Norwood, at present nonfunctioning vice-president of the local pro association, Whispering Will Amor, Hollywood; Jack Tarrant, El Caballero; Jock Adams, Flintridge; Howard Beall, Lakeside; and at least one score more outstanding professionals available—and willing to help the present organization—or promote a new one, if it is time that professional golf in this vicinity be restored to the independent plane that will work much good for Southern California—and golf in general.

Black Maria Carries Off Turf Classic

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

LOUISVILLE (Ky.) May 31.—A blinding rainstorm was not enough to check the speed of W. R. Coe's Black Maria, 3-year-old daughter of Black Toney-bird Loose in the fifty-second renewal of the Kentucky Oaks today. The event, carrying $10,000 added for 3-year-old fillies at a mile and an eighth, was the feature of the closing day at Churchill Downs. The black filly covered the distance on a track rapidly becoming sloppy in 1m. 55 2-5s., to bring victory to the East. The race was worth $10,960 net to the winner.

Dark Phantom, the West's favorite, finished in second place, getting $1500 of the purse; Helen's Babe of the Hal Price Headley stable, took third money of $800, and A. B. Hancock's Pargo saved her stake of $220 by running fourth.

RABBIT PUNCHES

By PAUL LOWRY

IT LOOKS like a good time time to rise up and remark once more that the Pacific Coast Conference meet at Palo Alto two weeks ago was the greatest intercollegiate track and field meet ever held in this country. This is brought home by a comparison of the records of the Coast athletes at Palo Alto and the feats of the combined eastern and western stars at Cambridge.

Analysis of these two blue-ribbon meets shows that performers in the Coast meet excelled in seven of the fourteen events on which the comparison is based, while competitors in the eastern affair set the pace in six events. One event—the 100-yard dash—shows a tie.

In the mile run, the broad jump, the pole vault, 880-yard run, shot-put, discus and javelin the Coast records are best. Marks in the high hurdles, two-mile run, 440-yard dash, high jump, 220-yard dash and low hurdles surpass at Cambridge.

In connection with this comparison the astonishing fact is disclosed that in only three events at the I.C.A.A.A.A. meet did eastern athletes surpass the feats of far western boys at Palo Alto. These are the two-mile, 440 and 220-yard dashes. In the high hurdles, low hurdles and high jump at Cambridge Coast boys who won the same events at Palo Alto were supreme.

Of course, eastern critics will point out that if Bill Richardson, who dashed the half in 1m. 53.8s., on the Coast, can't do better than fifth in a 1m. 55.1s. race at Cambridge, there's no use comparing him with the eastern runners. Transferring "Soapy" Watters of Harvard, McCloskey of Boston and the others to the Coast probably would have the same effect on them as a long train trip East had on Richardson.

Only in isolated cases have Coast runners performed up to standard in I.C.A.A.A.A. meets. Dye and Grumbles of U.S.C. in the harrier races have had unqualified success two years running. Oxy Hendrixson of California won the 440 two years in a row back in 1921 and 1922. Peaky Sprott of California in the half, Morris Kirksey of Stanford in the dashes, and one or two other individuals whose names I don't recall are among the few who have cut the mustard.

DANNY KRAMER LOSES

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PHILADELPHIA, May 31.—Leon (Kid) Roy, Canada, 127½ pounds, was awarded the judges decision over Danny Kramer, Philadelphia, 127 pounds, after a ten-round bout at the Philadelphia National League baseball park tonight.

ZORILLA FIGHTS TONIGHT

Tonight's main event at the Culver City Athletic Club between Santiago Zorrilla, Panama featherweight, and Henry Faligano, Filipino boxer and stable-mate of Young Nationalista, should prove of much interest to both boys, inasmuch as the winner has been promised a shot with Joe Salas. George Blake's featherweight protege, Zorilla fought Joe twice, and lost the referee's decision on each occasion, even though the fans let out a howl, as did likewise the press.

TOP OF LEAGUE MEETS BOTTOM

Last Year's Champions Now Nestling in Cellar

Krugmen Expect to Profit at Expense of Seals

Glazner to Oppose Either Kerr or Moudy Today

The bottom of the Coast League will tackle the top this week at Wrigley Field where the league-leading Angels entertain the lowly San Francisco Seals in a seven-game series that gets under way this afternoon.

It will mark the Seals' first appearance before Los Angeles fans this season and it is expected that a large gathering will be out to see for themselves just why the champs of 1925 have deteriorated to the chumps of 1926. The departure to the majors of Paul Waner, Hal Rhyne, and Doug McWeeny no doubt has a lot to do with the Seals' poor showing to date, while the failure to hit as they should of Bert Ellison's veterans is responsible for the rest.

The Seals have won but one series this year, getting off to a bad start when Hollywood bumped them four out of five at the opening of the season and they haven't been able to get going since then. Dick Kerr, the midget southpaw hero of the 1919 World Series who was purchased from the White Sox, has not filled the shoes of McWeeny as he was expected to, and neither have Lefty Williams and Marty Griffin been pitching as good ball as they did last season, All of which makes Mr. Ellison's troubles many and more.

PRACTICALLY SAME

The Seals of this year are practically the same as they were last season with the exception of the three stars who graduated to the majors. Gussie Suhr, a youngster, is now being used at short but he's a far call from Rhyne. Earl Averill, a hard-hitting youth from the wilds of Washington, has landed a regular outfielding job, Gene Valla and Frank Brower being the other regular outer gardeners. Joe Connolly, recently let go by the Stars, and Sneed Jolley, who hit like wildfire at the clpse of last year's race but who has not done much this season, and Tim Hendryx are the other outfielders.

Marty Krug hopes to fatten the Angels' lead at the expense of the Seals this week and announces that he will pitch Whitey Glazner against the cellarites today. Either Dick Moudy, who stopped the Angels' winning streak, or Dick Kerr will work for the Seals.

STARS FACE MONKS

While the Angels are fussing with the Seals here, Oscar Vitt's Hollywood Stars will be up in San Francisco meeting the Missions. Clyde Barfoot has been turned back to the Monks from Detroit and the addition of this sterling right-hander who led the league in the number of games won last year makes the Missionites a tougher bunch. In the other series the Oaks and Suds clash at Seattle, and Portland entertains Sacramento.

HARRY WILLS EASY VICTOR OVER CLARK

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CLEVELAND, May 31.—Harry Wills, negro contender for Jack Dempsey's heavyweight title, had little trouble winning from Jeff Clark, Atlantic City veteran, in a six-round exhibition here tonight. Although wearing twelve-ounce gloves Wills floored his opponent twice, and it was apparent he could have stopped him had he so desired.

LUTZE GIVEN PRESTIGE

Former Notre Dame Grid Star Doped to Furnish Gruelling Mat Duel at Olympic Tomorrow

One of the bitterest battles ever staged on a mat in Los Angeles, an even fiercer conflict than the second Jim Londos-George Kotsonaros meeting, is expected to be served up to wrestling fans tomorrow night when Nick Lutze grapples with Jim Londos in the main event of Lou Daro's show.

His spectacular and punishing attack of reverse headlocks is said to be even more effective than that of Londos, who has used that hold to beat everyone he has met with the exception of Champion Joe Stecher.

Lutze flopped Tony DeVecchi into a coma in his first appearance here, and followed that up by slamming the massive shoulders of Prince Gobar to the mat. He won both bouts in such quick order that the "wice boys" who fix the betting odds were not satisfied of his ability until they watched him in his workouts for tomorrow night's match.

Ivan Poddubny, the Russian Giant, and Harry Maxwell will wrestle the semifinal tomorrow night. It will be Maxwell's big chance to win national recognition on the mat. Poddubny is regarded as the greatest wrestler in the history of the game in Europe.

HUDKINS MUST POST FORFEIT

Manager Tom Gallery took drastic steps yesterday to insure the Ace Hudkins-Phil Salvadore fight at the Hollywood American Legion Stadium Friday night. Gallery made Clyde Hudkins, manager of his brother Ace, post $1000 for appearance and that Ace will make weight, 140 pounds at 2 o'clock Friday.

This has never been done on such a big scale at Hollywood before. The purse offered main-event fighters isn't such that it calls for a $1000 forfeit but Hudkins is liable to come in overweight and this might hurt the Legion show as Commissioner Seth Strelinger stated last week that he is going to enforce this clause in the fighters' contracts. He has just set Kid Ponce down for sixty days for not making weight when he agreed to.

The Hudkins stable has been the worst offenders on making weight. Commissioner Strelinger has watched the fighters weigh in at Hollywood every Friday since he became commissioner. He makes it a duty to go to the dressing-rooms and see the boys examined and weighed in.

LOCKHART WINS RACE

no more than two-thirds as large as the standard fitvee were able to average more than ninety miles an hour for 400 miles is pointed to as proof of the small-sized high-speed idea for automobile power plants.

Loyal fans of the speedway refused to allow overcast skies and an all-night rain to keep them away from the great speedway plant. By 9 a.m. a colorful crowd, estimated at 130,000 people filled the flag-draped stands and lined the two and one-half mile brick oval. When the thousand-piece band swung into the annual parade and review with the twenty-eight vest pocket race cars trailing down the stretch, the annual patriotic thrill that comes only from speedway enthusiasm registered again for motordom. At the start "Pop" Myers, general manager of the speedway, announced that 135,000 people had been checked through the gates.

MACHINES NOT READY

Twenty-eight cars, groomed to mirror brilliance, wheeled in behind Louis Chevrolet and his Chrysler pace car for the start.

Night and day work had failed to bring the new Duesenbergs into shape. Bob McDonough, one of the prime favorites, and Tommy Milton's color bearer, was forced to watch the start from the pits. Wade Morton's new Duesenberg attempted to qualify at dawn, but could not hit. This left the famous Duesenberg camp represented only by Pete De Paolo in the factory's best mount and Hen Jones in the new two-cycle model. These Indianapolis cars were pitted against fourteen of the most famous motors produced by Harry Miller.

As the cars pulled out for the pace lap, Leon Duray, in one of Durant's Locomobiles, had to pull into the pits but caught up with the field and went over the starting lap in the front rank. Harry Hartz, leading Duray and Cooper by a hood, leaned into the south turn ahead of the field while the rear row drivers strung out. Shafer in his Miller snaked through to the lead on the back stretch. He crossed the tape with an average of 102.31 miles per hour. Duray was second at the end of the lap, Hartz third, Lewis fourth, Hill fifth, Ellingboe sixth, Shattuc seventh and McDougall eighth.

SHAFER MAINTAINS LEAD

At the ten-mile mark Shafer still led the field. He had stepped up the speed average to over 104 miles an hour and was closely trailed by Dave Lewis, his teammate. Shafer, who pulled with De Paolo in the race had instructions to stay out in front as long as his car lasted. Duray was third, Lockhart fourth and Hartz fifth.

At twenty-five miles Shafer still held his lead with Lewis second. Lockhart had moved up to third position and Hartz was fourth. They had covered the distance with an average of 103.06. In the sixteenth lap Lewis in his Miller front drive car pulled around Shafer and went out after the lap prizes.

The first fifty miles with Lewis still in the lead, was covered in 29m. 33.01s. Shafer still held his place behind the flying Lewis and Lockhart trailed the two. Lockhart moved to second and Duray roared into third position. After fifty Lockhart and Lewis battled for the lead with Lewis out in front and roaring wide open into the turns. He led the field through the hundred-mile mark with an average of 100.89 miles an hour through the 125-mile mark and until the 150-mile lap had been turned. Then Lewis pulled in for oil and Lockhart swept into the lead. The speed at the 150th had dropped to 98.20 miles an hour and the tiny cars were showing distress. Eight of the twenty-eight starters at this period had been forced from the race. They included Ellingboe's Miller, Duray's Locomobile, Lockhart's Nickel Plate, Shattuc's Miller, Nemi's Schmidt, McGarver's Chicago-made Hamlin and McDougall's Miller. Eldridge, the British sportsman, was forced off a few laps later, with a broken steering arm.

TRACK DRENCHED

Rain which had threatened the great gasoline derby since dawn, drenched the track as the leaders were turning their 175-mile lap. Seth Cline, official starter, waved the speeding cars down and sent them to the pits to await weather developments. This sets a precedent for the Indianapolis classic. Rain has never before stopped the annual five-century since inception in 1911.

The cars came into the pits and their drivers climbed down to stand at attention and wait for the downpour to stop. Their positions were: Lockhart, first; Hartz, second; Cooper, third; Lewis, fourth; Elliott, fifth; Comer, sixth; Batten, seventh; De Paolo, eighth; Woodbury, ninth and Hepburn, tenth.

The downpour lasted about thirty minutes and another thirty were consumed in high-pressure arithmetic work on the part of the American Automobile Association officials who direct the race. Their job was to figure to the one-hundredth of a second how each car should be sent away in the restart, handicapping each driver to his exact position in the standing start made at the pits. Lockhart was sent away a few seconds ahead of Hartz. Cooper burned out a fraction of a minute behind Hartz and the field went to the track in its own split-second continuity.

LOCKHART STILL LEADS

Lockhart, stepping up his Miller to 100 miles an hour on the straightaway continued to lead the field after the restart and turned the 200 miles in 2h. 2m. 44.66s. The average of 97.76 miles an hour for the distance was slow compared to the 103.80 average sung up by De Paolo a year ago. Hartz was a close second at the 200 and Cooper, driving relief in Lewis's front drive Miller, was third. Cliff Woodbury, the Chicago dirt-track idol, who had been grinding away in ninth position till the temporary stop, came up in a whirl through the scattered field to grab fourth place and challenge the leaders. His Miller-motored Boyle special was working perfectly while the leaders were slowing perceptibly for the dangerous turns.

At 250 miles with the race half over Lockhart was still leading Hartz by a slim margin and was pushing his car hard to keep the lead. Woodbury had moved to third place two laps behind the flying Miller. Elliott was fourth and Comer fifth.

A speed brush between Lockhart and Pete De Paolo brought the leader to the pits for gas, oil and water and gave Hartz the lead. It was at this point that the second Miller front-wheel drive car, with Cooper up, broke a valve and went out of the race.

Ben Jones in the two-cycle Duesenberg, Duray in his Locomobile, Corum in his Schmidt and Guyot in his French car had also left the track, making a total of eleven cars of the 28 starters that were forced out by motor trouble. A few laps later Douglas Hawks, the English crack who was up in the British car started by Eldridge, was forced out by timing trouble, leaving the race entirely to American cars.

CATCHES HARTZ

At the half Lockhart had won $4100 in lap prizes, the Lewis and Cooper combination was ahead $4300 and Shafer had collected $1600.

Lockhart was shot out from the pits one minute and fifteen seconds after his emergency stop and went out after Hartz with the fastest of the Millers burning the bricks. He caught the flying Hartz in five laps and at 300 miles was again leading by a safe margin.

At 350 miles he still held the lead with Hartz and Woodbury tilting for second place. Cliff was but fifty seconds behind Hartz in this period and was driving one of the best races of the day. Comer in a Miller was fourth with Pete De Paolo in the one remaining Duesenberg pushing him close. Elliott was sixth, Batten in a Miller, seventh; Hepburn in a Miller, eighth; Duff in the rebuilt Elcar, ninth and Shafer in a Miller, tenth. For the next twenty-five miles the positions remained the same with Lockhart three laps ahead of Hartz and Woodbury. He turned up an average for the 350 miles of 94.56 miles an hour, as compared with the 101.34 average of last year.

As the tiny cars hummed along the 400-mile post, the weather man exhibited his ill nature for the second time. A fine sprinkle fell to coat the track and after a hurried conference, the judges decided to call the race at 400 miles. Officially the annual classic is a race if the cars have traveled 350 miles.

With the pilots being under a steadily increasing shower and Lockhart a full two laps in the lead, the green last-lap flag was broken out. As Lockhart crossed the electric finish tape on his 160th lap the checkered flag of victory fluttered down ahead of him. He threw up his hand in the traditional victor's salute and turned another complete lap before pulling into the pits. He thus won the only 402½-mile race on record with an official 161-lap average of 94.62 miles an hour and an official time of 4h. 15m. 18.68s.

JONES TO STAY FOR OPEN PLAY

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

ST. ANDREWS (Scotland) May 31.—Bobby Jones, American amateur golf champion, has decided to remain to compete in the British open championship tournament beginning June 21 instead of sailing for home June 5 on the Aquitania, as he had planned.

The three "youngsters" of the Walker cup team, Roland MacKenzie, George Von Elm and Watts Gunn, also have decided to remain for the open, returning with Jones on the Aquitania, sailing June 26.

BEACH CLUB SCENE OF MANY EVENTS

The Long Beach Country Club was the scene of a golfing celebration yesterday, four events being staged. Benny Harrison won the flag tournament with Dr. D. A. Saunders second. Harrison scored a 77. The complete results:

Flag tournament—Won by Benny Harrison, 77; Dr. D. A. Saunders, runner-up, 88.

Driving competition—David Marin and F. B. Hatfield tied for first; Harold Cole, F. Coffin and Lewis Winkler tied for third.

Approach and putt—Won by Dr. G. Odem; Hal Pinker, Carl Redmond and Ben Harrison tied for second.

Mixed foursome, low net—Mr. and Mrs. Hal Pinkett, first, 68, 11, 71. Low gross—Mr. and Mrs. Bob Wells, 90.

Frank Hutton's star boat 384 won the six-mile event over the lower channel course, where the winds are a bit stiffer. Walton Hubbard's 328 finished a bit behind the winner, and Herbert Worcester's craft was third. H. F. Beardsley at the tiller of the 297, Harry Hillman, Jr.'s 326; Billy Hervey in the 114 and Ralph Noble at the stick of the 112, trailed the winner.

Points in the annual inspection were figured yesterday and Vice-Commodore George E. Vibert announced the following winners: Ernest C. May's Viking IX won the Admiral Soiland cup for auxiliary schooners with a score of 99½, an almost perfect average. Charles Reynolds' Scaramouche was second out of the eleven yachts which were inspected. J. C. Axelson's cruiser Margu won the club trophy with a score of 99½, while the Amaya was second with 96 points. Charles S. Welman's Huson won a special cup for boats showing the best upkeep under amateur sailors.

Every yacht was given a complete going over and points awarded for condition of gear, general seaworthiness and upkeep. Commodore Joseph Beek was the inspector with a committee composed of George E. Vivert, vice-commodore; Tony Derranga, Harry Grant and H. H. Vibert.

As the semiannual meeting of the Newport club is scheduled next Saturday a series of races for maraces until the 12th inst. On that Saturday a series of races for Mariona, bay sloops and snowbirds will be run off. On Sunday afternoon a race for handicap sloops and star boats is planned over an ocean course outside the bay.

Other yachting events during the next two weeks include the California Yacht Club's series of R-boat races off Long Beach and San Pedro, a number of races at Catalina and the San Pedro-to-Honolulu race, which starts off oPint Fermin the noon of the 13th inst.

GODFREY'S BOSS ARRIVES

Jim Daugherty, the Baron of Leiperville, was scheduled to arrive in Los Angeles today for the purpose of preparing George Godfrey for his big bout with Chuck Wiggins at the Olympic Auditorium Wednesday night, the 9th inst.

The arrival of the Leiperville politician means that fur will soon be flying in the training camp of the "Black Shadow." Daugherty will stand for no "monkey business" when he is on the scene of combat.

Daugherty is expected to bring news that will make a victory for Godfrey absolutely necessary if he hopes to figure in any of the big heavyweight open-air fights of the summer.

Champions— Again Victors At Indianapolis

"Lockhart, driving a Miller Special, won with Champions at 94.63 miles per hour, in the most gruelling test of compression that Spark Plugs have ever met. Hartz, second; Woodbury, third, and Comer, fourth, all used Champions and also went through the entire race without changing a single spark plug."

Again, Champions are equipment on the winning cars—as they have been in practically every major racing event, both here and abroad, for over three years.

But Champion's victory is wider than that. More important is the fact that two out of every three car owners, the world over, rely on dependable Champions.

"Gentlemen in the Scientific Classes"

L. A. "Evening Express", January 20, 1883.

LOS ANGELES' first public school was opened in 1855, "out in the country" at Second and Spring Streets. . . . Nearly twenty years later, in 1873, the first Los Angeles High School was started on "Pound Cake Hill", where the Court House now stands.

The "University"—the University of Southern California—began in a single building in 1880.

In 1882, a State Normal School was erected on the hill where the new library is now being built.

Educational institutions have made important contributions to the remarkable progress of the electrical industry through study and research to improve methods and apparatus.

For 43 years the electric division of Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation has taken advantage of every improved idea and apparatus it could use to better its electric service and lower the cost to the consumer.

MEXICO BAN ON REDS IN EFFECT

Immigration and Emigration Law in Force Today

Identification Cards Needed by All Entering Land

Undesirable Classes Will be Denied Entrance

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MEXICO CITY, May 31.—A new immigration and emigration law, under which all anarchists or anarchist sympathizers and all persons "the Federal executive power of Mexico may deem undesirable," will be excluded from this country, goes into effect tomorrow. It requires that, in addition to passports, all persons entering or leaving Mexico must provide themselves with personal identification cards. These cards may be obtained from any Mexican Consul in the United States, or any immigration inspector in Mexico on presentation of proof of nationality, character, health and intentions permissible under the laws of Mexico.

All applications for identification cards must be written in Spanish, and one of the first effects of the new order will be thriving business for Spanish-English typists in border towns.

The law classes as an immigrant any foreigner entering Mexico with the intention of remaining six months or more. An emigrant is any person, Mexican or foreign, who states his intention of leaving Mexico for six months or more. If a foreigner, this applies only in case he has been within the country six months or more.

Mexican laborers leaving the country in order to seek employment, or already under contract for employment, are classed as emigrants, no matter for what length of time they expect to be away.

DESIGNATE TOURIST

A tourist the law describes as any person entering Mexico for pleasure, scientific, artistic, commercial or family motives, and intending to remain in Mexico for less than six months.

All foreigners, with the exception of those in the diplomatic or consular service, will be required to pass inspection at the border by health and immigration inspectors.

Immigration is forbidden foreigners likely to become a public charge on account of age, mutilation, blindness or ill health; to male persons under 18 years of age or to females under 25 years of age, unless they are accompanied by a relative of legal age or in legal charge of a Mexican citizen of good character and reponsible for their support and education.

Immigration is refused to illiterates, excepting only parents supported by immigrants meeting the requirements; to fugitives from justice and all persons under prosecution on any charge which, if proven, would call for a penalty of two years imprisonment or more under the laws of Mexico.

OTHERS BARRED

Females of disreputable character, those aiding them in evading the law, those living at their expense and generally those who have no honest means of earning a living; drug addicts, drug sellers and persons who in any way encourage or facilitate the use of drugs; members of anarchistic societies or persons who in any way support or encourage such doctrines; wage-earners who cannot, at the moment of entry, show a contract for employment valid under the laws of Mexico for a term of at least one year, or satisfactory proof of means to support themselves and their families for at least three months in addition to traveling expenses to point of final destination in Mexico; and, finally, all persons intending to exercise activities not permissible under the laws of Mexico and those deemed undesirable by the Federal executive power of Mexico, will be barred from entry.

LIQUOR RUNNERS SWARM BORDER

Smugglers Defy American and Mexican Forces

Officers Unable to Locate Caches of Rum

Several Murdered in Fights With Pirates

BY JACK STARR-HUNT

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MEXICO CITY, May 31.—Piracy and smuggling have been rampant in Lower California recently, according to a statement issued by the Ministry of the Interior. It appears that bootleggers have established headquarters at various points in the peninsula whence they carry on extensive smuggling into the United States.

The ministry statement sets forth that a powerful organization is operating on both sides of the border, smuggling liquor, and that several officers of the old Mexican Federal army are members of this organization. These men have a perfect knowledge of the peninsula's unfrequented coast and all are willing to risk their lives in the fight being waged against United States prohibition agents, for which they are rewarded with large profits once their stuff is delivered across the border.

So far this organization has been successful in defeating the efforts of both American and Mexican authorities who are charged with enforcing the recent anti-smuggling treaty between the United States and Mexico. All efforts to capture the smugglers thus far have been foiled. Secret-service operatives have not been able to locate the gangs, their various caches or their base of operation, where highly valuable stocks of liquor are stored.

Large shipments of rum have been delivered during the past few months to both San Diego and Los Angeles, it is stated here, but border authorities have been unable to make any arrests, it being reported that the smugglers are operating under better organization and are employing an elaborate spy system among the American dry forces.

Several murders in the northern district of Lower California have been reported lately and smugglers are believed to have been responsible for them. Four bodies with broken skulls were found at one point along the coast. The report here is that possibly pirates in California waters have attacked rum runners, once their cargoes were delivered, the pirates seeking the smugglers' profits, and that the bodies found are those of either dead pirates or smugglers.

NUPTIAL TWO-TIMERS INCREASING IN STATE

RECORDS ALSO SHOW LOSS IN NUMBERS MAKING FIRST VENTURE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, May 31. — If present matrimonial tendencies continue for another seventy-five years or so, most brides and grooms will be tow-timers, with here and there an inexperienced couple reporting at the altar for their first, their very first wedding. The percentages of single persons applying for marriage licenses in California, explains the State Board of Health Bureau of Vital Statistics, is steadily decreasing while the proportion of widowed and divorced persons is steadily increasing.

Twenty years ago, for instance, 85 per cent of all persons marrying were making their first trip to the altar; 9 per cent were widowed and the other 6 per cent divorced. The latest analysis of marriage statistics shows the percentage of single had dropped to 75 per cent, with another 11.5 per cent widowed and the remaining 13.5 per cent divorced.

Name Declared Found Twice on Books of Lodge

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

ST. LOUIS, May 31.—Masonic records show there were two W. A. Clarks, it was declared here today by Frank R. Jesse, whose deposition is sought in the suit of Alma E. Clark Hines McWilliams, and Addie L. Clark Miller, to prove themselves daughters of the late former United States Senator W. A. Clark of Montana, and hence entitled to share his $50,000,000 estate.

Jesse is secretary of the Missouri Masonic Grand Lodge and is in custody of the old records of that body. He said those records show that W. A. Clark, the contesting women's father, was secretary of the lodge at Stewardsville, Mo., for two years after which he was declared by the two women seeking to break the will to have disappeared from Stewardsville, and gone to Montana. His signature to lodge papers appears during those two years, Jesse said.

TUCSON CASHIER, ONCE GUARD IN VATICAN, DIES

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TUCSON (Ariz.) May 31.—Anthony Coenen, 79 years of age, an employee of the Consolidated National Bank, closed his books as usual and walked home, there to die of heart failure within a couple of hours. He was a native of Belgium. For four years following 1866 he was a member of the papal guard at Rome, reaching the rank of captain and awarded a gold medal for faithful service. He resigned to become an officer of Zouaves in the Franco-Prussian War. In 1873 he came to Tucson to be a teacher. He served as a deputy recorder, city assessor and assistant postmaster and was assistant cashier, teller and assistant bookkeeper in the Arizona National and Consolidated National banks. In addition, being an expert musician, he was organist at St. Augustine's Cathedral. His widow and nine children survive.

SIX HURT AS AUTO IS TOSSED INTO CROWD

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

OAKLAND, May 31.—Six men were injured, two of them seriously, last night when an automobile which had collided with an electric interurban train was hurled against the bench on which the men were sitting in front of a restaurant. The driver of the automobile, Joseph Milani of Los Angeles, emerged from the wreckage unhurt. The automobile had been carried more than 100 feet on the fender of the train before it was hurled across the street and against the restaurant where the six men were sitting on the bench.

SCOPES APPEAL HEARING OPENS

Lawyers for Modernism Defend Evolution

State Upholds Right to Regulate Teaching

Echo of Dayton Trial Heard in High Court

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NASHVILLE (Tenn.) May 31. Tennessee, through counsel, arose in its Supreme Court today to defend its law that no theory denying the divine creation of man shall be taught in its public schools and universities.

After five attorneys had attacked the State from all angles, Ed T. Seay, as counsel for the State in the appeal of John Thomas Scopes from a conviction in Rhea County Circuit Court, contended that the State has the power to protect its children from the teachings of evolutionists.

The law was argued because, after all, it was, in the eyes of the court, a misdemeanor case in which the defendant appeared as plaintiff-in-error on appeal from a fine of $100 imposed for teaching the evolutionary theory.

The indictment on which the Dayton teacher was brought to trial and the law on which the indictment was based were attacked and defended. But it was evident from the tenor of the six speeches and the written brief of William Jennings Bryan, Jr., that the age-old controversy of theology and science was of major importance.

Picturing the law as arbitrary and capricious and standing in the way of education, counsel for Scopes argued that it was unconstitutional.

HYPOTHETICAL PICTURE

Mr. Seay countered by painting a hypothetical picture of a home in which the religion of the father had been destroyed because a "teacher" told the schoolboy that life began as a single cell eons ago, instead of that "God created man in his own image."

Looking down from their benches, the five supreme justices of the State gazed upon a scene probably unparalleled in the history of the court. Ranged in a semicircle about the bench were the opposing counsel. Behind them to the right of them and to the left of them were as many people as could crowd into the small chamber. Every door and window was blocked by persons who, unable to gain entrance, contented themselves by standing on chairs and tables. Hanging on with one hand, they tried to stir up a bit of air in the still court room with the other. Many others were turned away.

Scopes was not there. Tiring of playing the leading part in which he was cast at Dayton, Scopes has retired to the University of Chicago.

One by one counsel for Scopes, and for various liberal unions and leagues which have intervened in behalf of the convicted teacher, had their say before the court.

CASE OPENED

Dr. John R. Neal of Knoxville, chief of counsel, opened the case by presenting an outline of the contentions on which the appeal was based.

Charles Strong of New York, speaking for the Unitarian Laymen's League, followed with a declaration that "some Christians who do not believe the teaching of evolution" weaken the faith of the youth of the land.

Then came Arthur Garfield Hays of New York, counsel for the American Civil Liberties Union, who argued that the law is unconstitutional because it is not compatible with the Fourteenth Amendment. He went into the teaching of the various subjects relating to hte science and pleaded for the "protection of science," for the conservation of liberty of mind and of education.

Robert S. Keedier of Memphis concluded the day's argument for Scopes and Mr. Seay began his defense of the law. He commented upon the presence of Clarence Darrow of Chicago and Mr. Hays in the case and read from the statements of the American Civil Liberties Union and from a published book by Darrow, but stressed the onslaught of science upon religion.

The second and concluding day's arguments will be made tomorrow by Thomas H. Malone of Nashville and Mr. Darrow for Scopes and by K. T. McConnaco for the State.

RACING LOSSES CAUSE SUICIDE

Jeweler Also Laid Act Partly to Prohibition Failing to Prohibit

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW ORLEANS, May 31. Horse races and the failure of the prohibition law to prohibit were given as the reasons for suicide by George A. Ray, 76 years of age, retired jeweler, who was found dead with a gas tube in his mouth in his room yesterday.

Ray left a letter to his family explaining that losses on the races, his disappointment over the failure of prohibition and "things like that" caused him to kill himself.

AIDS TO SAFETY COST MILLIONS

Steel Company's Outlay Reaches Huge Total

Report Says 46,000 Were Saved from Accidents

Fourteen Years' Record Given in Report

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, May 31.—Accident-prevention measures in the plants of the United States Steel Corporation have saved 46,000 men from death or serious injury and 322,000 other workmen from disability during the past twenty years. A very large saving in money has also resulted, the 1926 report of the steel corporation's bureau of safety, sanitation and welfare shows.

During the past fourteen years, the report states, $150,000,000 has been expended for safety, sanitation and welfare. The largest item was $45,000,000 for the relief of injured employees and of the families of employees killed. Other expenditures were $31,700,000 for sanitation, $28,000,000 for playgrounds, schools, clubs, gardens, nurses and similar activities; $15,700,000 for accident prevention, $13,000,000 for pensions and $22,000,000 for the employees' stock subscription plan.

"This is the most astounding record of accomplishment in accident prevention and health promotion that I have seen in the fifteen years of my association with the safety movement," Arthur Williams, president of the American Museum of Safety, declared in bringing the report before that institution.

"The report is remarkable, not only because of the magnitude of the expenditures shown but because of its striking evidence of the extent to which industrial accidents may be prevented."

NEW HAT IN RING

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

STOCKTON, May 31.—Wholly unexpectedly came the announcement that Col. Walter E. Garrison of Lodi will be a candidate on the Republican ticket against Frank S. Garrison acquesced to the request of a delegation of 100 who called upon him at his home.

EVOLUTION DEBATE GOES OFF QUIETLY

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHARLOTTE (N. C.) May 31.—This city's much-heralded debate on evolution passed off tamely tonight before an audience estimated by the Charlotte Observer to number 150 persons.

The question, "Should the teaching of evolution, that man evolved from a lower order of animals, be excluded from the tax-supported schools?" was debated by Dr. T. T. Martin of Mississippi, representing the Anti-Evolution League, and Howell S. England, Detroit attorney and biologist. Mr. England argued in behalf of the society for the advancement of atheism in favor of the evolution theory.

If any of the 500 members of the Ku Klux Klan who were expected to attend were present, they were not in the familiar costume. It had been announced that they would attend to preserve order.

The Observer said no Charlotte or Mecklenberg county schoolteacher could be found in the audience and that the only minister present was the doorkeeper, who, the papers said, undertook that duty as a favor to Dr. Martin. One physician attended.

RELEASE OF CORBIN SOUGHT

Man Wanted Here Held in East Fights for Freedom on Habeas Corpus Writ

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

ELIZABETHTOWN (N. Y.) May 31.—A writ of habeas corpus, seeking the release of John Corbin, who is asserted to have swindled Los Angeles residents out of $29,000 in cash and $70,000 in securities, was served on the Sheriff of Essex county here today. Corbin was arrested last Thursday. His attorney will appear before Judge Staley at Albany tomorrow to argue the writ.

Thomas McDonald, acting District Attorney, said tonight that he will tell the court that an application for extradition is being proposed for Corbin's return to California and that the court should detain Corbin until the papers are in the hands of the New York State authorities.

Danish Flyer Completes Air Trip to Tokio

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

TOKIO, June 1.—Lieut. Botved of Denmark completed his long flight from Copenhagen to Tokio this morning when he arrived at the Tokorozawa army flying field, near Tokio. The Danish aviator was escorted to the field by Japanese airplanes and was greeted on landing by a large cheering crowd.

Lieut. Botved expects to remain in Tokio about ten days and then return to Denmark by flying across Siberia.

PLAY EXCHANGE PROVES KINSHIP

Theater Hits Freely Travel Across Atlantic

British Playgoers Approve American Successes

English Playwrights Find Ready Market Here

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE

NEW YORK, May 31.—The theater is following in popularity the exchange of scholarships, fellowships and culture between the American and English peoples.

New York and other large theatrical centers long have welcomed the select output of British dramatists and playwrights. In turn, many American plays have succeeded in London. But the impression prevails here that the English reception given the more successful American productions of the season forecasts a much better outlook for the future.

One of the significant features to Gilbert Miller, who for many years has produced in England and in this country, is that the year of most additional proof there is no ground for the contention that London is prejudiced against American plays.

GOOD PLAYS WANTED

"I have always found England glad to get good American plays and I have had excellent success with them there," he said. "To me it is just as foolish to say London is prejudiced against our work as it would be to assert New York is prejudiced against English plays."

Noel Coward, the English playwright, actor and composer, had his place on Broadway during the season. He starred, with Lillian Gish, in "The Vortex," which was said to have enjoyed a better reception here than it did in London two years ago. Miss Braithwaite went back to England to praise the "wonderful enthusiasm" of American audiences.

Noel Coward took the principal part in his "Easy Virtue" and now is prepared to introduce the play to London. While there she may make her production of "Romeo and Juliet," which had a run of several years in this country.

Coward's third play, "Hay Fever," did not take well with New York audiences.

Two American dollars rolled into pockets of Michael Arlen for his "Green Hat" and "These Charming People," both of which are full of life on the Rialto. He is expecting several other of his works for presentation here this fall.

HIT OF SEASON

One of the outstanding hits was "The Last of Mrs. Cheyney," by Frederick Lonsdale. The play made its appearance here before it was known across the footlights of the author's native country, and with Ina Claire in the title role seems headed for a continued run into next season.

Lonsdale offered are "At Mrs. Beam" and "Beau Strings," both of which H. B. Warner and previously starred in London. They have received favorable critical reviews.

"The Lady of Kings," by Ian Hay, which King George honored with a visit in 1924, also has come to these shores.

Sponsored by the American firms of Coward and Arlen, Ashley Dukes brought his "The Man With a Load of Mischief" to New York. The critics liked the play but disapproved the cast. It soon closed. Such inflations of another season this fall. "The Creaking Chair," in which Tallulah Bankhead starred when it was presented in London, did not last long on Broadway.

Barrie and Shaw are so well known in this country that yearly productions of their work hardly call for any thought of England.

"CHARLOT'S REVUE"

Beatrice Lillie, Jack Buchanan and Gertrude Lawrence again came to the fore in "Charlot's Revue." Another revue, seven, "By the Way," featured Jack Hulbert and Cicely Courtneidge, after a successful season, is going to go through the summer.

Two Broadway successes, "No, No Nanette," "Lido Lady" and "Mercenary Mary" are now playing the American circuit in London. Fred and Adele Astaire were acclaimed in "Lady, Be Good!" Leon Gordon's "White Cargo," checked up a run of 1,000 nights, while Sydney Howard's "Silence" and "What They Think" and Richard Bennett's "Jarnegan" in this country, also were successful.

"Rain or Shine," done by Hamilton Deane several years ago, and "Tons of Money" and "Three Blue Kittens" were successful farces that were Avery Hopwood's "Fair and Warmer" and "Getting Gertie's Garter" unfavorable impressions.

Among other American productions to be seen in London are "Tip Toes" and "The Gang's All Here," and "Egg Man," are scheduled for London's new season.

AMERICAN TO BUILD HOTEL ON RIVIERA

GOULD BUYS BLOCK IN NICE TO ERECT GREAT INN

(By Associated Press)

NICE, May 31. — A syndicate headed by Frank J. Gould has paid 20,000,000 francs for a block of property fronting the Promenade des Anglais at Nice, and plans to erect on it the largest American-owned hotel in France. The original cost called for the construction of an international sporting casino at a cost of 150,000,000 francs. In connection with the Nice Municipal Council regarding the lease, which was given up. Mr. Gould headed the syndicate which bought the Chateau of Mont-Boron, on the outskirts of the city, and it is now said that this property will be converted into a luxurious hotel and casino, a luxurious hotel has been under construction for some time.

The completion of the block of property, Mr. Gould easily becomes the leader of foreigners holding property in the Riviera. He owns a hotel in Cannes, one in Monte Carlo and the new hotel in Juan-les-Pins will be completed within a year. He also is heavily interested in the Juan-Les-Pins Casino. He is the owner of several apartment buildings in Monte Carlo and Mentone. His Riviera holdings are estimated at 200,000,-

Introducing Dan Parker -the California Tailor

Gentlemen: In order to get off with a flying start I am throwing down the price bars and absolutely eliminating all thought of profit for my opening week—so as to overcome any hesitancy that might arise over patronizing a new house. There are several ways in which a new merchant may put himself on the business map; he may use the newspapers—he may wait for the sure fruition of "word of mouth" by satisfied customers—or he may sit back and patiently wait for the usual percentage of increase that comes to a legitimate enterprise. All of these methods are worthy, and I intend to profit by them, but I have neither the capital nor the disposition to linger on any slow process now. I simply must have volume to put my plan across—for without a big, steady output I cannot effect the savings nor give the VALUES upon which the entire success of my undertaking depends. So, with humble apology to Alexander the Great, I am cutting the Gordian knot. I will be mighty well satisfied to SWAP DOLLARS for a while if by so doing I can quickly enlist the boosting spirit of the discriminating men of this city in my behalf. It is just MY idea of legitimate, DIRECT advertising— and is a procedure for which I offer no apology. Every man who orders a suit during my opening week will positively save from $15.00 to $22.50 on his purchase—to say nothing of the second pair of pants that goes with every suit at $35.

I am a TAILOR—not a maker of "cheap clothes"

Gentlemen: Past question, the personal equation is more and more being recognized as a vital force in business. Men of clear judgment and exact purpose are now more inquisitive about the producer than the product, in determining merit. Realizing that an idea reflects the soil in which it germinates, and that what I do is not apt to be any better than I AM, it seems only reasonable that I expose my business creed before expecting you to trust me with your patronage.

I have always regarded my business as a serious, worthwhile profession—never as a mere meal ticket. I have never been able to figure out why a man who chiseled marble or painted canvas was any more entitled to be called an artist than a man who succeeded in expressing personality and individuality in clothing for live, red-blooded men to wear.

There is not much that can be said about me more than is sewed up in the expression: "I am a TAILOR," because I know little else. Born in San Francisco, I grew up near the waterfront and at fourteen signed up on my first job in a tailor shop. With the exception of about two years with the A.E.F. in France, I have been in one tailor shop or another ever since.

Gentlemen: Public confidence grows only in the soil of honest effort, and I will never attempt to win it in any other way. This is my initial bow as boss of my own shop—and I am here to tell you that I waited long and sweated plenty to get my own name on the sign. I have breathed tailoring—I have lived tailoring—I have dreamed tailoring; it has been my life—and I like it better every day, and I am proud of it.

The basic trouble with some establishments is that they consider a sale finished when the customer's money goes into the till. This is a mistake. I credit it no achievement to sell a man the first suit of clothes—even men devoid of both reputation and principle may do that. But the acid test of real business ability is in so serving the customer, the first time, that he always afterwards pleasantly associates the name of the shop with his tailoring requirements.

My shop will be PERSONALLY conducted and will use simple DAYLIGHT METHODS only. I will offer only fabrics about which I can afford to tell the truth, and I will be content only with such patronage as I am able to win without practicing deception of any kind. My service will be courteous—not foolish and fussy, you understand—and my prices will positively be lower than have ever before been quoted on the Coast.

2 Pants 'Suits—$35
tailored to YOUR personal specifications and individual requirements

Gentlemen: I have no ambition to make clothes "down to a price." All my training—all my hopes—focus on just one idea, that of having every garment I produce measure up to the exacting standard I have always recognized as the judgment seat of my work. I offer the most exquisite foreign and domestic woolens that you will find anywhere. I will use in your suit the best linings and trimmings that money will buy—for I will handle none other. But any man can cut good stuff, and a seamstress or a sweat shop may make cheap clothes; but it calls for ability, careful judgment and painstaking application to produce the kind of TAILORING I am offering you now.

Gentlemen: I worked on my last job for over five years, and when I said good-by to my boss, three weeks ago, he presented me with an expensive gold watch as a parting token. I am not at all lacking in appreciation for the watch—but infinitely more do I value the last remark of my boss: "Dan, I am sorry to lose you, and I wish you well. I never had to apologize to a customer for any coat turned out by you. You ARE a tailor." All I ask is one chance to make a coat for a man; when he wants another, he will look me up—and how much I am going to charge him will be his last thought. The recollection of quality remains long after the price is forgotten.

As a sound business principle I subscribe to this: "The recollection of quality remains long after the price is forgotten." But pinning a fancy price on an inferior suit of clothes never spelled QUALITY and never will. Being able to snap back: "Oh, only eighty-five dollars," in answer to a customer's question as to price, may seem brilliant to some fellows, but I call it the bunk.

Be exclusive in your dress—it is an assurance of good taste, and can be translated only in a shop like mine, where the man behind the gun knows his business. You discount your ability by appearing in clothes exactly like those you see everywhere in the street, but you're just as much of a joke if you look for the expression of individuality by a tailor who does not know his job.

Yellow Cab abolishes extra passenger charge

To members of the M.P.T.O.A. Yellow Cab extends a hearty welcome to the Film Capital.

As visitors to our city we want you to know that any one of you can take three or four of your friends anywhere in Los Angeles in a Yellow Cab for just one single fare.

5 for the price of 1

This means that as many as five of you can ride from Convention Headquarters at the Ambassador to "Film Row" at Washington and Vermont for 85 cents, as little as 17 cents apiece.

It means that five can ride from the Ambassador to 7th and Broadway for 21 cents apiece, or to the Forum Theater for 95 cents, or only 19 cents each.

From the Ambassador to the Fox Studios five can ride for 23 cents each, to the United Studios for 21 cents apiece, to Lasky Studios for 29 cents per passenger, and to Warner Brothers for 25 cents each.

And these rates apply to everybody in Los Angeles. The charge for extra passengers is gone forever. So fill up the cab and divide the fare equally.

MIDDLE WEST NEWS IN BRIEF

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MILWAUKEE, May 31.—Anti-prohibitionists will support Gov. Blaine against Senator Lenroot, in the coming Senatorial primary campaign, unless the drys withdraw their opposition to the proposed referendum on modification of prohibition. This was the challenge issued today by Dr. J. J. Seelman, president of the Wisconsin division of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment.

George N. Hinkley, West Allis oil and real estate dealer, is defendant in a divorce suit filed by his wife Mrs. Amanda Hinkley. Mrs. Hinkley says that her husband nags her. Mr. Hinkley's income is $10,000 a year, the plaintiff asserts. The couple were married in Waukegan June 2, 1920. Mrs. Hinkley has a 10-year-old child by a former marriage.

The University of Wisconsin student court, which has been in existence for sixteen years, ceased to function today when the nine justices resigned, declaring that students do not want self-government. Members of the court asserted that "to be really effective, court members would have to resolve themselves into nine little Pinkertons to get the necessary evidence." The resigning justices declare that there have been no convictions by the court.

DES MOINES

DES MOINES, May 31.—Fifty men polled by the Register relegated cooking to eighth place among the ten most desirable qualities of an ideal wife, and crowned "affection" as the paramount virtue of such a dream spouse. Thus, the men dealt a tacit rebuke to the women, and won a tactical victory. The verdict was a rebuke, because last week fifty women, similarly asked their view, placed "affection" last among the ten desirable qualities.

A refinancing program for Des Moines University, involving a $250,000 bond issue, was announced today. Part of the funds will be used in the erection of the new physical education building on the campus, which will entail an expenditure of approximately $1,000,000. The bonds will be taken over entirely by a St. Louis firm.

With the stabilizing fund totaling but $12,500 after seven months of increased fares, Des Moines street car patrons can not hope for a reduction for almost three years, if the present rate of increase is maintained, study of the operating statement for the month of April, released this morning reveals.

William G. Ross, for forty-three years a practicing attorney of Fairfield, died at his home there following an illness dating back to March 27 when he suffered a cerebral hemorrhage. His passing takes one of the most prominent citizens of the community.

OMAHA

OMAHA, May 31.—The will of Oscar B. L. Bernedes, 48 years of age, who was found dead May 7 by his wife in the kitchen of their home, 1031 North Thirty-fourth street, disposes of an estate estimated at $22,000. The widow, Mrs. Bernedes, is left $100, and a daughter, Gertrude Bernedes, is bequeathed nothing. A son now in Harvard is the principal heir together with a brother and sister of Bernes, residing in Germany.

A hundred and fifty men will be added to the railroad shop forces at Plattsburg when the Burlington Refrigerator Express, a new organization of the Burlington railroad refrigerator building and repair work now done in the regular shops here, takes over that work May 31.

More Moores than he expected, but all welcome, was the thought the father expressed when the stork left triplets at the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Moore, near Randolph. A triplet of "Bs" make up the initials of their first names, the two boys and girl being named Billy, Bobby and Betty.

From a petition filed in District Court at Hartington it is estimated that $75,000 or one-half of the estate will be lost by Cedar county heirs of John Lorge, deceased, if the courts of Nebraska and Oklahoma are upheld in their decision to allow the widow, Mrs. Lena Lorge, to have a division of the property according to the statutes.

INDIANAPOLIS

INDIANAPOLIS, May 31.—D. C. Stephenson, former Ku Klux Klan leader serving a life term in the State prison at Michigan City for alleged kidnaping, attack and murder of a young woman, has been expelled from the Masonic lodge and all the privileges incident to membership in the order are denied him, it became known when reports of officers of the Grand Lodge of Masonry were made public at the annual grand lodge meeting.

Having checked the ownership of every tan roadster in Indianapolis of the make driven by the bandits who killed Wilkinson Haag, an official of the Haag Drug Company, May 17 without finding a clew, detectives yesterday took up seriously the theory that the murder was committed by outsiders.

Extensive damage to gardens in Seymour and crops and orchards within a few miles' distance was caused by a severe hailstorm which swept a limited area. Heavy damage was done to strawberry plants, which are just beginning to bear; raspberry vines and garden truck. Vegetables and small fruit were beaten to pieces by the hail stones, some of which were large. Fruit was stripped from trees.

A hailstorm which passed over Shelbyville and community caused some damage to garden truck and fruit. Large hailstones fell for more than five minutes, accompanied by a hard rain and driving wind. Much fruit was stripped from the trees and garden truck was riddled over a small territory. Some damage was reported to strawberry patches.

The wish of Richard Henry Greenwood, 90 years of age, Civil War veteran, of Washington, Ind., father of Arthur H. Greenwood, Second District Representative in Congress, that he would die while playing his violin was gratified today. Mr. Greenwood was an old-time "fiddler," and took great delight in playing the old tunes. His son Harry with whom he lived at Elnora, attracted by the sudden ceasing of his father's music, turned as the violin fell from his father's lifeless hands. The aged man had died without warning.

ST. LOUIS

ST. LOUIS, May 31.—Two large manufacturers of asbestos products in Pennsylvania have acquired tracts of unimproved ground on the northern outskirts of St. Louis, on which they plan soon to erect branch plants. Their coming to St. Louis adds another industry not previously represented here, bringing the total of different lines of industry here to 218.

Any less up to $51,000 resulting from the presentation of the Municipal Theater Association's al fresco productions at the Municipal Theater, Forest Park, beginning next Monday night, will be taken care of by 289 St. Louis firms and individuals who have subscribed that amount to the association's guarantee fund. This is the largest guarantee fund ever raised by the association, exceeding last year's pledges by $4700.

While his suit for $25,000 damages against the Blue Goose Motor Coach Company was being considered by a jury in the East St. Louis City Court yesterday, Dr. Robert M. Little, 60 years of age, 1621 State street, East St. Louis, one of a family of five well-known physicians, died at his home from myocarditis, said to have been caused by the accident which brought about the suit.

George W. Hicks, who recently filed as a Republican candidate for Constable of Poplar Bluff township, has been arrested and turned over to the authorities of Clay county, Arkansas, on a charge of bootlegging.

Christ Stegen, pioneer resident of Warren county, fell into a slough of the Missouri River on his farm yesterday. His body has not been recovered. Mrs. Stegen died of the shock of his death. Stegen was a warehouse man in days when steamboats ran on the river.

KANSAS CITY

KANSAS CITY, May 31.—Mrs. Katherine R. Goodlett, 3610 Warwick Boulevard, was granted a divorce from her husband, Ralph E. Goodlett, a mercantile broker. Mrs. Goodlett asserted he was cross and surly with her and told her that he no longer cared for her. Custody of their 9-year-old daughter, Nicole Goodlett, was given Mrs. Goodlett, but Mr. Goodlett will be permitted to see his daughter at all reasonable times.

The Northwestern State Bank of Burlington Junction, Mo., closed its doors Saturday, by order of the directors, who notified the State Finance Department to take charge. The officers of the bank are T. A. Corken, president, and R. N. Barber, cashier.

The Atchison County Jail at Rockport, Mo., is empty for the first time in more than two and a half years. All prisoners placed in the custody of Sheriff Pitzer, either have served their terms or have been released on bond awaiting trial.

Edwin C. Curfman, a lawyer of Marysville, was appointed a Deputy State Finance Commissioner to liquidate the defunct Real Estate Bank of Marysville, C. E. French, State Finance Commissioner, announced the appointment. The bank closed May 14, with approximately $160,000 total resources.

Dr. Richard L. Sutton of Kansas City will receive the degree of doctor of science at the sixty-first commencement at Washburn College, Topeka, Kan., June 2, it became known today. He recently returned from a hunting trip to Southern Asia. Washburn's action in bestowing an honorary degree on Dr. Sutton will be in recognition of his achievements as a scientist, as an author, as a teacher, an explorer, and an anthropologist, President Womer of Washburn said.

AKRON

AKRON (O.) May 31.—Tentative negotiations have been opened by the city and N. O. P. leading to ultimate abandonment of several Akron car lines, Mayor Rybolt announced. The company is in accord with city plans for substitution of busses for car service on several lines, Publicity Director Atchley said. Those the company contemplates eliminating are Howard street, Bowery street, Grant street, possibly Spicer street and possibly Forest Hill lines.

Through an agreement reached between the city, three railroads and the Renner Products Company, North Forge street will be opened at the Renner plant and railroad grossing near north Adams street to provide a new east-west thoroughfare. Work will be started in March, 1927. This action, which ends a dispute of fifteen years, will also mean that the shortest route to North Hill, Cuyahoga Falls and Bettes Corners will be available, according to officials of the Renner company.

Mabel Stevens, 17 years of age, who threw her sister Ethel, 5, in to the Miskinggum River last week, and then hacked her own wrists in an attempt to commit suicide, was pronounced insane in Probate Court at Marietta. She was committed to the Lima State Hospital for the Criminal Insane. No trace has been found of the baby, though the river has been thoroughly dragged.

Mrs. Mary Taylor, who was said to be 110 years of age, died at her home near Jamestown. Twenty-seven grandchildren and forty great-grandchildren are among the survivors.

DETROIT

DETROIT, May 31.—De Witt Clinton Spaulding, 83 years of age, retired lumber and real estate dealer in this city, died at his home at 7345 Hanover avenue. Mr. Spaulding had been confined to his bed by illness for four weeks.

Harriette Baushke Walker, daughter of Frank Baushke, one of the oldest members of the House of David, at Benton Harbor, is plaintiff in a $10,000 suit against Attorney Walter M. Nelson of Detroit. Baushke is still a prominent member of the colony and Mrs. Walker deserted the cult, it is said, shortly after the John W. Hansel case against the House of David in Grand Rapids, several years ago, which resulted in an expose of alleged immoral practices within the colony.

The Michigan Electric Railways Company notified the City Commission at Owosso and the Corunna City Council that it would abandon service in and between the two towns June 1 and tear up its rails. The company said the line had been a losing venture and that it could no longer comply with the requirements of its franchise. Bus service will be substituted for the street cars. The busses will be operated by the Owosso-Flint Bus Line, Inc., an Owosso Company.

The $100,000 damage suit of Miss Louise King, Battle Creek college co-ed, against Arthur Rich, now serving a life sentence for assaulting her on May 25, 1925, will begin at Marshall next Tuesday. Considerable testimony used in the criminal case will be introduced in the civil action.

An application to organize the First National Bank in Mt. Clemens has been approved, the Comptroller of Currency announced at Washington, D. C. The bank's capital is to be $200,000. Henry Stephens of Mt. Clemens, was the correspondent.

MINNEAPOLIS

MINNEAPOLIS, May 31.—With signing by President Coolidge of the public appropriation bill, Minneapolis is virtually assured a $2,000,000 addition to its postoffice. The bill sets up an appropriation of $165,000,000, but does not specify where buildings are to be erected. Treasury and Postoffice Department officials, however, had promised that Minneapolis would get an addition to its postoffice when the bill was passed.

Mrs. Mathilda H. Preine, wife of Rev. F. J. Preine, 2413 Johnson street, N.E., died at her home, Mrs. Preine was 70 years of age. She had lived in Minneapolis, Albert Lea, New Ulm, Sleepy Eye and Fairbault, where her husband was pastor. Mr. Preine, now retired, formerly was pastor of the First German Methodist Church here. While residing at Fairbault he was district superintendent for six years.

The Fargo Commercial Club has filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission a complaint attacking all of the class and commodity freight rates between points east south, southwest and southeast of the Twin Cities and Duluth, it was announced at Fargo. Freight rates covering all-rail, rail-lake-and-rail as well as the Mississippi River served from the southeast are involved.

James Garrity, Moorhead City Attorney, was re-elected State Deputy of the North Dakota Council, Knights of Columbus, at the annual State meeting in Wahpeton, N. D. All other officers also were re-elected. Fargo was chosen as the meeting place for the 1926 State Council meeting.

ST. PAUL

ST. PAUL, May 31.—Rollo B. Stevens, president of the Northern Building and Loan Association, died at St. Luke's Hospital following an illness of several months. He yas 56 years of age. His wife, Mrs. Margaret Stevens, died two months ago at St. Luke's Hospital. Mr. Stevens was a member of many clubs and actively interested in civic affairs.

Thirty-six strains and varieties of corn have been planted in three experimental contest plots in Watonwan, Brown and Cottonwood counties, under the direction of R. F. Crim, of the University Farm and the county agents, in what is considered one of the most important corn experiments ever conducted in this portion of the State. From these experiments it is expected that the highest yielding varieties of corn will be ascertained and a movement started to obtain greater production per acre.

Retrial of Adolph Stoltz, former assistant cashier of the defunct Plainview State Bank, has started at Wabasha. Stoltz is being retried on charges of receiving deposits in an institution he knew to be insolvent. The first trial last fall resulted in a jury disagreement. Edwin L. Sylvester, president of the bank, is now serving a suntence in Stillwater for offenses committed in the conduct of the same bank.

LOUISVILLE

LOUISVILLE (Ky.) May 31.—David Alexander Keller, 72 years of age, president of the Audubon Park Realty Company, and the Star Wood Products Company, died at his home in Audubon Park, following an illness of five months.

Rev. Arlie Brown of Millstone, the "preacher who got slapped," is in Louisville to have a toothpick removed from his throat. The Baptist pastor became one of the best known men about the county two weeks ago when he appeared as the principal witness against Miss Martha Bates, who is serving a forty-day jail sentence for slapping the minister after he denounced bobbed hair from his pulpit at the Thornton church. The Rev. Mr. Brown swallowed the toothpick about one year ago after having dined.

Thomas H. Bowmer, 61 years of age, prominent and wealthy bachelor farmer of Nelson county, died suddenly of heart disease at his home, three miles east of Bardstown. He is survived by a sister, Mrs. T. O. Crowdy, of Lewiston, Idaho.

PRESBYTERIAN BATTLE RAGES

Assembly Approves Report for Reversal of Rules

Action Stands as Victory for New York Contingent

Speakers Given Extra Time to Present Arguments

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BALTIMORE, May 31.—The report of the committee of fifteen to the general Presbyterian assembly today overrode objection of the Presbytery of Philadelphia through Dr. Clarence E. Macartney and won unanimous approval from the assembly.

The approval also became a technical victory for the New York Presbytery through the points which Dr. Macartney raised and on which he was defeated.

Dr. Macartney sought to eliminate the finding of the committee that the assembly, sitting as a judicial body, might reverse its own rulings in a new and different case. He argued that this left a perpetual doubt as to the ruling against New York Presbytery last year when the Presbytery was rebuked for admitting a minister who denied the virgin birth, and the synod of New York cautioned for approving this.

"If you let that statement stand," Dr. Macartney said, "there is not a church in the Presbytery of New York or any other taking the same stand which will not declare the assembly said there is something about the case still open. This means we are left in confusion as to whether we have certainty of law in our court or finality concerning the church."

BASIS OF OBJECTIONS

His objection particularly was to the following statement:

"It is important in this connection to make a clear distinction against the judgment which is rendered in any particular case, and the reasoning on which that judgment rests. . . . Principle enunciated in a court of last resort is always subject to challenge when it is sought to apply that principle in later cases, either because the principle itself is deemed faulty or because the reasons presented in support of it are thought to be not sound."

As the report stated that this question needed further deliberation, permission was asked to extend the study for one year and by the same argument Dr. Macartney requested that the work of the committee be discontinued.

An excited debate followed, in which Dr. Macartney of Chicago, Dr. Albert MacCartney of Chicago, pleaded for open minds and tolerance in consideration of the report. He at the same time opposed his brother's request for the elimination of about three pages of the document.

GIVEN MORE TIME

The rules of the assembly permit five minutes for each person in debate. By consent this was extended to ten minutes, and Dr. Clarence Macartney was granted an additional period.

Discussing directly the case of the New York Presbytery, he said:

"Our general assembly, sitting as a court after a prolonged hearing, ruled that the Presbytery had erred in licensing a minister who denied the virgin birth, and that the synod erred in sustaining the licensd. . . .

"We thought an end of the dispute had been reached, but now it is nullified by that section of the report."

Dr. Henry Sloan Coffin concurring with him, pronounced the report a "magnificent document," but said that if the clause stands, it would encourage "such actions as that of the Presbytery of New York."

"The report," he asserted, "makes you think of fifteen men trying to walk a tight rope at the same time . . . I know they have given careful consideration to the report, but regret that when they made such a careful study of the history of the church they found only the words 'liberty' and 'tolerance.' It seems they did not find the words referring to departure from the constitution of the church and regarding cardinal wrongs."

TOUCHING ADDRESS

Rev. Albert W. Macartney, addressing the assembly, and "Brother Clarence" pleaded for peace and conciliation in a brief talk, which many assemblymen called the most touching of the convention.

"Brother Clarence is all right," he said. "The only trouble with him is that he is not married. If he were, he wouldn't have so much time to worry over other people's theology.

"After years of ministering to a church, including thirty-five denominations, I am for the report from cover to cover; not so much for what it says as for its purpose and object."

Hisses and catcalls had punctuated the session previously during the exciting debate which culminated in a fundamentalist victory in the adoption of a rule for rotating memberships of boards. The resolution adopted was a minority report presented by Rev. Mark A. Matthews of Seattle.

The majority of a committee appointed last year, headed by Charles R. Erdman, former moderator, has recommended that no change be made in the present rule permitting continuing membership on all church boards.

The minority report by Dr. Matthews requested that this rule be changed to permit a maximum of two terms of three years each, after which a board member would be required to vacate for one year.

ARGUES FOR REPORT

Dr. Matthews, also a former moderator, arguing for his report, said that "if you permit new men continually to come on the board you are going to make boards more responsible to the church. He said this also would "allay suspicion," increase efficiency and enlarge the interest of the people.

Dr. Joseph A. Vance, a liberal of Detroit, then made the statement which brought the assembly to its feet.

Questioning the mention by Dr. Matthews of possible suspicion, he shouted to the 1000 delegates:

"You are under a spell of soapbox oratory for which you will repent at leisure."

Delegates hissed and booed him, and it was a full minute before Moderator Thompson could obtain order.

Opposition to referendums on prohibition was expressed in the report of the committee of Christian education which was presented shortly after the fight on board membership.

"While honoring the place of the will of the people in our democratic form of government and seeking in every way to safeguard its expression and exercise, we deprecate the use of referendums in matters involving the Federal statutes or the Constitution, when the usual and historic procedure of registering the popular will is open to all.

"We further deprecate its use by reason of its doubtful legality and its entire ineffectiveness as a method of accomplishing any modification of our Federal statutes or Constitution."

The report, also pointing out that compulsory military training has been introduced into twenty-one high schools and eighty-three colleges under a special act of Congress, said the assembly "looks with great apprehension on the movement."

The reference to military training raised another division in the assembly which culminated in that section of the report being tabled before it finally was adopted.

Dr. Lewis Seymour Matthews, stated clerk of the assembly, was unanimously re-elected for another five-year term by acclamation late today. He had no opponent.

Religion taugh in the terms of radio and flying machines was pronounced a duty of the church tonight by Dr. Vance, who is president of the board of national missions, at a popular meeting in connection with the assembly.

Saying the church still is having "a great time to adjust its teachings to the growth of human knowledge," Dr. Vance continued: "We still have preachers who waste their energies in Don Quixote tilts against the discoveries of science, but the rank and file of our church are thinking people and will say:

"Mark Sabre was right when he said: 'An age that knows wireless wants forms in which to express its spiritual life different from those of an age which thought thunder was God speaking and, however agonizing the struggle, the outgrown shell will be left for the larger one.'"

FORMED LAST YEAR

The committee of fifteen was formed last year at the general assembly with instructions to formulate a program which would promote peace and unity between the fundamentalist and modernist factions of the church. Dr. Henry O. Swearingen of St. Paul was chairman of the committee, which included many of the leaders from both sides of the church.

The report, presented last Friday and adopted today, reiterated the church's belief in the fundamental doctrine of the church as outlined in the constitution and the Westminster confession of faith.

However, it made the confession to the modernist element of pleading for "tolerance" in the judgment of each other by members who, on the fundamentalist side, stood for a strict interpretation of the virgin birth and scriptural records, and the modernists, who believed that many interpretations of the church's belief might better be adapted to more modern teaching.

INDIGESTION

BILL PAINE

For twenty-five years I have been identified with Cafes in Los Angeles and community. As either manager or owner I directed the first Green Mill, Sunset Inn, Cafe Nat Goodwin, The Old Tavern, The Ship, Vernon Country Club and the Winter Garden. Numbering my friends by the thousands, I was constantly entertaining or being entertained at midnight suppers, where the menu consisted of well-prepared but rich and highly seasoned food. Enjoying my food and eating more than I really should, I contracted a severe case of indigestion and have suffered from acid stomach and torpid liver for years, trying various remedies and many mineral waters. Some time ago a new mineral water came to Los Angeles which many of my friends recommended. I was skeptical of a mineral water relieving my condition, as I have sold various mineral waters for many years. At last, however, I was persuaded to purchase a case of Coso Volcanic Iron Water and after using three cases I can say with all sincerity that I am absolutely free from every form of indigestion, my liver functions properly and I am in better health than in twenty years. I trust my experience will be of value to my many friends and acquaintances.

(Signed) BILL PAINE.

Those suffering from acid stomach, indigestion, torpid liver and rheumatism who have failed with other remedies will find the Coso Treatment of Volcanic Volcanic Iron Water and Medicinal Mud Baths a boon to humanity. Hundreds who suffer find the very first bottle of mineral water and mud bath of such benefit that they are fully convinced as to the results of the complete course of treatment. Single bottles of water $1.25, or case of sixteen bottles for $16.00, a saving of $4.00. Single jars of mud $2.00 or case of four jars $10.00, a saving of $2.00. CAMP FIRE GUARDIAN DECORATED

Texas Girl Leader Wins Highest Honor Awarded by Organization

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

STOCKTON, May 31.—For tendering the best report of the past year's activities, Mrs. Mary Ford, Camp Fire Girls' guardian of Orange, Tex., won this year's award of the Tarriman medallion, the highest honor coming to Camp Fire executives, guardians and counselors, it was announced at their seventh annual convention here today.

For special service to Camp Fire Girls during the past year, the following were given honorable mention: Mary O'Brien, New York; Lucy McCoy, Kansas City; Margaret Backhouse, London, Eng.; J. K. McCormack, Spokane; Capt. F. W. Keene, Seattle; Arthur Homaifa, New York; Nathan Rollins, New York; Bessie Stoddard, Los Angeles; Mary Louise Guy, Omaha; Isabel Gibb, Kansas City; E. Gertrude Lee, Greeley, Colo.; Harriet Dorickman, Dallas, Tex.; Helen McDougal, Detroit.

The following guardians won a special Camp Fire medal and part of their expenses to the convention for excelling in leadership: Mrs. Cathrine Walstrom, Los Angeles; Mrs. Carrie Turner, Greeley, Colo.; Miss Charlotte Miller, Gorham, Me.; Mrs. Mary Swift, Okmulgee, Okla.; Miss Hope Brown, Kingsport, Tenn.

Dr. Aurelia Reinhardt, president of Mills College, was the principal speaker at tonight's banquet. She discussed girlhood from the standpoint of a national resource. Music and interpretative dancing were included on the banquet program.

Fifteen addresses were delivered during the day by various national leaders before the delegates. Lester F. Scott, national secretary, and Miss Alicia Moscrose of San Francisco were the principal speakers at a general session held this afternoon.

Stephen T. Mather, director of national parks, will give the main address at tomorrow afternoon's general session. "How Camp Fird Girls Can Assist in Conservation, Local and National," will be the theme of his address. The feature entertainment for tomorrow will be a dance festival. "California Springtone," to be given by the Hal Wick dancers on the roof garden of the Hotel Stockton.

Tomorrow's group sessions will be devoted largely to discussions of nature programs, health, sports and games.

Steamer Sinks in St. Mary's River After Collision

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAULT STE. MARIE (Mich.) May 31.—The steamer Willis King of the Interstate Steamship Company is at the bottom of the St. Mary's River abreast Iroquois Point in twenty-six feet of water as the result of being rammed by the steamer Pontiac of the Cleveland-Cliffs Company in the fog today.

The Willis King has a great hole amidship and the Pontiac was so badly smashed in the bow that she was forced to turn about from her upbound course and is returning to dry dock at Detroit.

No lives were lost in the collision. When it was seen that the Willis King was sinking all hands took to the life boats, but the ship came to rest on the bottom with her decks out of water and the crew returned to her.

GOODYEAR III WINS RACE

American Balloons Place First and Second in Outstanding Air Classic of Years

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

BRUSSELS, May 31.—The American balloon, Goodyear III, manned by Wade T. Van Orman, with Walter N. Morgan assistning, has won what is considered here one of the most difficult and dangerous races for the Gordon Bennett trophy in twenty years. The Goodyear landed at Solvesborg, Southern Sweden, having covered 528 miles under exceptionally arduous conditions, assailed in turn by snow, rain and squalls. The balloons took off late yesterday afternoon from the aviation field near Antwerp.

The admiration of aeronautic circles over the splendid achievement, however, is marred by the anxiety over the fate of John A. Boettner, aboard the other American balloon, the Akron NAA, of whom nothing has been heard since his companion, N. W. Maxon, was bumped out of the balloon almost at the start, involving disqualification.

Goodyear III, 528 miles; United States Army balloon S-16, 313; the Belgian Belgica, 279; Prince Leopold (Belgium), 192; the British Miramar, 102; the Spanish Pegnaranda, 93; the Swiss Helvetia, 81; the British Banshee and the French Picardie, 59 each; the British B-46 and the Belgian Aerostier I, 43 miles each; the Italian Aerostier III, 22 miles; the Italian Ciampino II and Ciampino V, 18 miles.

The Belgian Aero Club has asked the British, Swedish and Danish admiralties to broadcast that Boettner is missing and to request shipping to keep a sharp lookout.

The Gordon Bennett balloon race this year is the second competition for the second trophy, as the original cup was won outright by Belgium in 1924. Belgium won the 1925 event, the Prince Leopold having covered a distance of 540 miles.

PASTOR LEAVES CHURCH

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCY]

HUNTINGTON PARK, May 31. The Rev. N. Zilich, who has been pastor of the First Christian Church for the past three years, recently tendering his resignation, closed his work here tonight, when he preached at the First Methodist Episcopal Church, both the Methodist and Christian Church congregations uniting in the church services. Rev. Zilich expects to take a month's vacation and will then seek a pastorate in a higher altitude.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

VAN NUYS, May 31.—Charles I. Thacker, Van Nuys bean grower, for the present has a large job on his hands. He is supervising the planting of 2500 acres of baby lima beans near Meridian, in the northern part of the State. He was here today looking after his local interests.

Private Charity Control Urged at Conference

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CLEVELAND, May 31.—Better public supervision of private charities was advocated today at the public officials' division of the National Conference of Social Workers in session here by Richard K. Conant, Commissioner of Public Welfare of Massachusetts. Rev. Robert Keegan, secretary of Catholic charities, New York City, and Dr. Charles H. Johnson, secretary of the New York State Board of Charities, showed how the State and Catholic church co-operate in New York in improving charitable co-operation.

The changing of almshouses into hospitals was advocated by Dr. Ellen C. Potter, secretary of welfare of Pennsylvania. Dr. Potter was elected president of the division.

Thousands Lose Homes at Fire in Chinatown

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, May 31.—More than 1000 persons were made homeless when a fire starting in a Chinese building totally destroyed the historic Chinatown and cannery districts of Isleton, forty miles south of here, this afternoon, causing damage estimated at $400,000.

One person, Tony Berty, a cannery worker, is known to have been injured in the fire, which broke out at 2 o'clock and which had razed almost 100 homes in the oriental colony and cannery section at 7 o'clock.

The Isleton cannery, in the heart of the asparagus belt, was saved through the efforts of a band of volunteer fire fighters and the Isleton fire department. The firemen were compelled to pump water from the Sacramento River to fight the flames.

BODY TO BE FUELLESS ENGINE

Gymnastic Director Leaves Chicago Today to Hike to New York, Touching No Food and Subsisting on Water; Physician and Reporters to Trail Him in Auto

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, May 31.—Hoping to prove that the matter of food is largely a state of mind, George Hasler Johnston will start from here for New York at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning. He proposes to walk the thousand miles without a mouthful of food, subsisting entirely upon water. He ate his last meal at 7 o'clock this evening and will not dine again until June 30, next, when he expects to be in New York.

Johnston is 25 years of age and a gymnastic director. A committee from the City Hall and a group from the Prairie Club of Hikers, of which he is a member, will be present at the start. Then Johnston will take the first of the 2,112,000 steps he must take, according to his plan, before he takes up the knife, fork and spoon.

Accompanying him will be an automobile, carrying representatives of the press and a physician. The newspaper men will see to it that Johnston does not "snitch" in the matter of food and the physician will be ready in case of emergencies.

Johnston will take twelve pairs of shoes, built like moccasins, with soft toes. He weighs 154, which is overweight, and he expects to lose the surplus on this journey. He says, however, he has enough fat to keep his machinery oiled and going for thirty days of leisurely tramping, without stowing in any additional fuel.

James H. Hocking, world champion distance walker, will hike along with Johnston, but he proposes to eat whenever he is hungry. Recently, on his 70th birthday, Hocking walked seventy miles.

RADICALS TO BATTLE FOR BRIAND FALL

Premier to Face Struggle to Clinch Victory Won Last Thursday

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

PARIS, May 31.—Premier Briand will have to wage another parliamentary battle tomorrow in order to clinch the victory he won on the reconvening of the Chamber of Deputies last Thursday, when he received a vote of confidence by 330 to 289.

The Radicals, including most of the members of the Cabinet of former Premier Herriot, contest M. Briand's success of Thursday, saying he obtained only one tangible result, division of the Radical party. They have again declared war on the Ministry, summoning the party members to rally around the Radical standard and vote the downfall of the government or suffer the consequences, which, it is intimated, will be exclusion from the party.

The conflict between the Radicals, Socialists and the government, though waged ostensibly on the financial question, is a political one. The groups, with the exception of the Radicals of nationalist tendency, make no secret of their desire to bring M. Herriot back to power. They are led by most of M. Herriot's ministers. Their tactics seem to be to draw the government into debate on the financial question, in the course of which they expect the Premier or Finance Minister will make declarations so hostile to the Radical-Socialist extreme policies as to enable them to patch up the left bloc again and throw down the government.

Knights Open Convention at San Francisco

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 31.—The twenty-fourth annual State convention of the Knights of Columbus was opened at 10 a.m. today by a memorial mass for deceased members of the order at St. Mary's Cathedral. Rev. M. J. Stack of Hanford, the State chaplain, celebrated the mass, and Archbishop Hanna preached the sermon. The formal opening of the California jurisdiction was in the Colonial ballroom of the Hotel St. Francis at 2:30 o'clock.

Charles T. McNamara, district deputy of San Francisco, called the meeting to order and turned the gavel over to State Deputy M. E. Griffith of Fresno.

Preceding the meeting at 1 o'clock 300 candidates from all parts of California attended the exemplification of the fourth degree, presided over by Supreme Master John H. Reddin, assisted by the masters of all sections of the United States.

A reception in the lobby of the Fairmont Hotel to the newly initiated candidates, officers of the fourth degree and the dignitaries of the church and State who were guests was held at 7 o'clock, followed by a formal banquet in the Gold Room.

WOMAN COULD NOT SLEEP

Her Mother-in-Law Knew A Remedy

Mrs. Belle Thompson, of Georgia, was in a very weak and run-down condition for four years. She had great difficulty in getting to sleep at night and even then did not sleep soundly. She would wake up again and again. Besides this her appetite was poor. "My mother-in-law told me of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash," she writes. "I took six bottles of the Vegetable Compound and I was not the same woman at all. I could sleep and would get up in the morning singing and feeling fine. I am the mother of three children and always after the babies came I had to take medicine, but I can truly say that this last time I have only used the Sanative Wash. It does me more good than the treatments. It keeps me on my feet to care for my children and I do most of my work. I feel it my duty to let you know how both of the medicines have helped me."—Mrs. Belle Thompson, R. 2, Rossville, Georgia.

CLUB REBELS TO OBTAIN HEARING

Get Privilege of Speaking on Convention Floor

Fight on Centralization of Power Foredoomed

Less Dictating in Foreign Policy Urged

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

ATLANTIC CITY (N. J.) May 31.—The five "Louisville insurgents" at the convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs were notified today by Mrs. John D. Sherman, national president, that they will be given a hearing from the floor of the convention tomorrow. Each delegate may speak for two minutes and may offer resolutions which the general board previously refused to consider "emergency measures."

The resolutions attempt to rescind the presidential policy by which individual clubs are bound by the action of the federation and ask deferment of changes in charter and by-laws tending to centralize power in the executive committee composed of the officers.

The cause of the Louisville delegates is virtually lost, they themselves admit, since the policy they seek to have rescinded was passed by the general federation a few days ago as were the opposed revisions.

"All we expect to do is to stand up and present our case as best we can," said Mrs. Atwood Martin, spokesman of the minority. "When the vote is called for, we shall probably stand alone unless two other Louisville clubs lend us their support.

BLAZING THE WAY

"But by doing this, we shall have put the information before the federation and when in the future some individual club finds itself bound as we have been, by a federation ruling directly contrary to its own policy, they will remember our arguments and they will do just as we have done—rebel."

Mrs. Rufus Dawes of Evanston, Ill., speaking today in the international relations program, declared club women should be less arrogant in dictating how members of Congress should vote on international relations. "Just because we have attended a course of lectures on economics does not prove that we understand as much about international problems as the experts."

In the literature division the policy of "publicity for good books, and no publicity for worthless books" brought objection from one member on the ground of "censorship." Mrs. Maggie Barry of College Station, Tex., opposed this section of the resolution presented by Mrs. L. A. Miller of Colorado Springs, chairman of the division, but the federation overruled her and the original resolution passed.

FOR BIBLE READING

It also involves indorsement of daily reading of the Bible in public schools of the country, which was passed unopposed.

Other resolutions carried today were that urging on the President and Congress the appointment of postoffice positions by merit, rather than through politics, and that reaffirming faith in the Smith-Hughes Act, providing appropriations for home economics.

The convention approved that the office of corresponding secretary be abolished and a paid secretary operating in Washington headquarters substituted. Fourteen opposed this change, which makes for greater centralization of power. The employment of an assistant treasurer to handle all federation accounts from Washington headquarters was likewise approved.

The resolutions to come up tomorrow include a pledge of support of the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead Act, with opposition to any modification implied in the "reaffirmation" of the action of the Los Angeles biennial, where the strongest sort of opposition to any change was recorded.

HAT HELD HINDRANCE TO MOSLEM RELIGION

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 31.—The law on the compulsory wearing of the hat in Turkey is conflicting with the traditional Moslem prayers.

Religious usage has required that the heads of those who enter a mosque should remain covered. The visorless fezz did not interfere with the genuflections which demand the repeated touching of forehead to floor, but with the hat this ritual is well-nigh impossible.

Consequently, worshippers are using the expedient of taking off their hats when they enter a mosque, and of immediately tying on their heads large handkerchiefs or night caps. The Director of Religion said the Moslem religion does not demand that the head be covered during prayer, however, and that this is merely a tradition which should be stamped out.

RATS RALLY TO AID OF FRANCE

Patriotic Rodents Save Nation's Credit by Eating Bonds

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

PARIS, May 31.—The rats of Dunkirk unwittingly have joined in the "save the franc" movement. Desire Marusset, a farmer living just on the outskirts of the city, put his savings, about 20,000 francs, into national defense bonds. When they were about to mature and he went to draw them from their hiding place in the garret they were missing. He complained to the police. A careful search revealed traces of the bonds in a rat hole. The entire 20,000 francs' worth of paper had been chewed up by rats to make nests.

CLUBS HELP NATURALIZE BAKED BEAN

Yankee Culinary Gems Introduced as Dainties in South America

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

ATLANTIC CITY, May 31.—Corn beef and cabbage, fried hominy and other culinary idiosyncracies of the United States are gracing South American tables under names that tickle the ear as much as they tickle the palate, delegates to the convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs learned today.

News of the migration of the Boston baked bean and subsequent displacement of the famous Iguana steak was contained in a message from Mrs. Cyrus Townsend Brady, Jr., of the American Woman's Club of Buenos Aires, read before the convention.

"We have printed an English-Spanish cook book for young American wives," the message said. "This enables them to plan their meals in English, and have them cooked in Spanish by native help."

Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker of Austin, Tex., former president of the federation, collapsed as she was about to address the convention. She was carried to her hotel. Her illness was diagnosed as acute indigestion.

A plea for the teaching of history and geography as a "great human story that tells the truth without prejudice," was made by Mrs. Thomas G. Winter of Minneapolis. "Too much emphasis has been placed on the war heroes and not enough on the ideals of peace," she said. Her speech was part of a symposium on international relations. This part of the program is expected to lead up to a plea for indorsement of America's entry into the League of Nations, leaders said. Application for membership by the Colombia Woman's Club was received today.

Olive Growers Worried Over Fallen Prices

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

FRESNO, May 31.—Although the tonnage of olives going into trade channels is steadily increasing, the outlook for the growers' future is none too promising, because of the low prices prevailing, according to a statement given out by the California Olive Growers' Association today as directors met for their quarterly session preceding the annual meeting of the co-operative tomorrow.

General operations of the co-operative were discussed at today's meeting, at which the following directors were present: President B. A. Harbours, Hemet; Mrs. H. U. Stewart, San Bernardino; F. L. Pearce, Highland; B. H. Hayes, Madera; J. E. Fallings, Orland, and Sidney A. Allen, Lindsay.

Directors will be elected at the annual meeting tomorrow by the board of twenty-five trustees, who are direct representatives of the growers.

Lights Go Out at Operation on Baby's Head

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, May 31.—A 15-months-old baby was being operated on for acute mastoiditis late Saturday night. Suddenly every light in the hospital went out, due to a fire in the neighborhood.

Dr. Ralph Schillinger poised his scalpel, which had just cut to the bone back of the ear of little Seymour Fromer. The child's life hung by a thin thread.

"We must have light—quick," he commanded.

Drs. Gerry Esersky and David Levinson, assisting in the operation, and Miss Alice Riere, nurse, groped their way out through the inky corridors. The nurse came back with an electric flashlight.

By its rays Dr. Schillinger went ahead with the delicate operation. It was successful, the hospital authorities said today, and little Seymour will live.

SHRINERS RULE PHILADELPHIA

Los Angeles Temple Stages "Movieland Revue"

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PHILADELPHIA, May 31.—Thousands of red-fezzed visitors, many attired in colorful uniforms, made merry on Philadelphia's streets tonight in anticipation of the fifty-second Imperial Council session, Ancient Arabic Order, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, which opens tomorrow.

Tonight at the new municipal auditorium, accommodating 10,000 persons, an inaugural ball was conducted for officers of the Imperial Council and members of uniformed bodies. Thousands of others danced at hotels.

Another feature tonight was a ceremonial glass initiation at which 1000 new members were received into Lulu Temple, Philadelphia. At the same time a reception was held at Masonic Temple with Masters of the various Masonic lodges of Philadelphia as attendants.

Starting off the program of the day, Mayor Kendrick, in an address at Independence Hall, outlined the history of the "Cradle of Liberty" and welcomed the visiting Nobles. The afternoon's activities included Memorial Day services during which graves of war-dead were decorated and a salute fired in their honor.

STARS "IN PERSON" ALMOST CAUSE PANIC

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LOS ANGELES SHRINE HEADQUARTERS (Philadelphia) May 31.—California's moving-picture industry took the center of the stage today when Nobles from Al Malaikah Temple, Los Angeles, staged a "movieland revue" in the streets of the Quaker City, where nearly 300,000 Shriners from all parts of the continent are gathered for the fifty-second annual session of the Imperial Council.

Huge papier mache heads, giant replicas of prominent motion-picture actors, were worn by members of Al Malaikah Patrol, who paraded through the streets flanked by the balance of the patrol and the band, and led by Potentate Smith. Dignified Philadelphia laid aside its dignity and entered into the spirit of the fun. It was easily the outstanding event of Monday afternoon's festivities. So much attention was attracted by the "personal" appearance of the movie stars that special police were necessary to prevent traffic blockades.

Al Malaikah chanters early this morning entertained thousands with street-corner concerts, and later were photographed in Independence Square with the Liberty Bell.

Approximately 3000 Nobles representing every State in the Union have visited Los Angeles headquarters in the Bellevue Stratford since the Al Malaikah delegation arrived.

During the day an entire carload of California oranges were passed out on the streets by the Los Angeles Nobles.

TEXAN THINKS TWO SENTENCES ILLEGAL

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) May 31.—Jess Newton, who served a term in Federal prison for participation in a Chicago mail robbery, filed application in the Court of Criminal Appeals for a writ of habeas corpus. He is serving a term in the Texas penitentiary for violation of the Dean liquor law in Uvalde county, and contends he is illegally restrained because of an agreement that the time spent in Federal prison should be deducted from his Texas prison sentence. While his liquor violation case was pending on appeal in the Court of Criminal Appeals he was sentenced in Chicago for the mail robbery.

EARLY HEARING ASKED ON TEXAS PRIMARY LAW

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, May 31. — The Supreme Court has been asked to advance the hearing of the appeal of L. A. Nixon of El Paso, Tex., who is challenging the constitutionality of the Texas primary laws under which negroes are prohibited from voting in the Democratic primaries. Moorfield Storey, who signed the motion, said there are 370,000 negro voters in Texas who are affected by the law, and urged expediting of the case because the Democratic primaries are to be held on July 24, next.

HOLLAND COLONY

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

HANFORD, May 31.—A large colony of Hollanders are about to settle in the San Joaquin Valley. Manager Schaap of the Holland-California Trading Company, accompanied by C. L. [EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

OMAHA, May 31.—Three members of a liquor ambush party who fired into the automobile of Harold Sellers when he mistook them for hold-up men on a country road, were held on order of a Coroner's jury at North Platte, while the County Attorney prepared charges of second-degree murder against them.

MUSSOLINI ASSERTED RENEGADE

W. C. Wood Urges Against 'Black Shirt' and 'Reds' in Memorial Day Address

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, May 31.—Will C. Wood, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, branded Mussolini a renegade and asserted Communism is tyrrany by the minority in the chief address at Memorial Day exercises here today. He urged against the propaganda of the "black shirt" and of the "red" lest the sacrifice of the nation's heroes in behalf of democracy be vain. He said:

"In Italy, Benito Mussolini, renegade to the principles of his younger days, has hurled representative government from pedestal to pavement and now stands with his heel on her prostrate form.

"Across the sea from Italy, Rivera has set up a shadow of Mussolini's dictatorship in Spain and has banished the forms of popular government.

"In France and Germany, government by the people is being stealthily scuttled, and in England, democratic institutions have been but lately put to the supreme test. Thank God they stood the strain. If England had failed in the recent crisis the doom of democracy probably would have been sounded.

"Outwardly Communism and Fascism differ, but stripped of externals they represent the same principles, the assertion of the right of a powerful minority to control the majority."

VALLEY PERKING UP TO GREET TOURISTS

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

MISSION ACRES, May 31.—Certain parts of San Fernando Valley are being perked up to receive the numbers of eastern tourists that are now heading this way with the warm weather. The mission bells and signs along El Camino Real in various parts of the valley are being repainted and repaired and new road signs are being placed on the standards. Citizens in all towns in the valley are being urged to clean up their places, cut the weeds on vacant lots, freshen up the flowers and otherwise beautify to greet the hordes expected to pass through the valley toward Los Angeles, in the next month.

DUTCH DECLARE PIGS ARMAMENT

Preliminary Arms Meeting in Confusion

Fogs, Wind and Leaders Also on Detailed List

American Delegation Asks for Common Sense

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

GENEVA, May 31.—Pigs, fogs and wind all constitute armaments. This declaration by Dutch experts today threw the preliminary disarmament conference into a state which made many delegates doubt that anything tangible could be achieved.

The Dutch undoubtedly were serious about their pig proposal, enumerating porkers and other live stock as an important element of potential strength, and deeming fogs an element in warfare which should not be slighted.

The American delegation immediately made a reservation to the effect that a common-sense conception of reducable armaments could not possibly include all the possible resources such as were outlined in the Dutch proposition. Another representative seemed to interpret the American move as a warning that the conference must get down to practical business.

Upon the motion of the French the meeting proceeded to discuss armaments on the basis of the Dutch fundamental proposition, which is that armaments of a state are the sum of the resources at its disposal for making war. However, to prevent going on the rocks the conference decided to devote itself to discussing what elements constitute peace-time armaments and to attempt later to define the difficult general question, "What are armaments?"

How wide of the bull's eye the debate is proceeding was also demonstrated by the remark of a German military expert that the value of the general staff of an army should be taken into consideration in listing armaments and that even great political leaders should have a special valuation.

"Foch and Clemenceau should, of course, be given special high ratings," he said.

Rear-Admiral Hilary P. Jones, U.S.N., addressing the commission, said that, while the American delegation considered that extensive enumeration of articles and elements made by the delegations of France, the Netherlands and Sweden should not tend materially to advance the work of the commission, the Americans did not wish to object to the fullest discussion.

"Our only contention, which we consider fundamental," he said, "is that the elements listed are resources and should not be included in the definition of armaments."

The Australian Labor party has decided to convoke a workers' congress at Honolulu, to be attended by all the workers of the countries bordering on the Pacific, "because of the probability that the next war may take place in the neighborhood of the Pacific."

This announcement by John A. Beasley, Australian workers' delegate, caused a stir at the international labor conference today. Mr. Beasley criticised the international labor office for doing nothing to prevent wars, and said Australia was convinced that a meeting of the Pacific workers would do much toward maintaining world peace.

The narcotic drug traffic can be fought with greater efficiency by police officials rather than by leaving it to "the tortuous, clogged-up channels of diplomacy," in the opinion of Arthur Woods, former police commissioner of New York City, who addressed the League of Nations committee on the opium traffic today.

He urged the passage of laws so that drugs may be produced only at government-owned or controlled factories.

NEW CRISIS CONFRONTS EGYPTIANS

Trouble Hinted if British Authorities Refuse to Let Zagloul Take Power

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

ALEXANDRIA (Egypt) May 31. Egypt is in the throes of a ministerial crisis, the solution of which is likely to have far-reaching effects on the future of the country and its relation with British rule here.

Premier Ahmed Ziwar Pasha, who had been in office since 1924, has presented the resignation of his Cabinet to King Fuad, and the King requested him to remain in office to carry on routine business until a decision is reached as to whether Zagloul Pasha, the Nationalist leader or Adly Yegen Pasha is to be called in to form a ministry.

Supporters of Zagloul are sanguine. They express the opinion that England has a definite opportunity to settle the Egyptian problem once for all. They say that Lord Lloyd, the new British High Commissioner in Egypt, must respect the popular vote in the last elections, in which Zagloul's partisans carried the majority of the seats, and that the British authorities must call Zagloul to power to head the victorious coalition.

Warning is given by the followers of Zagloul that should the British authorities again resort to dissolution of Parliament the result would be "serious trouble and possible rioting."

SPEEDBOAT SUNK, BUT PASSENGERS RESCUED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

MONTEREY, May 31.—The speedboat Vagabond was rammed and sunk by the Abalone fishing schooner Normandie in Monterey Bay today, the twenty-one pleasure seekers and two crew members on the Vagabond having a narrow escape from death.

The Normandie stood by and took all of those on the pleasure craft aboard. Frank Marks, engineer of the Vagabond, was trapped in the damaged vessel, and was taken unconscious from the wreck. He was revived.

WHEN FOUR THOUSAND CHURCH DELEGATES VISITED WHITE HOUSE

COAL CRISIS AT CLIMAX IN ENGLAND

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, May 31.—With the British coal subsidy offer expiring at midnight tonight and without any official steps being taken to end the coal stoppage, it generally believed the Cabinet will be forced to take action as soon as Parliament meets tomorrow. The labor party is preparing a heavy attack against the government's policy throughout the crisis.

On the other hand important developments are pending, which it is hoped will lead to the basis for an agreement. Preliminaries to what may be moves of far-reaching importance were taken before noon today. Prime Minister Baldwin returned to Downing street this morning and immediately went into conference with the Minister of Labor and Mines. Mr. Baldwin also was in touch with representatives of the miners and owners over the week-end.

Following these conferences, an informal gathering of the Cabinet was held this afternoon, at which the problem of forced government action was bluntly proposed. After midnight tonight, Mr. Baldwin considers himself at liberty to take any step necessary in order to effect a settlement.

Meanwhile there is evidence throughout the districts of a weakening of various individual miners' leaders, although the central executive still is adamant. The Northumberland Miners' Association has voted to reopen negotiations in order to get the best possible terms. This is one of the poorer mine districts. With other evidences of weakening and growing suffering in the mining districts, coupled with the fact that most of the miners' leaders are in London today, it is probable that a meeting with the Prime Minister may be arranged and an eleventh-hour solution arrived at.

Although Mr. Baldwin's offer of a $15,000,000 temporary subsidy lapses tonight, this does not prevent him from offering financial assistance in connection with another plan that would be acceptable to both parties.

NEBRASKA'S IRRIGATION GATES OPEN

Quarrel Settled Just in Time to Save Alfalfa and Beet Crops

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SCOTTS BLUFF (Neb.) May 31.—Water was turned into the canals and laterals of the North Platte interstate irrigation project this morning, and the farmers were busy throughout the day diverting it into the fields of the thirsty crops.

Citizens and farmers were jubilant with the advent of the moisture, which will almost insure bumper harvests in the valley this season.

Tonight preparations were under way for bonfires and other demonstrations to celebrate the amicable settlement of the irrigation difficulty and the securance of water in the nick of time for the sugar beets, alfalfa and other crops. Such celebrations were expected in each town in the irrigation territory.

CHEMICALS SET FIRE IN BERKELEY BUILDING

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BERKELEY, May 31.—Plant specimens, maps and laboratory equipment were destroyed by fire in Hilgard Hall, a University of California building, today. The fire started when chemicals used in an experiment by Prof. Emanuel Fritz boiled over and ignited. The loss was given as $15,000.

CULT TO EMULATE DRUIDS

Followers of Minnesota Evangelist to Worship Among Trees While Curious Watch

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

TAMARACK (Minn.) May 31.—Like the Druids of old, believers in the idea of Vernon Ewing, an optician, that men should assemble in silent prayer and "give Gods a chance to do with us as he pleases," and many curious ones, who do not entertain his ideas, will assemble in a grove of birch and poplar saplings tomorrow for an hour of silent prayer.

While Ewing today fasted, read his Bible and spoke to those who called at his home, a sprinkling of tents sprang up "in the grove of silent prayer," to house those who sought a close communion with Deity and others who were attracted by curiosity.

Ewing, denounced from the pulpit of the Tamarack Church, questioned by Dist.-Atty. Scott, and watched by Sheriff Beekenoogan denied he was the leader in the movement, for which he sent out a call recently.

The crowd that went to the Druidic mysteries stood in silence, some believing, some skeptical; the crowd will stand thus tomorrow. While at the ancient ceremonies there were sacrificial fires and chanting priests tomorrow there will be no ceremony, no officiating clergyman.

Ewing has refused all pleas to stop his ceremony.

The countryside talks of little else. At 10 a.m. this town of 200 population is expected to turn out largely and visitors are expected from Holy Roller colonies near McGregor and Lanceford. Since the grove is on Highway No. 2, passing from Duluth to Fargo and the West Coast, a sprinkling of tourists from other States is expected.

CIVIL RIGHTS UNION FLAYS CALIFORNIA

Calls State Worst in Country With Majority of Political Prisoners Here

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, May 31.—California is the "worst State in the country for civil liberty," says the annual report of the American Civil Liberties Union, made public today. The report asserts seventy-one of the seventy-seven political prisoners in America are held in California, five in Washington and one in Kansas.

Outside California, West Virginia has been the scene of more violations of civil rights than any other State, the report continues, the issue being sharper there because of the conflicts between coal miners and their employers.

In Idaho, Illinois, Maryland, Nevada, Oregon, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas and Wyoming conditions affecting civil liberties have improved during the year, the report says. In eighteen States conditions are unchanged, and in Michigan they are worse, "evidently because of the Klan." In twelve States, mostly in the South and West, the Klan is reported to have increased its political power.

MRS. JESSIE P. WEBBER SUCCUMBS IN CHICAGO

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, May 31.—Mrs. Jessie Palmer Webber, daughter of John M. Palmer, former Governor of Illinois and United States Senator, a widely known authority on historical libraries, died in St. Lukes Hospital today after an illness of several weeks. She was 62 years of age. For the last twenty years she had been secretary of the Illinois State Historical Society, librarian of the Illinois Historical Library at Springfield, and a member of the executive committee of the Mississippi Valley Historical Society. She was a former vice-president of the National Historical Society.

KUOMINCHUN REINFORCES PEKING LINE

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PEKING, May 31.—The Kuominchun (National Army) is holding Changping Chow, twelve miles northwest of Peking, but is not pursuing the Manchurians, who are beset with new troubles by the mutiny of a bandit division at Lang Fang, midway between Peking and Tien-tsin, causing the suspension of traffic while they are being disarmed. Many have escaped and are looting the countryside. Other indications are that the Manchurians are preparing to reoccupy a line in the vicinity of Hwang Tsun Chen, Tung Chow Chi and Miyun, all east of Peking, although there are no indications of other forces immediately occupying.

The Kuominchun asserts the recovery of the railway across Northern Shansi Province, thus again uniting the armies and making possible the reinforcement of the Peking front.

A definite break reported between Marshal Wu Pei Fu and Gen. Chang Tso-Lin has not been confirmed, but it is certain that Marshal Wu's troops are not active against the Kuominchun.

The legations believe the further overturn of the government is imminent since no minister has entered the Yen Cabinet. Th situation makes doubtful the expected final session of the tariff conference Wednesday, while the reputed agreement impounding $17,000,000 annually for unsecured loans is meeting with opposition from all the Chinese factions.

Canada to Get Gold Standard Back by July

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

OTTAWA (Ont.) May 31.—Canada will revert officially to the gold standard on July 1, next, it was announced in the House of Commons today by Minister of Finance Robb.

Answering a question in the House, Minister Robb said:

"I have no intention of bringing down any legislation on the subject, but Canada will automatically revert to the gold standard on July 1."

Soldiers Submit to Inoculation in War on Fever

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, May 31.—Striking progress toward the stamping out of dengue fever, scourge of the tropics, through the voluntary submission of more than seventy-five American soldiers in the Philippines to test inoculation was reported today by the Surgeon-General of the Army, Maj.-Gen. Ireland.

The work was done by the Army Medical Research Board in the islands and resulted in the discovery that the same mosquito which is the carrier of yellow fever, the aedos egypti, also is the spreader of dengue.

AMERICA'S EMINENCE EMPHASIZED

Wilbur Says Our Nation Represents Promising Experiment

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEWARK (N. J.) May 31.—American institutions have had an influence upon older civilizations "far greater than our population or age would seem to justify" because they were developed to maintain "certain fundamental and God-given rights of the individual," Secretary Wilbur of the Navy Department said here today, speaking at the unveiling of Gutzon Borglum's monument, "Wars of America."

"Such great changes have occurred in the forms of government of older nations and peoples since America was born that, strangely enough, our young governmental organization is now one of the oldest," the Naval Secretary added.

"Nevertheless whether we regard history from the standpoint of the evolutionist and estimate the age and progress of man in millions of years, or whether we think of nations in terms of written history covering thousands of years, our nation must be regarded as still an uncompleted, if highly promising, experiment for preservation of the well-being of the individual man."

At a luncheon after the unveiling Senator Norbeck of South Dakota said his State hoped to have Borglum carve in a mountain in western South Dakota a great monument to Washington, Hamilton, Jefferson and Roosevelt. Mr. Borglum announced he was commissioned by the State of Georgia to chisel a marble statue of Alexander H. Stephens, vice-president of the confederacy. The marble would adorn statuary hall in the national Capitol at Washington, he said.

Temblor Rocks Montana Town, Blocks Railroad

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BUTTE (Mont.) May 31.—The city of Three Forks was shaken by an earthquake at 5:25 o'clock this morning, according to dispatches received here by the Butte Miner. No material damage was done, the dispatches said, although the temblor was more severe than that of last Friday.

Residents were awakened from sleep by rattling of windows and dishes, and rushed into the street in scanty attire.

Reports from Lombardi, Mont., also told of a temblor early today that threw rocks from the sides of a canyon, blocking the tracks of the Northern Pacific.

CHICAGO CRIME WAVE ROLLS ON

Nine Added to Long List of Gunman Killings

Clues Fall in Mystery of Holiday Shooting

Jury Held After Attempt to Rob Closed Bank

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, May 31.—Chicago observed Memorial Day by nine bootblacks to the list of over 100 persons to die by gunmen's guns in the last two days. The victims were Andrew Gill, an unidentified man, victim of a shoe-string parlor. Frankie Lake, Constantine Sevéles, and others.

Two assailants met the latter in an alley and opened fire after a brief altercation, making their escape in an automobile. Police said he had met the bootblacks only a few minutes before and that their assailants tried to kill them.

Police, however, worked on the theory that the shooting was the result of labor troubles.

A policeman living a short distance away opened fire from the window of his home on the slayers as they passed. He said he believed he wounded one of the men.

HELD AS BANK ROBBERS

Two men, one a truck driver, were held in connection with the attempted robbery of the Marshall State Bank, discovered yesterday when an employee came to work on a holiday. The robbers had drilled through a rear garage into the bank's vaults and had entered the vault through a hole in the floor, evidently intending to blow open the safe with explosives.

Two men were arrested early today after a wild chase, during which more than fifty shots were fired.

MOTHER-IN-LAW WHEEZE FADES

Relative Protected Him From Wife's Spankings, Says Nevadan

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

RENO (Nev.) May 31.—Most husbands are supposed to resent the presence of a mother-in-law in their homes but Gordon E. Pringle, former Los Angeles resident, sets forth that he found his mother-in-law the best defence against a militant wife. In his suit for divorce from Julia Pringle, he said his wife beat him frequently and that her mother came to his aid.

Pringle described his wife as a strong, athletic woman with a violent temper. He was granted a decree. Mrs. Pringle offered no objection.

VARSOVIA (Polonia) Mayo 31. El general Joseph Pilsudski, que, hace dos semanas, escapó por la fuerza, el gobierno de Witos, ha provocado hoy otra crisis al reasumir la presidencia de Polonia. El senado y la dieta, reunidos en asamblea nacional para hoy, eligieron en la primera votación, diciendo 292 votos, por 130 que no sacó el conde Sniuski, candidato de Posen, designado por los derechistas, que era el candidato que luchaba contra Pilsudski. Hubo cuarenta y cinco votos en blanco.

Pilsudski, que fue jefe del estado en 1919, ha declarado que no piensa aceptar la primera magistratura con las restricciones que le impone la actual constitución. El presidente, hace responsable del gabinete, carece de derecho contra el parlamento, que, según la constitución, no puede disolverse ni aun en caso de conflicto urgente.

El mundo de la negativa del presidente, hecha por el presidente electo, señor Ratzaj, causó gran sensación en la asamblea nacional reunida, y provocó un revuelo entre el público.

El primer ministro Bartels dijo a la prensa que no podía responder a la pregunta que le hiciera el pueblo en sus esperanzas: "Pilsudski le contestó:

El niño, que iba en compañía de otros niños, se dirigía a la acera del lado sur de la calle Vernon, cuando fue arrollado por el tranvía que venía en dirección oeste.

El motorista del tranvía, Jorge Hall, fue detenido por el policía Hamilton, de la estación de Central, y llevado a la cárcel municipal.

Los Globos Dirigibles

Mayo 31.—El "Los Angeles III", piloteado por Carl Ben Eielson, y Ben Von Orman, ganó hoy la primera carrera aerostática internacional de Gordon Bennett, cubriendo hecho un recorrido de 826 kilómetros (cerca de 500 millas). El Goodyear III llegó en tercera en Suecia.

El globo militar norteamericano que quedó en tierra cerca de Krakaw, Polonia, chocó segundo lugar, habiendo cubierto 465 kilómetros (290 millas). El tercer puesto lo ocupó el "Belgica", piloteado por Ernest de Muyter, quien cubrió 450 kilómetros (como 280 millas), y el cuarto el Príncipe Murat, que voló 310 kilómetros (cerca de 195 millas).

El globo, del que nada se sabía, es el "Akron NAA", piloteado por A. Boettner. Herbert Hoover, ayudante de Boettner, fue uno de los camaradas cerca de Akron, al retirar el Akron en el concurso. Oficialmente el Akron fuera de la carrera.

Regresa Hoy Definitivamente a los Estados Unidos

Llegará hoy por la Patria

Ayer cesó de nuevo el toque de silencio en honor de los muertos de la gran nación, como un día rindió esta ciudad homenajes de Los Angeles bajo, y sin-tiendo agitarse sus pechos por una mescla de orgullo y de duelo, recordaron una vez más las hazañas y los sacrificios de los defensores caídos en todas nuestras guerras. En los campamentos de la ciudad discurrieron repetuosos las multitudes todo el día, dejando ramos, coronas y guirnaldas en las tumbas de sus deudos idos. Por encima del mar estuvieron volando los aviones con ronco zumbido, y dejando caer sobre las aguas mazos de frescas flores en memoria de aquellos que, peleando por esta patria gloriosa, hallaron eterna sepultura bajo las ondas.

Oyéronse de nuevo los acompasados pasos de los soldados, que por millares formaron para rendir homenaje en el Coliseo a aquellos de sus camaradas que combatieron a su lado, y que perdieron la vida en el campo del honor.

Muchos miles de personas se congregaron en el Coliseo para rendir pleito homenaje a los muertos memorables. En ese extenso recinto fue donde llegaron al clímax las ceremonias de observancia del Día de Conmemoración en esta ciudad. En todas las poblaciones de los alrededores hubo asimismo ceremonias conmemorativas durante el día, y millares de manos generosas depositaron innumerables coronas de flores en las lápidas de los camposantos.

En San Pedro fue imponente el tributo rendido por los buques de guerra a nuestros heroes muertos. Los días dreadnaughts surtos en el puerto dispararon salvas de veintiún cañonazos en memoria de los combatientes marítimos de la nación, y la escena cobró el aspecto de una batalla naval a medio día, cuando las bocas de una libra de toda la escuadra comenzaron a hacer fuego, formulando, a su modo, el saludo nacional.

CALIFORNIA OIL TRADE EXPANDS

Monthly 70,000 Barrel Cargo Order Forecast

Project of Chanaral Copper to Operate Soon

Another million barrels of Los Angeles oil have found a market in Chile, through the approaching opening of the Chanaral Copper Company's big leaching plant at Chanaral, according to Capt. J. D. Dryburgh, master of the Chile Exploration Company tanker Chuky.

The copper company, which is a subsidiary of the Anaconda, is expected to start its leaching plant in another month or so, marking the beginning of the final phases of production toward which the company has been working fourteen years at an expenditure of perhaps $55,000,000.

One 70,000 barrel cargo already has been delivered at Chanaral, and such a tanker load is expected to go there monthly out of this port, probably on vessels of the Chile Exploration Company.

The latter operates four tankers exclusively to Chile, the British Star, Chuky, Toco and the O. A. Knudsen, carrying 140,000 barrels a month to the Chuque Camaca Copper Company. The Chuky departed for there with 69,000 barrels yesterday.

It is declared possible the fleet later may be augmented, when the plant at Chanaral gets to operating to capacity. Chanaral is 140 miles south of Antofogasta, at the southern edge of the dry zone, climatically speaking.

TRAVEL TO CATALINA SETS HOLIDAY RECORD

Eleven thousand passengers traveled between the mainland and Catalina Island from Thursday to yesterday morning, the biggest number during any holiday period in the history of the Wilmington Transportation Company, according to David F. Fleming, secretary and treasurer. The record was in honor of the Silver Jubilee celebrate it, and for the last three days the Avalon, carrying as many more, has made daily trips between the port and the island. Last night saw the return of most of the pleasure-seekers, and the Avalon will go off service until the 12th inst., when she will resume her regular weekly schedule. Then both the Avalon and the Catalina will make daily trips across, one in the forenoon and the other in the afternoon.

Last summer the liners transported 650,000 persons, and indications are that the islands will be even more popular with the public this year.

"The Memorial Day crowds have given us substantial forecasts in past years of the island's drawing power, and the record crowd we had this week-end proves that the two-ships-a-day schedule a week earlier than heretofore," he said yesterday. "Every room in the island was filled over this week-end, although many new ones have arisen since last summer. The band also has been augmented, and added to its pleasure feat and to its entertainment features.

The company, which also operates a fleet of tenders in the harbor, will inaugurate the trial trip tomorrow morning of its first Diesel-electric tug, the John N. Stewart, just completed at the Wilmington yards of the Los Angeles Shipbuilding & Dry Dock Company. The tug, which will be launched early in the week, will ride the vessel to the island, and return on the liner Catalina. A similar tug, the Milton Fowler, will be launched a few weeks later. They are equipped with 500-horsepower Winton engines and cost approximately $150,000 each.

The second International shipment of Arizona copper in the port's history, comprising 300 tons of copper bullion, went out on the American-Hawaiian steamer California, sailing for New York. It is from the smelters at Clarkdale, and follows 900 tons carried to Gothenburg, Sweden, ago by a steamer of the Swedish-American line, which has since made certain charges in order to attract the rod metal in this direction. The vessel loaded 2,000 tons at that time, including 1,100 bales of cotton. The amount of the same line also is in port discharging 2,000 tons of eastern merchandise and the Transpacific liner Empress of Asia, from Hongkong, Shanghai and Charleston today to drop 900 tons. She is an extra ship chartered to American-Hawaiian by the Nelson Steamship Company.

Brass trumpets from Hongkong arrived on the Dollar Steamship liner President Wood Jones, from the Orient yesterday with 3000 tons for local discharge. Came also leather from Iloilo, sugar from Cebu, gunny sacks and hemp from Manila and Hongkong, cement oil and furniture from Manila. A thousand tons of old papers, canned goods and general merchandise were brought by the Admiral Line steamer Admiral Peoples, which docked on the K. line freighter Wales Maru, while the O.S.K. plate-steeler Manila Maru will put in today to take as much more.

Hammond's steamer Missoula, the biggest lumber carrier sailing from this port since the days of the big sailing ships, will depart on the local run tomorrow, bringing 4,200,000 feet of lumber from Gray's Harbor. She recently has been under charter carrying lumber to Japan.

Five fishing craft arrived from Mexican waters on the after decks of the Nalpa freighter Nancy Lee yesterday, the Nalpa bringing the hundred fishing boats brought here each summer at the beginning of the tuna season, to augment the two-deck boats of her own. Local boats will begin preparations for putting to sea about the 12th inst. It requires 10 days in each trip to Mexico. Should schools of albacore be encountered, however, they will be netted and the catches have been slim, as is typical at the beginning of the season.

Chamber of Commerce week shows Harbor Day set for the 5th inst., when members will cover the waterfront by special train, and by launch and cruise the port waters in boats provided by the Harbor Commission. The electric cars will leave the Subway Terminal at 10:30 a.m., and the boats will leave the California Yacht Club at noon. Boat tickets must be obtained from the chamber's outdoor display before noon of June 4. Dr. Cambridge, chairman of the harbor trip committee.

W. H. Wickersham, veteran shipping man, and W. R. Tanner, head of foreign house and markets at the port, will go to San Francisco today to be gone a week on business.

LOCAL LAUGHS

Each week The Times produces a film entitled "Local Laughs," consisting of the fifteen best jokes submitted by local people. Weekly prizes are paid of $5, $3, $2, and twelve of $1 each. A list of theaters showing the film, together with rules for submitting jokes, are given daily in a coupon in The Times. Prize-winning jokes, and names and addresses of winners, appear only on the screen. Jokes receiving honorable mention will be given a place or honor on The Times comic page each week-day, and each of those contributors will receive a souvenir of acknowledgement.

GAIN SHOWN IN EMPLOYMENT

Industrial Activity in State Highest Since Fall

Southern California Business in Good Position

May Department Store Sales Increase 6 Per Cent

Industrial activity in California as measured by the number of factory employees is at the highest point since last fall, the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce monthly report states. With bank clearings maintaining their large gains over preceding years and with an upturn in general price level, in Southern California business at the close of May appears to be in a good position, the Chamber concludes.

Records of employment which have just been completed for the month of April show an average increase of 6.7 per cent over March in the number of persons on the pay roll in California plants. Industries which show the largest increase during the month are the manufacture of agriculture implements, lime, cement, plaster, glass, women's clothing and automobile accessories. Incomplete returns for May indicate the continuation of the tendency during the month.

CLEARINGS INCREASE

Bank clearings in May exceeded those of the same month last year by 10.2 per cent. Both in tonnage and value, the month brought another increase in the water commerce at Los Angeles Harbor and broke all previous records for a single month in the history of the port. An interesting item of the month's commerce is that in one forty-six-hour period last week more than $1,400,000 worth of gasoline was shipped to Europe alone, making the total exports credited to that day approximately $2,300,000, or one-fourth of the month's total.

Canners' shelves, the report says, are now entirely clear of last year's pack, and there is practically no operation in any Southern California cannery at present. The first important crop to be handled will be apricots, which will begin about the 15th inst. With the sardine pack out of the way and tuna not yet started, operators are relatively inactive.

STORE SALES GAIN

General conditions are quite active in apparel manufacturing, with a total number of employees in Los Angeles plants estimated at 10 per cent over the same period of 1925. The volume of department store sales continues to show an increase, the total for May being about 6 per cent over last year.

Sales of new cars show some slackening in May after an extremely active demand during the first four months of the year. The second-hand market, however, is better than it has been for some time.

Crop conditions in all parts of Southern California continue to be favorable, with fine growing weather experienced for nearly every line of activity, according to the Chamber of Commerce survey. Valencia oranges are being shipped

Big Department Store Sales Increase 6 Per Cent

Industrial activity in California is reflected by the number of factory employees in at the highest point since last fall, the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce monthly report states. With bank clearings maintaining their large gains over preceding years and with dollar volume in general price level, Southern California business at the end of May appears to be in a strong and healthful position, the Chamber continues.

Reports of employment which have been completed for the month of April show an average increase of 4.7 per cent over March in the number of persons on the payroll in California plants. Industries which show the largest increases during the month are the manufactures of agricultural implements, lime, cement, plaster, glass, cotton goods, clothing and automobile accessories. Incomplete returns for May indicate the continuation of this tendency during the month.

GRAINGS INCREASE

Bank clearings in May exceeded those of the same month last year by $41 per cent. Both in tonnage and in value, the month brought an increase in the water commerce at Los Angeles Harbor and broke all previous records for a single month in the history of the port. An interesting item of the month's commerce is that in one single day period last week more than $1,000,000 worth of grain was shipped to Europe alone, the total exports credited to that day approximately $2,300,000, or a fourth of the month's total.

Other shadows, the report says, are not entirely clear of last year's and as yet there is practically no change in any Southern California industry at present. The first quarter crop to be handled will be apricots, which will begin about the 15th inst. With the sardine pack at the way and tuna not yet started, operators are relatively busy.

RETAIL SALES GAIN

Retail conditions are quite active in the manufacturing, with a total increase of employees in Los Angeles plants estimated at 10 per cent over the same period of 1925. The volume of department store sales continues to show an increase, the total for May being about 6 per cent over last year.

Sales of new cars show some slowing in May after an extremely active demand during the first months of the year. The used car market, however, is more than it has been for some time.

Crop conditions in all parts of Southern California continue to be favorable, with the growing weather reported for nearly every district of activity, according to the Chamber of Commerce survey. Fruit shipments are being shipped in volume, and deciduous fruits are maturing rapidly, although crops average rather light in most counties. The Imperial cantaloupe season is at its height, vegetables are plentiful, cotton is in good shape, bean planting is nearly at an end and the cutting of hay is being completed in nearly every district.

MARKETS CLOSED

In observance of Memorial Day, all of the principal security and commodity markets were closed yesterday. Trading will be resumed today on the New York Stock Exchange, New York Curb, Los Angeles Stock Exchange and other markets, and the usual quotation services will appear in Wednesday's issue of The Times.

Bumper Crops in Area Served by Santa Fe Lines

Bumper crops with an estimate of a 125,000,000-bushel wheat yield in Kansas compared with 75,000,000 last year, while California already is sending to the eastern markets the early ripening golden fruit, are two of the outstanding features in the report for June, issued by J. F. Jarrell, agricultural manager of the Santa Fe, covering the twelve farming States its lines traverse.

Aside from an underproduction of apricots and prunes, the other deciduous fruits and grapes in California give promise of a large production, the statement reads. Melons look good and a fine cherry harvest soon will be ended. In the twelve States the total wheat production is estimated at 340,500,000 bushels, compared with 282,798,000 bushels in 1925. California is scheduled to harvest a wheat crop of 14,500,000 bushels, compared with 11,457,000 last year. Texas and Oklahoma also are about to harvest big grain yields.

The report states that California, Arizona and New Mexico have been fortunate in rainfall, which has replenished the reservoirs and filled the dams, thus insuring irrigation water for the summer.

England to Cut Rubber Exports to Four-fifths

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, May 31.—England is planning a reduction of the export of rubber from Ceylon and Malaya plantations for the latter half of this year in case the spot price falls below 25 cents a pound during the present quarter, which began on May 1.

The restriction will mean an 80 per cent export against the present 100 per cent. The maximum limit per acre is 500 pounds.

ARIZONA LEADS PER ACRE COTTON YIELD

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, May 31.—A late report shows that Arizona cotton growers last season produced an average of 380 pounds of lint to the acre, California second, with 340 pounds, compared with an average for the nation of 225 pounds. The Arizona average was brought up by the Pima county yield, with one record of 7000 bales on 6000 acres. On some of the Pima Farms Company's land the yield ran up to two bales to the acre.

DODGE BROTHERS SALES INCREASE

Retail sales of Dodge Brothers, Inc., for the first three weeks in May, last, totaled 35,774 cars, a gain of 9354 cars, or 57 per cent over the same period of last year, according to a report just issued by the company.

Factory shipments totaled 25,194 cars, a gain of 10,087 cars. Dealers' retail deliveries totaled 27,851 cars, a gain of 58 per cent, year.

RAIL CONVERSION POSSIBLE

Unofficial Statements Place Credence in Report of Electrification; Would Split Cost

BY EARLE E. CROWE

Although railroad men here are reticent officially, some of them are inclined unofficially to place credence in the report last week of joint electrification by the Southern Pacific and Santa Fe of a short-cut through the Tehachapi Mountains. It is known that Santa Fe engineers have gone over the ground recently and spent considerable time in checking the possible economies that would accrue.

Electrification of the present route over the Tehachapi was considered by the Southern Pacific some years ago, but the initial expense of conversion was what deterred authorization of the work at that time. The Santa Fe, which now uses the Southern Pacific tracks over the mountains, has also surveyed and studied the possibility of building and electrifying its own line from Bakersfield through the Tejon Pass. President W. B. Storey, however, has repeatedly said that the prohibitive corporation tax rate in California is an obstacle to any new investment in this State by the Santa Fe.

MAY SOLVE PROBLEM

By a co-operative agreement it is possible that the objections of both railroads can be met. The Santa Fe, it is understood, owns a right of way through the Tejon Pass, which affords a low grade through the mountains and shortens the distance between Bakersfield and Los Angeles considerably. Such a short cut, eliminating Mojave and coming out somewhere near Saugus, would presumably benefit both railroads, and each would only bear one-half of the construction cost.

It has been estimated that it costs the Santa Fe about $1,000,000 annually to operate over the Tehachapis under the present traffic arrangement with the Southern Pacific. The latter is equally burdened by the difficulties involved in moving a large volume of traffic through the Tehachapi "bottle neck."

The feasibility of electrifying a route either through or over the mountains is vouchsafed for by electrical engineers. H. A. Barre, executive engineer of the Southern California Edison Company, was quoted in this column some time ago on this point. He said that the power is available, and that on congested stretches such as the Tehachapi the saving in operation costs ought to pay for the initial cost of conversion from steam.

POWER NEEDS SMALL

Contrary to the general impression, Mr. Barre said that only a relatively small amount of energy would be required for the electrical operation of locomotives over the mountains. On the basis of a survey made a few years ago for the Southern Pacific, it was learned that 80,000 horsepower would do the work. This amount, according to Mr. Barre, can be supplied by the Kern River plants of the Edison Company.

Another survey showed that only 200,000 horsepower would be required to electrically operate the Southern Pacific from El Paso, Tex., to the San Joaquin Valley. The Santa Fe, it was estimated, could run its trains from Albuquerque, N. M., to Los Angeles with 40,000 horsepower.

With both lines joining in the construction and electrification of the cut off, the chief obstacle of cost would be partially solved, it would seem. Conversion from steam to electricity costs about as much as the original main line investment, according to engineers, which has heretofore discouraged either road from proceeding with the work, although they realized how they would benefit from the resultant economies in operation. The St. Paul has proved on its electrified mileage that the same volume of traffic can be moved with one-third the number of steam locomotives.

Regeneration is one means by which the saving is effected. As the electric locomotives move down grade, they generate energy that is fed back to the locomotives coming up grade.

INDUSTRIAL SECURITIES ON MARKET

Bankers Offer Lloyd & Casler, Inc., Mortgage Serial Bonds Today

A new issue of $700,000 Lloyd & Casler, Inc., first mortgage 6½ per cent serial bonds will be offered today by the California Company at 100 and interest to yield 6½ per cent. The bonds are dated June 1, 1926, and are due serially semiannually.

The bonds are secured by a first closed mortgage on three industrial buildings owned by Lloyd & Casler, Inc., and situated at Pico street between Maple and Wall streets. The buildings consist of the Allied Crafts Building, limited height, a loft and manufacturing building of Class A construction and costing $668,000; Graphic Arts Building, six-story Class A building, costing $305,000, and the Lloyd & Casler Building, three-story Class A building, costing $217,000.

The appraised value of the buildings and ground leasehold is $1,207,551.60, making the loan a 60 per cent mortgage. The average rental basis received will return a gross income of $210,848, or more than four and one-half times interest charges on the bonds. The Lloyd & Casler Building is completely rented, the Allied Crafts Building was completed May 1, last, and is 60 per cent rented, and the Graphic Arts Building is completely rented, according to the underwriters.

Principal and interest will be provided by advance monthly deposits with the trustee. In the first year of the loan the deposits will aggregate $45,000; from the second to the tenth years they will be approximately $45,000 a year, and in the last eight years will be $75,000 a year.

UTILITY PROFITS UP

American Light and Traction Issues Annual Report

Net earnings of the American Light and Traction Company for the twelve months ended April 30, last, after all charges for taxes, interest and depreciation, were $7,603,067, an increase of $1,264,813, or 19.77 per cent. The earnings are equal to $53.82 a share on the 142,362 preferred shares outstanding.

The balance for common stock, after deducting $854,172 for preferred dividends, was $6,808,895, equivalent to $19.56 a share earned on the 348,057 shares of common stock outstanding. This compares with $5,544,082, or $17.14 a share on 323,310 shares outstanding in the preceding year.

Operating revenues of the subsidiary companies for this period were $38,612,527, an increase of $1,727,764 over the preceding year.

ASSOCIATES ACQUIRE INTEREST IN COMPANY

Drake, Riley & Thomas, Inc., conduct a general investment banking business in Southern California, having offices in Los Angeles, Pasadena, Santa Barbara and Long Beach.

COPPER STABLE ON FAIR BUYING

Foreign and Domestic Demand Only Moderate

Present Price Level Regarded as Firmly Fixed

Quiet Summer Forecast from Purchases Ahead

BY CHARLES F. WILLIS

(Editor, The Mining Journal.)

The copper situation is still devoid of any features, with transactions in fair volume both for European and domestic markets, little or no buying ahead, the consumers feeling confident of getting metal at present prices whenever they wish to buy, and the producers holding tight at 13 7-8 cents to 14 cents.

Much of the buying of copper for domestic use is for immediate delivery and practically none ahead of June delivery, which indicates that the fabricators have a comparatively small supply of copper to meet their requirements. It is evident that the fabricators feel safe on the hand-to-mouth purchasing and that they do not fear any considerable rise in price or in an inability to get the metal to meet the requirements of the orders which they have booked.

This has been the policy of the fabricators for a considerable number of years now, a waiting policy, and the history of the copper situation for the past few years justifies their attitude.

The stabilizing policy of the producers has, to a very considerable extent, lessened the fluctuations in buying and in prices and we seem to no longer have buying movements which once featured the copper situation. Formerly it did not take much of a buying movement to start all fabricators into the market to protect their requirements on orders booked, but they, too, have stabilized and are spreading their buying regularly rather than in spasmodic movements with fluctuating prices.

PRODUCTION GAINS

The world's production of copper for April totaled 140,900 tons, a daily average of 4696 tons, as against a daily average during March of 4470 tons. There has been a constant, although slight, increase in the world production since January, but it is not yet back to the production of October, 1925, when the producers started to run away, a condition which emphasized the need of the leveling of production to consumption.

It is interesting to note, however, that the average monthly world production during 1923 was 113,014 tons, during 1924 it was 121,623 tons, during 1925 it was 128,406 tons and during the first four months of 1926, an average monthly production of 131,731 tons. Eliminating the high production months of October, November and December of last year, the average monthly world production of copper would not have exceeded 125,600 tons in 1925. Thus it is evident that progress is being made.

The consumption of copper in the United States during 1925 was 813,171 tons, which was a record level and there are no indications of abatement in the rate at which copper is being taken by the consuming industries this year.

GOOD RESULTS

There is very definite evidence of the results of the campaign of the producers in increasing the uses of copper and the sale of copper-made products. It has been interesting to note a recent report which shows that the use of copper and brass wire cloth for screen has increased materially during the last year, while the use of galvanized screen has decreased in just about the same amount, which indicates that there is just as much screen being purchased, but more of it of copper than formerly. There was about 2000 tons less galvanized screen used in 1925, as against 1924. The biggest increase, however, came in brass wire cloth rather than in the straight copper cloth.

Probably the most encouraging feature of the copper market which gives the forecast of what we may expect, has been the ability of copper to maintain itself in price in the face of the European industrial situation and particularly the British strike. Copper did not decline as did many other commodities and, despite much depressing news, the copper market seemed to distinctly mark up a bottom price of 13 7-8 cents.

CHANGE UNLIKELY

The conclusions which one may draw from the copper situation for many months past is that it is going to continue to make no spectacular or even any material change for a considerable time to come. Copper has apparently reached its bottom at 13 7-8 cents and its top at 14 cents and the producers are apparently holding the price at that point, while the evidence from the consumers indicates that they believe that it is not going to rise.

Thus we may forecast a quiet summer, although those who use the copper situation in its relation to copper stocks are quite optimistic as to the probable effect on the copper market of the Copper Export Trading Company, indicating that the present policy of hand-to-mouth purchasing will not be followed when the operations of the Copper Export Trading Company become a factor.

BOAST IN AMERICA PRICKED

Book by Former Commerce Secretary Redfield Stresses Our Dependence on Outside for Needs

BY PAUL WILLARD GARRETT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

[Copyright, 1926, by New York Evening Post, Inc.]

NEW YORK, May 31.—If you think that the United States has within its borders that which it needs to give it happiness and prosperity, excepting, of course, rubber, coffee and tea, you belong to the large family of citizens that look upon our country as one singularly independent of the other nations in the world.

When William C. Redfield, ass Secretary of Commerce, was compiling statistics on our imports, he came to a very different conclusion. He must have discovered hundreds of interesting commodities vital to industry and used in some manner by each of us every day, but which comes to us from all parts of the world. What is more, he now from his office in New York has written a book entitled "Dependant America," which makes the dry subject of commodities titled "Dependant America," which by the manner in which he introduces to his readers the sources of foreign materials so necessary to us.

"Let us depend on ourselves for our supplies," is an expression often heard, but the doctrine is one that Mr. Redfield answers by the enumeration of dozens of specific commodities that we must have but of which we have no supply in this country.

Indeed, he says: "Indeed, there is not a man or woman in America whose daily life is not in constant touch with that of peoples on the other side of the seas whose customs are strange to us, whose languages are unknown, of whom we may never have heard, but without whose daily toil our lives would be affected for the worse. No one of us lives through a single day without in some way getting help from all the other continents."

That we consume more than half of the world's tin output but produce no tin of our own, is only one of the statements calculated to increase respect for such an ordinary thing as a tin can. Rubber, sisal, bristles, shellac, hides and leather, alloy metals, silk, coffee and copra are only a few that he mentions. We even go to Egypt for onions.

Such a book at this time should help to reconcile us somewhat to modifications in our trade position and to the increasing tide of merchandise imports which have this year exceeded exports in every month to date. Our tide of imports grows for quite another reason, of course, but when the person that had always looked upon an excess of imports as an "unfavorable" balance reads Mr. Redfield's book he may see more clearly than before the real contribution to our prosperity made by these shipments from foreign countries.

Slight Decline in Local Trade Noted in Week

A slight decrease occurred in Los Angeles business activity during the week ending May 26, last, the average of the last two weeks indicating that business now is 14 per cent above normal, according to the weekly business summary of the Eberle & Riggleman Economic Service, just released. Check transactions increased 5.1 per cent during the week, as compared with the same period last year, and gained 13.6 per cent as against the weekly average of 1924, the summary says.

Percentage gains or losses of check transactions in eight other cities of the southwest area during the week ending May 19, last, as against the same week a year ago, and as compared with the weekly average of 1924, are listed as follows: Long Beach, plus 3.1, minus 1.0; Pasadena, plus 16.6, plus 31.2; Santa Barbara, plus 5.6, plus 11.5; Fresno, plus 28.9, plus 8.1; Bakersfield, plus 6.5, plus 9.7; San Bernardino, minus 3.1, plus 8.5; San Diego, plus 3.8, plus 51.2, and Phoenix, Ariz., plus 15.1, plus 28.2.

DECLINE IN VOLUME OF OFFERINGS

Total Handled by Local Houses During Week Set at $39,135,000

New financing during the week ending the 29th inst., either originated or participated in by local investment houses, amounted to $39,135,000, a slight reduction from the par value of $49,814,000 in the preceding week, according to a tabulation furnished yesterday by E. H. Rollins & Sons.

The largest single offering in the week was that of $8,500,000 Northern Ohio Power and Light Company 5½ per cent bonds, due 1951, and marketed by the National City Company, Baker, Kellogg & Co., Inc., and associates floated the one foreign issue of the week, that of $5,000,000 Province of Styria external secured sinking fund 7 per cent gold bonds, due 1946.

Other flotations included a block of $2,700,000 Interstate Power Company first mortgage 6 per cent gold bonds, series "B," due 1944, and $5,000,000 Washington Water Power Company general mortgage 5 per cent gold bonds, series "A," both of which were immediately oversubscribed.

Offerings by group for the week ended the 29th and 22nd inst., follow:

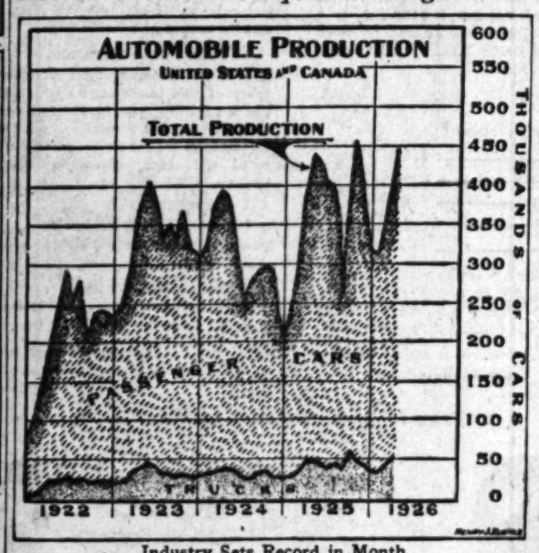
New Marketing Pool Organized by Cattlemen

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 31.—Hubbard Russell, president of the California Cattlemen's Association, announced today that a number of the largest stock men in the State, who have not signed a marketing agreement with the association, have decided to join to pool their cattle "to the end that fair prices to the producers may be had."

Some of those interested in this arrangement are John Robinson, Robinson Brothers, William Hayes, Frank Crane, Bert Crane and others of Merced county, as well as Frank O'Connel, Lee and a number of others from San Benito and Santa Clara counties. While in no way affiliated, Mr. Russell said it was felt that the new organization working closely with the cattlemen's association "will greatly benefit the cattle industry of the country."

Motor Vehicle Output at High Level



Industry Sets Record in Month

As a result of a sharp gain in truck production last month, the output of motor vehicles established a new high record in this country and in Canada at 455,843, compared with the best previous total of 454,039 in October.

Although there was a gain in April over March in passenger cars, the output of 402,574 fell short of the October, 1925, record of 408,017. In Canada, however, passenger-car production reached a new record above the figures of May, 1925, which previously had represented the peak.

As a result of heavy production in February and March, output in the first four months of the year totaled 1,421,742 passenger cars, compared with 1,195,252 in the corresponding period of last year, according to Department of Commerce figures.

CALIFORNIA FOURTH ON COST LIST

State Follows New York, Illinois, Pennsylvania in Expense for Government

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SACRAMENTO, May 31.—California ranks fourth among the States of the Union in the sum spent annually for the support of its government, State Treasurer Charles G. Johnson declared in a comparative statement issued today.

Johnson's statement is based on figures compiled by the Federal Census Bureau and just received by him. The government cost tables are for the year 1924, Johnson explaining that this is the latest comparative data available.

New York leads the States in governmental costs with expenditures totaling $161,755,161. Illinois is second with yearly expenses of $121,104,880, and Pennsylvania third with a cost bill of $93,893,391 for 1924.

Johnson gives the cost of operating California's State government at $75,332,546. The grand total of expenditures for all the States in the Union is given at $1,506,302,429.

In per capita governmental expenditures, Johnson declares, California ranks sixth in the nation, her rate being $15.66 for each resident, as compared to an average for the country of $9.60. Nevada is highest with a per capita rate of $37.38.

HALF-HOLIDAYS START

Saturday Recess Idea Ascribed to Vanderbilt Architect

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, May 31.—The dismantling of the Vanderbilt mansion on Fifth avenue recalls one story of the origin of the present widespread custom of Saturday half-holidays, especially during the summer.

The architectural sculptor of the building, half a century ago, was a boat race enthusiast, and preferred watching the races to supervising construction on Saturday afternoons. Half the 320 stonemasons then in New York were employed on the building, and when the half-holiday was suggested they voted against it by a large majority. But the architect overruled their objections and put the idea into effect. At the end of the year the stonemasons voted unanimously to make it permanent.

GUIDING INSURANCE BUYERS

BY GRIFFIN M. LOVELACE

Professor of Insurance, New York University

(This is one of a series of articles appearing in The Times three times a week, dealing with all phases of insurance. The next article will appear on Thursday.)

XXXIV.—Guaranteeing the Fulfillment of Plans

Have you ever thought of life insurance like this?

Most of the kind of men you and I know have certain definite purposes or objectives in life, the fulfillment of which involves the continuance of their earning power. They have certain relationships, have assumed certain obligations, have taken upon themselves certain responsibilities which place upon them the burden and the duty of earning and paying sums of money regularly from month to month and of accumulating for future use funds that will be required for various purposes.

They have ability, are industrious and honest. It is upon these three factors of their business character that is based the confidence in them which is felt by every one who depends upon them for the fulfillment of some obligation. These factors even determine largely the credit which they enjoy in their business relationships.

The one most uncertain factor we find as we look forward to attainment of our life objectives is that of time. The great majority of our purposes and ambitions relate to achievement of the future—a year hence; ten years hence; twenty or thirty years; or more.

A man has taken unto himself a wife and they look forward to a long life together. They entered into a life partnership. He undertook to be the breadwinner and it is his purpose to support his wife as long as she lives.

Voluntarily he brings children into the world, extending his responsibility as breadwinner, and expects to support his children until they are grown. He intends to provide adequately for their education and to do all that lies within his power to give them a fair chance in life, commensurate with the opportunities to which they, as his children, have a right to look forward.

The family needs a home, where their lares and penates may be permanently established. It may be purchased on partial payments, either a considerable cash payment with a moderate-sized mortgage or a small down payment with the right to liquidate the balance gradually in installments. The head of the family expects eventually to complete the purchase so that the home may be owned free and clear.

In his business he borrows money, sometimes large sums, and he has every expectation of reimbursing his creditors in due time; not only because he is legally bound to do so, but also because he wants to protect his honor and his reputation.

And with all these obligations to be met, this husband, father, home-owner and borrower has the ambition to accumulate a substantial estate. This is his material goal—to be independent, to have investments that will support the family when his earning power must be diminished or terminated, and to provide for himself also, if he lives to old age. He expects some day to be worth $50,000, $100,000, $500,000, or a million!

He is capable, industrious and honest. But will he have the time to complete all that he has undertaken? Will he live to fulfill his great obligations? Will life hold out until his ambitions have been achieved?

Nobody knows the answer. And this is where life insurance comes in. Life insurance will enable him to guarantee the fulfillment of his plans, if death interrupts. Disability protection will help if he becomes totally incapacitated for earning a living. Through life insurance he may foresee the accomplishment of the big things he set out to do, for life insurance will step into his place and carry on where he leaves off.

Life insurance will finish what he has started.

With such a view of the beneficent part to be played by it in the worth-while things of his life, one may see life insurance as a great social force by which thousands come to the rescue of one man when his strength has failed, many hands lifting his load easily and bearing it on to the top of the trail he was climbing.

Common Stock, no par value	60,000 shares	20,000 shares

Mr. W. R. H. Welden, President of Safeway Stores, Incorporated, has summarized his letter to the Bankers regarding this Preferred Stock, as follows:

HISTORY AND BUSINESS

The Safeway Stores organization operates the largest chain of "cash and carry" grocery stores in California, having a total of 342 stores in the Southern part of the State.

The business was founded in 1914 in Los Angeles with 4 stores, having net assets of $23,700 and yearly sales of $286,000. From this modest beginning the business has had a steady development. In 1925 sales amounted to $13,424,735 and net profits after taxes were $545,261.

Safeway Stores, Incorporated, a Maryland corporation, controls the entire capital stock (except directors' qualifying shares) of Safeway Stores, Inc., of California.

The business has shown a profit in each and every year since its inception. The sales, operating profits and net profits (after eliminating inter-company items, and certain non-recurring expenses and income aggregating $20,008.31 for the entire period), from audits of Messrs. Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Co., Public Accountants, are reported as follows:

	1922	1923	1924	1925
No. of Stores	118	193	263	330
Sales	$5,833,395	$8,625,436	$11,873,009	$13,424,735
Operating Profits	231,973	454,529	543,613	577,039

COMMON STOCK PURCHASE WARRANTS.

The Preferred Stock will be accompanied by warrants entitling the holder to purchase one-fifth of a share of Common Stock for every share of Preferred Stock at the rate of $300 a share if purchased on or before December 31, 1926, at $350 if purchased during 1927, at $400 if purchased during 1928, at $450 if purchased during 1929, and at $500 if purchased during 1930. Warrants expire December 31, 1930.

MANAGEMENT

No change is contemplated in the officers or management of the operating Company.

From the standpoint of consumer good-will, based upon quality of merchandising and service, our chain of stores is firmly entrenched in a rapidly growing and prosperous territory. Our policy of steady development will be continued by the acquisition of additional stores or the opening of new stores in our present and adjacent territories.

Throughout the entire organization there is the closest co-operation and the best of relations exist between the executive personnel, the store managers and all employees.

Of these 21,000 shares of Preferred Stock with accompanying warrants, 4,000 shares with accompanying warrants have been issued to provide the Corporation with $400,000 cash available for the purchase of additional properties.

INDUSTRIAL BUILDINGS

First (Closed) Mortgage 6½% Serial Bonds

Dated June 1, 1926. Coupon Form. Due Serially Semi-annually. Denominations $1000 and $500. Registerable as to principal only.

Principal and interest payable at the Security Trust & Savings Bank, Los Angeles, June 1st and December 1st. Normal Federal Income Tax not to exceed 2% will be paid by the Company. Bonds callable on any interest date in whole or in part on 30 days' published notice at a premium of ½ of 1% for each year of life, not to exceed 102½.

Exempt from Personal Property Taxes in California.

Security Trust & Savings Bank, Los Angeles, Trustee

APPLICATION HAS BEEN MADE TO THE SUPERINTENDENT OF BANKS TO CERTIFY THIS ISSUE AS A LEGAL INVESTMENT FOR SAVINGS BANKS IN CALIFORNIA.

Buildings:

The three buildings covered by this mortgage are the Allied Crafts Building, 98'x124', limit height, a loft and manufacturing building of Class "A" construction, situated at Pico and Maple Streets, costing $668,000. Graphic Arts Building, 78'x125', six-story Class "A" building, costing $305,000, situated on Pico Street adjoining Allied Crafts Building. Lloyd & Casler Building, 108'x120', three-story Class "A" building, costing $217,000, situated on the corner of Pico and Wall Streets. The three buildings represent a total cost of $1,190,000, all of which are completed.

Ground:

The property mortgaged (fee-hold) consists of 312½ ft. on Pico Street; 140 ft. on Maple by 128.5 ft. on Wall Street, giving three street frontages and two corners. The land area is 41,625 sq. ft., and is valued by the Company at $236,375.

Earnings:

The total net rentable area of the Lloyd & Casler buildings is 219,800 sq. ft. The average rental basis received will return a gross income of $210,848, or over 4½ times interest charges on this issue. The Lloyd & Casler Building is completely rented; the Graphic Arts Building is completely rented; the Allied Crafts Building was completed May 1st and is 60% rented. Total gross income as of this date is $160,220, or 3 times interest charges. Due to the demand for space we anticipate the Allied Crafts Building will be completely rented by June 15th.

Expenses:

Expenses are estimated as follows:

Insurance	$ 4,830.50
Taxes	6,989.50
Upkeep and Repairs	8,500.00
Rental Collection	1,200.00
Total	$21,520.00

The estimated net earnings available for interest requirements is $189,328.00, or over FOUR TIMES maximum interest requirements and nearly THREE TIMES average interest and principal requirements.

Tenants:

The Lloyd & Casler Buildings are probably the first high-grade modern industrial buildings of this character in the West, giving ideal working conditions in the matter of conveniences, light, shipping facilities, etc. Consequently we have been able to select only the most desirable tenants. All leases will be assigned to the Trustee for the benefit of the bondholders.

Appraisal:

Mr. John P. Kennedy, formerly Chief Appraiser for the Security Trust & Savings Bank, has appraised this property for you as follows:

Allied Crafts Building	$ 598,533.00
Graphic Arts Building	237,837.60
Lloyd & Casler Building	185,681.00
Ground at $600 per ft. for Pico Street frontage	187,500.00
Total Valuation	$1,207,551.60

Interest and Principal

Principal and interest will be provided by advance monthly deposits with the trustee. In the first year of the loan these deposits will aggregate $45,000; from the second to the tenth years they will be approximately $65,000 a year; and in the last eight years they will be approximately $75,000 a year. As our payments represent only ½ of the estimated gross income, we feel that the margin of safety is large.

Title and Insurance:

Title Guarantee & Trust Company will issue its policy of title insurance, insuring the validity of this lien as a first mortgage for the full amount of the bond issue. Fire and earthquake insurance will be carried in full amounts for the protection of the bondholders, and rental and other customary insurance in adequate amounts.

Legality:

Legal proceedings incident to this issue will be approved by your attorneys, Messrs. O'Melveny, Millikin, Tuller & Macneil.

Serial Maturities:

Bonds mature semi-annually December 1, 1927, to June 1, 1944, inclusive.

We offer these bonds when, as and if issued and received by us, subject to approving opinion of Messrs. O'Melveny, Millikin, Tuller & Macneil, and the permit of the Commissioner of Corporations of the State of California.

Price 100 and interest, to yield 6½%.

APRIL TRADE 'STEP DOWN'

Weather Conditions Prevent Improvement Expected, Says National Chamber of Commerce Writer

A general and accurate characterization of trade and industry in April is rather difficult on account of a curious interplay of opposing forces visible during the month, says Frank Greene in his monthly review of general business conditions in the current number of Nation's Business Magazine, official publication of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

"In purely trade lines," Mr. Greene writes, "something like a 'step down' was seen, or, if this is not exactly accurate, it may be said that weather conditions prevented the decided 'step up' that was hoped for. Industry also moved irregularly as witnessed for one instance in a new high peak for a year being made in pig iron production, whereas steel mill operations and pig iron and some steel quotations declined from the March level.

"Building, too, showed a sag in value of permits taken out; export trade in grain and cotton continued to shrink, as did prices for those products. An agreement to curtail southern cotton mill operations was reported, this line showing a slight net decline in goods prices, while silks and woolens and their raw materials sagged in price or in output.

"Finally, the general level of all commodities, influenced by rubber, textiles, leather, naval stores and lumber, went lower.

MARKET RALLIES

"On the favorable side, it might be noted that the stock market, which undoubtedly aided in the spread of pessimistic feeling by its big break in March, rallied during April, this being helped by marked ease in money, which likewise aided the bond market. The speculative ship's burden was lightened, and the money market likewise was helped a good deal by the reduction in brokers' loans of $687,000,000 in the period from the middle of February to the middle of April.

"During April, the net trend of trade, as reflected in the weekly and monthly returns, showed a slight sag from March in value of sales, some of which may have been due to one business day less figuring in the reports for April as opposed to March, but mainly because unseasonable weather held down final distribution.

"As compared with a year ago, wholesale trade showed a gain, whereas retail trade showed rather less favorably. Even here a distinction must be drawn between the reports as to mail order, chain store and department store sales, which showed best results, whereas reports as to small retail trade were less favorable. Industry seemed on the whole to maintain the superiority over a year ago, and over trade distribution proper, noted in earlier months. Failures were more numerous than a year ago in April, and the number of bank suspensions, most of these in rural districts, remained quite large.

"Weather conditions made for a very mixed set of crop reports as the month advanced. The Southwest and Northwest almost exactly changed places as compared with a year ago. Plentiful moisture in Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas, where a year ago it was lacking, caused some very optimistic estimates of winter wheat to issue from the three States mentioned, the first two predicting record yields.

WHEAT ADVANCES

"The May delivery of wheat showed some sharp advances and later declines before the British strike entered as a factor into the case, but the net trend was downward, although the congested condition of that delivery premised speculative fireworks at one time. Pacific Coast crop reports were good, this applying to both fruits and grains, owing to plentiful moisture.

"The cotton crop season was conceded to be late, as was the general crop situation in most northern areas, owing to the lingering of cold weather. Some large potato-growing areas reported snow covering the fields as late as early May.

"Domestic production and total consumption of petroleum in March was the largest since December and a little larger than a year ago; stocks on hand decreased slightly and are the lowest in at least three years. Gasoline production in March was the largest since last August, and stocks rose heavily in preparation for the busy season. Soft-coal production for the year to date is 13.5 per cent ahead of last year, this mainly due to the strike in the anthracite field.

"Mail-order sales for four months exceed a year ago by 10 per cent of those of the like period of a year ago and exceed the first four months of 1920 by 3.2 per cent. Chain-store sales for four months exceed a year ago by 10 per cent. Department-store sales for three months ending with March exceeded a year ago by 5 per cent."

LOS ANGELES MARKET

CATTLE—Steers were most numerous in yesterday's liberal cattle supply, with the Imperial Valley supplying a good portion; however, the bulk were grassers. Trade, with the exception of a few sparklers, was slow in starting, but when it did get under way, a good clearance was made, around 2000 cattle having gone over the scales by the noon hour. Prices on all killing classes opened steady to weak and closed generally 10@15c lower. Values on the whole, however, were comparatively uneven, with most on some classes showing around 25c loss. A four-car string of 1127-pound Central California grass steers topped at 8.15. Other grassers made 8.00, as did Imperial Valley fed steers, while the bulk cleared from 7.00@7.85, the lower figure taking in steers, while the bulk cleared from 7.00@7.85, the lower figure taking in several loads of 950 to 940-pound Mexican steers. Other steers averaged generally 850 to 1100 pounds. Very common kinds were fairly numerous from 6.50@6.85, with very thin kinds down to 5.50. Saturday 41 steers averaging 1170 pounds brought 8.25.

A load of 777-pound California grass heifers topped at 8.10. Several small lots of both cows and heifers made 6.50 and 6.60, while a three-car string of 942-pound grass cows realized 6.35. The price spread of 5.00@8.25 took in the bulk of the she stock supply, practically all grassers, although a load of 827-pound Imperial Valley cows made 8.15. Common cows and heifers were most numerous from 4.50@5.25. Canners and cutters were fairly active and held steady, the bulk turning from 3.50@4.35. Bulls were in rather liberal supply and closed generally 15@25c lower. Several lots of beef bulls sold around 6.00, while two loads of 1028 and 1080-pound Arizona bulls brought 5.50. The general run of bolognas cleared from 4.75@5.50.

CALVES—Demand ruled up on veaters and values closed unevenly 25@50c lower. Only odd lots of veaters sold for 12.50, while the bulk of 170 to 240-pound weights turned from 11.50@12.25. Plainer kinds were fairly numerous down to 10.00, while calves, mostly common kinds and heavies, turned from 8.00@9.00, including 380-pound Arizonas at 7.75 and 461-pound weights at 6.25.

HOGS—Although the supply was small, demand was narrow and only three loads of butchers had sold at a late hour. Values were generally around 15c lower, and yesterday's top was 13.85, paid for a load of 181-pound weights. A load of 179-pound butchers made 13.75, while mixed 167-pound weights realized 13.60. A few trucked-in butchers made 13.60. The general run of packing sows are quoted from 10.50@11.00.

SHEEP—None. Good and choice lambs are quotable from 13.75@15.50, while common to choice ewes are quoted from 4.50@6.50. For the season to date, Pacific Coast slaughterers have shipped 92 cars, totaling 59,000 head of dressed spring lambs to eastern markets. During this same period 1473 single decks, or approximately 884,000 lambs have been shipped alive to mid-western markets. This makes a total of 290,000 lambs shipped out of California for the 1926 season to date.

YESTERDAY'S QUOTATIONS

Slaughter cattle and calves: Steers (1100 pounds down,) good, 8.00@8.65; medium, 7.00@8.00; common, 5.25@7.00. Heifers (850 pounds up,) good, 6.50@7.10; (all weights) common and medium, 4.40@6.50. Consider this fact

THE amount you require to live on—whether or not you have an income aside from your investments—the total amount you have to invest; ALL of these are factors that make your own purchase of bonds a highly individual affair.

Bonds that are good for your neighbor may be much less desirable for you.

With that fact in mind, we try always to know what an investor needs before we recommend a particular bond. And the bonds we offer have been selected with greatest care because we believe the security is sound, the yield is assured, there is ample diversity, and there will always be a good market for the bond.

5 Former Standard Oil Executives

~~ invite you to join them in this enterprise.

FIVE former Standard Oil Executives—men who thoroughly know every phase of the oil business—are guiding the affairs of Western Oil & Refining Company. Under their capable management this company is today looked upon as one of the really big oil companies of the future.

Do you realize what 76 years of combined Standard Oil experience on the part of these men mean to this company and the more than 1800 stockholders who are financially interested in its welfare?

Do you really know these men?

RICHARD FLORIAN, president and general manager of Western Oil & Refining Company, was for 18 years with the Standard Oil Company of Indiana and New Jersey, the last 10 years of which he was Managing Director of the Romano-Americana, the largest producing and refining subsidiary of the Standard Oil Company in Europe.

R. R. RAKESTRAW, vice president, was for 30 years with Standard Oil. He is the originator of the "internally fired" still and "continuous distillation."

A. W. TAYLOR, vice president, spent 19 years with Standard Oil, and has had 24 years' experience in foreign markets.

A. A. G. SCHERBEL, secretary and treasurer, was for 11 years with Standard Oil, and is a recognized refining and efficiency expert.

W. S. SMULLIN, director, was for 17 years with Standard Oil and is an authority on oil production.

These are the men who now offer you an opportunity to become associated with them in Western Oil & Refining Company. These are the men who have visioned and had that vision fulfilled in the company's new $1,000,000 refinery at West Basin, Los Angeles Harbor—one of the finest refineries in the United States.

This refinery is now operating on a profitable basis.

Here are additional facts for you to consider!

This new refinery has a strategic location—unequaled in the oil industry. It is located close to the greatest oil fields in the world—adjacent to complete railroad, highway and water facilities.

Western Oil & Refining Company has a 99-year lease on its 100-acre site at the harbor—and the value of this lease is increasing at a tremendous rate.

The Western Refining & Marketing Company, Ltd., of London, England—a subsidiary of this company—assures foreign markets for the products of our refinery now in operation.

These are but a few of the many reasons why the COMMON stock of this company is being purchased by conservative investors—why you should buy our COMMON stock today at only $15 per share.

Getting the complete facts is worth two minutes and two cents to any investor.

Our common stock is selling at $15 per share. Full investigation invited. For your convenience there is a coupon below. Fill in your name and address for full details.

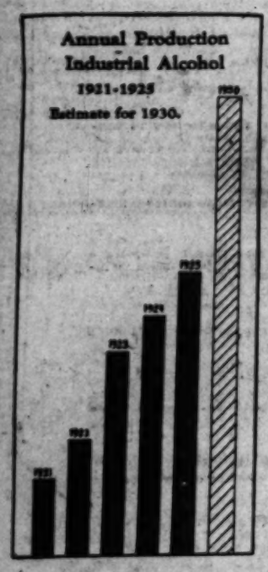
Alcohol in Industry

The Remarkable Growth and Future of a Basic Industrial Product



THE manufacture of industrial alcohol is one of the nation's basic industries. The clothes we wear, the automobiles we ride in, the food we eat, the electric light we read by and hundreds of other items require alcohol in their preparation.

From a production of 1,780,000 gallons twenty years ago, the industry has practically doubled its output every five years. Production last year was 81,000,000 gallons and conservative estimates place annual production by 1930 at 130,000,000 gallons—an astonishing development.

Lacquers such as "Duco", artificial leather, and silk (rayon), celluloid products, pharmaceuticals, perfumes, electrical goods, etc., all require large quantities of alcohol. Then, too, 20,000,000 motorists use millions of gallons annually for anti-freeze solution.

American companies supply this demand, Import duties are prohibitive. Raw material is abundant and cheap, and labor a small item. One plant last year produced $3,000,000 of alcohol with $44,000 labor cost.

This industry holds great promise of development and expansion. The second largest producer in the industry will shortly offer an attractive bond issue combining a high degree of security with a better than average yield. Each bond will carry in addition valuable long term stock purchase warrants entitling the holder to buy 25 shares of stock. We shall be glad to send you full details.

BY HOWARD C. KEGLEY

The Trabuco Oil Company, whose operations in Trabuco Canyon, four miles south of Corona, caused considerable speculation last week when drillers reported a good oil sand at 610 feet, has drilled through the formation showing the oil, after penetrating about fifty feet of oil sand and shale that appeared to be fairly well saturated. Bottom of the well at present is below 800 feet in blue clay and sand.

The Trabuco discovery attracted much interest in Los Angeles oil circles largely because of its shallow depth. The first indications were picked up at 610 feet, and a little great depth a real oil sand was found which for about thirty feet looked promising. Then it began to thin out and show a large proportion of shale, until at about 700 feet it disappeared entirely.

The oil appeared to be "dead," without pressure, and no test of it was made. The Trabuco Oil Company has leased about 200 acres in this district on the Herkelrath ranch. The present hole is the second to be put down, the original attempt having failed because of mechanical trouble which forced its abandonment. The rig was skidded about fifty feet and the present hole started.

Gets Good Gas Flow

The Barnsdall Oil Company, in completing its Rosecrans No. 7 in the southeast part of the Rosecrans field, has made a well producing almost 5,000,000 cubic feet of gas a day, according to official reports. The well is down about 5000 feet and is also producing about 200 barrels of oil, but this production shows a high cut. Pressure is high, averaging about 1000 pounds.

Rosecrans No. 7 was drilled to the Zins sand.

Gets New Well

The Standard Oil Company has completed its well No. B-45 in the area west of Huntington Beach, according to official reports. The well came in at a depth of 4384 feet, producing about 700 barrels a day, but with a cut of about 18 per cent. This cut has been reduced to less than 4 per cent and the well is now making about 500 barrels a day of net oil, it is said.

Bardeen Gets Shutoff

By the expedient of plugging the well the Bardeen Oil Company has succeeded in getting a water shutoff in the old Manhattan-Pacific well in the Manhattan Beach-Hermosa Beach district, according to field reports. Bardeen has plugged back to about 3500 feet. Now all he has to do to get oil is to drill out the plug, which he will do by stages, making a test every few feet.

Union Starts Well

The Union Oil Company has spudded in its Howland No. 1 well in the district between Inglewood and Playa Del Rey and is down about 800 feet, according to field reports. This well is about one-half mile north of the Howland well drilled by the Sentinel Oil Company about two years ago to a depth of 4500 feet. The Sentinel has had the well shut down for many months, but it has never been officially abandoned, and in the event the Union gets any encouragement in its test the old well probably will be cleaned out and deepened.

This well is located a considerable distance west of the area which the Mariand Oil Company is testing on the Connolly ranch. The Connolly well is down nearly 5300 feet and has had no encouraging showings, it is said.

Off Production

The Associated Oil Company's Vickers No. 2 in the Inglewood field, which has been on and off in rapid succession in recent weeks, is off at the present time, due to casing trouble. Two strings of pipe are said to have collapsed just as the well was getting well started.

This well has been the center of attention at Inglewood for the past two months. It was drilled to 5200 feet, where it found water, and plugged back to 3000 feet, where it eliminated the water, but apparently because previous operations had mudded off the oil zone it refused to produce satisfactorily at that point. The Associated spent considerable time washing out the mud and finally got a good 700-barrel well.

Gets Good Well

The Brea Canyon Oil Company has succeeded in getting a good 250-barrel well flowing high-gravity oil in the Brea-Olinda field, according to field reports. The well, which was the Brea Canyon No. 38, was brought in at a depth of 4240 feet, the oil testing 30 deg. gravity and showing less than 2 per cent cut.

No Showings

The California Petroleum Company has had no showings as yet in its well on the Buck ranch near Huntington Beach, according to field reports. The well is down about 3600 feet in sandy shale.

Risk—$5—Five To Make Twenty In Thirty Days

Shoot $5 to share a $4,000,000 to $5,000,000 profit that is possible within the next three or four weeks.

Shoot on a chance to win back $10 to $20 on every $5 you put up—and quickly, too.

Remember, you get big value for your $5 even though the big winning fails to materialize.

Therefore, if you like to play for big, quick profits with a reasonable degree of assurance, here's the play:

Bolsa Chica Oil Company is a Los Angeles concern with only 361,000 shares of stock outstanding.

Present production around 1,000 barrels daily from its wells in Signal Hill and Huntington Beach fields. A 1500-acre lease in Kettleman Hills with a test well about complete and oil standing hundreds of feet in the hole. A valuable 40-acre property at Taft and a virgin lease of 80 acres in one of the best proven big well fields in America.

On this 60-acre virgin lease a well is now drilling at 4400 feet. It should be completed within the next three or four weeks. If it is as good as the one on the adjoining property, this lease alone will have an estimated value of several million dollars.

Shoot Five and Share These Profits

If this well comes in as expected and, if you will go up and look at this lease and the adjoining properties you will "bet your hat" on it; it means that the shares of stock in the Bolsa Chica Oil Company should advance from the present quotations of around $5 to $15 or $20.

This is your opportunity for a real big profit in quick time. Every share of this stock that you buy should show you a return of from 100% to 300% if this well comes in as anticipated.

Bolsa Chica Oil stock is, in our opinion, the best buy on the market today without even considering the big Ventura virgin lease. The company is in a healthy financial condition and the stock at the present price is, in our opinion, a genuine bargain.

We believe that the price of the shares will quickly advance from present quotations to $6, $7, $8 or $10 per share even before this big well is completed, therefore, quick action seems necessary if you want to make the big profits possible.

Ask anyone about Bolsa Chica. Nearly any broker in Los Angeles who is familiar with the situation will tell you that the stock is a good buy. Bankers and local business men will tell you that the management is A-1. Oil men will tell you that they know their "oats" and that the property owned and operated by the Company is O. K.

Now, we suggest that you get busy and make a personal investigation and that you do it quickly. If you will call at our office we will be glad to show you full and complete statistics, records of the wells now producing, financial statements and all other data. We will gladly tell you how to go in your machine and take a look at the property and incidentally see this new well now drilling that may show profits of millions within the next three weeks. Our best advice to you is to make up your mind how much of the stock you want, and we urge you to buy every share you can at present quotations. Telegraph or telephone your order and let remittance follow by mail.

Quick action seems certain and high prices may be looked for daily, in our opinion. It is up to you to act.

JULIAN MARGINAL ACCOUNTS

Lack of funds presents no handicap to those desiring to purchase JULIAN PETROLEUM shares at present prices, providing you still have your JULIAN shares or other approved marketable securities acceptable to us as collateral. Our margin collateral plan enables you to purchase any reasonable number of shares of JULIAN equal to the shares you deposit with us as collateral. For instance, if you own 20 JULIAN preferred and will deposit the same with us as collateral we will sell to you 20 shares additional and carry same on margin account without the necessity of you putting up any cash at the time of purchase. If you have a marketable security acceptable to us as collateral, we will, upon same being deposited with us, sell to you a reasonable amount of JULIAN preferred or common shares equal to the value of the said marketable security, and will carry in marginal account the balance due without any cash payment at time of purchase. If you do not desire to deposit any JULIAN shares or other security as collateral, but can deposit one-half cash on the purchase of JULIAN preferred or common, we will sell to you 5 to 100 shares of each at the Los Angeles Stock Exchange market and will carry the other one-half balance on marginal account. On any of the above plans we require that the amount we have loaned on the transaction shall not at any time exceed 50 per cent of the market value of the JULIAN shares or other collateral held by us for your account and we, therefore, reserve the right to call for additional margin at our option or whenever the market declines. All cash payments made on our call for additional margin are applied on the amount due by you to us. Interest charged on balances. You can sell or take up at your discretion. All dividends paid to stockholders of record from or after date you purchased stock from us will be credited to your account. We have preferred and common shares on hand in small denominations for immediate delivery. Mail orders promptly executed—selling orders solicited. Prompt delivering on cash purchases. Phone TRinity 2401 for latest quotations on JULIAN.

Have Two Pay Envelopes instead of One

TEN years from today the prosperity of many a local family will be traced back to the fact that they followed our safe investment plan.

Will your family be one of them?

Two Incomes—the one from your work—the other from your investments—are within the means of every family.

But just as your income from your work depends on how hard you work, so does your income from your investments depend on how consistently you save.

New York Woman Tries to Collect Insurance Policy on Former Boarder

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, May 31.—George P. Francoise, 67 years of age, custodian of records at the Public Library in Brooklyn, was considerably astonished when a friend entered and told him he was dead. "What do you mean, dead?" Francoise demanded.

The friend produced a newspaper clipping with a legal notice to the effect that application had been made by Attorney Samuel Rothstein of 31 Chambers street to have George P. Francoise declared judicially dead. Francoise is an unusual name, and the possessor of it sallied forth to let the world know there was life in him yet.

Rothstein was surprised and explanations were in order. It seems that in 1913 Francoise had been a boarder for thirty years in the home of Mrs. Marion F. Mahan and her parents. He told them he was absolutely alone in the world and carried a $500 insurance policy to pay for his burial, with Mrs. Mahan named as beneficiary.

In 1913 Francoise went to Hoboken to work as a chef and for several days did not communicate with the Mahans. The longer he put it off, the more difficult it was to get in touch with them, and soon he ceased to have any such intention. Later he married, moved to Ridgewood, and went to work at the library, but at no time in the thirteen years has he been dead, legally or otherwise, he informed Mr. Rothstein.

In the meantime Mrs. Mahan, who lives at 539 East One Hundred and Thirty-Eighth street, the Bronx, continued to pay premiums upon Francoise's policy and made several efforts to find him, by personal ads and with the aid of the policy, without result. The policy became paid up and lately Mrs. Mahan decided she might just as well have the money. It was to collect upon the insurance that she engaged Rothstein to initiate the proceedings to have Francoise declared dead and his will probated.

NATIONAL RAILWAYS of Mexico

(Bonds and Preferred Stock)

The return to private ownership, with Mr. Bertram Hollaway as President, and Mr. Thomas Lamont, of J. P. Morgan & Co., among the Directors, marks a new era in the history of the National Railways of Mexico.

For the first time since 1914 the National Railways are reported as showing substantial earnings. Our information indicates remittances of $600,000 monthly are being made to New York to apply as interest on National Railway Bonds.

We look for resumption of interest payments on July 1st on all National Railway as well as other Mexican "Assented Bonds." As they can be bought as low as 1-4 and 1-5 of par value the income yield will be extraordinary. We advise their immediate purchase as an outstanding buy in today's market.

BUSINESS PHILOSOPHY

BY WILLIAM FEATHER

I HAVE come to the conclusion that more misery is caused by the failure of people to make decisions than by anything else.

Most unhappiness can be traced to this one source.

A bad situation arises. If a decision is made it will involve consequences of some seriousness to ourselves and others. By postponing a decision immediate unpleasantness can be avoided. There is a chance that the situation will cure itself. This chance is one in a thousand. So we do nothing.

In 999 instances the next month, the next year, or the beginning of the next decade finds us with a problem of increased proportions. Finally, we bear a cross which almost crushes us.

I admit that troubles often do right themselves. All who scratch their fingers do not die of blood-poisoning, but many do. Yet, with the treatment for cuts so well-known and simple it seems strange that it should not always be applied.

INSPECTION FEE RISE ASKED AT PASADENA

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, May 31.—Increases in the fees charged by the city for making building, electrical and plumbing inspections will be made if the Board of City Directors approves the recommendations submitted to it by Walter Putnam, the head of the municipal building department. Putnam, who succeeded A. C. Shaver, ousted after the New Year's Day street-stand collapse, says that the present fees do not meet the department's expenses, and that as a consequence of its limited revenues, the department has never been able to function properly or to employ an adequate force.

ASSERTED BANDITS TAKEN AT TULARE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

TULARE, May 31.—Paul Sander, alias James Parker, and Roscoe Kenyon, alias Harold Morford, wanted by the Spokane police for automobile holdups and charged by the Fresno police with highway robbery, were arrested here last night two hours after the Fresno crime. Chief of Police MacDonald has records to show that Sander was once an inmate of the Wisconsin State penitentiary and Kenyon of the Wisconsin State reformatory. The suspects were taken back to Fresno.

SCOUT SETS RECORD

Pomona Youth Establishes New Time in Knot-Tying Test

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

POMONA, May 31.—Clipping four and two-fifths seconds from the former Boy Scout world record knot-tying mark, Nathan Movich of this city is the new holder of the title as a result of a contest staged by scout troops in this district at a rodeo held in Claremont last Saturday. The boy tied nine different knots in the fast time of 27s. flat and today certification of the feat was sent to national headquarters by Scout Executive Alderson. Winners of the three different divisions and special awards were also announced as follows:

Best showing award commissioner's loving cup, won by Troop 5, Pomona. Advanced division first place, won by Claremont Troop 1; second, Troop 5 of Ontario; third, Troop 1 of Ontario; fourth, Troop 6 of Pomona.

Elementary division, first place won by Troop 5 of Pomona; second, Upland; third, Ontario; Fontana, fourth.

Novice division, first place won by Troop No. 3 of Upland; second, tie between San Dimas, Ontario and Upland; Ontario, third.

Nineteen troops were represented and there were 300 entries.

CELEBRATE MASS AT CHURCH'S HIGH ALTAR

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, May 31.—Mass at the new high altar of Saint Monica's Catholic Church, recently completed and pronounced one of the finest on this coast, was said for the first time yesterday, Rev. Nicholas Conneally officiating. The high altar is of Carrara marble from Italy, and was a gift to Saint Monica's parish made by Mr. and Mrs. Euclid Miles, both of whom are now deceased. All stations of the cross are installed, and when the chimes are in the beautiful tower that rises above the lofty eucalypti of the church grounds, the edifice will be complete. The adjoining parish house has been finished and is now occupied by Father Conneally and his assistants.

HEART DISEASE KILLS WOMAN IN AUTO CRASH

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

SAN FERNANDO, May 31.—Mrs. Clara Ridnor of Long Beach died in a local hospital as the result of a traffic crash on the Ridge Route north of here. Mrs. Ridnor, accompanied by R. Rook and Frank McDonald, both of Long Beach, was giving a demonstration of what the car could do preparatory to selling it to the men. McDogald is said to have been driving and on a detour crashed into another machine. Mrs. Ridnor collapsed and crumpled to the floor of the car. She was rushed to a hospital here where she died this morning. Physicians stated her heart failed because of excitement, according to officers.

ENDS LIFE OVER MURDER

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PITTSBURGH, May 31.—A search of three years having failed to bring the murderer of his aged father to justice, Louis Rowland, 36 years of age, killed himself today, firing a bullet into his chest.

Intervenor in Suit Over Rio Grande Loses

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

DENVER (Colo.) May 31.—Minority bondholders of a corporation have no right to delay the completion of a reorganization plan at the expense of the majority interests, solely in an effort to obtain more favorable terms, the United States Circuit Court of Appeals for the Eighth Circuit has decreed. The ruling was made in denying the appeal of Harold Palmer of New York, a dissenting bondholder, to intervene in the reorganization of the Denver and Rio Grande Western Railroad Company.

The opinion, upholding the decision of the United States District Court for Colorado, which handled the road's receivership, has just been made available.

EXPOSITION TO SHOW WEIRD INVENTIONS

SEATTLE EXHIBIT TO CARRY NOVEL DEVICES OF LATE CONSTRUCTION

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SEATTLE, May 31. — A windshield for dirigibles, three-wheeled roller skates, and an unsinkable boat are some of the things which inventors wish to display at the National Inventors' Exposition here, June 17 to 19.

Any new human contrivance is eligible for this exhibit, which is sponsored by the National Association of Inventors.

The dirigible windshield is a funnel-shaped metal arrangement attached to the dirigible mooring mast to protect against the wind. The new roller skate has a center wheel which is larger than the one in front or back and on which the skater may make quick turns. The unsinkable boat is described as one which "couldn't be filled with water fast enough to sink it."

Electrical saws to relieve carpenters of much of their work and formulas for building stone and stone pipe are among exhibits to be entered.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

BERLIN, May 31.—Wilhelm and Louis Ferdinand, sons of the former Crown Prince Frederick William, have entered the University of Bonn, the traditional alma mater of the Hohenzollerns.

Wilhelm will study law, while Louis Ferdinand will take a purely cultural letters and science course. In the matriculation papers was the question as to their father's occupation. The youths designated the ex-crown prince as "gutsbesitzer," which means estate owner or country squire.

Frederick William said some time ago that he would send his sons to Bonn, but had the Allies continued their occupation of the Cologne zone, he would have insisted upon their attending Heidelberg or Leipsic University.

MEAT IS DECLARED ESSENTIAL TO DIET

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, May 31.—Meat may be an old-fashioned food, but it is still an essential article of diet and no amount of so-called modern foods can take its place. Such is the warning issued by Dr. J. P. Iverson, chief of the division of animal industry of the State Department of Agriculture, to those who "sing the praises of many of these so-called modern foods which serve practically no other purpose than roughage." While it is true that many food products aside from animal tissue contain the vitamines required to supply human needs, says Dr. Iverson, there are other properties which should be taken into consideration.

Standard Gas and Electric System More Than Doubles in Size as Result of Acquisitions—Combined Assets $900,000,000 and Customers About 1,500,000 in 1190 Cities in 19 States

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, May 31.—Within the last year the Standard Gas and Electric System has more than doubled in size, principally as a result of acquisitions. It is today one of the largest public-utility systems in the world, its combined assets amounting to approximately $900,000,000 and its annual gross revenues to about $140,000,000.

Service is extended by the company and its subsidiaries to 1190 cities and towns in nineteen States, including Pittsburgh, San Francisco, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Louisville, Oklahoma City, Pueblo, San Diego, Stockton and Tacoma.

Companies operated include the California-Oregon Power Company, Coast Valleys Gas and Electric Company, Fort Smith Light and Traction Company, Louisville Gas and Electric Company, Market-Street Railway Company, Mountain States Power Company, Northern States Power System, Oklahoma Gas and Electric Company, Philadelphia Company, San Diego Consolidated Gas and Electric Company, Sierra and San Francisco Power Company, Southern Colorado Power Company, Western States Gas and Electric Company, Wisconsin Public Service Company and the Shaffer Oil and Refining Company.

These companies at the close of 1925 served 548,200 electric customers and 497,545 gas customers. More than 3,000,000 kilowatt hours of electricity were sold last year, while the gas output was more than 53,500,000,000 cubic feet.

The electric part of the business was supplied by 144 power plants with an installed capacity of 1,478,923 horsepower, of which a large portion is water power, connected with 25,655 miles of transmission and distributing lines. Gas manufacturing plants in the system have a total daily capacity of 107,120,000 cubic feet.

Standard Gas and Electric was one of the pioneers in the development of the present idea of interconnection of properties, or so-called superpower, and its properties are so situated as to make it profitable to take a prominent part in the movements along those lines.

The company is both an investment and an engineering and management organization. It owns the capital stock of the Byllesby Engineering and Management Company, which directs the engineering, construction, operating and management functions of the entire system.

After giving effect to the acquisition of the Standard Power and Light Corporation, total assets of the Standard Gas and Electric Company on February 8, 1926, were $165,814,397. Securities owned, including advances to subsidiary companies, amounted to $152,982,895. Cash on hand, including proceeds from the sale of $3,000,000 par value 7 per cent preferred stock, amounted to $6,216,935. The outstanding funded debt of the company was $72,500,000.

The system as of December 31, 1925, including the Standard Power and Light Corporation, had cash of $28,921,554. Plant, property, rights, franchises, etc., were carried in the balance sheet at $795,953,414, against which there was a funded debt of $382,818,074. Surplus stood at $43,470,731 and reserves at $83,448,921.

GOOPS!

A Daily Lesson in Manners for Children

BY GELETT BURGESS

[Copyright: 1926: By The Chicago Tribune.]

TAKING BATHS

If you're a gentleman, they say
You ought to take a bath each day.
And if you are a lady, you
Should really like to take it, too!
Some children never like to take them,
For they are Goops, and you must make them!

ARROWSMITH

by Sinclair Lewis

DR. MARTIN ARROWSMITH, graduate of Wheatsylvania University and of general practice in Wheatsylvania, N. D., has been discharged from the acting directorship of the department of Public Health of Nautilus, Iowa, and has accepted the position of pathologist at the Rouncefield Clinic in Chicago. Martin is married. He is possessed of a flair for investigative research and is hedetrled by an erratic temperament.

LEORA TOZER ARROWSMITH, Martin's wife, is a honey-haired princess, delightfully bizarre in dress and speech and manners. Her father is the pooh-bah of Wheatsylvania. She is one of the most charming types ever seen in modern fiction.

ORCHID PICKERBAUGH, sinuous and pretty, is not averse to attentions from young men—even though they are married. Martin once kissed her; and then discovered she had no brains.

MR. SCHLEMIHL is the president of the Corn Belt Life Insurance Company of Nautilus.

DR. RUFUS OCKFORD, Winnemac graduate, is Martin's assistant.

ANGUS DUER, a former classmate of Martin and a young man who never succeeded as hard or a good impulse, is now a rising young surgeon in the Rouncefield Clinic of Chicago.

DR. ALMUS R. PICKERBAUGH, a human billboard and formerly director of the health department of Nautilus, is now in Congress for that district.

DR. ADAM WINTER, of Leopolis, N. D., is a country practitioner and formerly a confrere of Martin's.

DR. ROUNCEFIELD, of Chicago is head of the Rouncefield Clinic and a well-known surgeon of diseases of the head and throat.

DR. MAX GOTTLIEB is one of the world's wonder-workers in bacteriology; he is at present connected with the McGurk Institute of Biology, a scientific research laboratory, in New York.

DR. HESSELINK of Groningen, N. D., was another confrere of Martin's during his prattling days in Wheatsylvania.

DR. GUSTAF SONDELIUS is a soldier of science who is famed not only as a physician but as a leader of men. An idol of Martin's.

As they rode up to Chicago Martin thought aloud:

"I never knew I could be so badly licked. I never want to see a laboratory or a public health office again. I'm done with everything but making money.

"I suppose this Rouncefield Clinic is probably nothing but a gilded boob-trap—scare the poor millionaire into having all the fancy kinds of examinations and treatments the traffic will bear. I hope it is! I expect to be a commercial-group doctor the rest of my life. I hope I have the sense to be!

"All wise men are bandits. They're loyal to their friends, but they despise the rest. Why not, when the mass of people despise them if they aren't bandits? Angus Duer had the sense to see this from the beginning, away back in medic school. He's probably a perfect technician as a surgeon, but he knows you get only what you grab. Think of the years it's taken me to learn what he savvied all the time!

"Know what I'll do? I'll stick to the Rouncefield Clinic till I'm making maybe thirty thousand a year, and then I'll get Ockford and start my own clinic, with myself as internist and head of the whole shooting-match, and collect every cent I own.

"All right, if what people want is a little healing and a lot of tapestry, they shall have it—and pay for it.

"I never thought I could be such a failure—to become a commercialist and not want to be anything else. And I don't want to be anything else, believe me! I'm through!"

Then for a year with each day longer than a sleepless night, yet the whole year speeding without events or seasons or eagerness, Martin was a faithful mechanic in that most competent, most clean and brisk and visionless medical factory, the Rouncefield Clinic. He had nothing of which to complain.

The clinic did, perhaps, give over-many roentgenological examinations to socially dislocated women who needed children and floor-scrubbing more than pretty little skiagraphs; they did, perhaps, view all tonsils with too sanguinary a gloom; but certainly no factory could have been better equipped or more gratifyingly expensive, and none could have routed its raw human material through so many processes so swiftly.

The Martin Arrowsmith who had been supercilious toward Pickerbaughs and old Dr. Winters had for Rouncefield and Angus Duer and the other keen taut specialists of the clinic only the respect of the poor and uncertain for the rich and shrewd.

He admired Angus's firmness of purpose and stability of habit.

Angus had a swim or a fencing lesson daily; he swam easily and fenced like a still-faced demon. H was in bed before 11:30; he never toook more than one drink a day; and he never read anything or said anything which would not contribute to his progress as a Brilliant Young Surgeon.

His underlings knew that Dr. Duer would not fail to arrive precisely on time, precisely well-dressed, absolutely sober, very cool, and appallingly unpleasant to any nurse who made a mistake or looked for a smile.

Martin would without fear have submitted to the gilded and ardent tonsil-snatcher of the clinic, would have submitted to Angus for abdominal surgery or to Rouncefield for any operation of the head or neck, providing he was himself quite sure the operation was necessary, but he was never able to rise to the clinic's lyric faith that any portions of the body without which people could conceivably get along should certainly be removed at once.

The real flaw in his year of Chicago was that through all his working day he did not live. With quick hands, and one-tenth of his brain, he made blood counts, did urinalyses and Wassermanns and infrequent necropsies, and all the while he was dead, in a white-tiled coffin.

Amid the blattings of Pickerbaugh and the peepings of Wheatsylvania, he had lived, had fought his environment. Now there was nothing to fight.

After hours, he almost lived. Leora and he discovered the world of book shops and print shops and theaters and concerts. They read novels and history and travel; they talked, at dinners given by Rouncefield or Angus, to journalists, engineers, bankers, merchants. They saw a Russian play, and heard Mischa Elman, and read Gottlieb's beloved Rabelais.

Martin learned to flirt without childishness, and Leora went for the first time to a hair-dresser and to a manicure, and began her lessons in French. She had called Martin a "He-hunter," a "truth-seeker." They decided now, talking it over in their tight little two-and-quarter-room flat, that most people who called themselves "truth-seekers"—persons who scurry about chattering of truth as though it were a tangible separable thing, like houses or salt or bread—did not so much desire to find truth as to cure their mental itch.

In novels, these truth-seekers quested the "secret of life" in laboratories which did not seem to be provided with Bunsen flames or reagents; or they went, at great expense and much discomfort, from hot trains and undesirable snakes, to Himalayan monasteries, to learn from unaseptic sages that the mind can do all sorts of edifying things if one will but spend thirty or forty years in eating rice and gazing on one's navel.

To these high matters Martin responded "rot!" He insisted that there is no truth but only many truths; that truth is not a colored bird to be chased among the rocks and captured by its tail, but a skeptical attitude toward life.

He insisted that no one could expect more than, by stubbornness or luck, to have the kind of work he enjoyed and an ability to become better acquainted with the facts of that work than the average jobholder.

His mechanistic philosophy did not persuade him that he was progressing adequately. When he tried to match himself with the experts of the clinic or with their professional friends, he was even more uncomfortable than he had been under the disconcerting scorn of Dr. Hesselink of Groningen.

At clinic luncheons he met surgeons from London, New York, Boston; men with limousines and social positions and the offensive briskness of the man who has numerous engagements, or the yet more offensive quietness of the person who is amused by his inferiors; master technicians, readers of papers at medical congresses, executives and controllers, unafraid to operate before a hundred peering doctors, or to give well-bred and exceedingly final orders to subordinates; captain-generals of medicine, never doubting themselves; great priests and healers; men mature and wise and careful and blandly cordial.

In their winged presences Max Gottlieb seemed an aged fusser, Gustaf Sondelius a mountebank and the city of Nautilus unworthy of passionate warfare. As their suave courtesy smothered him, Martin felt like a footman.

In long hours of increasing frankness and lucidity he discussed with Leora the question of "what is this Martin Arrowsmith and whither is he going?" and he admitted that the sight of the famous surgeons disturbed his ancient faith that he was somehow a superior person. It was Leora who consoled him:

"I've got a lovely description for your dratted famous surgeons. You know how polite and important they are and they smile so carefully? Well, don't you remember you once said that Prof. Gottlieb called all such people like that 'men of measured merriment?'"

He caught up the phrase; they sang it together; and they made of it a beating impish song:

"Men of measured merriment! Men of measured merriment! Damn the great executives, the men of measured merriment, damn the men with careful smiles, damn the men that run the shops, oh, damn their measured merriment, the men with measured merriment, oh damn their measured merriment, and damn their careful smiles!"

The next installment of this most absorbing novel—written by the author of "Main Street" and "Babbitt"—will appear in tomorrow's Times. Watch for it.

MEXICO TO ENUMERATE ALL ALIENS

Registration of Foreign-Born to be Completed by June 5, is Order

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MEXICO CITY, May 31.—At the Ministry of the Interior it is announced that the census of foreigners in Mexico must be completed by June 5, next.

This census is being taken for the purpose of knowing the number of individuals of every nationality at present in the country and their professions.

The order for the census was given to all Governors of States and these in turn passed it on to the Mayors of each town. Once all the data have been sent in, a general census will be completed in Mexico City.

The notice sent to aliens reads as follows:

"To all aliens resident in this municipality: In view of the fact that the Ministry of the Interior is making a census of all aliens who have immigrated to this country and who are at present resident here, all aliens are hereby given notice that they must present themselves within a period of fifteen days expiring on June 5, to the general secretary of this municipality, on the understanding that all aliens who do not comply with this order, will be subject to the penalties set forth by the laws of the country."

The data which all aliens must supply are: full name; nationality; sex, age, married or single, date of entry to the country, day, month and year and name of port or frontier point at which entry was made; profession and number of relatives. This information must be supplied for each and every member of the family of an alien, even though the wife and children may be Mexicans.

PRINCE PESSIMISTIC

German Duke Halts Castle Repairs, Fearing Confiscation Vote

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

BERLIN, May 31.—In the controversy surrounding the property of one-time rulers in Germany, former Duke Ernst August von Braunschweig, son-in-law of William Hohenzollern, apparently sees the handwriting on the wall. He has ordered contractors to halt extensive repairs to his castle in Blankenburg.

He is fearful that after having sunk money in furnishing the estate, the property will be taken from him by the passage of a law confiscating with indemnification former rulers' properties. The referendum on the question of the seizure of royal property will be held June 20, next.

Ernst August married Princess Victoria Louise, only daughter of former Emperor William, in 1913. They have five children.

Coroner Finds Evidence Pointing to Murder Near San Jose

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN JOSE, May 31.—Andrew Pashute, 22-year-old youth whose body was discovered in a grove of trees on the Buck ranch, four miles south of here yesterday afternoon, was murdered, in the opinion of a Coroner's jury who listened to evidence on the case this afternoon.

Dr. W. H. Heuschle, who conducted the autopsy, testified that death was caused by multiple fractures of the face and head, inflicted with a blunt instrument.

Deputy Sheriff William Condon said it appeared that a hasty effort had been made to cover the body with grass, that the undershirt, shirt and coat had been pulled over the head, leaving part of the body exposed. Condon was of the opinion Pashute was murdered and the body carried into the field for concealment.

DIES IN SALT LAKE JAIL

SALT LAKE CITY, May 31.—A man known as Martin Devine, 70 years of age, picked up by the police when acting queerly, died in the City Jail here. In his clothing was found a paper indicating that he had lived at 6400 Echo street, Los Angeles. The police have been unable to identify him or find any one here who knows him.

THE ALEXANDRIA FLORIST
HOTEL ALEXANDRIA
VA. 6101 FOR EXQUISITE FLORAL DESIGNS

If cities and towns would be warmer in winter and cooler in summer they should plant more trees. A tree maintains a temperature of 54 deg. all the year 'round, the botanist, Floyd Parsons, tells us. It cools the air on summer days and warms it in winter, and that is only one of the master secrets Nature has locked up in trees.

POLICE TO BEGIN McPHERSON QUIZ

[illegible] of Rumors Will be Officially Investigated

[illegible] Asked to Protect Evangelist's Son.

Holiday Crowds at Beach as Ocean Vigil Continues

The first official and exhaustive investigation into the circumstances surrounding the disappearance of Aimee Semple McPherson, who was reported drowned at the Venice beach May 18, but will be launched today, it was announced last night.

According to Captain of Detectives Cline, who will direct the investigation, the opening of the probe of the evangelist is not to be considered as meaning that the police department has abandoned the theory that the evangelist was murdered. On the other hand, he said, all of the eyewitness accounts of the disappearance of Mrs. McPherson will be supplied with the fact that her body has not been recovered to give rise to so many conflicting reports and rumors that he believes an investigation to determine the truth as early as possible the true course should be undertaken.

TO GO TO GRAND JURY

Captain Cline declared that if necessary written statements would be taken from the principals in the case and that should any discrepancies appear the matter will be taken to the grand jury.

Dr. Elmin Kennedy, mother of Mrs. McPherson, released for examination but "light" formal statements from two women who claim to have seen a woman in swimming near the spot where Mrs. McPherson was last seen, of hearing a cry and of learning later that the evangelist had been rescued drowned. The women who made the statements are Emily M. Shaw and Mrs. Ida Cummings. Copies of their statements will be printed in The Times tomorrow, and the text of their sworn statements appears elsewhere in this issue of the paper.

KIDNAPING OF SON FEARED

Fear that kidnapers might attempt to make away with Rolf McPherson, son of the evangelist, led to the secret removal of the boy to the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Stuart Pleasants of Winnetka, Cal., where the boy is staying, it was learned yesterday. According to Gov. Richardson, for whom it was learned yesterday, Mr. Pleasants, it was reported, hurried to Sacramento Monday to ask for protection for the child. She was informed by the Governor's secretary that the Governor could do nothing but refer the matter to the Yolo county authorities, where the Pleasants home is located. The Yolo county officials reported no appeal had come to them.

In the search for the body of Dr. Baldy, who disappeared while bathing, was being carried on today, experts at the beach declared there is still every possibility that the body will be recovered from the waters. They pointed to the fact that only recently a body was recovered that had been in the water for eighteen days and that one had been recovered after a period of time. Only rarely, they said, has there been a case in which a body at all.

The coast guard cutters steamed out in the Bay District, [illegible] the interest of the crowd, [illegible] being that the cut-

MATRON OF GIRLS' HOME DISAPPEARS

Officers and Rangers in Hills Hunting for Woman Missing on Hike

Police, deputy sheriffs and forest rangers last night searched for Mrs. Alma Holzschuh, superintendent of the El Retiro School for Delinquent Girls in the San Fernando Valley, reported missing in the hills behind the Olive View Sanatorium since noon yesterday.

Mrs. Holzschuh, according to the report of San Fernando police and Night Captain Harrod of the Sheriff's office, took a party of twelve girls for a hike in the hills yesterday morning. Accompanied by one of the girls, she went to look for a new trail, it was said.

The girl became tired and sat down to rest, the superintendent going on alone, it was related. She was not seen afterward, according to the girls, who returned and reported her missing.

Officials discredited early rumors that the superintendent had been tied up and left in the hills by her charges. They inclined to the belief she suffered some injury on her lonely climb and was unable to summon aid.

ORDINANCE ORDERED

The City Clerk has been instructed by the Council to prepare the final ordinance for the improvement of Plymouth Boulevard between Ninth street and Country Club Drive.

TRAINMAN INJURED IN LIFE LEAP

Passengers Unhurt When San Pedro-Bound Engine Jumps Off Tracks

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, May 31.—The locomotive of Union Pacific passenger train No. 45, Los Angeles for San Pedro, jumped the rails at the Orange-avenue crossing north of Signal Hill at 2:50 p.m. today. Engineer E. R. Bailey, 1615 Pennsylvania avenue, Los Angeles, suffered injury to his left foot and bruises on the head and face when he jumped, it was reported.

Fireman Jerome Hone, 833 North Braddock street, Los Angeles; Conductor Edward Carson, also of Los Angeles, and eight passengers escaped injury.

The train, which was due here at 3:15 p.m., was composed of a locomotive, combination baggage and smoking car, and a passenger coach. The wreck was blamed on dirt from the road covering the tracks.

The engine left the rails and bumped along over the ties for nearly 200 feet, ripping up the roadbed. The baggage car and smoker also went off the track, the passenger coach at the rear remaining on the rails.

The engine tipped over, being kept from falling on its side by leaning up against a high bank. The engineer was attended at the scene of the wreck by Police Surgeon Rogers.

NEW STATE DISTRICTING BILL READY

Measure to be Submitted to Reapportionment Group for Approval Today

The campaign for the legislative reapportionment of the State on lines dovetailing more closely with population moved forward another step yesterday with the announcement that the new reapportionment bill had been completed and will be presented for approval to the All-Parties Reapportionment Committee at a meeting at the Alexandria this noon.

The bill was drafted by the legal committee of the general body after a great amount of work. William H. Anderson, as chairman of the legal committee, will submit the bill to the general body and discuss its various provisions and phases.

W. Fleet Palmer, Dana Weller and Ralph Arnold also will speak. They are members of the legal committee and aided in drafting the measure which is to be introduced before the next session of the Legislature.

Dr. George F. Bovard, chairman of the general committee, will preside at the meeting today. Should the bill be approved as drafted by the general committee, it will be forwarded to the Attorney-General at once for an opinion. Petitions will then be circulated.

TAPS FOR HEROIC DEAD SOUNDED AGAIN AS CITY BOWS IN HONOR

Garlands Heaped on Graves and Dropped on Sea Amid Tramp of Feet and Roar of Salutes; Throngs at Coliseum Services

Taps sounded again yesterday for the nation's heroic dead as a grateful city bowed its head in mingled pride and sorrow and recalled afresh the deeds and sacrifices of the fallen defenders in all wars. In the city's burial grounds hushed throngs moved during the day to leave garlands heaped on the hallowed graves. Over the sea, airplanes droned and sped, dropping blooms on the waters in memory of those who found their graves in the sea in the defense of the nation.

The tramp of soldier feet again was heard as thousands of comrades of those who made the supreme sacrifice joined in splendid tribute at the Coliseum to those whom they had known in life as brothers in arms.

Thousands massed in the Coliseum to pay homage to the dead. It was here that the observance of Memorial Day came to its solemn and fitting climax in the city.

Outside the city, in all neighboring communities, memorial services also were conducted during the day and wreaths placed on the graves of the dead by loving hands.

SALUTES BY NAVY

At San Pedro the Navy saluted its heroic dead in immemorial fashion. Twenty-one gun salutes from the ten dreadnaughts in port roared in memory of the nation's sea fighters, and man o' war row took on the semblance of a naval action at noon as the one-pounders of the entire squadron began firing the national salute.

Shore observance of the day by the fleet was given over to the U.S.S. Tennessee, with services at Harbor View Cemetery, San Pedro. One hundred and fifty men from the Tennessee paraded through the port business section to the cemetery, where three volleys were fired and taps blown for the nineteen navy dead buried there. Fort MacArthur's garrison of the Third Coast Artillery paraded in the morning in the exercises at Long Beach. The national salute was fired at the fort at noon.

A straggling line of grizzled warriors, their ranks pitifully thinned by death, entered the Coliseum to start the services there yesterday afternoon. They entered with colors flying, to the throb of martial music, the remnant here of those who were the golden hatcord of the rebellion.

LINE OF MARCH

They were escorted by the Sons of Veterans and unit by unit were followed by the One Hundred and Sixtieth Infantry, Naval Reserves, high school units of the R.O.T.C., Spanish War veterans, National Indian War Veterans, Veterans of Foreign Wars, disabled veterans of foreign wars, allied veterans, United Veterans of the Republic, American Legion posts and unattached veterans, firemen, police, Boy Scouts and military schools and women's auxiliaries. Each division was preceded by its own band and colors.

In the line of march were many of the men permanently disabled in the defense of their nation. California Hut Post, composed solely of men disabled in action, was represented by fifty-seven members, many of them hobbling in step on crutches.

The invocation was pronounced by Chaplain S. H. Enyeart, a veteran of the Civil War. In a stirring prayer, he prayed for the dead and invoked divine assistance in the termination of further warfare.

LOGAN'S ORDER READ

The escort to colors, performed by the One Hundred and Sixtieth Infantry, Col. Walter P. Story, followed, the entire regiment taking part in the impressive ceremony.

Gen. Logan's order, setting aside the 30th inst. as Memorial Day, was read by Wales Hobson, cadet captain of the R.O.T.C. unit at Jefferson High School. Lincoln's undying address at Gettysburg was

Corliss Palmer Metro Pact Rouses Theater Owners

Publisher's Plan to Favor Studio Under Protest

Film Showhouse Delegates Convene This Afternoon

(Illustrations on Page 12, Part III)

First sensations of the convention of the Motion Picture Theater Owners of America came yesterday when R. F. Woodhull, president of the organization, announced his intention of investigating, and of bringing before the convention, if verified, the report that Eugene V. Brewster, fan magazine publisher, ordered his editors to favor Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer in publicity because this company is said to have given a contract to Corliss Palmer, Mr. Brewster's sweetheart.

Mr. Woodhull's interests are more toward seeing that Miss Palmer is not given screen prominence than toward any action of Brewster's, he indicated.

His statement is as follows: "If the published report is true that Eugene Brewster instructed his editors to show favoritism to Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer because the company gave Miss Palmer a contract, I believe that the theater owners of America should take action to discourage the featuring of Miss Palmer or any other person in films who has been brought before the public eye through notoriety rather than by legitimate publicity.

"Furthermore, if investigation proves the report to be true, I intend to bring the matter before this convention."

Woodhull's statement is the first gun to be fired in what many predict will be a lively convention of the theater owners. It is generally conceded that the question of uniform contract will be an issue at the convention, and this undoubtedly will lead to bitter argument.

According to objecting theater owners, it is unfair for producing companies to add "clauses to the uniform contract providing that they can release so many pictures each year as road shows rather than part of their regular program which goes to subscribers.

Woodhull declared yesterday that this is the first convention of the M.P.T.O.A. when the organization was entirely free of debt.

The first business session is not until this afternoon. Mayor Cryer will welcome the delegates following which President Woodhull, J. M. Seider, business manager, and others will read their annual reports. It is not believed that any questions will be brought up for discussion at this meeting.

This morning delegates will be given their first opportunity to visit the motion-picture studios, when they will be taken by busses to the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, Cecil B. De Mille and Hal Roach studios in Culver City.

Before the business session in the afternoon the El Patio Ballroom Orchestra will provide the daily concert on the Ambassador lawn. Harry Carey's Indians will give a medicine dance after the session.

Lewis Stone, Lloyd Hughes and Anna Q. Nilsson will be the first of the stars to appear before the theater owners. They take their bows this afternoon.

Yesterday was spent in the reg-

CHAMBER WEEK ON TODAY

Scouts to Aid in Opening of Campaign to Sell "Los Angeles Preferred"

At 8:30 o'clock this morning, President Arthur Bent and other officials of the Chamber of Commerce will stand at attention while Boy Scouts of Troop 52 sound colors and swing to the winds the national flag and at that moment there will be inaugurated Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce week.

It means seven days in which "Los Angeles Preferred" is to be the major local issue. Sponsored by business men, guaranteed by bankers, with preferential daily dividends, Los Angeles is to be "sold to Los Angeles."

"INDUSTRY DAY"

Today is designated as "Industry and Commerce day." In the new Chamber of Conmerce restaurant, utilized for the first time, 650 prominent guests will reveal facts about the industrial wealth, resources and probable future of the city that are believed to have a great weight in verifying the slogan for the "week;" "Know your city—Show your city."

Each day of the week has a special celebration, tomorrow being "Utilities and Transportation day." Many thousands of out-of-town guests have scheduled their plans to be in Los Angeles from tomorrow and over next Sunday. Visitors will be here particularly, for "Southern California day," next Friday, and Saturday, "Harbor tour day."

Arrangements for the luncheon at the chamber today are in charge of F. L. S. Harman, and will involve matters of statistical information about the business conditions in Los Angeles relative to similar conditions elsewhere, and the relationship of local prosperity to the activities of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce.

PLANES WILL AID

Overhead, beginning today, will be a number of airplanes with banners sloganizing the "week." Facts about the city and about the work of the Chamber of Commerce will stand out from billboards, window show cards, and in advertising columns of the daily newspapers.

The Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce has for thirty-eight years, devoted itself to aiding in the celebration of other "weeks," and is now giving itself a long-reserved tribute, to be climaxed by "Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce day," in conjunction with the Junior Chamber of Commerce, next Monday.

President Bent has appointed a special committee that has arranged the celebrations of the week, of which H. B. Wright is chairman. Group celebrations have also been arranged by banks, department stores, insurance men, and many other affiliated lines of business and commerce.

Deputies Renew Search for Two Hold-up Gangs

Deputy sheriffs yesterday renewed their search for three bandits who held up and robbed John G. Corbett, 950 Osage street, Inglewood of his new car and $22 on Ballona Road near Hawthorne, Saturday night.

Deputies Gordon and Steffar are also trying to trace a bandit who on Saturday night held up W. B. Sears, operator, and W. H. Secor, assistant, of a Pan-American refilling station at Gramercy and Washington streets, obtaining a money sack, containing $46, $3 in the cash register and a script book for gasoline.

The Lancer

by Harry Carr

HERE is a new angle on putting folks in jail for speeding:

For various reasons it is not possible to give the name of the author of this letter.

But he is somebody worth listening to:

THE VALUE OF SPEED

"My own thought as to the matter (of traffic laws and violations) is simply this:

"Rapid transportation has such a high economic value that attempts to suppress it by penal legislation never will be successful. Such a course is like trying to alter the laws of nature by legislation.

"Galileo was forbidden to make telescopes. Others tried to legislate the earth flat.

"I think the same thing prevails as to motor transportation.

SPEEDWAYS

"The only solution, in my opinion, is motor speedways, which are expensive, but nevertheless essential; and will come as soon as enough evils have arisen to arouse the public to the condition which prevails.

"I really believe the act of Judge Chambers was more in the nature of a protest against the vicious and evil system of letting the influential escape while the common, uninfluential persons are punished. A petty fine to some persons is no regulation at all."

COURTS ARE SLIPPING

The writer goes on to express discouragement over the slipping power of the courts.

"It must be exasperating to a judge, when, after long and careful hearings, a person is found guilty and sentenced to a term which the court believes is richly deserved, only to see the person gayly chatting with some one on the street next day. It happens all the time.

"The courts are fast slipping.

JUDGES GROW CYNICAL

"I don't believe any judge expects a man to stay in jail after he sentences him—if the man has any influence.

"I have even heard court attaches, after a case was over, bet among themselves whether or not a man would serve the term. Whether influence would get him out.

"I say it seriously—with the parole board apparently a law unto itself and a violator of its own laws—doing things out of keeping with its own rules—the courts have ceased to be courts, and are now nothing but institutions of preliminary hearing and recommendation."

TOO INCONSISTENT

All of which is doubtless true.

On the other hand, I must say that the courts weaken their own position by spasmodic severity.

If the penalty for speeding is a term in jail—well and good. But it does not strengthen respect for the courts to have the traffic laws savagely severe in the month of May—airily indifferent in June, and complacently ignored in January.

No motorist, until he feverishly seizes the morning paper, knows what the "pains and penalties" of the law are—for that day.

STREET PROTEST DENIED

NEW CONTEST RECORD LOOMS

Mark Set by Competitors in Boston Threatened

Thousand More Replies Will Topple Figure

Worth-while Prizes Offered for Little Effort

If only 1000 Times readers will write four advertisements each today for The Times-Zain $10,000 Ad-Writing Contest—and get them in to The Times office by 6 p.m. tonight—Times readers will have broken the world's record for any one week in a similar contest.

Last Wednesday morning we announced that for the ensuing week we wanted contestants to break the record set in a similar contest by readers of the Boston Post some time ago. That record embraced the receipt of 30,000 advertisements in a single week. More than 29,000 have been received by The Times since that appeal was published. Another thousand—and—

WORTH-WHILE PRIZES

For this week, too, unusual opportunities have been extended for the transcribing of your thoughts. There is a first prize of a $100 order on the George D. Davidson Company, jewelers at 645 South Hill street; this for the best advertisement of all those written and submitted during the week. And there is a second prize of $50 cash for the next-best advertisement. And, in addition, there are 200 other prizes, five for the best five advertisements written around each of the forty firms who are co-operating with The Times in the competition.

The judging of the entries submitted up until tonight will occupy the balance of the week—and the awards, as usual, will be printed in next Sunday's Times.

There are a few Times readers who have not yet entered the competition, we know. We'd like them to begin. And so we are again printing the list of rules and the names of the firms about whom you are to write elsewhere in this paper.

NO LIMIT TO ENTRIES

You will note from reading the rules that they are the most simple and the most liberal of any contest which The Times has ever offered the public. No one is barred save professional ad-writers and newspaper men. You can write one or as many ads as you want to and you can write them every day or thrice a day. There is no limitation on the amount of entries you may turn in—and every one of them is eligible for a prize.

So if you already haven't enjoyed a little exercise of your brain power—today is a good time to begin. Just send the entries to the Ad-Writing Contest, care The Times—and if you have any questions about the rules or anything else, write the Contest Editor.

Remember—tonight at 6 p.m. is the closing time for this week. All advertisements received later must be carried on until the next week's judging.

And who knows—your advertisement may win the grand prize of $500 cash to be awarded for the best advertisement of all those written during the entire ten weeks' period of the competition! Isn't that worth a little effort?

GOODCELL TO OUTLINE ISSUES BEFORE CLUB

Several hundred members of the City Club tomorrow will hear a discussion of State campaign issues by Rex B. Goodcell, candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor, at the organization's clubrooms on Spring street. He will be the first of the gubernatorial candidates to appear before this organization. Tomorrow evening former Judge Goodcell will preside as toastmaster at a large gathering of Knights of Pythias at the hall at 2705 North Broadway. At the recent grand lodge meeting of the Knights of Pythias at Santa Barbara, Mr. Goodcell was elected a member of the grand tribune.

Los Angeles Times-Zain $10,000 Ad-Writing Contest

(Copyright, 1926, Z. A. S.)

Five prizes will be given each week for the best ads written for each concern listed below. Winners announced each Sunday. Contest lasts eight weeks, closing June 22.

In addition to above, a $50 prize will be awarded weekly for the best ad of all submitted each week.

SPECIAL PRIZE THIS WEEK, $100 MERCHANDISE ORDER

In addition to the regular prizes, there will be a $100 merchandise order on George D. Davidson Company, Jewelers, for the week beginning May 26 and ending at 6 p.m. Tuesday June 1, making a total of 201 prizes to be given for this week's contest.

A grand prize of $500 cash will be paid for the best ad of all ads submitted during the campaign.

Each week's contest will close at 6 p.m. each Tuesday and ads arriving too late will be automatically entered in the following week's contest.

Ads submitted for the grand prize must be received prior to 6 p.m., June 22, 1926.

Everyone may compete except professional advertising writers and newspaper employees. A person may win more than one prize. The contest may be entered at any time. You may write about any one or all of the concerns or products listed and submit as many ads as you wish. An ad may consist of a word, phrase, slogan, poem, letter, essay or regular advertisement.

Each ad must be written on a separate piece of paper, at least postcard size. Any number may be inclosed in the same envelope. Put name of advertiser on top of the ad, and your name and address on the back. Ads will be judged by a committee of Los Angeles advertising men and women. Illustrations, layouts, etc., do not count; all ads judged strictly according to the advertising merit of the idea expressed. All ads sent in become the property of the advertiser, to be used as he sees fit. No advertisements returned.

In the event of a tie the prize will be awarded to each winner.

Mail ads to Ad-Writing Contest, Los Angeles Times, Los Angeles, Cal., or deposit them in special box in lobby of Times Building, Broadway and First street.

FEAR FELT FOR M'PHERSON BOY

tars were aiding in the search for the body.

LARGE CROWD AT BEACH

The crowd at the beach was larger yesterday than at any time since the evangelist first was reported missing. While the great majority of them were down for a holiday, the possibility that Mrs. McPherson's body might be recovered was not lost sight of by many of them. There were any number of amateur divers who contributed their bit to the search.

Owing to the holiday, the professional divers did no work. R. C. Crawford, the deep-sea diver, will resume his exploration of the waters under Lick pier this morning. R. D. Hunt, an athlete, explored under the pier during low tide. At the end of his search today it was announced that it has been definitely established that there is no body under the pier as far out as the last five rows of pilings. Crawford's work this morning is expected to determine whether or not the body is lodged under this last portion of the pier.

It was announced last night that Hunt, at the request of Mrs. Kennedy, will dive off a fishing barge some distance off the Venice shore this morning in an effort to locate the body. Mrs. Kennedy, it was reported, had been informed that the body of a boy who was drowned was caught under the barge and remained there for four days before it came to the surface.

MRS. KENNEDY AT BEACH

Mrs. Kennedy visited headquarters for Angelus Temple at the beach yesterday and spurred the patrol workers on to greater efforts by encouraging them and expressing the thanks of herself and the congregation at large. About 100 members of the congregation have been on the patrol work day and night. Mrs. Kennedy denied earlier reports that the patrol work would be abandoned shortly. Mrs. Blanche O. Rice, who has had charge of the beach headquarters, said the patrol will be maintained for days to come unless the body is found.

Statements emanating from Angelus Temple last week to the effect that Miss Emma Schaffer, secretary to Mrs. McPherson, experienced some difficulty in obtaining a quick response to her appeals for help when she found her employer missing elicited a reply from Manager Quinn of the Ocean Park plunge yesterday.

IDENTITY NOT REVEALED

Quinn was among the first persons to whom Miss Schaffer announced that Mrs. McPherson was missing. It was about 3:15 p.m., he said, when Miss Schaffer came to his place of business and told him a friend of hers had been in swimming for about an hour and was missing, she thought, in the crowd. She did not express her fears that her friend might be drowned, nor did she reveal the identity of her friend. She returned in about an hour, Quinn said, and only then appealed for help, expressing the belief her friend, whose identity she revealed, had been drowned. Quinn said he got his life guards out immediately, called the police and otherwise organized a search on land and water.

Mrs. Kennedy said no criticism of any individual or organization in life-guard work had been intended and expressed regret her remarks had been so construed. Criticism, she observed, will not bring her daughter back.

HEARD NO OUTCRY

George Richards of the Red Cross, who was conducting a life-saving class on the beach close to the spot where Mrs. McPherson was swimming, was quoted by Quinn as saying no struggle was observed in the water, no outcry was heard and no alarm was sounded. It was not learned whether or not Richards or his pupils saw Mrs. McPherson in the water at any time.

Investigators were still anxious yesterday to locate Kenneth G. Ormiston, former radio operator at the Temple, for questioning on several recently discovered clews. They lost track of him after he left Salinas, apparently southbound. He admitted when he was in Los Angeles that his wife was considering filing divorce proceedings against him and that she had threatened to cite his friendship with Mrs. McPherson. He denied emphatically that he had ever received any gifts from the evangelist and insisted that his dealings with Mrs. McPherson were strictly those of employer and employee. Mrs. Ormiston is understood to be in Australia with her father.

SAW EVANGELIST IN SURF

Witnesses to Last Fateful Swim of Mrs. McPherson Describe Incident in Sworn Statement

Following is the full text of two formal statements given out by Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, mother of Aimee Semple McPherson, describing what two women heard and saw at the beach the afternoon the evangelist disappeared:

MRS. CUMMINGS'S STATEMENT

Statement of Mrs. Ida Cummings, of Los Angeles:

I, MRS. IDA CUMMINGS, do hereby make the following statement of that which I observed on the beach at Ocean Park on the afternoon of May 18, 1926, and do affirm that it is a true statement of facts.

"Mrs. Finley and I went down to the beach to spend the day. We went to the Ocean Park Pier (known I believe as the Lick Pier,) where we sat from 12:30 to about 4 o'clock p.m. We were sitting on a bench in front of the Bon Ton Dancehall.

"There were not many people in swimming and they seemed to be practically all young people and children who were just paddling and playing around in the water near the shore.

"One swimmer attracted my attention. When I first observed this swimmer she was floating on her back, idly paddling with her hands. She turned over in the water and struck out beyond the breakers. I watched her for a few moments and then remarked,

STRONG SWIMMER

"'That person understands her business all right. Just see her swim!'

"She swam toward the end of the pier. She looked up in our direction twice.

"I do not believe there were any other people on the pier except ourselves, though there were several down on the beach. As we sat there watching the ocean and talking we heard a little scream—not very loud—and we looked around but did not see anything so were not alarmed.

"Mrs. Finley glanced toward the beach and said:

"'Why, there is Miss Schaffer. She is hurrying!'

'I do not know Miss Schaffer, but the woman Mrs. Finely pointed out to me was hurrying across the beach. Afterward there was a life guard came up the pier with a man in citizen's clothing beside him. They walked quickly, but not in an excited or alarmed manner, to the end of the pier. Shortly we started and walked to Venice, returning about 7 o'clock.

HEAR OF DROWNING

"We were riding on a tram when the driver remarked:

"'I suppose Sister McPherson is no more.'

"That was the first intimation we had that anyone had been drowned. It had not entered our mind that the swimmer we saw was Sister McPherson. We had watched her with interest for a short time because she seemed to be so absolutely fearless of the water and as much at home there as though she were walking on land.

"Quickly we went to the Hotel. Mrs. Finley tried to telephone Angelus Temple, but the lines were busy. We went down and took the car for Los Angeles."

I do hereby declare that the above statement is a true statement of the events which occurred on the beach on May 18, 1926, as observed by myself.

[Signed] IDA CUMMINGS.

MRS. KENNEDY'S STATEMENT

Statement of Mrs. Emily M. Finley of 1439 1-2 Le Moyne street, Los Angeles.

"I, Emily M. Finley, do hereby declare that the following is a true statement of facts in the incident at Ocean Park Beach as observed by me on the afternoon of May 18, 1926.

"I sat on the seat in front of the Bon Ton Ballroom at 12:30 with Mrs. Cummings. We sat there until 4:15 p.m., having come to the beach to spend the day.

"At about 3:30 p.m. a lady swimmer came out from the beach. I should say that she was sixty-five or seventy feet from the pier. There was a large wave and then a smooth place that seemed almost a block long between me and the shore. The swimmer went up over the bank of water and swam on her back. She was a beautiful swimmer. Then she turned over on her face and swam outward. She looked up toward the pier once or twice and went on out, happy as could be, apparently. The last I saw of her she must have been one hundred feet from the buoy and seventy feet from the pier. Her little brown head was still bobbing up and down and I saw the water splash where she was.

"That was the last time I saw her. We sat there and finally we heard a little scream. I would not say that it was a distress scream. It was more like the quick little scream of a small child. I looked at the water and at the beach but did not see anything at all alarming. I did not look at the swimmer.

"Then I happened to look on the shore and I said,

"'Oh, there is Miss Schaffer.'

"'I do not know Miss Schaffer,' my companion replied.

"'I do,' I said. 'Sister must be down here.'

"Then in a short time a life guard came out with a man dressed in gray. I remember that I remarked that the guardsman was such a fine type of humanity. He looked down into the water, but not in an alarmed or excited manner. We still sat there for a little while and then went on to Venice.

"We returned from Venice about 7 o'clock and the conductor on the train said,

"'Mrs. McPherson is no more.'

"What?" I exclaimed.

"I leaped off the little car and onto the walk and said to the lady with me, 'Get off.'

"We got off and I went to some people standing near the hotel and to the desk inside, and upon inquiry learned that Sister McPherson had been seen entering the water in a bathing suit and had failed to return.

"I stayed out there until 9:30 and then went up and told Mother Kennedy, before a crowd of people, what I saw."

"I, Mrs. Emily M. Finley, do heheby declare that the above is a true statement of the incident on the Ocean Park Beach on Tuesday afternoon, May 18, 1926.

[Signed] EMILY M. FINLEY."

THE PACIFIC MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY ANNOUNCES

THE COCHRAN VICENNIAL

June 1st to June 20th, 1926

TWENTY YEARS ago George I. Cochran became President of this company and brought its home offices to Los Angeles. At that time there were only 55,083 life policies in effect, assets were a little over 12 million dollars, surplus exclusive of capital was $506,002 and volume of insurance in force only 91 million dollars.

Compare those figures with today's — 219,635 life policies, 104 million dollars assets, $8,914,398 surplus and 586 million dollars of insurance in force.

These figures give but the auditor's vision of the progress made during this score of years. The real achievements, however, are written large in terms of the development of our community which this institution has served and in which it has been a source of strength.

It has been said, an institution is the lengthened shadow of one man, and the progress of this company is well attributed to the man who has guided the destiny of this institution for two decades — George I. Cochran.

As a tribute to his far-sighted vision, his untiring energy and his accomplishments during the twenty years he has served as President, the field force of the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company announces the Cochran Vicennial celebration.

This marks the twentieth year enjoyed by this company in the community of which it has become such a vital part.

As a fitting token of appreciation to President Cochran and to celebrate the twentieth anniversary of this company in Los Angeles, this organization has set aside the first twenty days of June in which to write twenty millions of business, celebrating the twenty years. Twenty millions — twenty years — twenty days — this is the goal.

SALON TO NOR CADMAN

Schedules Week of Brilliant Music

String Quartet to Play Thursday

Band Also Has Place on Program

BY PAUL SHEEDY

With the resumption of broadcasting from the tower studio of The Times, another week of radio entertainment is to begin for the patrons of KHJ, with an outstanding event in classical music circles Thursday evening when the station will present a program in honor of Charles Wakefield Cadman, internationally known for his beautiful contributions to the world's musical library. The famed Zoellner String Quartet, playing their usual weekly concert that evening, will devote their program of selections to the honor of Mr. Cadman, with the same being sung by George Gramlich, possessor of a splendid tenor voice; Grace Nemer Morris, soprano, known to all music lovers; James Stanley, featured baritone soloist; Mona Andrews, whose mezzo-soprano voice have been hailed with unstinted praise; Edward Ulrich, remarkable 9-year-old violinist, and Lee Bonnar, the boy monologist, who has played an entertaining part in numerous tower programs.

MUSICIANS TO PLAY

While this salon will be the high spot of the week's schedule, many other exceptional radio features are in store for the ensuing six days. Tonight Frederick MacMurray, viola soloist, gives his weekly recital. The remainder portion of the evening will be by the Silver String Quintet and the Stewart-Warner instrumental trio, with Madeline Morse, whistler; Mona Content, concert pianist, and James Anderson, basso, as soloists. After the main concert, Radioland will hear an hour of dance music by the splendid Times Players Orchestra of Barker Brothers.

Tomorrow night Jose Arias and his group of Mexican entertainers will reign at the studio, with Rafael Villa, tenor; Mona Content, concert pianist, and other artists. L. E. Collett, safety superintendent of the Santa Fe Railroad, is to speak briefly during the evening on "Grade Crossing." Glenn Edwards and his Collegians' Orchestra are to give an hour of dance music from 10 to 11 p.m.

BAND TO PERFORM

With Thursday night devoted to Mr. Cadman, Friday evening will bring forth the Huntington Park Union High School band, composed entirely of students of that school; William MacDougall, Scotch comedian; Rose Currey, harpist; Arthur Hyde Wake, speaking on his "Home" series and Arnold Stats, Ozmun's Super-Six Orchestra will give the dance music from 10 to 11 p.m.

Saturday evening will present Ramon Inchaurs in guitar and vocal duets; James Anderson, basso; Kenneth Murray, contralto; Mona Content, concert pianist, and others. Next Sunday's main program will have a number of featured artists, with the Orpheus Four male quartet; Gretchen Finkler, mezzo-soprano, and others.

HELP PLEA PROVES TO BE CANARD

Victim Gives Expression to Views on Suitor Who Didn't Suit 'er

Two boys exloring Las Flores Canyon late yesterday came upon a scrap of paper fast on the end of a stick. They got a real thrill when they read:

"I am being held captive at 317 North Figueroa street, Apartment 109. Please save me quick before it's too late. I am praying to God some one will find this."

The boys found County Motorcycle Officers Cope and Watkins and turned the note over to them, and they relayed it to Deputy Sheriff Powell in the office here. Powell dispatched Deputies Daniels and Kalthoff to the address.

The deputies found Eva Stokley, a waitress, who, without restraint, at once told what she thought of one J. W. Burguignon, who, she said, is an unwelcome suitor from whom her kind landlady was trying to shield her.

BELL CHURCHES UNITE IN REVIVAL SERVICE

All churches of Bell are co-operating in a revival being conducted in a tent next to the Presbyterian Church. The meeting started Sunday night. Tonight Billy Black and his wife, who have participated in Angelus Temple radio programs, will sing at the meeting. The revival is being conducted by Evangelist R. L. Erickson and will continue for four weeks.

DOG GIVES OWNER LIE AT HEARING

Woman Assessed Fine on Howls of Pet in Gruelty to Animals Trial

When Pauline Ferrora was called before Municipal Judge Scott for trial on a charge of cruelty to animals an unexpected witness was called to testify against her.

Officer J. H. Karr stated Mrs. Ferrora owned a dog, Jack. He said she beat and starved the creature and that complaints led to her arrest.

Mrs. Ferrora denied it. She said the dog was fat and happy.

"I'll prove it isn't, Your Honor," said the officer, and he led the dog into the courtroom.

Jack entered the court, put his feet on the counsel table and, looking at the judge, gave several pitiful howls.

"There is an old legal rule of res ipsa loquitur, meaning that things may speak for themselves in certain cases. I think that rule will apply, and I shall find the defendant guilty," stated Judge Scott.

He fined the woman $50 or five days.

LINCOLN HIGH SCHOOL HOMECOMNIG FRIDAY

Friday promises to be a gala day at Lincoln High School as the Alumni Association will hold its annual homecoming day on that date. Arrangements are now being completed. The association numbers 2500. A feature of the entertainment will be the dance in the new gymnasium.

Philadelphia to Give Revue for Local Ad Club

A midnight cabaret show in honor of the Advertising Club of Los Angeles will be given on the roof-garden of a Philadelphia hotel during the convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World in Philadelphia, June 19-24.

Karl Bloomingdale, chairman of the convention entertainment committee, has notified Irving R. Smith, president of the Advertising Club of Los Angeles, that the Philadelphia Poor Richard Club has voted to set aside the cabaret entertainment on June 22 exclusively for members of the Advertising Club of Los Angeles.

The cabaret entertainment will be fashioned after the London music-hall gayety.

Harold J. Stonier is chairman of the "On-to-Philadelphia" committee of the Advertising Club of Los Angeles.

NEW BEACH CLUB TO HOLD INSPECTIONS

With the concourse of the Gables Beach Club completed this week, inspection by members and friends will be conducted from the 10th to the 13th inst. The formal opening will be celebrated on the nights of the 14th to 17th inst. J. Ward Cohen is arranging a program in celebration of the opening. Furniture and equipment will be installed shortly. The structure cost approximately $200,000. Construction of the main building of the club will be started in the fall.

MUST BE A MISTAKE
None of these Arctic commuters have yet said anything about seeing Dr. Cook's initials carved on the pole.

NATURALLY
Flower bulbs worth $100 apiece now are being raised in Southern California. Doesn't that beat the Dutch?

COMING EVENTS, ETC
"Ma" Ferguson received a lot of tinware as a gift the other day. A gentle reminder, perhaps, of what she soon may have tied to her by the voters.

THE FIRST FLIGHT
The postage on the first air-mail flight between Dallas and Chicago aggregated more than $5000. If that could be kept up there would be no question about a profit in the flying mail.

CHAMPION FOR WILLINGNESS
Georges Carpentier has just fought again and wants to fight his way back to the light-heavyweight championship. The world can't help admiring Carpentier's willingness to fight—in either time of war or time of peace.

OIL AND ITALY
The Italian government sponsors a company to which the Italians as individuals are supplying a capital of $2,500,000. This corporation will do all the oil-prospecting in Italy and will not barter with foreigners. If there is any petroleum they propose to keep the profits at Rome.

VALUE OF TREES
There are more trees in London and Paris than in most of the cities of America. They have had their greenery longer in Europe and appreciate it the more. Trees are not to be bought on contract or hastily thrown up by profiteers. It takes an amiable Providence and many years to produce one.

THIS FREEDOM
There are fifty or sixty movie theaters in Moscow and they use many American films. But not until they have been slashed to pieces. If they be made over into propaganda for the Commune they are all right, but otherwise Hollywood would never be able to identify them. The plot is lost forever. That is what they call freedom of speech and press.

THE BIGGEST EVER
If Theodore Valenzuela, who died at a hospital in this city the other day, really weighed 980 pounds, which was said to be his mark at the time of his passing, he was the heaviest human being of which there is any reckoning. There have been several 700 and 800-pounders in the flight of time, but for an ordinary mortal to crack the scales for nearly half a ton is to achieve a world record. When it comes to listing the world's great men here was the greatest of them all—on the hay scales.

CONCAVE STREETS
According to present plans Chicago will hereafter improve its streets on different lines. Instead of having a slightly convex roadway with a gutter on each side the pavement will be concave, with a single gutter in the center. It is figured that it is easier to keep both the streets and sidewalks clean and that the middle of the highway should be the natural drainage. It is more sanitary for the pedestrians as well as the stores. The concave roadway will be all right for through boulevards and may ultimately come into general use.

CROSSING THE CHANNEL
After the Arctic adventurers get through their program the scene will shift to the English Channel, where eighteen men and women of various lands are training for the passage. They are going to swim that turbulent twenty miles of sea if they get chilblains in the doing. It is significant that of this impressive horde of contestants eleven are women. The ladies are getting to be in the majority—even in our athletics. Some bathing beauty is going to make that crossing, even if she loses her Sunday garters. No woman has yet made the passage, but they expect to do it this year—not once but twice.

CRACKING NUTS
Everybody has a nut to crack; otherwise life wouldn't be worth the labor of living. Dr. Millikan's nut is the atom. Whether or not he will find the great secret of matter and energy inside, he doesn't quite know. No one knows. That's why nut cracking is so interesting. From President Coolidge down everybody must crack nuts. Whether you are successfully engaged or not depends upon the kind of nuts you are cracking. There are all kinds of nuts. If you can find a hole in yours throw it away and take up another. The first thing to do is to look for the hole. Then make sure the nut is of a kind worth cracking.

EUROPE IN AFRICA
Abd-el-Krim played a desperate game for high stakes against overwhelming odds and lost. The fighting Riff has at last confessed the folly of matching bands of loosely confederated tribesmen against the scientifically organized power of France. The French and Spanish nippers have closed on their victim and the latest African debacle is over.

Against Spain alone Abd-el-Krim might have pressed the conflict to a less-decisive issue. But when a year ago he rashly launched a drive against the capital of the Sultan of Morocco and so brought France into the field of action he allowed his zeal to outrun his discretion. Paris could not permit its puppet at Fez to be threatened by a native pretender. The weight of French gold and guns was thrown into the scales and Krim's allies scurried for shelter.

Africa is a vast continent in which the Atlas hinterland is but a small spot. Yet the lesson taught by the hopeless efforts of so brave a man as Abd-el-Krim to hold the Riffian hills against two European intruders is not without its significance. The surrender of Fez may mark the last struggle in a losing fight to preserve Africa for the Africans.

With two small exceptions the Dark Continent is already practically under the control of European nations. The little negro republic of Liberia, by grace of sentiment in the United States, is secure and unlikely ever to become the target of European ambitions. Abyssinia, through its conclusive victory over Italy at Adowa in 1896, has retained its complete independence. Since that surprising setback to European encroachments no power has attempted to exercise a mandate over the subjects of the late King Menelek.

But, outside of these two states, small in area compared with the vast bulk of the world's second largest continent, Africa has become an accommodation train for the surplus energies of European nations on a grab-who-grab-can principle. Egypt, it is true, has obtained a nominal independence, but the horses pulling the modern Egyptian chariot of state are curbed with English bits and the reins are held by the foreign office at Westminster.

The southern half of the continent, with the exception of Mozambique and the Belgian Congo, through the South Africa Union or under blanket mandates, has become part of the British Empire. Northern Africa and the Mediterranean coast emerge in chunks from the European grab bag. France has drawn Algeria and no doubt will soon be tussling with Spain for Morocco, now that together they have swatted the hornet of the Riff.

Italy has fished out Tripoli and, after failing to budge Abyssinia, has extracted a slice of Somaliland. France's second dip clutched Tunis with all that the Romans left of Carthage. Beyond these was only the Sahara, which, being uninhabitable, save in small spots, has been graciously conceded to the Arabs.

The south half of Africa was easy picking, the negro natives being too primitive for effective resistance. But Northern Africa, with its Moors and Berbers and other races of an older civilization than that of its European acquirers, may yet prove a prickly prize to the trans-Mediterranean invaders who got so badly stung in smoking out the Riffs.

PLAN NEW WAR HORRORS
Are the nations signatory to the Washington armament agreement of 1922, as well as the leading powers that bound themselves by the Geneva pact of 1925, all hypocrites? If not, why is each and every one of them planning new and ghastly agencies for effacing foreign foes?

These are the questions discussed by Maj. Clifford Albion Tinker of the United States Bureau of Aeronautics in the June number of Current History. Maj. Tinker asks, "Have helpless men, women and children no rights, no immunity from attack, while combatants in the field and on the sea fight out the issues of a war?" The answer, he admits, must be pessimistic, particularly while military and naval leaders place the value of moral effect as twenty to one against other major factors in the conduct of modern warfare. For, despite the fact that twenty-seven nations, due to the insistence of the United States, signed an agreement to abolish the use of poison gas and bacteria in war, we see many of these nations redoubling their efforts to compound war gases which shall make masks of no avail and to make shells to diffuse the gases, while at the same time the laboratories are being used to devise means to make bacteriological and other secret methods of destruction more effective against a foreign foe. Maj. Tinker says that germ study for war uses is going on night and day.

No wonder that the question is being asked: Is there any justification for these hideous activities or are the nations of the world just plain hypocrites? To be devising horrible means of destroying life in war and yet at the same time to be so bound by agreement as not to employ them honorably seems egregiously inconsistent, and yet that is the position in which we of this country find ourselves, in common with the people of other nations. But it naturally occurs to one giving serious thought to these affairs that if a powerful European nation scrapped its treaties in 1914 it might do so again, or another power might be tempted to set its agreements at naught and proceed to decimate the population of a country with which it had a quarrel and which country might be ours.

Of course, the United States, as well as all the other great nations, excuses its grim work in devising new war horrors on the ground of defense. If other nations are preparing new means of dealing wholesale death in war it is held that we would be childishly innocent and lacking in common sense if we did not proceed to safeguard our homes and firesides by employing the only effective weapons left to us—those which the unscrupulous nation which had violated its agreement was using against us. One cannot fight poison-gas or deadly germs with gun and bayonet. From 20 to 30 per cent of all the American battle casualties in the World War were due to gas. Probably in future wars with treaty-scrapping foemen this percentage will be raised to 75 or more.

With Germany's example before us we are warranted in preparing to use weapon for weapon with other foes in future wars, else our chances of victory, and even of survival, will be very small. America would be the last country to violate a treaty of any kind, but as long as there is a reasonable suspicion of the likelihood of such violation on the part of another nation we must engage in this abhorrent business of preparing to meet it in its own hideous and revolting way.

MERCHANTS AND SCHOOLS
The druggists of California at their recent convention at Long Beach indicated an intention of going before the Assembly to obtain legislation either to abolish or prevent the extension of the various school stores, cafeterias and school shops where supplies, merchandise, food and drinks are sold to students. These branches of trade are being so extended that the small stores in various lines that used to flourish mildly in school neighborhoods are put out of business entirely.

Full-fledged cafeterias have been installed in many of the high schools in this section and it is claimed that the pupils are virtually compelled to patronize them. They are not permitted to leave the school grounds at the lunch hour. If they obtain special permission and it is found that they have patronized any of the neighborhood shops the permit is withdrawn. As a result the school, instead of being an asset to the business interests, has become a handicap.

In many cases when magnificent educational plants were reared new property values were supposed to have been created and new business districts established. But it was a false assumption. The opening of school stores and cafeterias leaves nothing for the outsiders. Small merchants open their shops for a while, but without the expected trade of the students they cannot exist and presently the doors are closed. There is a depressing group of empty buildings.

These small traders insist that the school authorities have no right to deny pupils the privilege of leaving the grounds during the noon hour. They also assert that the teachers cannot compel students to buy in the school shops to the exclusion of outside merchants. They feel that boards of education have no warrant in engaging in other business than that of developing the mind and character of the student. They ought not to compete with citizens and taxpayers who have gone to much expense in establishing themselves in business in a school environment.

The average drug store in these days sells lunches, soft drinks, confectionery and hundreds of things that appeal to the youthful fancy. That is why the California Pharmaceutical Association is especially opposed to the compulsory cafeteria as conducted in so many of the big schools. The pupils would themselves prefer to do a little shopping on their own account, but if they are not permitted to refresh themselves save on the school premises the outside stores will yawn in vain.

It should be obvious to all that boards of education are not primarily in the cafeteria business and that it is hardly fair to the general taxpayer to compel students to an exclusive patronage of school stores. If merchants must compete for the school trade they should be permitted to do so on even terms. The pupil should at least be suffered to buy where he likes.

FEDERAL MONEY MILL
Bright, crisp, clean currency is flowing from the Federal money mill at Washington at the rate of 1,000,000,000 bills a year, or enough to carpet a path from New York to Los Angeles. If placed on a scale big enough to hold them they would be shown to weigh 1500 tons. They would make a forty-car trainload of money.

The manufacture of this currency is a big expense to the government, and it is believed by Secretary Mellon that this expense can be greatly reduced. Assisted by the United States Bureau of Efficiency, he has been making a study of the matter in order to devise a cheaper and simpler money system. He proposes to discontinue the printing of the denominations of $500, $5000 and $10,000 and to simplify the varieties of smaller bills. There are now four kinds of $5 bills, five kinds of $10 bills, four different $20's, four $50's, three $100's and two kinds of $1000's. Altogether there are thirty models of paper money turned out at the government's factory.

To reduce the number of denominations the Treasury Department has worked out a plan by which there will be but one design of $10 bill or bill of any other denomination. One reason why there are now so many varieties is because of their representing silver or gold deposits, Federal reserve funds or other money.

Under the new system the Treasury will issue but seven kinds of bills instead of thirty-nine, one for each denomination. These seven will be made to serve the purpose of all the different kinds of money by merely printing different seals in different colors on them. By this means a great economy will be effected in the manufacture of currency, and the varieties of bills that come into the hands of the average citizen will be greatly decreased.

The Treasury Department is to be commended for its zeal in working out a simple and effective plan of money-making. But it will occur to the average man that if a plan could be evolved by which he honestly could get hold of a goodly number of these 1,000,000,000 bills of large denomination in a simpler and swifter manner than that by which he is at present obtaining currency of any kind and, having thus gotten hold of them, be able to hang on to them for a little while, it would be all to the good.

Perhaps Secretary Mellon will extend his monetary program to include this important economic feature. If he does, it will be safe to predict that he will enjoy a popularity that will be even greater than his ingenuity.

When the Spaghetti Comes Will the French Fries Be Far Behind?

[Protected by George Matthew Adams]

LINES BY A KIND-HEARTED PEDESTRIAN
By James J. Montague.

I do not like to cross the street,
For I am very far from agile
Or swift and nimble on my feet,
And motor cars are very fragile.
I often take a little drink
Lest I perchance should grow demented
From gnawing conscience when I think
Of all the fenders I have dented.

Sometimes I have a bit of luck
When I go out to take an airing,
I get run over by a truck
Which is not hurt beyond repairing.
And though the driver curses me,
I do not suffer from contrition
Because I'm very sure that he
Will still be kept in his position.

I've scratched the paint on new sedans,
A memory which always rankles,
I've burst the tires on moving vans
Whose wheels have run across my ankles,
I once bumped into a coupe,
And I'm afraid I badly stove it,
And marred its beauty, anyway,
I quite annoyed the girl who drove it.

I really ought to stay at home
For I'm a prey to indecision,
And when upon the streets I roam
I'm sure to meet with a collision.
It worries me to think about
The bumpers I have bended double
And all the windshields I've knocked out
I do so hate to make folks trouble.

SOME REFLECTIONS

BY J. A. GRAVES

Voltaire wrote: "In short, there has ever been disputes about what we have been; about what we are and about what we shall be." I do not pretend to know what the origin of man was or what his destiny is. Concerning these things there are conflicting theories. The churches do not agree among themselves. Of course, if one has sufficient faith to accept the biblical version of the creation of man, that is the end of the matter. But geological and anthropological investigations show that man has existed on the face of the earth for centuries before the time of Christ and before the time fixed by the Bible for the creation of man.

The scholars of India have a story of the first man and woman, written four centuries before the story of Adam and Eve, which is more complimentary to the man than the biblical version. In the Indian story they called the man Adami and the woman Heva. Having violated the codes of Brahma and while he was upbraiding Heva, Adami stepped forth and said: "Curse me, curse not her; it was not her fault, it was mine."

Accepting the biblical version of the creation of man as being true, when God banished Adam and Eve from the Garden of Eden, evolution, progress upward, of their condition occurred. They were immediately transformed from parasites, living on the gratuity of the Lord, to home-makers, who had to provide for themselves by their labors.

Whatever may have been man's origin, from the scattered records of the past, from what we learn of his primitive condition, we know that ever since he appeared upon the face of the earth there has been a constant evolution in his condition for the better. But at times there have been lapses, and well-built-up civilizations have all but disappeared. Russia, in her present condition, is a good example of evolution backward.

It is a far cry from primitive man, living in his cave in the earth or formed by rocks in proper juxtaposition, to such a man as, say, Calvin Coolidge. Primitive man lived on the lower forms of animal life or such of the smaller animals as he could capture with his hands or kill with a club, and upon such fruits and nuts as the forests surrounding him produced in season; but he was endowed with a brain which slowly developed as his physical being developed. Soon he fashioned a stone of convenient weight, inclosed it with thongs from skins of beasts, all terminating in a gathering of thongs a couple of feet long. Holding onto this flexible handle, he could, by swinging the weight, strike a blow that would crush the skull of a bear or break the neck of a deer, elk or water buffalo. He would lie in wait and strike down the latter class of animals as they traveled some accustomed path. With this weapon he did not shirk a conflict even with bears and other animals of that nature, but met them boldly, relying upon getting in the first blow and ending the conflict.

Thus he added to his larder. He learned that the heat of the sun, or fire, after he had discovered fire, would dry animal flesh, cut into layers, so that he could save the same for days of necessity. Then he, by some means, invented the bow and arrow, thus enabling him to slay his game from a distance. He learned to better his housing arrangements by making a door or screen for the entrance to his cave, formed of reeds or skins. He found that dried leaves made him a bed more comfortable than the bare ground. He began to weave from fibrous plants baskets, some even water-tight, which he used for household purposes.

In his travels through the forests, in the summer time, he came upon ripening grains. Attracted by curiosity, he took a head of grain, crushed it in his hands, finding within small kernels, which were good to eat. He gathered these grains and stored them for food. Observing that wild grain always came up in early spring and ripened in the summer, he aroused, from some corner of that dull brain of his, the idea of planting these seeds near his habitation, where he could protect them from wild animals. Thus he artificially, or by the first rudiments of husbandry, materially added to his food supply. He early learned that running streams, lakes and ocean shores teemed with animal life, which he could eat, and he ingeniously contrived methods for catching fish and kindred food supplies.

When he first found himself on earth his only means of locomotion were his own good legs. By and by, with the aid of stone implements assisted by fire, he hollowed out logs, shaped out the bottom and sides and he had a canoe, in which he could travel to neighboring sheets of water. Finding that it was always hard to propel his canoe against the wind and tide, he invented a sail, wherewith his traveling speed was increased and the labor of traveling reduced. In time he subjected animals, like the horse, the cow, the ox, the llama, the water buffalo, according to that portion of the earth in which he was located, to his will and used them to ride and as beasts of burden. For centuries camels carried the wealth of India north through the Khyber Pass. Alexander, with the army built up by his father, Philip of Macedon, went on to the mouth of the Khyber Pass and looked with longing eyes upon the rich plains of India. The desire to conquer this country was strong in him, but he had a date at Alexandria with a vicious woman. He turned back and died there, in a drunken debauch. He lacked the instincts of decency.

The early history of man is not left us in book form. Primitive man left no record except occasional hieroglyphics cut on stone or such as modern man is obtaining by digging into ancient tombs and into the debris around ancient hearthstones. From such things we learn something of his early history, not much, but enough to piece out the tale with our own imaginings.

As the ages passed by the art of writing on papyrus and later on skins and parchments was inaugurated. A literature was gradually developed. The Greeks and Romans had artists, poets, orators, painters, philosophers, who have left us a very clear record of their accomplishments. The Chinese possessed the art of writing and the knowledge of arts and sciences long before the days of the Roman or Grecian emperors.

Man has always been a warlike animal. He probably first fought in self-defense, but he soon learned to fight for extension of territory and to subject other people to his will. Civilization has not destroyed his warlike spirit. By the inventions of later days war has been made much more deadly and much more terrible than at any stage of our existence. Military men and others living predict that in the next war engines of destruction more powerful and far-reaching than ever before that has yet preceded them will be in operation.

What we call the temperate zone seems to be more favorable to the high development of mankind than any other region. In the United States great geniuses have sprung from regions almost too cold to be called temperate. New Hampshire, rock-ribbed and in winter snowbound, produced Daniel Webster, the greatest statesman and political orator ever known to the nation. Virginia, of a somewhat milder climate, brought forth John Marshall, the greatest jurist the country has produced. Webster was well educated; Marshall had but little schooling. Marshall's greatest decisions do not rest on precedents or something that some other judge had laid down. He seldom cited decisions. On that mighty brain of his came the law, ready-made. State the facts and he stated the law governing such a state of facts. Nature made him a jurist. It gave him a discerning mind and clear vision, insight into the natures of men, a noble conception of right and wrong and wonderful fund of common sense.

The earlier public men of America were, as a rule, well educated. Most of them were well grounded in the classics. Many of them were distinguished orators and those who were orators were, as a rule, classical scholars. The first colleges in America all devoted much time to classical studies and mathematics.

The development of primitive man was necessarily slow. He developed only as his knowledge increased. The knowledge of primitive man came largely from experience and investigation, as does the knowledge of modern man. He finally began to live in tribal communities. Steadily he progressed until his log canoe became a sailboat. To America fell the task of building the finest sailing vessels ever constructed—the celebrated clipper ships—that came out of Gloucester, Marblehead and Boston. They were the marvel of the age. Two of them, the "Contest" and "Trade Wind," had a record of a voyage from Boston around the Horn in 1853 to San Francisco in seventy-five days. In time came Stephenson and Fulton with the steam engine, which revolutionized travel both on land and sea. Railroads supplemented stages for passengers and animals and freight wagons for freight.

As man became more civilized his inventive genius improved. Bell gave us the telephone, Morse the telegraph, and Edison has given us an electric wizard. Then came the wireless telegraph. The airship was improved until it has become a weapon deadly in war and is more likely to be utilized for commercial purposes.

To my mind, the greatest invention, in the scientific mechanical line, is the radio. Where it will end no man is safe to predict. The McMillan, from his Arctic surroundings, could send out messages and daily receive messages from all over the United States was considered the greatest accomplishment of all the age. This feat has been dwarfed into insignificance by that of Admiral Byrd, who, on May 19, 1926, flew from Kings Bay, Spitsbergen, over the North Pole, encircled it and returned safely to his starting point. On May 11 the Norwegian dirigible airship, at 10 o'clock Norwegian time, left Kings Bay, Spitsbergen, and the morning papers of May 12 gave out the information almost unbelievable, that it had passed over the North Pole, when the Norwegian, the Stars and Stripes and the Italian flags were lowered. Later in the day the great airship passed on and, on the 15th, arrived at Teller, in Alaska. Quite minute descriptions of the trip were sent out by radio and printed in the daily papers of the 12th, 13th and 14th of May.

These remarkable feats of aerial sailing and radio are looked upon by the average individual as simply the happening of the expected. What future triumphs in these lines are held in reserve no man dares to predict. The transmission of wireless messages and instantaneous photographs of events occurring thousands of miles away is of daily occurrence. Man's soul will, in time, be photographed. In many cases the result will not be anything to be proud of, but will, nevertheless, be enlightening. Years ago Marshall said that in 5000 years from his time, if the subject was given the proper amount of study, the human mind might learn something about electricity; that at present nothing is known about it except that certain things can be accomplished by it. The field of its activities is being daily enlarged, and no one can say what the final results will be.

CHAMBER TO OPEN DINING ROOM TODAY

Weekly Meetings Will be Held in Banquet Hall on Eighth Floor

To provide its members with full dining facilities the Chamber of Commerce today began operation of its new club dining-room on the ninth floor of the chamber building on Eighth and Broadway.

Plans for the dining and banquet rooms were incorporated into the building when it was first projected by President Arthur G. Bent, and ever since the building was thrown open to the public a year and a half ago, a competent committee of chamber members has been working out plans for the actual operation of a club dining-room for the members.

The room, which occupies the entire west wing of the eighth floor, is 50 by 150 feet and will accommodate between 650 and 700 persons. A large and fully equipped kitchen adjoins the main dining-room, while a smaller kitchen on the ninth floor takes care of the ten committee-rooms where several hundred members of various committees meet and have luncheon weekly. Both the main dining-room and the committee-rooms will be operated by the Crescent Creamery Company, caterers, according to President Bent.

The new banquet hall and dining-room has been tastefully decorated to carry out a club atmosphere, while from the windows one can see virtually all of the city, with glimpses of the ocean on clear days. The chamber plans to have its weekly programs of speaking in the new dining-room.

Cordish Sued to Void Contracts in Stock Sales

Charges that Nat Cordish, president of the Mutual Motors, Inc., sold stock in the enterprise under false representations were made in two suits filed in Superior Court asking for the recision of contracts under which the plaintiffs purchased stock. Cordish is accused of having mulcted local automobile finance companies out of several hundred thousand dollars in connection with his activities as head of the motors company.

Nathanjel McClain, Leona McClain and James N. McClain appear as plaintiffs in the suits filed in Superior Court.

HUNT FOR FUGITIVES EXTENDED

Long Beach Police Enlist Aid of Outside Forces to Capture Manacled Pair

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, May 31.—Long Beach police have enlisted the aid of Sheriff's departments, police organization and Federal men throughout the Southwest to assist in the capture of two asserted bandits who, while handcuffed together, made their escape from two policemen here Saturday night after engaging in a gun battle with their captors.

Police are confident that one of the two fugitives was wounded during the battle, as he was seen to suddenly grasp his abdomen and fall to the ground during the fight. He was assisted by his manacled companion and both fled into darkness of a near-by yard while the officers were reloading their weapons. Hospitals and physicians throughout Southern California are being asked to co-operate and to report any cases of gunshot wounds cared for by them.

A third member of the trio, Verne Grace, ex-convict, was captured by the officers and now is being held on charges of burglary. A house at 1824 Prospect avenue where Grace and the fugitives lived was searched by the police and a large quantity of plunder obtained in recent burglaries was recovered. Mrs. Ruby McGaha, said to be Grace's sweetheart, also was taken into custody at the house and is being held for investigation.

EFFORT TO PASS BRIBE ENDS SADLY

Informer Reprimanded for Trying to Corrupt Officer After Liquor Arrest

Charles Bell, said to be an informer, went out to bribe an officer in order to obtain evidence for an arrest. But, according to the records, he found an honest officer and was haled into court on a charge of trying to pass a bribe.

The case was dismissed after Bell explained and brought proof of his statements. Municipal Judge Turney, before whom Bell was heard, severely criticised his actions and ordered him to be careful hereafter.

According to the story, Bell was arrested on a liquor charge. He later told police that he was able to bribe several officers in Hollywood. They gave him $200 and sent him out to see if his story were true.

Bell walked into Hollywood Station and offered Sergt. Gruey the money. Gruey promptly put him under arrest and brought him down to court.

The officers who had given Bell the money were called and admitted the story was true and that the money had been given to Bell for the purpose of attempting a bribe. It was then that Judge Turney reprimanded him and turned him loose on the bribery charge. He fined Bell $125 on the liquor charge.

SOCIETY

BY JUANA NEAL LEVY

The marriage of Miss Camilla Angel Schneider, daughter of the late Jacob Mathew Schneider and Mrs. Schneider of Lafayette Park Place, to Tyler Francis Woodward, son of the John Woodwards of Muirfield Road, will be one of the events of tomorrow, the ceremony and nuptial mass taking place at 11 o'clock in St. Basil's Church, Harvard Boulevard at Wilshire, only relatives and intimate friends of the family being bidden.

The attractive bride will be given into the keeping of the bridegroom at the altar by her brother, J. Walter Ford Schneider. Her only attendant will be her sister, Miss Margarita Schneider.

The bridal gown will be a Boue Soeurs model of fish-colored tulle, and a late hat in the same tones, slippers and hose to match will complete the costume, and she will carry a white prayerbook with shower of lilies of the valley and maidenhair ferns.

Miss Margarita Schneider will wear green chiffon with white picture hat and carry pink roses and ferns.

Frank Fuller of San Francisco will serve Mr. Woodward as best man, and the ushers will include Hoke Woodward, Robert Bundy, Howard Christy and Richard Hinckley.

Following the church ceremony a wedding breakfast will be served at the home of the bride's mother, 515 South Lafayette Park Place, and afterward Mr. Woodward and his bride will leave for their wedding trip (destination not told,) and after their return, July 1, they will make their home in Santa Monica.

Miss Schneider is one of the most popular members of the younger set here, having been graduated from Marlborough School, and she is one of the active members of the Junior League.

The announcement of her engagement to Mr. Woodward was told exclusively in The Times some days ago, the news being revealed to a small coterie of intimate friends at a luncheon with which Mrs. Schneider entertained at her home, a dozen guests being bidden, to meet Miss Elizabeth Moore of Piedmont, who is the house guest of the Misses Schneider at their home.

From Eastern School

Miss Mary Maxwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Maxwell of 1119 Gramercy Drive, and Miss Dorothy Schmidt of 401 South Westmoreland avenue, both students at the Ely School for Girls, Greenwich, Ct., are finishing a most successful year at the school. Both have been active in athletics and both have maintained a high standard in their classwork. They also appeared in the little operetta, "The Fire Prince," which was put on at this school yesterday afternoon under the personal direction of the composer Dr. Henry Hadley, assisted by members of the New York Philharmonic orchestra. Miss Schmidt sang in the first act, while Miss Maxwell was an officer of the Spanish court in the second act. Both Miss Schmidt and Miss Maxwell exhibited some of their sketches in the final display of the work of the art department, and Miss Schmidt was one of a small group of girls chosen from the riding class to compete with chosen members of other classes in the vicinity of Greenwich.

Home Again

Mr. and Mrs. William Platt Phelps (Marguerite Middaugh,) whose wedding was one of the quietly solemnized events of last month, are back from their honeymoon trip and will be at home to their many friends after August 1 at 446 Lincoln Boulevard, Santa Monica. Mrs. Phelps is the daughter of Mrs. S. Alice Middaugh of Orchid avenue, Hollywood.

At Seaside Club

Among the prettily planned events of the month will be the luncheon and bridge with which Mrs. Charles N. Ransome of North Larchmont Boulevard is entertaining today at Club Casa Del Mar, Santa Monica, the decorations carrying out the early summer motif in flowers and ferns, while covers will be arranged for Mrs. Joseph Watts, Mrs. H. Monroe Dunham, Mrs. Julius J. La Bonte, Mrs. J. E. Carter, Mrs. E. M. Galbraith, Mrs. Carlo Sischo, Mrs. Frank Webb, Charles Matthall, Mrs. J. P. McVean, Mrs. Adrian Ransom, Mrs. Robert M. Elliott, Mrs. Jerry W. Allen and Mrs. Paul Dodds, all of Los Angeles, Mrs. Frank E. Wall, Mrs. C. C. Lewis, Mrs. Mortimer White, Mrs. Mattie Lobeher, Mrs. W. G. Towner, Mrs. H. W. Spratt, Mrs. William McLaughlin, Mrs. John Bolton, Mrs S. E. Kennedy, Mrs. S. C. McClung, Mrs. J. W. Rogers, Mrs. George Jacques, Mrs. R. B. Booth, Mrs. Hauge, Mrs. Harry Stringer, Mrs. S. M. Travers, Mrs. Stuart Chapman, Mrs. Herbert Ahlswede, Mrs. Mark Kuhn, Mrs. George Besarcon, Mrs. John Musholland, Mrs. Charles Malcolmn, Mrs. John Meteer, Mrs. William G. Blatt, Mrs. Ray Bartow, Mrs. Robert Street, Mrs. Harold Lewis, Mrs. Glen Coolidge, Mrs. J. E. Tucker, Jr., Mrs. Henry O. Wall, Mrs. George La France, Mrs. Alleyne Van Schroeder, Mrs. Carle L. Williams, Mrs. John B. White, Mrs. W. E. Babb, Mrs. Charles H. Tucker, and Mrs. Ray Campbell of Long Beach. Mrs. Carrie Brown, Mrs. John B. White, Mrs. James Frederick Pieper, Mrs. N. R. Fowley, Miss Helen Brown of Pasadena, Mrs. Gilbert Karste of Alhambra, Mrs. J. C. Cook of Arlington, Mrs. Amoss Scoville of Chicago and Mrs. Minnie Ranson of Grand Rapids, Mich.

Formal Dinner Dance

Members of Phi Mu sorority at the University of Southern California will entertain with a formal dinner dance at Vista del Arroyo Friday evening, the tables to be beautifully decorated with baskets of early summer blossoms and the place favors will be tiny dolls dressed in tulle frocks. Many members of the alumnae will be in attendance and the affair will close the school year.

Those in charge of the evening will include Miss Louise Budd Mitchell, vice-president, and Miss Alice Terry.

Phi Mu also entertained with a charmingly appointed bridge tea at the Club Casa Del Mar last month when sixty guests were bidden and tea was served in the orange card room overlooking the ocean. Another recent event of Phi Mu hospitality was a buffet supper given in honor of Kappa Alpha at the University of California, Southern Branch, which has just been granted a charter on the University of Southern California campus, and is a brother fraternity of Phi Mu. After the buffet supper in the gardens dancing featured the evening's entertainment.

Prenuptial Event

One of the enjoyable events of recent date was the prenuptial courtesy extended Miss Muriel E. Cooper and James H. Harmon, whose wedding will be one of the events of the last of the month, the affair taking place at the Ambassador Friday evening, with Mr. and Mrs. John B. Browne hosts. Miss Cooper is the daughter of Mrs. Elsie H. Cooper, 933 Menlo avenue, formerly of Boston. Those included were Miss Elizabeth Lubke, Miss Alice Irene Cooper, Miss Olive Hatch, Miss Mary Higgins, Chester Hess, Ben Jaffery, Keith Smith, James MacCulley, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Creedon, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Donoho, the honor guests and hosts.

Luncheon Party

Mrs. Jacob Storey of New York City, who has come to Los Angeles recently to make her home was the honor guest Thursday afternoon at a beautifully appointed luncheon at the Mary Louise with which Mrs. W. R. Fraser entertained. The table was resplendent with baskets filled with pink rosebuds and sweet peas in the pastel shades, while the place cards in quaint design and corsage bouquets marked the covers for the hostess, honor guest, Mrs. Harold Lloyd, Mrs. Robert Gortner, Mrs. Barbara Dougherty, Mrs. Reynaud Hoffman, Mrs. Howard Davis, Mrs. Jack Murphy and Miss Claire Newmon.

At Country Club

Mrs. Norman C. Robinson of 838 North Milton avenue was hostess at a charmingly appointed bridge luncheon Wednesday afternoon at the California Country Club in honor of Mrs. Bert Ormonde Driver, who had come recently from St. Petersburg, Fla., and has taken an apartment at the Gaylord. The decorations were carried out with gladioli and other early summer blossoms forming a colorful centerpiece, the decoratives and place favors carrying out in green, yellow and orchid tones.

Those included were Mrs. Driver, Mrs. John V. Clark, Mrs. Willis Mitchell, Mrs. James Belt, Mrs. Lewis Reed, Mrs. Warren Bremer, Mrs. Frank Anderson, Mrs. H. P. Larsen, Mrs. Jack Roland, Mrs. Ralph Deming, Mrs. George Rector, Mrs. Margaret Locklin, Mrs. Paul Stevens, Mrs. Paul Lenz, Mrs. Alice McComas Gray and the hostess.

Engagement Announced

Formal announcement is made by Mr. and Mrs. Sig Lester of 424 North Arden Boulevard of the engagement of their daughter, Miss Nettie Lester, to Isadore E. Gordean, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Gordean of 1054 South Oxford avenue. The bride-elect is a member of the Alpha Beta Kappa sorority and was graduated from Starrett School for Girls in Chicago. Mr. Gordean is at present in Miamo, Fla., where he will take his bride after the ceremony to make their future home. No date is set as yet for the wedding.

ATTRACTIVE SORORITY HOSTESS

Music and Bridge Entertain Guests

[National Illustrated News Syndicate]
Miss Fleeta Hodge

ONE of the attractive hostesses of recent date was Miss Fleeta Hodge of 2519 South Mansfield avenue, who was in charge of the tea given at University of Southern California by the Alpha Delta Pi Sorority. The guests enjoyed a delightful musical program and afterward played bridge. The decorations were attractively carried out in the sorority colors of blue and white. Sixty members of the sorority celebrated Founders' Day with a luncheon at the Mary Louise last month.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

CHILDREN NEED A LOT OF PROTEIN

You can understand that children need a larger share of protein, relatively speaking (size for size, say) than does the adult, because probably more than one-half of the protein necessary for the child's needs makes new tissue—new child.

In case you have forgotten—or never really have known — what protein foods are, we had better review them. Protein is defined as the living or protoplasmic substance of plants and animals, and foods containing a larger share of this protoplasmic tissue than of fat or starches and sugars, are known as protein foods.

Animal tissues (which are protein) have to have protein foods to build themselves. (Of course, they need vitamins and mineral elements and fats as well, but it is the protein which is the main need.) The protein molecule contains carbon, hydrogen and oxygen (as do the fats and carbohydrates) but it also contains nitrogen and sulphur and sometimes other minerals. It is the nitrogen which is characteristic of protein. As the animal cannot get nitrogen from the soil, sun and air, as plants can, it has to get its nitrogen through other protein. Therefore the supreme importance of protein foods.

The child not only needs a comparatively large amount of protein because of its growth, but it must be assured a protein that contains all of the building elements (not all of the proteins do, so they are called incomplete for this reason,) and it must have at least half of its proteins of the complete type.

It is by studies of growths of normal, well-developed children, presumably getting the right foods in the right proportions, that we can get data on the amount of protein and the food elements needed by children.

Holt made such a study of 100 children, ranging in age from 1 to 18 years, and other investigators' report have coincided with his. He found that at the age of 1 year, the protein taken averaged seven C. per pound of body weight, daily. This gradually diminished to four and one-half C. when the child was 6 years of age and remained this value or slightly below, until full growth. So we believe that the amount of protein may be regarded as the best amount for the growing child.

As Chittenden's standard for adults is one and one-half grammes of protein per pound of body weight, you can see that the children's need is more than twice as much as is needed for adults (pound for pound of body weight).

Remembering what I said about the child's need for complete protein, this protein business looks like an important problem, doesn't it? What can we do to relieve the anxiety? One quart of good milk a day, dear readers!

Every normal child needs at least a quart of milk a day, for it furnishes a protein of the very best biological or building value. It also contains growth vitamins and mineral elements, particularly the much-needed calcium and phosporous for the bones. One ounce of milk (20 calories) contains four calories of protein, a quart, or thirty-two ounces, containing 640 calories, has 128 calories of protein. You can see from this that a large share of his protein needs, and his complete protein needs, at that, will be met for.

If he has one other high protein dish daily, some eggs or cottage cheese or flesh foods, and a good dish of cereal (which is comparatively high in protein) or whole wheat bread (also comparatively high,) you will not have to worry about his protein supply.

If you will send a self-addressed stamped envelope to me in care of this paper, we will send a list of foods with their protein values. (Allow at least two weeks for receipt.)

ABANDONED BABIES

BY ALMA WHITAKER

We had been reading the hideous news of abandoned babies, five in one day in New York City alone, and one each in four other cities. Nine babies cast out in one day.

"That's what we are coming to. Women haven't even any decent maternal instincts any more," said a man friend furiously.

"I was an abandoned baby—and I have cursed my mother whoever she was, through the years."

We were all shocked to hear this horrifying speech, this dreadful confession from a man we had supposed was a "successful citizen." But he is still a bachelor at 40 and it has been whispered of him that "he has no use for women."

"It never occurred to you to curse your father, I suppose," said an elderly woman, gently. "But every abandoned baby had a father, too. And any mother who was driven to abandoning her precious baby, must have been weak, desperate, utterly wretched, bitterly unhappy."

THE MASCULINE ALIBI

"Children are the woman's job," said the man harshly. "Nature made the maternal instinct strong in a woman. Mother love is vastly more important."

"An unfortunate view for men to accept, don't you think?" countered the woman. "Don't you suppose that that attitude has proved exceedingly cruel. Isn't it a comfortable way of sliding out from under responsibility?"

"I am not saying a man hasn't any responsibility. Of course, he has. But it is infinitely worse and more disgusting when a woman abandons her infant. All the world feels that," insisted the man.

"I am not so sure," argued the woman. "If men are really the dominant sex—and they are equaly prepared to believe that too, you know—and if their role is that of 'protector,' which they have always preferred to assert, then the baby is doubly their responsibility after the mother has borne the initial and often agonizing pain of giving birth to the child.

"I should say," she added grimly, "that your mother must have been desperately unhappy. If she lives, the thought of you must haunt her all her days. She must have felt weak and utterly helpless—possibly herself abandoned. Your father must have failed her terribly."

"I NEVER GIVE A THOUGHT TO FATHER"

"And to offset these horrible stories of abandoned babies, how many thousands of brave mothers shoulder their full and often terrifying responsibility. The courts are full every day of 'failure to provide cases,' little homes deserted by their lawful bread winners, men who have failed their women, failed their babies. Do you never could condemn women, despise women, if you spent one day in these courts. You would be staggered at the fact that thousands of women stand up in the face of terrific handicaps.

"It is curious," mused the man, "but I never give a thought to my father. All through my childhood in the orphan asylum and mother I condemned, the [illegible] of the mother who had abandoned me, that broke my heart. I could not think how any woman could abandon her own flesh and blood.

"And yet," said the woman quietly, "who are you, a bachelor of 40 without kith or kin, who lived only for yourself all these years, to condemn your poor mother? You have failed her, surely as your father failed you. What have you done in the world to foster womanhood, maternal instincts in men? What sort of a 'protector' have you been?"

"Quite a feminist, aren't you?" said the man awkwardly.

"On the contrary, I believe men are superior," smiled the woman, "superior enough to shoulder some of the responsibility, you know."

REPORT ON BUILDINGS TO BE GIVEN

Plans on Structures Worth $604,450 Passed by Commission During May

The report of the Municipal Art Commission for the month of May will be submitted today to the Council. The commission during the month approved the plans on structures valued at $604,450, and disapproved plans for buildings aggregating $20,000.

Plans for the Malabar branch library to be erected on Wabash avenue at Forest avenue at a cost of $25,000 were among those approved, as were plans for four pedestrian subways. Ornamental street lighting systems to the value of $297,000 were approved.

The commission considered the matter of obtaining the following spaces left after major street projects have been completed, such as at Tenth and Figueroa streets, to be decorated with fountains, statuary and parking.

The total value of plans passed upon so far this year by the commission is $4,541,905.

In an Emergency

If you should cut the tip of your finger when busy in the kitchen, put a small piece of linen over the cut and then put your thimble on until you have time to give the matter better attention.

Aluminum Ware

There is nothing prettier than the kitchen pantry thoroughly equipped with all the necessary kitchen articles in bright, shiny aluminum. But it is not much credit to the woman who has aluminum vessels and allows them to become tarnished and blackened.

Thin Greasy Bath

Sprinkle a little flour into the grease when frying eggs. It will prevent the eggs from spattering over the stove and you.

What to Do

Burned food means a careless cook.

Cheap kitchen utensils are poor economy.

Silver packed away in dry flour will not tarnish.

The fall is the best season in which to paint your house.

It will shrink woolens to rub soap directly on them. Wash them in soapy water.

A flour dredge is an absolute necessity in the kitchen if you want your gravies to be smooth.

THE MOVIES AND THE BOB

Whether the movie actresses started the bobbing craze or not, it is certain that they have accepted it and that most of the stars on the silver screen today have bobbed hair. And women, on and off the stage, find that by using the right hair-wash, any style of bob is made much more effective.

The best way to bring out the natural beauty of the hair is to shampoo it with Canthrox. This is a simple, inexpensive shampoo which can be obtained at any druggist's. Simply dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water and apply it all over the head. Results will be delightful because your hair will be so soft, fluffy and never streaked. It dries quickly and is easy to do up. Canthrox also stimulates the scalp so that the hair is healthy, free from dandruff as well as dirt and excess oil. It costs only about three cents a shampoo.—[Advertisement.

SENTENCE IN DEATH CASE DUE TODAY

Selber Defense Expected to Ask Wife-Slaying Verdict Set Aside or New Trial

Charles Selber, recently convicted ... to hang for the murder of his wife, Minnie Selber, is scheduled to appear before Judge Hahn today for sentence. It is doubtful if motions will be passed today, however, since defense attorneys intend to ask that the verdict be set aside or that a new trial be granted.

Selber was found guilty by a jury in less than three hours. It was asserted Mrs. Selber was found ... on the floor of her home, with her head crushed by some heavy instrument.

Other witnesses stated they had seen Selber, who was in the employ of the city, near the house on the morning of the murder. Selber, however, pointed out that he had been living at home, that he had been working all morning on the day of the murder and that he would have had no time to go to the house.

The jury brought back a verdict of murder in the first degree. They made no recommendation for leniency and Judge Hahn must sentence the man to hang unless he finds legal grounds for setting the verdict.

Payton of 156 North Kenmore street. The officers who witnessed the affair gave chase, took Payton into custody and returned him to the Wilshire station, where he was booked on charges of reckless driving and failure to stop and render aid.

According to the statement of Officers Lewis and Wilson, Payton had been drinking, and tests made at the Receiving Hospital are said to have verified their report.

The three officers were checking traffic over the telephone at Sixth street and Western avenue, the officer stepping from the curb to the street shortly before the incident occurred.

San Diego Bribe Appeal Will be Heard Tomorrow

The appeal of Harry K. Wietzel, former San Diego City Councilman, indicted two years ago on a charge of asking a $20,000 bribe to influence his vote on a water issue, will be heard tomorrow in the Second District Court of Appeal, Division One, Justice Conrey presiding.

The court will hear eight other appeals in criminal cases, mostly forgery and embezzlement charges, and six civil cases, including the matter of the guardianship of 4-year-old Celeste Fichelberger.

SAYS SHE WAS MEAL TICKET AND TARGET

Vera May Luderman was wife, meal ticket and target to Herbert Valentine Luderman, she told Judge Hollzer, when she appeared seeking a divorce on the ground that the service exacted of her was entirely too much. "He insisted that I pay the rent," she said. "Well I could only pay half of it. So he got mad and hit me. He gave me a black eye. He was always taking money from me." Judge Hollzer awarded Mrs. Luderman a decree.

Blackheads!

IN AMERICA, these disfiguring little "skin worms" are a common skin ailment—due to our hurried living, the smoke and grime of cities. Eventually they ruin the finest skins, making the texture coarse, leaving blemishes and scars.

Begin now to take care of your skin!

Specialists advise scrupulous cleanliness, and for just this purpose Armand offers a new Eau de Cologne Cleansing Cream. Light, pure medicinal oils are combined with fresh, fragrant eau de cologne, making a light, dainty Cream, remarkably cleansing and refreshing. It acts quickly and thoroughly, with no oily after-effects, as in heavier creams. Used before washing, or even instead of soap and water, it leaves the skin soft, glowing, fresh as a rose! At leading drug stores, 50 cents and $1.00 per jar, or write Armand Company, Des Moines, for free trial sample, enclosing 2-cent stamp.

OIL-FIRE MENACE CURBED

Standard Company Demonstrates Equipment to Master Conflagrations at Last

The disastrous oil fires which recently played havoc with tank farms at San Luis Obispo, Brea and Bakersfield stand small chance of repetition it was demonstrated last week in tests conducted at the El Segundo plant of the Standard Oil Company.

Culminating a long series of experiments, the Standard officials invited executives of all other oil companies to join with them in witnessing final experiments of a number of systems of chemical fire extinguishing. The tests are said to have cost upward of $50,000 and proved conclusively that a blazing tank of crude oil can be extinguished in less than ten minutes with the use of chemicals.

A tank of crude oil was first purposely ignited and allowed to blaze for ten minutes to insure the fire getting fully under way. Squads manning chemical apparatus then advanced on the burning tank, clad in special asbestos suits which entirely cover the body, with a thick glass eyepiece forming the only other material than asbestos.

Special portable tank lines were run into the tank by the asbestos-clad fighters and chemicals of various formulas pumped into the fire. The blaze began to lessen almost at once and within ten minutes was completely out.

Further tests and improvements on the methods introduced will be continued, it is stated, until the system of combating oil blazes is well-nigh perfect. Meanwhile, in the event of fires in the tank farms or oil fields, the oil executives feel certain they have chemicals and equipment which will enable them to handle the conflagrations with promptness and a minimum of loss.

OUTLOOK ON PORT TRADE HELD BRIGHT

O.K. DAVIS

The Pacific Coast faces its brightest period in foreign trade, particularly with the Orient and South America, according to O. K. Davis, veteran war correspondent, political leader and now secretary of the National Foreign Trade Council, who arrived at the port yesterday aboard the Dollar liner President Monroe.

Mr. Davis, who is here to make a general survey of foreign trade conditions along the Pacific Coast, declared that Los Angeles will be the "white spot" of the next year's expansion in sea-borne commerce.

Mr. Davis will begin his tour and speaking campaign of the Pacific Coast tonight in Los Angeles when he addresses the foreign trade committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

The President Monroe came in yesterday morning on her eighth successive voyage around the world. She brought in eighty-five cabin passengers and 3000 tons of cargo.

In addition to Mr. Davis and his family there also disembarked at Los Angeles Harbor Mr. and Mrs. Albert Dodge of Pasadena, who yesterday completed a lengthy tour of the globe, including a 1500-mile trip up the Nile by small boat.

Others aboard included Dr. Irvin H. Carroll and his wife, going back to Japan, where they have spent fifty-five years together in missionary work; Mr. and Mrs. L. E. McDermut of Chicago, John C. Austin, local architect, and Mrs. Austin, and Dr. and Mrs. N. B. Rairden of this city, who returned from a tour around the world on which they celebrated their golden wedding anniversary.

Double Funeral Rites Planned for W. H. Lutz

A double funeral service, the first at 8 o'clock tonight at the chapel of Turner and Stevens, morticians, 95 North Marengo street, Pasadena, and the second at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the family home, will be conducted for Walter H. Lutz, 303 Palmetto Drive, Pasadena, who died suddenly at Balboa last Sunday.

The service this evening has been arranged for the employees of the First National Bank of Los Angeles, of which Mr. Lutz was vice-president and cashier. Members of the Caldron Club, with which Mr. Lutz was associated, will sing at this service.

Dr. Robert Freeman of the First Presbyterian Church of Pasadena, will officiate at both services. Cremation will follow the final rites.

STRIKE CALLED RED FIASCO

British Novelist in Address Here Declares Workers Were Led in Revolt by Russians

Red influence in England received a jolt in the recent strike settlement from which it will not soon recover, declared Capt. Gilbert Frankau of London, one of Britain's leading present-day novelists, who arrived at the Ambassador yesterday.

Capt. Frankau is on a tour of America, observing conditions and delivering lectures. He will be the principal speaker at the luncheon of the City Club next Tuesday, where he will discuss political conditions in England with special reference to the causes and the effects of the recent general strike in that country.

GILBERT FRANKAU

"The British general strike was nothing more nor less than a direct attack on constitutional government by the Reds," said Capt. Frankau. "It was inspired by Russia and was led by British leaders who have declared themselves in sympathy with the Bolshevists.

OPPOSED STRIKE

"The mass of the British workers were opposed to the strike. They were induced to go into it by the specious arguments of their Communistic leaders, notably A. J. Cook, head of the miners' union, and E. J. Purcell, the head of the Trades Union Congress. These leaders, whose ultimate aim was civil war and the overthrow of constitutional government, seized the opportunity to put their plans into effect when the coal-mine subsidy terminated on May 1.

"That these plans miscarried was due entirely to the fact that the overwhelming majority of the workers were out of sympathy with their leaders' schemes. When the deadlock occurred, following the Baldwin Ministry's ultimatum that it would not negotiate with the workers unless the general strike were called off, it was the moderates, under the leadership of J. H. Thomas, who overruled the wishes of Cook and Purcell by bringing about a cessation of the strike and opening negotiations with the government, which resulted in a peaceful termination of the disturbances. This action, in effect, amounted to a repudiation of the Communistic elements in the ranks of English labor. It was one of the greatest triumphs constitutional government ever achieved."

CREDIT TO WOMEN

Capt. Frankau attributes the peaceful outcome of the strike in no small measure to the influence of women in British politics.

"The women of England take a keen interest in political activities," he said. "Their influence is essentially stabilizing. In fact, the women in our country may well be termed the 'political gyroscope' of the nation. Every woman is at heart a conservative. She hates destructive tactics. Virtually every woman in England was on the side of the government in the strike crisis."

The British author, whose books are now on the list of "best sellers" in England, has had an interesting career.

"I was trained for business and when I left college I went into business with my father, who was a cigar manufacturer," he said. "Upon his death a short time before the war, I took full charge. When the war broke out I went to France, where I stayed three years, coming home broken in health and with the cigar business demoralized.

"I had always been somewhat interested in writing and concluded I would try my hand at a novel. When completed, 100,000 copies of this book were sold. Since the war I have written seven novels with an aggregate sale of 500,000 copies in England. My books all deal with English social, political and economic conditions as they exist today. Aside from my books I am also a contributor on political subjects to several London papers."

Exhibits Being Arranged for 'Informashow'

Announcement was made yesterday by H. W. Christensen, president of the Los Angeles chapter of the National Purchasing Agents' Association, that 107 Los Angeles firms have reserved space for exhibits in the Informashow to be held at the Ambassador from the 9th to 12th inst., the occasion being the eleventh annual convention of purchasing agents with 2000 delegates attending.

The work of arranging the exhibits is to be started today and, according to Ben Schupp, chairman of the Informashow committee, it will be the most comprehensive display of Los Angeles and Southern California manufactures ever attempted.

Representatives of the leading industries of San Francisco, Portland, Seattle and other northern Pacific Coast cities, have arrived in Los Angeles to prepare exhibits.

IMPROVEMENT PETITIONED

The improvement of Burbank Boulevard between Lankershim Boulevard and North Van Nuys Boulevard with a twenty-foot concrete roadway has been petitioned for to the City Council. The matter was referred to the Public Works Committee.

Rail Board to Resume Hearing on Gas Rates

With the prospect that litigation which has lasted almost a year will be drawn to a close in a few days, the State Railroad Commission hearing on the application of three major gas companies for a rise in rates will be reopened here today by Commissioners Seavey and Decoto.

The Southern California Gas Company, one of the applicants, is expected to present the last of the testimony in favor of increased rates. Final rebuttal testimony will be offered by witnesses for the city not only in opposition to the proposed rates, but in support of City Attorney Stephen's contention that the gas companies should be ordered to serve nothing but natural gas in the Los Angeles area.

The Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation and the Midway Gas Company are the other applicants. The commission is also conducting an investigation to learn why the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Company is paying the Southern Gas Company higher rates for natural gas than it pays the Southern California Gas Company.

Court Decision on Racial Ban Draws Protest

Hugh E. Macbeth, president of the Federated Improvement Associations of California, yesterday wired to the secretary of the United States Supreme Court a copy of the resolutions adopted by the organization Sunday protesting against the court's recent decision in the Curtis case denying relief against race segregation by block agreement.

Macbeth's organization includes eight improvement associations representing more than $5,000,000 worth of residential property owned by colored residents of Los Angeles. The resolutions "urge speedy exhaustion of all further possible proceedings before the courts, and a final appeal of this modern Dred Scott decision to the Christian conscience of the American people."

FITTS WILL SPEAK TONIGHT IN CAMPAIGN

Buron Fitts, chief deputy District Attorney, will arrive in Los Angeles today after a tour of California to organize his campaign for the Republican nomination for Lieutenant-Governor. He will speak tonight at the formal opening of the campaign in the ballroom of the Alexandria. Mr. Fitts has announced he will make the crime problem the predominant issue of his drive for votes. "Lawlessness," he declared, "costs America $10,000,000,000 annually and takes its toll of human life by the thousand."

CHEF WYMAN'S ANSWERS

COFFEE ICE CREAM

F. E. J., Los Angeles. Two cupfuls of milk, one-half cupful ground coffee, one and one-quarter cupfuls sugar, one tablespoonful flour, one egg, one-eighth teaspoonful salt, one quart thin cream, one tablespoonful vanilla.

Scald milk with coffee. Mix sugar, flour, salt and add egg slightly beaten, pour on gradually, hot mixture. Cook over hot water twenty minutes, stirring constantly at first and afterward occasionally. Cool, add cream and flavoring, strain through double thickness of cheese cloth and freeze.

SOUR CREAM MOLASSES COOKIES

K. F., Los Angeles. Three-quarter cupful lard, three-quarter cupful brown sugar, three-quarter cupful molasses, two eggs, three-quarter cupful sour cream, one tablespoonful soda, one teaspoonful salt, one-half tablespoonful ginger. Flour.

Work lard and sugar together until creamy; then add molasses, eggs, well beaten, sour cream, mixed with soda, salt and ginger and flour to make a soft dough. Put in ice box or cold place to chill. Pat and roll to one-half inch thickness (using one-half the mixture at a time) and shape with a round cutter, first dipped in flour. Put on a buttered sheet and bake in a moderate oven.

JELLY JUMBLES

One-half cupful butter, one cupful sugar, one egg, one-half teaspoonful soda, one-half cupful sour milk, one-quarter teaspoonful salt, flour, currant jelly.

Cream the butter, add sugar gradually, egg well beaten, soda mixed with milk, salt and flour to make a soft dough. Chill and shape, using a round cutter. On the centers of one-half of the pieces put currant jelly. Make three small openings in remaining halves, using a thimble, and put pieces together. Press edges slightly, and bake in a rather hot oven, that jumbles may keep in good shape.

BAKING-POWDER BISCUITS

Two cupfuls flour, four teaspoonfuls baking powder, one teaspoonful salt, one tablespoon lard, three-quarter cupful milk and water in equal parts, one tablespoonful butter.

Mix dry ingredients, and sift twice.

Work in butter and lard with tips of fingers; add gradually the liquid, mixing with knife to a soft dough. It is impossible to determine the exact amount of liquor, owing to differences in flour. Toss on a floured board, pat and roll lightly to one-half inch in thickness. Shape with biscuit cutter. Place on buttered pan, and bake in hot oven twelve to fifteen minutes. If baked in too slow an oven, the gas will escape before it has done its work. Many obtain better results by using bread flour.

POUND CAKE

F. K., Los Angeles. Beat one cup of butter to a cream and beat beat into them one and a quarter cupfuls of sifted bread flour and beat until light and creamy. Beat well five medium-sized eggs and beat into them one and a quarter cupfuls of sifted powdered sugar, beat until stiff, and little by little add to the butter and flour beating or rubbing constantly until all are mixed, then beat in one teaspoonful of vanilla, and beat five minutes. Line a loaf cake tin with white paper, pour in the batter and bake in a slow oven forty-five minutes. Half a cupful of chopped nut meats, seedless raisins or chopped candied orange, lemon or citron peel can be added if liked.

DATE AND NUT MERINGUES

G. K., Los Angeles. Beat two egg whites stiff; add gradually, beating all the time, one cupful of powdered sugar, which has been sifted; one-half teaspoonful of vanilla, and one-fourth teaspoonful of salt. Fold in lightly one-fourth pound (one-half cup) of blanched almonds, not chopped but cut fine, and one-fourth pound of dates cut in small pieces. Drop from a teaspoon on a buttered cookie sheet and bake twenty minutes in a slow oven. They should be white, or a light straw color when finished. While still on the pan, before they become too crisp, garnish with two small pieces of angelica with a bit of cherry between.

STEAMED PEACH PUDDING

A. W. T., Long Beach. Beat three egg yolks slightly, add one-half cupful of sugar, one-fourth teaspoonful of salt, one teaspoonful of vanilla, and one cupful of milk. Cut bakers' bread (using a loaf with fine grain) in one-third-inch slices and shape the slices to fit a charlotte russe mold. Let the slices of bread stand in the egg and milk mixture until well softened. Butter the mold well and sprinkle with finely chopped almonds. Then lay in alternate layers of softened bread and sliced peaches. Cover mold with buttered paper and steam until firm. It will take about twenty-five minutes. Cool slightly before turning from the mold, then remove to platter and pour around it peach sauce. The mold may be decorated with glace cherries and angelica.

PEACH SAUCE

Drain syrup from one can of peaches, add one-half of the peaches, and cook slowly for twenty minutes. Rub through a sieve and flavor with one teaspoonful of almond extract and one-half teaspoonful of vanilla.

SQUAB CHICKEN

D. H., Los Angeles. They weigh about one pound each. The writer was told that one cooked squab chicken as one did a roast squab—about twenty minutes. Twenty minutes will never cook an incubator chicken. In fact, sixty minutes after it begins to sizzle is none too much.

Clean and truss, sprinkle with salt and pepper, rub over generously with butter, and dredge with flour. Put into a roasting pan the hearts, livers, necks, and gizzards, place the birds on them, and pour in enough boiling water to cover the bottom of the pan. Roast about an hour, basting every ten minutes. Cut string or remove skewers, place birds on platter, pour over birds the juices in the pan, garnish with cress and serve.

MEAT LOAF

F. M. K., Los Angeles. Chop say, one and one-half pounds of round of beef. Season with two-thirds of a teaspoonful of salt, one-fifth of a teaspoonful of black pepper, a dash of thyme, and add a very thinly chopped shallot, a slightly beaten egg, and, if desired, one and one-half tablespoonfuls of bread crumbs soaked in water, liquor pressed out. Arrange the thoroughly mixed preparation into a greased bread tin and bake about fifty minutes in a hot oven, reducing the oven heat as soon as the loaf is browned. Invert on a hot dish. Serve separately a rich brown or Spanish sauce.

CHERRY NECTAR

C. N. L., San Diego. Boil for ten minutes one pint of water, a pound of sugar, and the grated rind of a lemon. While hot, add one grated pineapple, two peaches cut into small pieces, and a small bottle of maraschino cherries, including the syrup. Cool, and add the juice of six lemons. Fill a punch bowl one-third full of crushed ice, and pour in the nectar, followed by two quarts of some good sparkling table water.

TABBY PINES AT JUSTICE HALL

Well Fed, But Skinny, as She Hankers After Mouse Chase

"It's a tough life for a cat in the Hall of Justice," remarked Deputy Sheriff Jack Wilmot, as he observed a scrawny, mouse-colored feline, wandering aimlessly through the marble corridors of the new structure.

"I don't know why," responded Deputy Jack Harrington, another bachelor of the office. "Why, I been feeding that cat on the fat of the land, and others, too. Now why is she so skinny?"

"Listen, did you ever hear of a girl with no men around, or a man away from the women? If you have you'd notice they don't doll up. It's a matter of pride."

"Pride. What of it? A cat doesn't doll up."

LAYS CRIME TO CARELESS CAR OWNERS

Sheriff Traeger Tells How Ease of Taking Autos Aids Criminals in Onslaughts

The general public is contributing to major crimes through carelessness amounting to criminal negligence in making it easy for crooks to steal automobiles to carry out their practices, according to Sheriff Traeger, who has made a special study of this form of crime during his regime.

Statistics show that most major crimes are committed with a stolen automobile as an accessory, and hence it follows that every citizen who does not take ordinary precautions to prevent the theft of his car is indirectly guilty of creating conditions which help the hold-up man, the burglar, the murderer, or other outlaw against society, states the Sheriff. The crook does not make the mistake of riding to the scene of a crime in his own automobile.

Sheriff Traeger is conducting an active public-relations campaign to educate the public to co-operate with the officers by taking ordinary precautions to prevent the theft of cars. The Sheriff's auto-theft division includes fourteen men under the direction of Capt. W. H. Bispham. During the last year the division recovered stolen automobiles aggregating in value $524,349.

During 1925, 11,234 cars were reported stolen in Los Angeles county, of which 8546 were subsequently recovered. Those sponsoring the Sheriff's campaign for reelection state that this number can be reduced 50 per cent, if the general public will follow the instruction outlined in the public-relations campaign instituted by Traeger.

The Sheriff is making his plea to the voters to be continued in office that he may carry to consummation this campaign with other constructive features he has inaugurated while in office.

The Memorial Day address this afternoon in the formal services in Roosevelt Memorial Park, One Hundred Eighty-second street and Normandie avenue, will be made by Sheriff Traeger. On Tuesday noon, he is slated to address the Kiwanians of Highland Park at a gathering at Avenue 55 and Pasadena avenue.

Saving the Hawaiian Breadfruit

The breadfruit trees of Hawaii which the natives rely upon to a great extent for food has been threatened with extinction but it is expected that the trees will be revived through the result of a ten months' scientific voyage recently completed by Garrit P. Wilder, of the Bernice P. Bishop Museum of Honolulu. Mr. Wilder journeyed from island to island through Polynesia on trading schooners gathering the planting stock of the many varieties of the breadfruit tree, which is reported to be in danger of extinction. In all, 33 new types were obtained, of which about 250 specimens, adapted to the climate of Hawaii, can be grown.

DIES WAITING TO ENTER HOSPITAL

Succumbs on Street Because of No Beds Vacant at County Institution

John Jamison automatically removed his name from the "bed waiting list" of the General Hospital last night by collapsing at First and Broadway and dying before the Receiving Hospital could be reached, police reported.

On his person, police reported, was a General Hospital note dated May 29, last, stating that because no beds were available in the ward to which he had been assigned, he had been placed on the "bed waiting list," and probably could be cared for tomorrow.

Jamison's death was ascribed to heart trouble. He was about 50 years of age and lived at the Medford Hotel in North Broadway.

ENGINEER WINS RACE WITH DEATH

Operation Saves Life of J. R. Larson After Fast Trip from Catalina Island

Joseph R. Larson, 4641 Melbourne avenue, resident engineer of the Los Angeles Traffic Commission, won a race against death yesterday. Suddenly seized with an acute attack of appendicitis while on an outing at Catalina Island, he was rushed to San Pedro in a speed boat and then to St. Vincent's Hospital in a waiting ambulance, where an immediate operation saved his life.

Although his condition was regarded as extremely critical when admitted to the institution he withstood the operation well and was reported as resting well and on the road to recovery late last night by Dr. C. G. Toland, the physician and surgeon in attendance.

Despite a heavy fog off the harbor requiring a reduction in the speed of the boat on its dash to the mainland, the trip was made in an hour and ten minutes, Dr. Toland said.

Three Old-Time Windjammers Sunk in Battle

Three old-time windjammers went to their graves off Catalina Island yesterday in the spectacular burning of a flotilla of Tripolitan pirate craft and a British gunboat, an incident in the filming of James Cruze's "Old Ironsides."

Broadsides from the American frigate Constitution and the British man-o'-war Intrepid sank the eighty-foot schooners Ave Maria and Los Amigos, while a few minutes later the schooner Verdun, converted into a replica of the Intrepid, was blown up by her own crew to prevent her capture by Tripolitans.

Mr. Cruze will bring the U.S.S. Constitution to Long Beach late this week for restoration of her top hamper, after which a launching scene will be enacted at the Craig shipyards. She will then return to Catalina for the final shots of the historical production, including scenes of the Constitution and her consorts advancing into battle under full sail.

TRAEGER TO ADDRESS HIGHLAND PARK CLUB

Members of the Highland Park Kiwanis Club will gather this noon at a luncheon at the club headquarters, Avenue 55 and Pasadena avenue. William I. Traeger, Sheriff of Los Angeles county, will be a guest of honor and deliver an address.

Limit to the Star's Size

The source of the meteors which pass through the earth's atmosphere is explained by some recent conclusions of a noted British scientist who says that a star whose mass is fifty time that of our un ha reached its limit in greatness. Stars of greater mass than this cannot exist; they would burst of their very enormity. Their own pressure from within, combined with the centrifugal forces of rotation, would overbalance the force of gravitation, and they would fly apart in billions of fragments.

A PRIZE RECIPE

Pie Plant Pie

This pie recipe by Miss Myra Germond is delicious. It won a prize in the recent Crisco Coast Recipe Contest.

Pastry:

2 cups pastry flour
⅓ cup Crisco
½ teaspoon salt
6 to 8 tablespoons cold water

Sift pastry flour and salt together. Cut shortening in with two knives until the consistency of small peas. Add only enough ice water to hold. Roll.

Filling

2 cups pie plant cut small
½ cup sugar
1 egg beaten
1 grated orange rind
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon pastry flour

LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA

has it's islands

Romantic—Historic—Abounding in Beauty—Undeveloped

Some day these islands off the Santa Barbara shore are going to come into their own . . . as other islands have. In such an event, mainland headquarters for transportation are going to be at the closest point . . . and that's Santa Barbara. There is no argument, for rumors and distant rumbling have already been heard. It is impossible, where there is extensive progress, to keep people from developing those things that nature has given—so be on the lookout for things that might happen.

Better still. Come to Santa Barbara. See. Look. You will find that architectural beauty is a Santa Barbara creation. You will know that more individuals are unselfish here than in any city the world can name. People who are willing to help Santa Barbara first compose the citizenship. They are spending and giving and spending to help those homeseekers and investors who are to follow—realize that there is room for them and that their decision to come has been a wise one.

Include a drive to Santa Barbara or a trip in your Sunday plans for the coming month. Hotels and restaurants whose service is a symbol of Santa Barbara hospitality will see that you are well cared for . . . you can then ask questions about this wonderful, beautiful city.

FILM FINANCE SCOPE WIDENED

United Artists' Subsidiary Increases Stock

Barrymore, Valentino, West and Swanson Backed

Enlarged Pickford-Fairbanks Studio to be Built

The Art Finance Company, an off-shoot of United Artists through which "The Bat" and other motion-picture productions have been financed, has increased its capital stock to $5,000,000, and henceforth will provide the backing for the productions of John Barrymore, Rudolph Valentino, Gloria Swanson and Roland West, according to a wire received by The Times yesterday from Joseph Schenck, chairman of the board of directors of United Artists, who is in New York.

The directors of the enlarged organization include Albert Lasker, Herbert Fleishaker, Paul Block, Louis Lavy of Stanchfield & Levy, Nathan Burkan, Lou Anger, Dennis O'Brien, John Considine, Jr., and Robert Lehman, Mr. Schenck declared.

The film head denied that a studio will be built in Burbank to take care of the increased production schedule, as has been reported in Hollywood, but said that the facilities of the Pickford-Fairbanks studio in Hollywood will be greatly increased and that the studio will be renamed the United Artists Studios.

More than $1,000,000 will be expended in enlarging the Pickford-Fairbanks studios, Schenck declared.

This statement clarifies the many rumors as to who will finance Gloria Swanson when she goes with United Artists. It has been reported and generally understood in Hollywood that E. L. Doheny would provide the backing for the actress, but rumors have arisen lately that she would seek other financial aid.

Summer School of Missions for Southland Opens

The Southern California summer school of missions opened at the First Methodist Church yesterday morning with an attendance of more than 200 men and women. Rev. Lynn T. White was the first speaker and was followed by Mrs. R. W. Jones, Mrs. W. G. Conley, Rev. George Butterfield and Mrs. Lena Leonard Fisher.

The afternoon was devoted to conference classes and talks by Mrs. Carl Mather and Mrs. A. Rosenberger.

Today's sessions will be devoted to reports by missionaries from local and foreign fields. These meetings are for the purpose of inspiring workers, hearing reviews and news from the missionary field, and for the training of new members. A luncheon will be served in the church at noon on Thursday to which all denominations are invited.

Evening-Earned College Degrees to be Conferred

Evening-earned college degrees will be awarded along with the sheepskins conferred upon the students and co-eds from the campus of the University of Southern California at the June commencement exercises this week when seventy-one adult students, including fifty-four women, receive degrees and diplomas as a result of university work completed at metropolitan college, University of Southern California, the downtown evening school.

Registration figures for 1925-1926 at metropolitan college, Seventh and Los Angeles streets, disclose that 5102 students attended afternoon, evening and Saturday morning courses this year.

Metropolitan college was established in July, 1924.

French Player Suggests Film 'Nations League'

There should be a league of nations counsel in the motion-picture business declares Arlette Marchal, the French actress, who was recently "imported" to America from France by Paramount.

Miss Marchal, who is playing the role of Zika in Marshall Neilan's "Diplomacy," says that many foreign people who come to Hollywood do not have an understanding of the American methods of film production, and often they become involved in misunderstandings because they fail to comprehend the inner workings of the Hollywood studios.

"In America you rush, rush, rush!" she says. "In France we work much slower. More time is given to making a picture. It is difficult for a foreigner to understand the many business obligations which he must observe here. Also, the immensity of the film business in Hollywood is a bit overwhelming. I am thoroughly enjoying my work here, and I am learning much regarding the American methods of picture making."

ACTRESS DENIES SHE VISITED PORTLAND

David Kirkland was casting a new leading lady to play opposite Fred Thomson in his present picture, "The Two-Gun Man."

Several beauties were lind in the the outer office waiting to be admitted to the inner sanctum where Kirkland interviewed them for the part. The secretary ushered them in one at a time. She was about to admit a blond type.

"Say!" exclaimed the steno as she gazed upon the blond beauty, "haven't I seen you before? Didn't you work for the Portland Cement Company?"

"No!" pouted the fair one, "I've never even been there!"

ORPHEUM BILL ANOTHER TOPPER

Pauline Frederick to Play Florence Reed Role in "Shanghai Gesture" at El Capitan Theater; Warner in Christ Role

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

The holiday crowd at the Orpheum yesterday liked the bill first rate. And they were right. Most of the acts are raves, and none can be rated below the G class.

I do wish, though, that the monologists would leave off quoting from Joe Miller and be themselves. Talk as they do in real life. That is, of course, within reason! Their own line of chatter is usually glittery stuff. Maybe at that it is too fast for the mob level.

Which leads us to Harry Hines. I'll bet Hines has a line of wisdom wows in his dome that would raise the rafters if he would turn it loose. Instead of which he sticks to lines like "That ain't no lady, that's my wife." I'm not sure he used that very one, but of that vintage. He flatters himself when he calls himself "the 58th variety." He is only one of many of the fifty-seven. He has a nice voice and can dance, and we wish he would warble and hoof a little more unless he will change his patter. His singing and dancing raise him into the hit class.

Marion Harris! That sweet artist has improved ever over her former work. She can change the most cerulean daddy or caliente mamma song into a lovely babyhue that would page the angels with no offense. And when she puts on a white gown and leans against the piano, with the spotlight on her, and sings about "When the day is flown how sweet to be alone, at peace with the world and you," why she has us all rufned, that's all.

Marion has a quality in her voice that Ellinor Glyn would call it. Her songs are all new, and how she does dramatise them! She can don a wisp of georgette with a few feathers for trimming, and without moving a muscle, make you believe at her own sweet will with that soft, enthralling voice of hers and some power of drama within her, that she is either a little pink gingham heroine of the country or a naughty rose of old Broadway.

The Avon Comedy Four always rip the hall wide open with the noise they get, and their act beats former ones all hollow. A comic revue is what their turn is, with a number of funny little scenes, some of them lifted, maybe, but smartly new enough to be regular spankers. Their grand opera travesty is excellent, but the real yells are the fireman and the burlesque athletic turns. The voices obbligato along to the comedy in great shape.

Another act with a revue-ish cast is the dance production of Danny Dare. What a stepper Danny is, to be sure. And what a brilliant little novelty is the dancing horse bit. There is a boy, a dancer, in the act, Alam McLay, who is as prone to pictures as the sparks to fly upward. His smile is worth a million, and though not dancing much, he handles his partner with a splendid grace. He is like Ramon Novarro, and should have a Kleig chance. A girl in the act—I think Harriet Cole—anyhow she sings the girl jockey song—has a personality and talents that are going to land her where nobody is going to have to guess her name from the program bunch. Carolyn Smith is a dainty doll and a fine dancer, and Virginia Watson ditto.

That nice Zelaya with his wizard power over the piano is here again. Here is a musician who doesn't believe that a sense of humor is unbecoming in an artist. His talk on music is really amusing, and he is a great hit.

Opening the bill are Don Valerio and company in a zippish wire-walking act, and down in the recessional are Weston's "Models D'Art," who do some beautiful posing, but who play with a short cast, so that one sees such anomalies as lady gladiators. Whiting and Burt are with us again in a laudable new act.

"SHANGHAI GESTURE" FOR MISS FREDERICK

Pauline Frederick is to appear at the El Capitan Theater in Hollywood in "The Shanghai Gesture," according to word just received. Miss Frederick has signed with A. H. Woods for the part now played in New York by Florence Reed.

So New York is not to have a corner on the torrid drama. An excellent company will support Miss Frederick in the Colton play.

It is quite likely that "The Shanghai Gesture" will follow "The Green Hat," which is to open after the Charlot Revue.

At present the noted star is appearing in pictures. She will shortly start work at Universal City in an Arthur Beck production.

Warner as the Christ

Unless all signs fail, H. B. Warner, now under contract to Cecil B. De Mille, will play the role of the Christ in De Mille's picture, "Thirty Pieces of Silver."

Warner has achieved a phenomenal success in his playing of the star role in the film version of "Silence." He also appeared in New York in the stage play.

This will not be the first time that the role of the Christ has been shown on the screen, as Jean Hersholt played the part in Thomas H. Ince's picture, "Civilization," made about nine years ago.

Patsy Ruth on Stage

Patsy Ruth Miller is to appear in a play at the Community Theater as soon as she finds time from her engagement with the Warner Brothers. The Pasadena theater is anxious to have her, and Miss Miller is equally eager to see what she can do in the spoken drama.

Gardner James to Sign

Unless all negotiations go astray, Gardner James will sign a big new contract with an important firm and will take the place of a juvenile star now with that firm, but who is taking up a new contract.

In the meantime the juvenile is to play one of the leading roles in Richard Barthelmess' picture, "Four Feathers," by E. A. Mason.

It is said that it was James's splendid work in "Hell Bent for Heaven" which is winning him such excellent recognition. The young actor has been in pictures only a few months in the West, although he was practically raised on the stage.

Corinne Griffith's Contract

Corinne Griffith returned yesterday from New York and set at rest all rumors regarding her contract with First National. She admitted that First National has bought an equity from E. M. Asher, et al., in her pictures, but stated that the Corinne Griffith Productions will continue to function as heretofore until the end of her contract, which will be finished, she estimates, in September or October. She has still three pictures to make.

Regarding her future plans, it would seem reasonable that she might sign with First National in view of the interest they are taking in her affairs. Nevertheless she declares she has not at all made up her mind and will not until the finish of her contract.

Miss Griffith admitted that she had "talked with United Artists officials and representatives," but that absolutely no action had been taken.

Miss Griffith is starting work almost at once in an adaptation of "Ashes." Her director is Richard Wallace, who made such a huge success of Mabel Normand's picture made for Hal Roach, and which, I believe, is to be titled "Raggedy Ann."

Ross McCutcheon Signs

Ross McCutcheon, well known to the stage, has just signed to play a role in Buster Keaton's current picture.

John T. Murray in It

Lloyd Whitlock Leaves

Lloyd Whitlock has gone to New York, where he is to play an important role in Irvin Willat's picture, "Prisoner of Hope." It is on the cards that he will appear in another Paramount picture, after which he may go to Germany to play the lead in a picture to be made in Berlin.

Paul McAllister Chosen

Paul McAllister has been chosen as a member of the cast who will support Vilma Banky and Ronald Colman in "The Winning of Barbara Worth."

Carl Laemmle's Sailing Date

Carl Laemmle, president of Universal, will leave on June 27, next, for Europe, where he will visit leading cities in Germany, England, France and other countries.

It is expected that Mr. Laemmle will sign a number of foreign directors and actors, with possibly an actress or two, although Mr. Laemmle apparently considers the foreign actresses a bit too hectic in their acting methods to secure the approval of our censors, thus leaving American actresses their peace of mind as regards the foreign invasion so far at least as Universal is concerned.

Pola May Not Make It

It is not at all certain, after all, that Ernest Vadja's "Confessions" will be Pola Negri's next Paramount picture.

From authoritative sources it is learned that there is some legal complication concerning the story, due to the fact that it also forms the basis of a play not yet produced, but due for production in New York.

WALTER ANTHONY IS TO TITLE "CHINA"

Walter Anthony is to title I. O. Upham's production of "China."

Through the courtesy of Universal officials, arrangements have been concluded whereby Anthony is to be "loaned" to the San Francisco clubman for this occasion, in response to his expressed desire for Universal's chief title writer, it is understood.

DeLeon Anthony, son of the title writer, has departed for the northern city and will immediately start editing and cutting the picture, preparatory to his father's arrival.

ENGLAND TO SEND ANOTHER REVUE HERE

So heartily has "Charlots Revue" been received in this country that another revue is being prepared on the continent, which will also have an all-English cast and keep within the mood of the one now headed by Jack Buchanan, Beatrice Lillie and Gertrude Lawrence, now playing at El Capitan, Hollywood.

This English company, which is enjoying an unusually successful run, has beauty and life, and the play is free from offensive allusions.

ETHEL WALES HAS ROLE IN WAR FILM

Ethel Wales, who has made nineteen appearances on the Paramount program, appearing in many of the biggest successes, is always adding a new program, however, and recently did her first work at Universal in "Take It From Me," with Reginald Denny, which William Seiter directed.

The actress opened her year with a long engagement in "The Unknown Soldier," a Renaud Hoffman production in which she plays a most human role. This picture is showing at the Figueroa Theater.

Another police dog is bidding for screen fame. This one is called Fang, and is making his studio debut in support of Ben Wilson and Neva Gerber at the California Studios, Inc., in a comedy-drama entitled "Baited Traps."

EDESON'S CHANGE OF LOYALTY PUZZLES IN "VOLGA BOATMAN"

BY ALMA WHITAKER

I am thoroughly worried about Robert Edeson's role in "The Volga Boatman," at the Carthay Circle Theater.

You see, he is the Princess's Aristocratic papa, Prince Nikita, in those first glittering regal scenes in which he is haughtily scorning the nasty, dirty, noisy rough revolutionists.

He registers aristocratic scorn magnificently. We think we know exactly what he thinks of soiled ruffians who break into the princely domiciles and muss up the furniture, and demand the blood of aristocrats.

We quiver with thrilled admiration when he declines to reveal anything but cold hauteur as the excited and violent "lower orders" menace him.

"BLOOD WILL TELL"

"Ah," we murmur, ardently, "blood will tell," as we hopefully suspect a tinge of aristocratic blue blood running in our own veins.

"Oh," we shudder, as it seems evident that his life has been accepted in place of the beautiful Vera, who jolly well must be saved so the handsome Volga Boatman, William Boyd, can get into all sorts of emotional trouble about her by-and-by, and sizzle our marrows with anxiety for several more reels.

And we see him led off, apparently to meet a very nasty death. Even in all the ensuing excitement and the dash for freedom of Princess Vera and the Volga Boatman in the old drovisky ,we pay Papa Prince Nikita the tribute of a parting sigh. We do our best to mentally bury him with appropriate princely honors.

And then, several reels later, he is discovered in Paris and bestowing compliments where the late King Edward. And of course late Majesty was a confirmed old dear known as "Edward the Peacemaker," and didn't he do it all by dining with enemies and summed up France's "froggy?" Didn't King Edward establish that amazing entente cordiale by which two nations had been making faces at each other through the centuries exchanging ruda remarks across the Channel, became fond and affectionate mutual admirers overnight luxe?

HOW COULD HE!

Well, what, how, under what circumstances did Prince Eugenio ensnare the rough and ready revolutionists into a proper appreciation of his commanding charms?

And was he a superpatriot and craven backslider? Did he flee to Russia or his skin the nearest he a glorious convert or a traitor? I am afraid we shall never know.

But then, of course, it has never been decided whether Hamlet was mad or only shamming, even whether Bacon wrote Shakespeare. There are often great mysteries in historic matters.

REUNITE STARS IN 'SON OF SHEIK'

Refilm Scenes From First Success

Agnes Ayres and Rudolph Valentino

AFTER a five-year separation, Agnes Ayres and Rudolph Valentino are in love again—but it's only for the movies.

Miss Ayres will terminate a screen vacation of twelve months when she stands before the camera with Valentino this week for scenes of "Son of the Sheik," the new picture Valentino is making for John W. Considine, Jr.

They will appear in replicas of the picturesque costumes they wore in "The Sheik," the picture which swept them both to sudden fame and stardom five years ago, and to which "Son of the Sheik is a sequel.

Sentiment, rather than financial remuneration, prompted Miss Ayres to sign for the part, according to Mr. Considine.

"When it was decided that 'Son of the Sheik' should contain 'flash-backs' to the old 'sheik,'" he said, "both Mr. Valentino and myself felt that the picture would not be complete without Miss Ayres. She gladly consented to enact the role, although she had not intended to return to the screen until later in the year."

And it is all very well, but there must have been some prosaically diplomacy on tap in the interval. That fellow ought to be filling Trotsky's job in Russia today.
You see, this Robert Elsen looks no very much like the late King Edward. And of course, his late Majesty was considerable of a diplomat too. Wasn't the old dear known as "Edward, the Peacemaker," and didn't he do it all by dining with suitable rulers in Paris and bestowing charming compliments where the more vulgar Johnny Bulls had summed up France's attributes as "froggy"? Didn't King Edward establish that amazing Entente Cordiale by which two nations that had been making faces at each other through the centuries and exchanging rude remarks across the Channel, became fond and affectionate mutual flatterers of Louse?
HOW COULD HE?
Well, what, how, under what circumstances did Prince Nicholas emerge the rough and rude peasant-tinted into a proper appreciation of his commanding charms?
And was he a superpatriot or a craven backslider? Did he love Russia or his skin the more? Was he a glorious convert or a traitor? I am afraid we shall never know.
But then, of course, it has never been decided whether Hamlet was mad or only shamming—even whether Bacon wrote Shakespeare. There are often great deal of mysteries in historic masterpieces later.

Producer Finds Italian Royalty in Picture Role

When Michael Corper, producer of Marjorie Rambeau in "They Knew What They Wanted" signed Eugenio de Liguoro to play the role of Angelo in the current Majestic hit, he did not know at the time that he had affixed the name of a perfectly legitimate Italian prince to the contract.

The astounding discovery that the popular character in the play is second in line as heir to the throne of the Ferdinando Premio in Italy was brought about when the Italian Consul here gave the information.

Eugenio De Liguoro is known in Italy as the Prince of Premio under the royal title of Prince Eugenio, first son of Saint Alphonsi de Liguoro, was King of Naples dimando II, a spacious province in the Italian nation.

In spite of the fact that the royal Liguoro family in Italy is considered some of the wealthiest of Italian nobility, Prince Eugenio has made his own way in the country for several years instead and will remain here indefinitely until he has at least earned a fortune under his own name.

CHAMPAGNESQUE

IRENE BORDONI OFFERS MERRY DIVERTISSEMENT

By Edwin Schallert

You will not miss a single song if you are a trifle late for "Naughty Cinderella," but—

Don't by any chance be too late in availing yourself of the opportunity of seeing this merry and entertaining piece du theater.

It is Irene Bordoni's gay contribution to a new locally somewhat lackadaisical theatrical season, and it is by all odds one of the smartest divertissements in which she has made her effervescent presence. A piquant play with a dash of music to be found at the Biltmore.

"Naughty Cinderella?" Yes, quite naughty. But at the same time, more than amusing. Riotous, in fact, in a second act that, for its babel of mirthful excitement, is like a dazzling sunburst.

Avery Hopwood has done the adaptation from the French, and that insures the sparkle, triple sec, and all the rest of the necessary dizzy champagnesque effects that belong to an ideally intimate Bordoni comedy.

Irene herself sings and sighs, gesticulates and musically laughs and chuckles her way through the performance. She talks in French and in Italian, and makes them both interesting. She argues, fights and even proffers a flash or two of slapstick at the right and appropriate moment.

If anything she is more fascinating than she has ever been. She has never indeed, given more delightful proof of her versatility both as a comedienne (and a very slyly intriguing one,) and as a chanteuse of a type, a pantomimist or a bright personal enchantress. You will not, in fact, have to have that oftentimes necessary peculiar Bordoni appreciation to enjoy her in this uproarious and brightly charming vehicle.

In quick succession her songs captivated her audience. The first did not come until near the end of the opening act—the lilting "Do I Love You?" The remaining ones (there are four in the play altogether) were comprised in the second, and like her dialogue ran to French and Italian as well as English.

"That Means Nothing to Me" was her popular triumph—a number as daring as a day (or better still), a night in Paris.

As she does it, with poise and pause, and an all-too-meaningful inflection. It is the veritable essence of the Bordoni mischief and also the Bordoni fascination.

I will not say that it does not present some shocking moments for those who are sensitive to a certain risque en tendre, but it is done with such consummate cleverness and such quick penetration into its dramatic values that it has the true quality of art.

I have not been so keen for the Bordoni type of cleverness until this song. In a way an appreciation for her talents has been something to acquire rather than to possess naturally. However, I found this dashing, breezy, changeful number an unexpected revelation of her art, that places it on something of that same fine level as Ivette Guilbert's and (though I have not heard her) I surmise also that of Raquel Meller.

In any case, if she desires to quit starring in comedies, I would not be at all surprised if Miss Bordoni could make a nation-wide success now as a chanteuse in recital. It seems to me that she attempted this once within the past few years but not with great success, but there was evident growth in her interpretation last evening of both her style, her poise and her finesse.

The company that Irene Bordoni has brought with her is in the majority of respects an excellent one. The settings and naturally the costumes are highly embellishing. There is rare atmosphere particularly in the scene laid at the Lido, with its warmth of Venetian fantasy and romance.

Nothing more convulsingly funny than that episode where the Italian policeman brings on one of Chou-Chou's would-be suitors by the nape of the neck because he had jumped out of the window of her room, has been seen here in months. A really great bit of clowning was done here by John Deverell and Alfred Ilma. In virtually every way this was the mirthful climax of the show. Wait and watch for it, but you won't need to.

Deverell also captured a great laugh when he smashed the settee at the end of the second act, and if this comedy effect is not already in the play it ought to be. Deverell's line of funmaking is in its way brilliant. The particular merit is its perfect ease, smoothness and deft speed.

Henry Kendall did not always appear so sure in the leading role, but on the whole he gave an adequate support to the star. It is a role that requires a constant alertness, as so many of his scenes are with her.

Orlando Daly and Betty Murray among others were capable, and mention might also be made of Mary Robinson.

You may look forward to Irene Bordoni in "Naughty Cinderella" with a very unusual anticipation of pleasure. If the play may seem to drag somewhat in the opening act it is sufficiently lively later.

Laemmle's New Theater Brings Total to 350

With 1000 theaters as his acknowledged goal, Carl Laemmle's Universal Chain Theater Enterprises now total 350, according to word just received from New York.

The New Capitol Theater in Miami, Fla., has been purchased for $350,000. It seats 1500. Two theaters in Oregon have been acquired at a cost of $300,000. These are the Donald and Rex theaters in Eugene, Or. Universal also announced that it would build a 1600-seat house in a suburb of Portland.

Mr. Laemmle has twenty men scouring the country looking for available theaters or towns and cities where Universal films do not get an even break with opposition product. These men are authorized to make whatever deals they believe best for Universal.

COMPLETES CHAPTER PLAY

Wallace MacDonald has completed his starring role in Universal's chapter play called "The Great West That Was."

Fellow-Players Will Honor Her

Billie Dove,

Leading lady for Douglas Fairbanks in "The Black Pirate," who will be given a welcome-home reception tonight at Grauman's Egyptian Theater. Miss Dove has just returned from an extended eastern tour.

HILLSTREET WINS FAVOR

Harriet Hoctor and William Holbrook head the bill with excellent dancing and artistic posing. Miss Hoctor in her impression of Mae Murray as the Merry Widow is charming and her more difficult dances are also worthy of attention. Her toe dance is a thing of beauty.

There is an unexpected element in the act by Boyle and Della which arouses intense interest and enthusiasm. The boob musician on the stage with his partner in the audience never ceases to be a thrill and this particular act is really very funny.

Our idea of a good single entertainer is one who gives his stuff so rapidly that it all goes down in one merry swallow. Bob La Salle fills this requirement ably and leaves a pleasant feeling of fun, good for the digestion.

Tad Tieman with his tunesmiths and Pinkie Dees put on some scholastic humor and melody which please and give the proper syncopating touch without which no vaudeville bill seems complete.

Howard's Drama Continues to Hold Playgoers

Miss Rambeau, in the role of Amy, a hard-boiled waitress from San Francisco who becomes William Burress's picture bride, declares she has never had a role which offered more chances for her to disclose the real strength of her ability.

GRADUATES GIVE ANNUAL CONCERT

The annual commencement concert of the college of music, University of Southern California, last evening in Bovard Auditorium, was given by the seniors and advanced students of the college of music, assisted by the college orchestra, under the direction of Alexander Stewart. A special feature was the Piano Concerto in G minor, Mendelssohn, played by Marjorie Schoeller, with orchestral accompaniment.

The senior class 1926 includes: Candidates for bachelor of music degree: Grace E. Friedman, public school music; Maxine Russell, public school music; Rudolph Neschim Schrager, organ and theory; Mary Armstrong Taylor, public school music. Candidates for diplomas: Florence Lucille Austin, piano and theory; Dorothy R. Cameron, violin and theory; Clara Marie Jardo, public school music; Ines Irene Juvinal, public school music; Emelie Lynn Kaye, public school music; Rena Eloise Muckelroy, voice and theory; Aileen Robrer, voice and theory; Esther Rosenbaum, public school music; Marjorie Virginia Schoeller, piano and theory; Adrienne M. Zick, organ and theory. Candidates for certificates: Edna Glass, voice and theory; Violet E. Morse, piano and theory.

EL CAPITAN PLAYERS TO BE "NANCY" GUESTS

On Thursday Miss Welford and her company were guests of Edward D. Smith at the Charlot Revue matinee at El Capitan Theater, Hollywood. The reason for this exchange of amenities between Nancy and the English stars is more than casual. Miss Welford was born in Putney, a suburb of London, and spent her childhood there.

COMPLETES CHAPTER PLAY

Harry Langdon has left his dumb-bells and weights for a few days to make location shots on h's next First National feature comedy, "The Yes Man." He will resume his exercise as assistant to a German weight lifter in a few days.

'Why Marry?' is Next Attraction at Community

"Why Marry?" which was a Pulitzer prize-winner a few years back and a great New York success, although it never got to California, is to be the next offering of the Pasadena Community Players, to be given from June 3 to 12.

"Why Marry?" is by Jesse Lynch Williams, who himself is happily married and has three children. In it he presents the point that social defects cannot be cured by individual treatment. No one sees the villain of the piece, except in his mind, he being off stage throughout—since the whole of society is the villain. The public is responsible for the rules and regulations of the marriage game. Williams himself has said of his play, "Instead of having fun with human nature, I tried to go higher up and have fun with human institutions."

Coming thus forward as the satirist of marriage as a social institution; Williams discusses the defects of marriage, illustrating through one family four different aspects of the subject. The playwright's wit is made the more engaging because he dangles with ideas.

In New York the play had a notable cast that included Nat Goodwin, Estelle Winwood, Ernest Lawford and Shelley Hull. After two years on the road and shortly after the company had arrived on this coast, Nat Goodwin, who was being featured on the tour, died. The further bookings were withdrawn and the California audiences never saw the production.

In the Community Playhouse production there will be a notable company, including Director Gilmor Brown, Associate Director Maurice Wells, Ralph Freud, Helen Hardison of Los Angeles and Robert Loofbourrow. The settings are designed by James Hyde, the new art director of the playhouse.

ORCHESTRA LEADER ARRIVES HERE TODAY

Bakaleinikoff, the Los Angeles orchestra leader and composer, returns to Los Angeles this afternoon on the Santa Fe, after three triumphant years in the East. It is rumored that he will take charge of one of the Publix theater orchestras.

A large reception will be accorded him at the train upon his arrival. He is accompanied by his wife, Fritzi Ridgeway. Many notables of stage and screen will be present to greet him.

TO PRESENT ARTIST STUDENT

On Wednesday evening at 8:15 p.m., Joseph Zoellner, Sr., of the Zoellner Conservatory will present his advanced pupil, Antoinette Bush, in a violin recital in the music room of the Biltmore Hotel. Miss Bush, whose father is Superintendent of Schools of South Pasadena, has had all her training with Joseph Zoellner, Sr. She has made many public appearances this past season. She will be assisted by Lucille McDavitt, accompanist, and Margaret Malcomson, pianist. Miss Malcomson is the first winner of Southern California in the finals of the advanced piano section in the recent Eisteddfod contest. Miss McDavitt and Miss Malcomson are pupils of Joseph Zoellner, Jr.

FORUM TO PRESENT IRENE RICH

"La Boheme" Will End Run Friday — Duplex Bill Follows

The run of "La Boheme," starring Lillian Gish and John Gilbert, will terminate on Friday evening at the Forum Theater.

This enchanting tale of the Latin Quarter of Paris and directed with such rare artistic quality by King Vidor has proven a delight to the theatergoers of this city.

Beginning Saturday the Forum will show a double bill of two Warner Brothers' pictures—"The Pleasure Buyers" with Irene Rich, Clive Brook and a great cast and "Hogan's Alley," with Monte Blue and a long list of favorites.

These two pictures will be shown as a single bill and in addition the Forum will offer Ted Henkel and his orchestra on the stage with Enos Fressere and Company in a special act.

Rice and Cady, Old Favorites, Back at Palace

In 1908 Rice and Cady made their debut at the Mason Theater in Los Angeles in the Weber and Fields success, "Fiddle-dee-dee." As the stars of this show they became the favorites of the then city of 190,000 people and proceeded to offer all of the Weber and Field successes of the day including "Hoity-Toity."

In the company supporting these comedians happened to be Barney Bernard, Nora Bayes and Ed Gallagher of Gallagher and Shean, and it was in this fine training school that these players started their career. Georgie O'Ramey, another star of today, was a member of this company.

Rice and Cady, since their successes here, have traveled eastward and have the honor of being the only two comedians ever to be allowed by Weber and Fields to present their shows in New York City. They have toured the Orpheum and Keith circuits and now they are back where they first enjoyed success and will be one of the notable features on the Broadway Palace Theater bill opening today.

"Los Angeles is our home now and we both will live here the rest of our lives," said Rice yesterday.

The two musical comedy stars will present a new offering entitled "Am I Right?"

Billie Dove to be Honor Guest at the Egyptian

A welcome home reception will be tendered Billie Dove, leading lady in "The Black Pirate," Douglas Fairbanks's technicolor film, by representatives of all departments of the film industry tonight in Grauman's Egyptian Theater.

Just returned from an extended eastern tour, Miss Dove will be the guest of honor at the night performance of "The Black Pirate" in its duplex presentation with Mary Pickford's "Sparrows" in the Hollywood playhouse.

Master of ceremonies in which homage will be paid to Miss Dove, will be William Beaudine, former president of the Motion-Picture Directors' Association and director of Miss Pickford in "Sparrows."

The duplex presentation of the two films, "The Black Pirate" hailed as the first successful all-color feature production, has attracted world-wide attention in the fact of it being a theatrical innovation by Sid Grauman.

SERIOUS STUDENTS STUDY AUDIENCES

The wish of countless vocal students that successful concert artists would descend from their eminent heights and make the effort to tell the still struggling ones how they did it, is meeting with response. Louis Graveure, famous baritone, in the very heights of his career, stops each summer to tell all those who will listen, just how he does it.

For three years he has conducted classes in Los Angeles and in San Francisco, and next week on Monday he will begin another at the Friday Morning clubhouse. Preceding each class with a lecture, Mr. Graveure supplies the immediate needs of his pupils and by his own singing points out to them the possibilities of future growth.

Concert audiences and their psychology are favorite themes of this teacher and this knowledge should be a vital part of any serious student's equipment. The auditors' class becomes the audience for the master class and thus a practical study of reactions is at hand.

BEAUDINE GREETING SHOWMEN FRIENDS

With the arrival of hundreds of prominent motion-picture exhibitors in the city this week to attend the convention of the M.P. T.O.A., William Beaudine, past president of the Directors' Association, is kept on the jump extending personal greetings to his many friends among the showmen. During his several trips around the country Beaudine acquired a large acquaintance with the theater owners in the leading cities and he made friends with scores of others through the medium of correspondence. His contact with the exhibitors of America has been one of the greatest factors in his success as a director, avers Beaudine. He maintains that the showmen can do more to assist a megaphone wielder with the selection of stories for picturization than any other group of persons within the industry.

MANAGER CHOSEN

Fred Leahy, well-known production expert, who for a time served as casting director at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios until Cliff Robertson could assume the reins, has been chosen to act as production manager for one of the important features of the year, George Hill's production of "Tell It To The Marines," in which Lon Chaney will head a notable cast.

Motion Picture Theater Owners of America Open Annual Session

The building, extending the full length of the pool, with a covered pergola in front, will be of fire-proof construction, and will house dressing rooms for boys and girls, locker rooms, showers, first aid room, water sterilising plant, and suit and towel storage rooms. The dressing rooms will provide accommodations for 600 people. A special feature of the building will be accommodations for families, so that adults with their children can enjoy the privileges of the pool.

The plans, as prepared by the Allied Architects, include the entire layout of the grounds, comprising more than twenty-two acres. Two team buildings, harmonious in architecture with the bath-house, to accommodate those making use of the facilities for field sports, will be erected, and provision has been made for baseball diamonds, basketball, tennis and volley-ball courts, horse-shoe courses, and other outdoor games. A complete children's playground also will be installed, including wading pools, slides, sand boxes and a miniature club-house.

Plans for the entire project call for the erection, at a later date, of an attractive community club-house, which can be used for dances, neighborhood meetings, lectures and theatricals, and similar events. Construction of this building, however, will be deferred until the bath-house, pool and outdoor game facilities have been completed.

OIL JOB REPORTED

A report from the Board of Public Works, recommending an oiling job on an unimproved nineteen-foot strip along Melrose avenue between Fairfax and Highland avenues, has been referred by the Council to the Public Works Committee.

PETITION REFERRED

The petition for the improvement of Bonnie Brae street between Temple street and First street has been referred to the City Engineer and Public Works Committee of the City Council.

City Insurance Ordinance Under Fire in Court

An attack on the city ordinance compelling real estate operators to protect prospective customers with indemnity insurance while being taken to properties for sale has been launched in Superior Court by George A. Bray and Howard Teale, doing business as the George A. Bray Company.

The plaintiffs contend the ordinance is arbitrary and unconstitutionally seeks to regulate the use of private automobiles.

Bray and H. R. Norton, an employee, were arrested last April for an asserted violation of the ordinance, it was said. The complaint added that unless the city were enjoined from enforcing the ordinance the police would continue to arrest the plaintiffs and their employees.

HALF-CENTURY HUNT FOR UNCLE RENEWED

EVANGELIST SEEKS VETERAN WHO LEFT HOME AFTER CIVIL WAR

A fifty-four-year search for Richard Mills, 78-year-old Civil War veteran, was renewed in Los Angeles yesterday by his nephew, W. Howard Ray Mills, 40-year-old evangelist, in charge of the Good-will Industries Men's Club.

According to the nephew, Mills left the family home at Newcastle, Pa., seven years after the close of the Civil War to come to California, since that time he has communicated but rarely with his relatives, never giving an address, Rev. Mr. Mills stated.

The search was started by Col. A. C. Mills, brother of the veteran and father of the evangelist. At his request it was carried on after his death in 1878 by the other relatives, all of whom have since died except the son.

Memorial services which yesterday recalled memories of his pledge to his father that he would find his uncle, a family favorite, caused Mr. Mills to renew the search yesterday, he said.

NEWS OF SOUTHERN COUNTIES

ALL SOUTHLAND BARES HEADS TO HONOR DEAD

Leonard Wilson, commander of the Los Angeles County Council of the American Legion, delivered the Memorial Day oration. Mr. Wilson called on his audience to carry on the work of the heroic dead.

"There deaths have sanctified them," he declared. "They died in many lands and under many skies but they died gladly and willingly in order that the nation might live. They have left the torch of freedom and liberty in our hands. We cannot fail the dead. We must consecrate ourselves again to the ideals for which they gave all."

PACIFISTS ATTACKED

The veterans of all wars, he declared, abhor war, having tasted its bitter fruit. But they realize the mere desire for peace will not keep a nation's borders inviolate nor her rights respected. Preparedness must be practiced, he declared, in order that the nation for which so many have given their lives may itself live.

Peace propagandists, seeking to nullify the work of preparedness, were vigorously condemned. Mr. Wilson pointed particularly to the peace at any price propagandists seeking to have the schools and colleges of the nation abolish all military training.

In the war just passed, he declared, the nation paid a terrific price because it was unprepared. Its young officers prayed for inspiration on the battlefields because they lacked training. The peace propagandists, he declared, would place the United States in a similar situation in case of another national crisis.

Col. John R. Quinn, general chairman, then closed the services after Otto Mashek of the Ninth Infantry had sounded taps for the fallen heroes.

SERVICES AT SQUARE

In the morning, several thousands of men, women and children assembled at Pershing Square for memorial services conducted by the veterans of the Seventh California Volunteer Infantry of the Spanish-American War.

The invocation here was pronounced by Rev. Clinton Scott and Judge Morgan R. Galbreth delivered the oration. Mrs. Margaret Bryson sang "The Star Spangled Banner" and three volleys for the dead were fired by a squad from the One Hundred and Sixtieth Infantry.

Impressive Memorial Day services also were conducted at Hollywood. A parade preceded the formal exercises at the Hollywood High School. Edwards Davis spoke.

There were four divisions in the parade, the military division, comprising the students' training corps of the two high schools of the district, the organized reserves, and Hollywood and Urban military academies; the civil division, with Boy Scouts and civic and luncheon clubs; the veteran division, comprising the American Legion, Spanish War Veterans, and Veterans of Foreign Wars, with representatives of veterans of the Allied armies; and the auto and bus division, headed by Congressional Medal of Honor men, veterans from the Sawtelle Soldiers' Home, and other organizations.

FLOWERS ON SEA

Col. Arthur R. Kerwin, U.S.A., retired, who was in general charge of the program, C. C. Craig, president of the Hollywood Business Men's Club, who was chairman of the day, and Lieut. Richard R. Lee, commander of Hollywood Post, American Legion, were other speakers. Lieut. Lee presented the Congressional Medal wearers to the audience. There was community sining led by Hugo Kerchhoffer, organ solos were played by C. E. McAfee, and Gus Reed, bass soloist, sang. The invocation was given by Rev. C. C. Conaty, D.S.C., and the benediction by Rev. Neal Dodd.

Thousands of persons also assembled for the Memorial Day observance at Venice. Flowers were cast on the ocean from planes roaring overhead, and from the Venice pier. Superior Judge Haslett was the chief speaker at the services in the Venice ballroom, preceding the march to the pier's edge, and the casting of flowers on the waters. Hundreds of school children and members of Scout and Camp Fire organizations participated in the tribute to the dead.

FIELD MASS FOR DEAD

Solemn requiem military field mass was celebrated at Calvary Cemetery by Rev. Vincent Shephard, pastor of St. Vincent's parish, Hollywood, in memory of the soldier dead. Bishop Cantwell presided and Rev. Thomas K. Gorman delivered the sermon. The choir of Our Lady of Lourdes Church appeared in appropriate music. A large number of persons attended.

At Catalina, services for the war dead were conducted in the Greek amphitheater under the auspices of the American Legion and the Boy Scouts. A parade preceded the services. Flowers were strewn over the ocean from a plane. Maj. Laurence Mott was speaker of the day.

PASADENANS LAY FLOWERS ON SOLDIER GRAVES

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, May 31.—Military organizations comprised of veterans of the Civil War, the World War and the Spanish-American War today paid tribute to their comrades who gave up their lives in battle in the annual Memorial Day services at Mountain View Cemetery.

The Grand Army of the Republic, American Legion and Spanish War Veterans paraded to Library Park today, where piles of flowers had been left by patriotic citizens for distribution over the graves of the soldiers. At the cemetery each order conducted its ritualistic services.

PETALS FROM FLOWERS STREWED OVER GRAVES

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

REDLANDS, May 31.—Petals from thousands of flowers fell softly today over the graves where heroes lie sleeping while beautiful Memorial Day services were held in the great outdoor amphitheater here and words were spoken in tender memory of those who sacrificed their lives.

Representatives of patriotic organizations visited the cemetery and decorated with bouquets of flowers all the graves of the soldier dead.

The parade was led by the drum corps of the American Legion, dressed in white with blue sashes, and with all civic organizations, Boy Scouts and others represented and the school children marching with flowers in their hands.

Judge Stafford of Los Angeles, in his address, said it was a day with the tenderness of a funeral, but without its sadness.

The High School Girls' Glee Club sang, then came the dedication of a great flag at Hillside Cemetery donated by the Women's Relief Corps.

THOUSANDS ATTEND BEACH CEREMONIES

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, May 31.—Thousands of bay-district residents, augmented by the thousands who flocked to the beaches for the holiday, witnessed the Memorial Day parade this morning. Headed by the Santa Monica Municipal Band, veterans of this country's three most recent wars were in line, the G.A.R. ranks swelled by those who fought in the Spanish and World wars. American Legion, Sons of St. George and Red Cross divisions were followed by women's patriotic societies. An escort of police cleared the line of march. At Woodlawn Cemetery memorial services were conducted by Stephen Jackson Post, No. 191, G.A.R. Chaplains of patriotic orders laid a wreath on the monument of the unknown dead. Services in the municipal auditorium at Ocean Park in the afternoon included strewing the ocean with flowers by aviators from Clover Field.

GLENDALE MEMORIAL DRAWS 5000 PEOPLE

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

GLENDALE, May 31.—Grouped about the speakers' stand on the shaded lawns near the Little Church of the Flowers, a crowd estimated at 5000 persons participated in the Memorial Day service program arranged by the officials of the N. P. Banks Post of the G.A.R., Glendale, at Forest Lawn Memorial Park this afternoon.

The program was sponsored by the local post of the G.A.R. The parade was headed by Mayor McClain and Councilmen and regulated by Chief of Police Frazier and Col. Irvington as marshals.

Rev. Lincoln A. Ferris, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church of Glendale, was among the speakers at the exercises. Music was provided by the children's chorus of the Community Service under the direction of J. Arthur Meyers and by combined bands of Glendale organizations. In memory of Californians lost in the war a squad of soldiers from Fort MacArthur fired a salute over the "symbolic grave."

LONG BEACH SOCIETIES UNITE IN PARADE

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, May 31.—An imposing parade, participated in by every patriotic organization in the city; a fitting program of addresses and music with John Steven McGroarty as the principal speaker, and special exercises at the end of Pine-avenue pier for the sailor dead marked this city's observance of Memorial Day. Spanish and Civil War veterans, battalions from the battleships New Mexico, Idaho, Mississippi and California and soldiers from Fort MacArthur marched in the parade along with the Daughters of Veterans, Boy Scouts, the R.O.T.C. unit of Polytechnic High School, American members and others. Capt. James C. Gunn, commander of the R.O.T.C. unit, was grand marshal.

At the memorial exercises at the auditorium John Stevens McGroarty, Southland poet, playwright and author, paid fitting tribute to departed soldiers and sailors.

Another feature of the exercises was the reading of "Logan's General Orders" and Lincoln's Gettysburg address. The Long Beach Drum Corps and musicians of the municipal band rendered numbers. The exercises were held under the direction of local G.A.R. officials.

Special exercises were given in Lincoln Park under the auspices of the Grand Army post and the Woman's Relief Corps. There followed a ritualistic service at the end of the Pine-avenue pier, where members of the Woman's Relief Corps strewed flowers over the ocean in memory of dead sailors.

LEGION IN CHARGE AT REDONDO BEACH

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

REDONDO BEACH, May 31.—For the first time in the history of Redondo Beach Memorial Day services were conducted today by other than the G.A.R. Post, when the American Legion took charge of ceremonies. In the parade, in contrast to the twenty or thirty G.A.R. veterans who usually marched, was a single closed car providing ample room for every member of the local post who was able to attend. It is estimated that 20,000 persons witnessed the parade and thronged the beach today.

THOUSANDS PARADE IN ONTARIO PROGRAM

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ONTARIO, May 31.—Observance of Memorial Day here was featured by a parade through the business district, participated in by nearly 1000 school-children, members of Ontario Post, Grand Army of the Republic, Ontario Woman's Relief Corps, Ontario and Upland American Legion and auxiliaries, San Antonio and Los Serranos chapters, Daughter of the American Revolution, Spanish War Veterans, Sons of Veterans and other patriotic organizations. The parade ended at Chaffey Auditorium, where a special Memorial Day program was conducted under the direction of Post Commander Olois Podrasnik of the G.A.R. The speakers of the day were Rev. Adam Yingst, Civil War veteran, who told of standing by Logan's "big black horse" on the march through Georgia, and Rev. John Barron Toomay, pastor of Bethel Congregational Church.

POMONA SERVICES FEATURED BY PARADE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

POMONA, May 31.—Observing Memorial Day in a fitting manner today, Pomona paid homage to her soldier dead. A parade headed by city officials, the municipal band and with G.A.R. veterans, Spanish War veterans, the American Legion and the various auxiliary organizations in the line of march, formed at 10 o'clock this morning and marched to the Pomona Cemetery where all graves of departed comrades were banked with flowers and exercises conducted.

Preceding the parade, the Col. W. G. Shrieber Camp of Spanish War Veterans fired a salute as the feature of brief and impressive ceremonies in Central Park.

PLEA FOR WORLD PEACE VOICED AT GLENDALE

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

GLENDALE, May 31.—A plea for world peace was voiced by Richardson D. White, superintendent of schools and president of the Glendale Rotary Club, in his address on behalf of the veterans of the World War at Forest Lawn Cemetery today, in the Memorial Day exercises.

"If we could hear a message today from the men who fell in France and Flanders," he said, "we would be told that the United States has never taken a single step that would lead to a repetition of the world conflict that closed in 1918."

Dr. Lincoln A. Ferris, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal Church, speaking for the Civil War veterans, pleaded for a rededication of the lives of those who live in America today to the high ideals of freedom, truth and justice for which the soldiers of that time fought and died. In his address as representative of the Spanish-American War veterans, Capt. William H. Reeves lauded the passage of the bill that provides for an increase in the pensions for men who participated in that conflict, declaring that it was no more than justice for those who shared in the only war in America's history that was fought by volunteers should receive the same recognition as that accorded to the soldiers of other wars.

In addition to the ceremonies at Forest Lawn the graves of soldiers in Grandview Cemetery also were decorated by the N. P. Banks Post, Grand Army of the Republic, with Rev. Charles R. Norton, chaplain of the post, in charge of the ritual.

GRAVES OF BOMBING VICTIMS DECORATED

In accordance with their annual custom, members of The Times composing room yesterday decorated the graves of the twenty employees who lost their lives in the blowing up of The Times Building, October 1, 1910. The site of the graves is marked by a granite shaft in the Hollywood Cemetery.

Flowers are placed on the graves on October 1 and Memorial Day of each year. As in the past, the floral tributes were furnished by Howard & Smith, florists.

ANOTHER STREET IN VALLEY BEING PAVED

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

MISSION ACRES, May 31.—Burnet avenue is now open to traffic from Roscoe street to Parthenia street, a distance of about a half-mile. The paving on the avenue is completed to Plummer street and soon will be finished through to Lassen street, a farther distance of two miles. All of the thoroughfare will be ready for travel within several weeks. Burnet avenue is one of the important connecting road arteries in the central part of San Fernando Valley.

TO ADDRESS STUDENTS

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

HUNTINGTON PARK, May 31. Rev. R. C. Isbell, pastor of the Bell Presbyterian Church, has been selected to deliver the baccalaureate address at the Huntington Park Union High School on Sunday night, June 13.

GRADUATION AT WHITTIER

Commencement Week Exercises at Quaker College Will Start Next Sunday

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WHITTIER, May 31.—Activities of commencement week at Whittier College will start with the baccalaureate sermon next Sunday and close with the alumni banquet Friday evening, the 11th inst. This will be the twenty-third annual commencement for the Quaker college and the largest class in its history—thirty-eight—will receive diplomas.

The commencement address is to be given by Dr. Von KleinSmid, president of the University of Southern California, at the local Friends' Church, Friday at 10:30 a.m., followed by the commencement dinner at noon. It is planned to make this dinner a memorable occasion, and preparations are under way to entertain 500 guests.

Dr. Marcus Skarsted of Whittier College will preside as toastmaster, and among others who are to have part in the ceremonies are Dr. Von KleinSmid, Dr. Wilson of Pasadena and William C. Jones, president of the senior class. At this time announcement is to be made regarding the annual birthday celebration of the Quaker poet, John Greenleaf Whittier. It will be recalled that Dr. Walter Friar Dexter, president of Whittier College, inaugurated the custom some two or three years ago with a $100,000 banquet given at the Ambassador in Los Angeles.

The baccalaureate sermon is to be delivered by President Dexter in the amphitheater on the campus, and intensive work has been under way to have the beautiful open-air theater in readiness for the occasion, new cement seats having been added and other improvements made.

"The Bohemian Girl," the opera by Verdi, is to be given in the high-school auditorium Tuesday evening, June 8 by the Masque and Cymbal Society of the college, under the direction of Prof. Howard L. Hockett, head of the department of vocal music at the college. Thursday evening the senior class play, "The Virginian," by Owen Wister, is to be given at the amphitheater, the cast having been coached by Prof. H. E. Harris, member of the faculty.

Friday afternoon is the annual fracas between the varsity nine and the alumni team. This always draws many of the former athletes back to their alma mater, either to play or to "root." The alumni banquet will be given Friday evening at the Friends' Church.

JAIL YOUNG RANCHER IN KIDNAPING

Orange County Authorities Capture Man After Girl Tells Story of Marriage

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

RIVERSIDE, May 31.—Charged with kidnaping a 17-year-old Riverside girl, whose name was not revealed, Ray Russell, 24 years of age, rancher of the Palo Verde Valley, was brought to the County Jail late last night following his arrest in Blythe.

Russell, it is asserted, went to a local employment agency stating he wished a girl to do general housework. He found a suitable young woman, it is asserted, and took her with him, giving an address on Colton avenue, according to Sheriff's officers.

Three days later, it was stated, the girl's mother received a letter from her daughter, postmarked Blythe, in which the girl declared she was married to Russell.

Not satisfied with the tone of the letter, according to officers, the woman swore out a warrant for Russell's arrest.

Notified by Riverside officers, the Blythe authorities located the man on a Palo Verde ranch yesterday morning and brought him here to face kidnaping charges.

Estimates for Fire Protection Outlay Received

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

HUNTINGTON PARK, May 31. Agitation was started here some time ago as to the installation of a complete fire alarm system for the city and erection of two new fire substations, and Mayor Scofield took up the matter with one of the large companies recently. This company has made a survey of this city, West Maywood territory and Walnut Park, and the Mayor has just received an estimate of the proposed improvement for the city and two other territories mentioned, the cost being estimated at $176,000.

This estimate includes the purchasing of two fire substation sites, ons on the north side and the other on the south, new fire equipment, including trucks for the stations, an alarm system of more than 100 boxes, the installation of poles and stringing of sixty-four miles of wire, the cancellation of the present fire station bonds and other things necessary for a complete modern fire protection system.

GIRL FLYER IS IN SERIOUS CONDITION

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, May 31.—Miss Margaret Williams, 23 years of age, severely injured in a plane crash here yesterday, was reported still unconscious at Mercy Hospital this afternoon. Miss Williams, who is a daughter of Mrs. E. H. Williams, wealthy Mission Hills resident, plunged to earth from an altitude of more than 150 feet while making a solo flight at the San Diego airport.

Attendants at Mercy Hospital said today her condition was serious.

TOWN AND COUNTRY MEET AT DINNER

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

OXNARD, May 31.—Arrangements are being made for another farmer-merchant dinner to be held here on June 8, next. The dinners are given under the auspices of the Oxnard Chamber of Commerce at regular intervals, but it has been nearly a year since the last affair.

The farmers and merchants take turns entertaining. C. C. Teague is among those scheduled to speak at the interesting meeting, and it is expected that after the long wait the attendance will be unusually large. The dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m. in the Masonic Temple.

NEWSBOY SEEKS TOGA

FRESNO FACES TAX INCREASE

Rate Advance of 20 Cents Forecast

Budget Reduced, But Cash Surplus Low

Police Department Asks for More Money

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

FRESNO, May 31.—With a tentative city budget of $7855 not lower than last year's budget, the city of Fresno will have a tax rate approximately 20 cents higher than last year unless some $90,000 is trimmed from the estimates, according to figures on file in the department of finance.

This situation is made possible because of the fact that the City Commission last year had a treasury surplus of more than $150,000 with which to reduce taxes, while this year the surplus will amount to not more than $50,000, all of which will be accumulated through savings in the current budget, according to Commissioner of Finance William Glass.

The current tax rate of $1.895 is based on a budget of $1,260,496, while the proposed budget for the coming fiscal year shows a reduction of $7855. Various department budgets show increases and decreases from last year, the last increase being in the police department estimate, which is $21,416 higher, while the fire department, with a cut of $34,943, shows the largest decrease.

The police department increase is due principally to the proposed addition of three motorcycle officers, four new patrolmen and three women telephone operators to replace men now assigned to that duty. In addition to the additional personnel, a high-powered armored emergency car and three new motorcycles are sought by Chief Walker.

LINCOLN BOULEVARD WIDENING PROJECT UP

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, May 31.—Widening and paving of Lincoln Boulevard south of Pico Boulevard and the installation of ornamental lights are now before the Santa Monica Commissioners, through petition submitted by property owners of a district which has been enjoying a lively demand for frontages, according to S. Gates, president of the Lincoln Boulevard Improvement Association.

Petitions for widening Lincoln Boulevard north of Santa Monica Boulevard are in circulation, the ultimate goal being continuance across Santa Monica Canyon over a viaduct.

ANNEXATION PROJECT BRINGS ON HOT FIGHT

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, May 31.—Charges and counter-charges of misrepresentation are being flung by both sides in the controversy over annexation of the National Boulevard Center district to Santa Monica. Those in favor of the annexation state that the new district would not be called upon to pay the Ocean Park rate or the Clover Field bond tax. They estimate that the proposed addition would not pay more than $1.35 in taxes, whereas the Ocean Park rate is $2, with 25 cents added for the Clover Field purchases.

PASADENA MANAGER WANTS MORE POLICE

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, May 31.—Addition of fifteen policemen and one policewoman to the local force is asked in the annual budget of the police department submitted to City Manager Orbison by Chief of Police Kelley. Of the fifteen, five are to be motorcycle officers. At present there is only one policewoman on the force, and the Chief reports that her work is growing to such proportions that she cannot handle it alone.

CONDEMNATION SUITS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VISALIA, May 31.—Two right-of-way condemnation suits have been filed by the Southern California Edison Company to secure easements for its new high-tension transmission line leading from Big Creek, Fresno county, to Los Angeles.

This will lead along the hills of Fresno, Tulare, Kern and Los Angeles counties. The suits are directed against William S. Sears and Selah Chamberlain, residing due east and northeast of Visalia. This will be the third case in Tulare county in which easements have had to be condemned.

PASADENAN BUYS YACHT

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, May 31.—The Aria, $135,000 steam yacht of the late Edward Blake, has been purchased by S. J. Murphy of this city, it was learned today. The craft, which at the time of its construction in 1905, was considered the last word in vessels of its type, is well known along the coast of Maine, and will be used by Murphy for cruising in the Great Lakes.

CIVIC PROJECT NEARS CLIMAX

Pasadena to Seek Plan for Public Auditorium

Meeting of Organizations to be Held Soon

Chamber Chief Active in Pushing Proposition

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, May 31.—The question of a civic auditorium which has been agitating Pasadena off and on for about two years will reach something like a climax on the night of the 9th inst., when representatives of about fifty civic organizations will meet with the Chamber of Commerce in an effort to reach some definite plan in the matter.

All phases of the question, which has become more and more a live issue during the last few weeks, will be discussed, and those who attend the meeting are expected to be empowered by their constituencies to act definitely on a scheme for carrying through the auditorium project.

The gathering will be in the nature of a desperate measure, following the inaction of the Board of City Directors. Two years ago, Pasadena voted a bond issue for three buildings to comprise a civic center. With the construction of the City Hall and Public Library, however, the funds voted will be too nearly exhausted to permit the construction of the civic auditorium without acquiring additional money.

The Directors, failing to indorse another bond issue, have done approximately nothing, so that the Chamber of Commerce, believing that the city needs a large auditorium, is now attacking the problem in earnest.

John B. Coulston, president of the chamber, recently gave a dinner for 200 representative city leaders to elicit their opinions on the question, and now hopes that the sentiments expressed then will mature into definite action at the meeting of the 9th.

Perishable Fruit of Kern County Shows Increase

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, May 31.—Kern county's perishable fruit and vegetable shipments this year are expected to show a 15 per cent increase over 1925, according to White C. Barber, County Horticultural Commissioner, who today expressed the opinion that in the neighborhood of 7500 refrigerator cars will be needed to handle the shipments.

The first movement of early fruits is already under way and the season will continue until Christmas following the orange-picking season.

Increased acreage devoted to fruits and vegetables and increasing yield from comparatively new lands are held by the horticultural commissioner to be largely responsible for expected heavy increase in shipping.

SANTA ANA, May 30.—Lamberto H. Obregon, 25 years of age, Mexican Vice-Consul at Los Angeles, was arrested today by Officers Yoder and Cain of the Orange county State traffic squad on a charge of reckless driving.

With him were arrested Benjamin R. Hill, 24, residing at the Stillwell Hotel, Los Angeles, first chancellor at the Mexican Consulate there, and G. Inguna, 25, of 2074 West Twenty-ninth street, Los Angeles.

Obregon, it is charged, was making fifty-five miles an hour on the San Diego highway near Irvine. He lives at 2230 Raymond avenue, Los Angeles.

GO TO ANNAPOLIS

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

CORCORAN, May 31.—Lawrence C. Brunton, second son of Capt. Delbert Brunton, principal of the high school of this city, will enter the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis early next month. He was one of forty-one successful candidates examined at the San Diego naval training station, His elder brother entered the academy last June. Both boys enlisted in the Navy in 1924 as apprentice seamen and enrolled in the seaman's preparatory course, which aided them to pass the entrance examination.

PIONEER OF PASADENA SUCCUMBS

Member of Woman's Relief Corps of G.A.R. Suddenly Stricken Following Service

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, May 31.—After participating in a Memorial Day service at Library Park yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Rose Julia Rasey, member of the woman's relief corps of the G. A. R. and other local organizations and a pioneer resident of Pasadena, died early this morning at her home, 158 North Euclid avenue, following a sudden heart attack.

Mrs. Rasey was well known in Pasadena, where she had lived since 1887, and on September 15 would have celebrated her sixtieth wedding anniversary. Her husband, Clark O. Rasey, who survives her, is a veteran of the Civil War.

In addition to her husband, she leaves two sons, Charles L. Rasey and Clark A. Rasey, and one daughter, Maura Violet Rasey. Funeral services will be conducted at the Rasey home at 3 p.m. Wednesday, Dr. Daniel F. Fox, pastor of the First Congregational Church, of which Mrs. Rasey was an active member, officiating. Ives & Warren are the funeral directors.

AUTHOR BRINGS SUIT

Ventura Woman Declares Poem Has Been Stolen

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VENTURA, May 31.—Suit to prevent further use of her poem, "Not Understood," is to be instituted immediately by Mrs. Sheila Bruske, through her attorneys, Boyd & Gould, in Cleveland, according to announcement today. An eastern composer, she charges, has taken the poem, made one or two slight changes, and set the verses to music and is selling the song in the East. The poem was copyrighted three years ago and cannot be used without the permission of the author, she declares. Suit will be brought in Cleveland as it was there that Mme. Bruske composed and copyrighted the poem and where for five years she maintained a studio. It is one of a group of seven poems to which others are to be added and the entire group brought out in book form, she says. "I have had several songs of mine stolen in New York," said Mme. Bruske today, "but I have never worried much about that. 'Not Understood' is a lovely thing and it positively cannot be commercialized without my consent. Within the past few months it has been read over the radio from a Los Angeles station without my consent or knowledge, which is a violation of the copyright, also."

PASADENA MAY ENTER FERTILIZER BUSINESS

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

PASADENA, May 31.—Recommendations for the immediate construction of a fertilizer plant, to be operated in connection with the city sewer farm, will be submitted to the Board of City Directors at its meeting tomorrow by City Manager R. V. Orbison. It is expected that the directors will take favorable action and that the proposed plant will begin operations within a month. The project, if carried through, would make the local sewage disposal plant one of the most modern and efficient in the West, and it is expected that the manufacture of fertilizer will become the source of considerable income to the city.

CAR CRASH AT BEACH INJURES LIFE GUARDS

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

REDONDO BEACH, May 31.—While answering an emergency call from Manhattan Beach this morning, Life Guards Milo Alverson and (Rusty) Williams were injured when a driver, whose name was not learned, crashed into the side of the life guards' car, breaking the windshield and showering the occupants with glass and wreckage. Despite their injuries they proceeded on their way. The alarm had been turned in by persons who believed they had seen a bather in distress. After treatment for cuts and bruises the guards were able to be at their posts the rest of the day.

TWO TAKEN IN RUM RAID

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, May 31.—Two Kern county men, B. F. Robinson and James Wingfield, are in the County Jail as the result of a raid. According to Sheriff's officials, Robinson and Wingfield were arrested in the Greenhorn Mountains in possession of a still, and were booked on charge of violation of the National Prohibition Act. They will appear in Federal Court at Fresno.

CANNERS PLAN HEAVY SEASON

Deny Rumors That Plants Will Not Operate

Managers Anticipate Above Normal

Indications Point to Good Peach Prices

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ONTARIO, May 31.—Announcement today by managers of the Ontario district that their respective plants are now being put in readiness for handling the bumper fruit crops of this section, following the coming summer and they are anticipating above normal runs, effectively set at rest rumors that local canneries would not operate this year on account of a shortage.

"Rumor that our Ontario plant would have but a short season and even no run at all, has come to me," said Allan Cutler, president of the Cutler-Lobinger Canning Company, "and I will deny it. The plant will make a run this year at above normal, probably heavier than last year."

The Cutler-Lobinger people handle both apricots and peaches with prospects of good prices, the rancher and a heavy tonnage it was said. While the Cutler plant of the California Conservative Canneries, which has the distinction of being the largest fruit cannery in the State, will handle apricots this year, it will open early in July for a short run in peaches, according to Southwell, field manager for the organization.

Mr. Southwell also sounded a word of warning to peach growers of this section, urging them to be in no hurry to contract for the sale of their crops, since prices have not been established and as indications point to these being good. The field manager declared that all three plants of the California Canneries are to be run at capacity.

Two Near Death as Car Plunges Off Ridge Road

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, May 31.—A man was seriously injured and a second was badly cut and bruised Sunday night, when their car skidded into loose sand on the Ridge Route a few miles south of Lebec and plunged over a 40-foot embankment.

The injured are Charles Cox and Frank Armstrong. Cox is in a dangerous condition, with a dislocated shoulder, a fractured skull and possibly fracture of the jaw, according to attendants at the Kern General Hospital, where both men are confined. Both are well-known county men, working in the vicinity of Sandburgs on the Ridge Route.

A third man whose name is not known, escaped without injury when he was hurled from the machine as it plunged over the grade.

SICK FROM HUNGER

Jobless Man Falls to Sidewalk in Alhambra

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

ALHAMBRA, May 31.—Sick and without money and having eaten without food for several days, a well-dressed young man who gave his name later as Raymond Wanchir, fell to the sidewalk in front of the Alhambra Hotel today. Faint as the result of hunger, he fell to the sidewalk and called the police. An ambulance was also summoned. The man was revived and told officers his condition. He was taken to a restaurant and given food, then brought to the City Jail where he was allowed to sleep. A job has been found for him.

Wanchir said he had come to Los Angeles from Pittsburgh several weeks ago and had been able to find steady employment. He was too proud to appeal for charity, he said.

E. C. THOMAS TO TALK TO KIWANIS MEN

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

VAN NUYS, May 31.—Members of the Van Nuys Kiwanis Club, observance falling on Monday, causing a general holiday, decided the Van Nuys Kiwanis Club session will be held at noon on Tuesday instead of Monday, the holiday.

The principal speaker at the luncheon will be E. C. Thomas, general agent in the passenger department of the Pacific Electric Railway, Los Angeles. The subject of the program will be furnished by Mrs. Charles N. Bell, who is leading several vocal numbers.

VANGUARD REACHES FRESNO

Delegates Begin Arriving for Convention Tomorrow of Foreign Wars' Veterans

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

FRESNO, May 31.—With plans completed for the annual convention of the California-Nevada department of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, which opens here Wednesday with registration of delegates, the vanguard of the 1100 veterans and auxiliary members began arriving in Fresno today. It is expected that the fifty-two posts in the department will send 750 delegates while 300 women of the auxiliary will come from twenty-two cities having organized branches of their own.

The annual meeting of the auxiliary will be held concurrently with that of the veterans. The opening of the convention will be held at 10 a.m. Thursday at the Civic Auditorium. The closing session will be held Saturday.

Two contests in which wide interest is being taken are the competitive drill for a special silver trophy and the post membership contest, won last year by [illegible] and for which Fresno and [illegible] times are leading contenders this year.

The delegates will be welcomed by Mayor Sunderland and responses will be by Department Commander H. M. Leavitt of San Francisco. A number of other ex-service men's organizations have been invited to attend the convention.

GAMBOLING SEAL FRIGHTENS GIRL SWIMMER AT REDONDO

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

REDONDO BEACH, May 31.—Apparently chased by a large sea lion and screaming for help, Ruth Pennock, who gave her address as Redlands, was rescued this morning by Life Guard Paul Nelson as she was about to sink from fright. Miss Pennock was swimming at north beach and was perhaps fifty yards from the breaker line when she was seen to throw up one arm and her cries for help came faintly to shore. Nelson put out to her and found that a playful seal was circling the frightened girl, evidently trying to play in the sportive way of some tame seals. Miss Pennock was able to swim ashore when escorted and declared that she thought the seal was going to attack her. The life guard says more seals have been seen close inshore this year than ever before in his experience. He does not know of any case where they have attacked bathers. Sometimes when in a frolicsome mood they will gambol about swimmers, he said.

Managers Anticipate Above Normal

Indications Point to Good Peach Prices

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ONTARIO, May 31.—Announcement today by managers of two of the largest canning concerns in the Ontario district that their respective plants are now being put in readiness for handling the deciduous fruit crops of this section during the coming summer and that they are anticipating above normal runs, effectively set at rest rumors that local canneries would not operate this year on account of fruit shortage.

"Rumor that our Ontario plant would have but a short, small run and even-no run at all, has come to me," said Allan Cutler, president of the Cutler-Lobinger Canning Company, "and I want to deny it. The plant will make a run this year at above normal and probably heavier than last year."

The Cutler-Lobinger people will handle both apricots and peaches, with prospects of good prices for the rancher and a heavy pay roll, it was said. While the Ontario plant of the California Co-operative Canneries, which bears the distinction of being the largest fruit cannery in the State, will not handle apricots this year, it will open early in July for a substantial run in peaches, according to J. E. Southwell, field manager for the organization.

Mr. Southwell also sounded a word of warning to peach growers of this section, urging them to be in no hurry to contract for the sale of their crops, since prices have not been established and present indications point to them being good. COUNCIL TO TRY MEETING BUDGET CUT

Eighth-Street Project Also to Come Up Before City Body Today

Mayor Cryer's budget recommendations to the City Council for appropriations for the new fiscal year to begin July 1, consideration of the Eighth-street major highway project and proposed repeal of the rodent-control ordinance are matters of primary importance scheduled to come before the Council today.

The budget recommendations total about $31,000,000, whereas the department requests totalled about $30,000,000. The Council must find a way out of the protests and pressure looming in its path.

The Eighth-street project is the one to open and widen it from Figueroa street to Windsor Boulevard. Several other less important street projects also are scheduled to come up, one of them being the proposed improving of Windsor Boulevard from Melrose avenue to Rosewood avenue.

City Health Commissioner Parrish has declared that under the proposed budget cut he will have no money with which to carry on the work of rat extermination, and the ordinance is up for repeal.

Insurance Men Honor President in Celebration

Honoring their president, George I. Cochran, who for twenty years has guided the destiny of the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company of California, representatives in the home office here joined with agencies of the nation yesterday in celebrating their leader's vicennial with the launching of a campaign to underwrite $20,000,000 of business in twenty days.

President Cochran, a prominent figure in the development of Los Angeles and Southern California the past two decades, has been the head of the Pacific Mutual since the transfer of its home office here.

Presentation of a huge anniversary cake to President Cochran by company representatives here, with a candle for each year of service with the company and one monster candle to grow on, will feature the close of the celebration.

Resignation of Sayre Not Due to Local Row

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MONROVIA, May 31.—Col. Frith, at his home here, today confirmed the resignation of Otis Sayre, assistant prohibition administrator in charge of permits.

"The cause of his resignation did not lie with the local organization," he said. "We are sorry to lose Mr. Sayre. He performed his duties efficiently and well."

Sayre declared lack of co-operation by higher officials prompted him to resign. The resignation is effective the 15th inst., and until then, Sayre said, he cannot go into details.

"I took the post, not because I needed a job, but because I considered prohibition a paramount economic and moral matter," he said. "I did not get the kind of support I hoped for. It is bad enough to have subordinates at odds with you, and useless to continue when those in higher posts are so."

ENGLAND'S OLDEST CROSSES

beach, Cheshire, are the oldest of the kind in England. These crosses have stood in the market place for over 1000 years, and have puzzled many antiquarians. It is said that Peada, son of Penda, King of Mercia, was in love with the daughter of Oswi, King of Northumbria. In order to win the maiden Peada became a Christian, and the crosses were set up to celebrate his conversion, and the wedding which followed. At the Reformation the crosses were smashed into fragments and some of the pieces were removed. In 1816, however, they were collected, and the crosses restored.

NO RATES, BUT CUPID'S MARKS WILL GET EXCELLENT SERVICE

County Clerk Lampton expects a record-breaking month for June in the marriage license bureau which he conducts as one department of his extensive office.

He is not advertising any special rates, but he is prepared to give unparalleled service, he announced yesterday.

"In anticipation of unprecedented business during this June we have increased our marriage license bureau force by 50 per cent," he said.

Miss Margaret Furjeng is the 50 per cent. During June she will stand behind the counter with Emma Higgins, head of the bureau, and her regular "force," Rosamond Rice. The last few days of May showed that extra help will be needed.

DECRIES LACK OF TREES HERE

Art Commission Head Back from World Trip

Sees Many Beauty Spots But Finds Southland Leads

Describes How City Could be Made More Charming

What Los Angeles needs to make it the most beautiful place in the world is more trees, yesterday declared F. W. Blanchard, president of the Los Angeles Art Commission, who has just returned from a nine months' tour around the world during which he visited Japan, India, China, Java, Egypt and the countries of continental Europe.

"After this tour, which included visits to all the world's most noted cities, I am prepared to say that, in my estimation, there isn't a spot of the globe that can compare with Southern California for scenic beauty and climatic advantages," asserted Mr. Blanchard, "but we are woefully lacking in trees, especially here in Los Angeles.

The art commissioner was especially impressed with the trees of Paris. "Even the business streets are tree-lined," he commented. "Here the first thing we do when we proceed to erect a business building is to destroy all trees in the vicinity. They don't do that in Paris. They leave the trees and protect them with an iron grating, beneath which there is a basin to hold the water that seeps through the cracks between the stones in the gutter and serves to keep the tree well watered. Not only do they leave the trees but they take care of them. The result is that Paris is a city of trees that are a constant delight to visitors. The same is true of other European cities."

LAWS RECOMMENDED

Mr. Blanchard is of the opinion that to enhance the beauty of Los Angeles and make it more attractive to visitors, a concerted effort should be made to plant trees, under municipal supervision.

"I would not go so far as to suggest that trees should be planted in the downtown business streets, but there is no reason why systematic planting should not be inaugurated in the residential districts," he said. "Legislative action to promote this project should be taken if necessary. It should be carried out under municipal supervision to insure not only the planting of the trees but their care and protection after they are planted. It should be possible for the citizens of any district in the city to obtain tree-planting in their neighborhood through a petition to the City Council for such improvement, just as they can petition for paving or sewers."

Making further comparisons between Los Angeles and other cities he had visited on this tour, Mr. Blanchard observed that so far as residential architecture is concerned the type found here is equal to any he had observed anywhere. "The Spanish and other Southern European styles of building found here harmonize completely with the surroundings and add an artistic note I did not find exceeded in any other city on my tour," he said.

ART SHORTAGE HERE

"We are lacking in statuary and monuments on our streets and in our parks, however. This is a feature that always strikes the American visitors in foreign countries. Art of this type is found in abundance in all their cities. In many lines of art Los Angeles has made great progress, but we are deficient in sculpture. I favor the establishment of a school of sculpture here. I believe Los Angeles is eventually destined to become an art center, and I believe we should take immediate steps to remedy such deficiencies as may exist in our art development, and sculpture is one of them."

On his tour Mr. Blanchard visited the Blutensorg Bontanical Gardens in Java, regarded as the most complete botanical gardens in the world.

"One thing that impressed me there was the fact that I saw hardly a tree, shrub or plant in all that great collection which could not be successfully grown in Los Angeles," he remarked. "It served to emphasize our neglect in the matter of beautifying our city with trees and plants, because I was reminded of the advantage we have here over many other cities in that nearly every form of vegetation under the sun can be produced here.

"Take flowers, for instance. In Southern France I visited the flower gardens which are the source of raw material for the perfume factories established there. There is no reason why a great industry in the manufacture of perfumes could not be built up here. Flowers grow in Southern California even more readily than in France, and that's all it needs, plus a little enterprise and the investment of a comparatively small amount of capital. I believe this is something in which the Chamber of Commerce should interest itself."

BASE INDIAN CASE ON OIL ROYALTIES

Government to Investigate Transfer to Attorney in Asserted Conspiracy

Investigation of the transfer of $1,100,000 in oil royalties by the United States Interior Department and Indian Commissioner to asserted conspirators will form the basis of government intervention as a plaintiff in the marriage annulment suit brought last week by Jackson Barnett, millionaire Creek Indian, against Nina Laura Barnett, U. S. Atty. S. W. McNabb stated last night.

Barnett, 75 years of age and a resident of Santa Monica, is reputed to be the richest Indian in the world as a result of oil having been discovered on his seemingly worthless properties near Henryetta, Okla. Through his guardian, Elmer S. Bailey, he is seeking annulment to his marriage, asserting he was virtually kidnaped by his bride. The complaint says she entered into a conspiracy with A. J. Ward, national attorney for the Creek Indians, and Harold McGuigan, a Coffeyville (Kan.) attorney, to fleece him of his money.

Oil royalties amounting to $1,100,000 were credited to Barnett when the asserted conspirators went to Washington and are said to have obtained an order from the Interior Department and Indian Commissioner turning half of the amount over to the wife and half to a Baptist mission.

The government's action, according to McNabb, is to learn if possible whether the transfer was made through misinformation or fraud on the part of the attorneys and to protect Barnett's interests.

UNIVERSITY OFFICIAL TALKS AT EBELL CLUB

HAROLD J. STONIER SPEAKER ON "SHALL WE FORGET OUR NATIONAL HERITAGE."

Choosing for his subject "Shall We Forget Our National Heritage?" Harold J. Stonier, executive secretary of the University of Southern California and president of the Los Angeles Advertising Club, was the speaker at the meeting of the Ebell Club yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Stonier has just received his appointment to the Joint Assembly which is the governing body of the International Advertising Clubs of the World. The three representatives chosen from the Pacific Coast are Stonier, Don Gilham, president of the Pacific Coast Advertising Clubs, and Roy Kelly of Seattle.

Stonier is scheduled for an address before the convention of the International Advertising Clubs of the World on the 22nd inst., in Philadelphia.

Too Much Service

"An elderly gentleman was having lunch in our grill," said the hotel manager, "and as was customary when his water glass showed evidence of use a passing waiter or bus boy refilled it. After the fifth or sixth refilling the diner let out a roar. 'Stop!' he cried. 'I've been trying to get that water glass to the proper level ever since I came to this table. My doctor ordered me to take a pill in a third of a glass of water. Now I feel like an overloaded water-wagon and I still have the pill to take.'"—[Boston Transcript.

WEIGHTY RELIGIOUS TOPICS DRIVE LASS TO OPEN SPACES

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WHITTIER, May 31.—Little Clarice Tinker is a strong modernist at the age of 6 years. She does not care to be a party to discussions of fundamentalism; when religion becomes an absorbing topic to her elders she seeks sleep.

All of which was definitely established here today when Clarice, missing since Sunday night, was found playing on the Whittier Avenue School grounds and gravely explained that she had climbed into an automobile and gone to sleep when she became tired of listening to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Tinker, discuss religious matters at the close of services in a Whittier church. Soon afterward Floyd Mengel, owner of the car, and his father, ignorant that the child was in the tonneau, climbed into the front seat and drove home from the church.

Little Clarice slumbered sweetly on through the night in the Mengel garage, arose early; saw the school grounds; joined the children there and was having a splendid time when she was seen by John Ansbaw, a friend of the Tinkers. Searching parties and police officers had been seeking the youngster all night.

STUDENT AT UNIVERSITY SURF VICTIM

C. C. Schwab of Southern Branch Drowned While Swimming at Newport

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BALBOA, May 31.—Casper C. Schwab, 24 years of age, of Los Angeles, a student at the University of California, Southern Branch, was drowned at Newport Beach today. Schwab, it was said, went in swimming with a party of sixteen, went beyond the breakers and got into difficulty when he attempted to swim back.

Efforts to revive him proved ineffectual. A physician who examined him expressed the opinion his heart had given out while he was struggling to swim back. The body was taken to the Santa Ana Undertaking Company at Santa Ana.

Music Students to Compete for Memory Prizes

More than 400 music pupils of Katheryn Stone from ninety classrooms of various public schools in the city where Miss Stone teaches will congregate in John Adams, Jr., High School tomorrow at 1:30 p.m., for a music-memory contest.

A gold pin will be awarded the pupil making a perfect score for each of the fifty musical compositions to be played; a silver cup to the pupil's school; a silver pin to winner of second place and a bronze pin to each of the five best from each class.

Seventh and eighth-grade classes' five best pupils compete in the contest. Besides the contest there will be a musical program and a lesson in music appreciation.

GOVERNOR DENIES PART IN OBTAINING PARDON

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

LITTLE ROCK (Ark.) May 31. Complete denial of having anything to do with the activity of his brother, Floyd Terral, in obtaining a pardon for Lee Mode, convicted of burglary and a declaration that the affidavit given to the press by J. A. Mode, Conway merchant and banker, that he paid the Governor's brother $1000 to get a pardon for his son, Lee, was prompted for "political motives" were made by Gov. Terral in a statement issued on his return to the city last night.

Turkey plans to use, at home, all of the wool grown in that country, thus depriving the outside world of some of the finest and longest wool produced.

Envoys Named by Revolution Sons to Meet

At the triennial meeting of the General Society, Sons of the Revolution, to be held in New York City the 14th inst., the following members of the California State Society will be delegates:

Willis M. Dixon, Mr. Madison Marine, Brig.-Gen. George Richards, U.S.M.C., now on duty in Washington, D. C.; Col. Eldridge Colby, Gen. Frank Clarke, Provost, Gen. Charles H. Whipple, Rev. W. Bertrand Stevens, Dr. Samuel Ostrander, Baron Black Gist, Arthur B. Benton, Wesley W. Becket, Garnett A. Joslin and James Mortimer Montgomery.

Mr. Montgomery is honorary president-general of the society and Gen. Richards is general treasurer of the national society, although both are members of the California State branch.

At a meeting of the California society, held May 24, last, to fill vacancies on the board of directors and board of drustees, caused by the death of Frank Hervey Pettingell, first vice-president of the General Society and past president of the California body, Dr. Edward M. Pallette was elected to the directorate and Seth Marshall to the board of trustees.

GOOD CITY LAWNS CONCERN OF STATE

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE ISSUES BULLETIN ON IMPURE SEED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, May 31.—The State Department of Agriculture is not too busy with problems of crop production and pest control to devote a little attention to the city-dweller's chief agronomic anxiety, how to raise a good lawn.

In a comprehensive bulletin issued today the department's seed analyst, Kathleen Bland, explains why some seed mixtures raise plenty of grief and little grass while others, not put out in such fancy packages, furnish the start of a really good lawn. One attractively labeled package examined at the seed laboratory, says Miss Bland, was found to contain 31 per cent pure seed, "the rest being trash and weed seeds which, when planted, would soon crowd out the small percentage of grass seed that was present."

Practically all samples of seed mixed and sold in bulk by regular seed dealers were found to be very good, both in purity and germination, but the householder is warned against using too large a percentage of certain types of seed in the mixture and against using any meadow or pasture grass such as timothy, orchard grass, meadow fescue or Italian ryegrass.

ACCIDENT SHOT FATAL

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

KINGMAN (Ariz.) May 31.—Joe Harris, 18 years of age, a resident of Seligman, died here from a bullet wound near the heart, accidentally received. His mother and several sisters live in Redondo Beach.

FOR MAN OR BEAST, HAT OR MEAL

Panama Cowboy Lid Relished by Cattle

Miss Agnes Krenwinkel

MISS AGNES KRENWINKEL, 4200 Woodlawn avenue, Los Angeles High School girl, arrived in the harbor from New York yesterday aboard the Dollar liner President Monroe wearing the hat of a Panama cowboy, which she picked up when she took a short jaunt inland while the steamer was passing through the canal.

Miss Krenwinkel explains that the Panama cowboy chapeau is much more serviceable than that of the American cowpuncher, inasmuch as the hat makes a fair-sized meal for a horse or cow.

EASY TO FIND HOUSE AT NIGHT

Luminous Numerals Aid to Motorists

[Times Photo]

Carolyn Holt and the New Safety Device

NO LONGER need the visitor at night use a flashlight to find the correct house number—and thereby lay himself open to being shot as a burglar.

Thanks to an invention just perfected by Norman Perrige of Los Angeles, street numbers will henceforth shine out in a blaze of glory on the darkest night, and the passing motorist will find no difficulty in finding the desired house.

The innovation, which has been christened the "park light," consists of a cement block in which are set luminous numerals. These numerals are coated with a radium paint which absorbs sunlight during the day and sheds it at night.

FIREMEN IN THE CLOUDS

The operations of the aerial forest fire patrol on the Pacific Coast has been attended with great success. During last summer ten planes were made use of. Two hundred and seventeen new fires were discovered by airplane observers, while sixty-one fires were discovered and reported by them before any other agency was able to do so. All together 471 patrol flights were made, totaling 902 flying hours and covering 76,715 miles, without accident to the personnel and with but three forced landings.

Considerable success was attained during the last season in placing detailed information concerning fires in the hands of ground forces by message dropping. The only places where any real difficulty was experienced in dropping messages were those stations that were situated in narrow, deep canyons, where it was not safe to get down close enough to the ground, due to the lack of room in which to maneuver. Approximately 200 messages were dropped during the season and reports indicate that of these only two were not recovered promptly by ground forces.

Before the British coal strike, coal mines in Belgium were showing serious financial losses and four were reported to have been shut down.

A delightful Circle Tour of the Pacific Northwest

Victoria-Vancouver-Bellingham-Seattle-Tacoma, and Portland

for $88.50

Here's an international tour of the Pacific Northwest, the "Charmed Land of The American Continent," which covers two American states and one Canadian province; includes six interesting and colorful cities (two Canadian and four American), with short side trips, if desired, to three national parks (one Canadian and two American) and unlimited other attractive features, not to mention a delightful ocean voyage on the majestic Pacific.

Tickets carry a final return limit of 30 days, which permits liberal stop-overs at the leading cities of the Northwest—each a point of interest in itself and each a center from which numerous remarkable scenic attractions may be easily reached. Length of stay at the six designated cities is optional with the traveler, within the time limit mentioned.

A carefree trip, replete with varied pleasures and easily within the time and "pocketbook" limitations of the average vacationist.
